EMOCRATS OPEN TATE CAMPAIGN AT SEDALIA RALLY

ppeals Made to Party Workers to Concentrate on Stirring Up Voters' Lagging Interest.

AR SECRETARY AMONG SPEAKERS

nator Clark, "Missouri's Chance" for Presidency, Turns on Opponent, Ex-Gov. Caulfield.

By BOYD F. CARROLL,
Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SEDALIA, Mo., Oct. 8.—The Dem- ats of Missouri formally opened November election campaign e tonight with a State-wide rally, ich was preceded by appeals of ty leaders to workers to stir up ging interest, and came to a cli- x with speeches by Secretary of r Harry H. Woodring and ited States Senator Bennett amp Clark. Clark is campaign- for re-election amid increasing scussion of his possibilities as a esidential nominee in 1940.

The rally was held in the Coli- m of the State Fair Grounds. e attendance was about 1500, or arply below the pre-rally esti- te of leaders that 5000 would be e. A delegation of 100 St. Louis mocrats arrived late this after- on. Instead of coming on a spe- l train, as originally planned, e St. Louisans came in extra cars ached to a regular train. They nned to return to St. Louis to- ht following the rally.

The Democratic State Committee d called chairmen and vice-chair- n, county committees and other al leaders to attend an organ- tion conference this afternoon, which State Chairman James P. ward of Kansas City and other ders urged local workers to over- me the apathy which so far has rked the campaign.

"Missouri's Chance."

Discussion of Clark's possible ition as a "dark horse" for the sidential nomination in the 1940 ocratic National Convention, red by recent comment on his ilability in a national maga- e, was a common topic among rty workers gathered for the lly.

It was given recognition by the te Committee in the organiza- n conference, with an appeal to al workers to get out a large e in the November "off-year" tion in order to give Clark a heavy majority and provide a ild-up" of his strength.

R. R. Nacy of Jefferson City, aking for the State Committee, d the organization group "Mis- uri had a chance to elect a presi- t in 1940" and that a majority a half million votes for him in vember would be helpful to rk.

Trying to Forget Primary.

Democratic leaders apparently re trying to forget, outwardly least, the intra-party bitterness the recent primary campaign, in ich Gov. Stark led a successful ht for the nomination of Su- me Judge James M. Douglas of Louis for an unexpired term er the opposition of the powerful ndergast organization of Kansas y. Chairman Aylward, a lieu- ant of Pendergast, in opening e rally, told the Democrats "we united and party harmony pre- s throughout the State."

United States Senator Harry S. uman of Kansas City, who was Pendergast candidate for Sen- or in 1934, said, "So far as our rt of the State is concerned, we e for the Democratic ticket from p to bottom." Aylward, in a ref- rence to Senator Clark, said, "We pe and pray he will some day in e not distant future be elected esident of the United States."

Clark presented in his address to- t an extended defense of his record and that of the national ministration during his first term the Senate, and for the first time the campaign turned upon his publican opponent, former Gover- Henry S. Caulfield of St. Louis, assailed him for recent attacks Clark and the Roosevelt admin- ration.

Roosevelt "Ace in Hole."

Woodring, in urging support of d continuation of the policies of esident Roosevelt, told the Mis- uri Democrats that the President s endeavoring to "preserve the mocratic-capitalistic system in face of all kinds of organized ticism against its defects" and t the President was the "one ace the hole that American business today."

"And to be equally frank," Wood- said, "we of the Democratic

British Balloon Barrage Test Results in Damage

Five Bags Trailing Cables Break Loose Wrecking Gardens, Roofs and Wire Systems Before They Are Caught.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Britain sent its balloon barrage aloft today—dozens o. sausage-like bags tied to 7000 feet of steel cable intended to enmesh enemy aircraft—and tonight tried to count up the damage.

Five balloons broke away from their moorings and trailed lines which lashed roofs, tore down wires and fences and generally gave policemen their busiest afternoon since the European war scare ended.

Despite the runaways, a source close to the Air Ministry said the barrage demonstration "is regarded as a great success from the point of view of the auxiliary air service." This service was called up during the European crisis and was ordered demobilized at midnight tonight. One of ts duties is the handling of the balloon barrage.

One of the bags at Belvedere, Kent, tore away from its mobile mooring and, trailing several hundred feet of cable, uprooted a garden fence, smashed windows, damaged roofs, brought down telephone wires and finally became entangled in a railway line, holding up train service for 20 minutes.

Another wrapped a cable around a factory water tower and was held fast there.

Extra policemen, including mounted officers, tried to keep the curious crowds from harm as the balloons with their trailing lines swung their destructive way around the countryside.

The bags are about 65 feet long and have a circumference of 30 feet. Winches on trucks unwind their mooring cables to let them rise. The idea is that they can be let into the air to form a fence high in the sky, it which enemy aircraft would become entangled if they penetrated Great Britain's defending line of aircraft.

Tonight the Air Ministry said all of the escaped balloons had been captured, but there were reports that one, two or three still were on their way southward toward the English Channel.

Several weeks ago a balloon escaped, crossed the channel, uprooted trees and interrupted French power service. An irate French peasant shot it down.

BRITISH RULERS TO VISIT CANADA NEXT SUMMER

King George and Queen Elizabeth May Extend Trip to United States.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—King George VI and Queen Elizabeth will become the first reigning British sovereigns ever to set foot in the New World by a visit to Canada next summer which may take them to the United States.

A brief official announcement today from Balmoral Castle in Scotland said the British rulers would make the trip "in the early summer' ' and spend "about three weeks" in Canada.

No mention was made of the United States, but many believed it was possible their majesties might go there as a gesture of English-American solidarity for international reasons and increasing pressure here for closer ties between the United States and Great Britain.

The King and Queen will cross the Atlantic on a specially-chartered liner not yet selected.

The news magazine Cavalcade in a recent article proposing such a visit to the United States, said the project had the "blessing and support" of United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy.

He said there was an insufficient number of signatures to a candidate's petition, caused by subtractions due to alleged irregularities.

BOMBERS GET THROUGH IN U. S. AIR RAID TESTS

So Far Planes Have Not Been Stopped but Defense Has New Tactics.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Officers said today that the army was obtaining from air raid defense maneuvers in Eastern North Carolina new light on a vital military question: "Can bombers be stopped?"

The failure of the army's most powerful searchlights at times this week to spot night air raiders flying at altitudes known in advance has hinted at a negative answer, already suggested by the damage from air raids at Barcelona, Hankow and Canton.

Conceding it is possible for single planes to slip through the strongest defenses, coast artillerymen contend nevertheless that bombing of any city or fortification may be made so costly it will be abandoned quickly.

To obtain the answer to this and related questions, the army has massed at Fort Bragg the heaviest concentration of anti-aircraft artillery in its history. 't includes 24 three-inch guns, 20 huge searchlights and more than 100 machine guns.

Seventy-three Air Corps bombers and other Black force planes are giving the Blue defense a realistic test.

Tuesday night's simulated raid was fairly typical. With a moon aiding illumination, three Martin bomber planes (which the Air Corps terms obsolescent) flew from Langley Field, Va., 180 miles distant, were spotted quickly by searchlights and, in theory, barraged by flying steel. Their height, 8000 feet, and approximate time of arrival were known in advance.

Then, under the same conditions, "flying fortress" bombers came over. They reached their objective without being spotted or fired upon. They flew at 16,000 to 20,000 feet.

On other nights, other planes got through the 15-mile ring of defenses around the Fort Bragg air base. By day, low-flying attack planes succeeded apparently in luring defending pursuit squadrons from high altitudes, thus clearing paths for bomb attacks.

BANKRUPTCY PETITION AGAINST FORMER MRS. HENRY H. ROGERS

Four Creditors' Claims for Clothing, Furs and Flowers Total $2882.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Four creditors filed a petition in bankruptcy today against Mrs. Marguerite Basil Miles, former wife of the late Col. Henry H. Rogers, heir to an oil fortune estimated at $26,000,000 when he died in 1935.

Claims of the creditors totaled $2882 for clothing, furs and flowers which they said she bought in 1937 and 1938. One florist's bill was for $873.

Mrs. Miles, widow of Basil Miles, American administrator of the International Chamber of Commerce in Paris, married Col. Rogers in Switzerland in 1929. She obtained an uncontested divorce in Reno in 1933, charging cruelty.

Mrs. Miles' first husband was Lester Morton Savell, engineer of Atlanta, Ga., from whom she was divorced in 1924.

WOMAN IN AUTO STALLED ON TRACK KILLED BY TRAIN

Mrs. Hazel M. Jurgens of St. Louis Run Down at Missouri Pacific Crossing at Eureka, Mo.

3 MEN WITH HER JUMP TO SAFETY

H. G. Jurgens, Husband of Victim, Floyd Jackson and W. H. Sicking, Owner of Machine, Escape.

Mrs. Hazel M. Jurgens, 3118A Lackland avenue, was killed yesterday afternoon when an automobile in which she was riding stalled on the Central avenue grade crossing in Eureka and was struck by a Missouri Pacific extra train.

Three men who were also in the car were able to jump out to safety. Mrs. Jurgens, who was 45 years old, was trapped in the back seat. Her body was thrown out by the impact and the wreckage of the car, an old sedan, was carried 300 feet down the right-of-way. The train consisted only of engine and caboose.

The others in the car were Mrs. Jurgens' husband, Harry G. Jurgens, a driver for the Woodward & Tiernan Printing Co.; Floyd Jackson, 3118 Lackland avenue, and William H. Sicking, 4510A Arsenal street, owner of the car, who was driving.

Mrs. Jurgen's body was taken to the Stock undertaking establishment, 2117 East Grand avenue. An inquest will be held tomorrow.

There are no gates or signals at the crossing. Edwin Conner, the watchman, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that as the train approached he went out with his whistle and a stop sign which he carries in his hand.

"I saw the car coming down the hill," he said, "and blew my whistle and held up my stop sign. But the car seemed unable to stop and rolled on to the tracks. Two men jumped out and tried to push it off the track, then ran away, followed by a third, and the train hit the car a moment later."

BRAZIL REPORTED OBJECTING TO GERMAN AMBASSADOR

Said to Have Declared Karl Ritter "Persona Non Grata"—Interceded for Fascists in Putsch.

By the Associated Press.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 7 (Delayed).—Reliable sources reported today that German Ambassador Karl Ritter had been declared "persona non grata" by the Government of Brazil.

The Ambassador is in Germany at present, where he went to attend the Nuernberg Nazi party congress last month. It is understood the Brazilian Government instructed its representative in Berlin to inform the German Government Ritter's return was not agreeable.

No specific reason was disclosed here for the action. However, it was known that Ritter made strong efforts on behalf of Germans arrested in connection with the integralist (Fascist) putsch of May 11 in which an unsuccessful attack was made upon the presidential palace.

GEORGE W. LEDERER DIES AT 76

Producer of "Floradora" Suffers Stroke in New York.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—George W. Lederer, recognized as the father of modern musical shows "glorifying the American girl," died of a cerebral hemorrhage in a hospital here today. He was 76 years old.

Leaving his Wilkes-Barre (Pa.) home with a road show at the age of 12, he produced many musical comedies, among them "Floradora" with its famous sextet. He had directed Lillian Russell, Evelyn Nesbit, Ella Snyder and Marie Cahill. Survivors include a son, Charles, a Hollywood scenarist, and two daughters, Geraldine Lederer, and Mrs. Glory Amsterdam.

THIEF TAKES AUTO, BABY IN IT

Car Found Later, Four Blocks Away, With Child Fast Asleep.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 8.—Nineteen-month-old Billie Lantry's unintentional kidnaping by an automobile thief bothered everybody except Billie.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lantry, left him asleep in the back seat of their car and went into a restaurant. When they returned, 15 minutes later, the car was gone. Shortly afterward, police found the car parked four blocks away. In the back seat was Billie, still sound asleep.

VIENNA CARDINAL HURT WHEN NAZIS STONE HIS CHAPEL

Innitzer at Prayer Hit by Sliver of Glass From Palace Windows Broken by Demonstrators.

FURNITURE THROWN OUT AND SET AFIRE

Attack Follows Rioting of Previous Night After Prelate's Sermon to Catholic Youth.

By the Associated Press.

VIENNA, Oct. 8.—Theodore Cardinal Innitzer was injured slightly today when a Nazi crowd stoned his palace and smashed a window in the Cardinal's private chapel, where he was praying.

Virtually all palace windows were shattered by the demonstrators, who invaded the archepiscopal offices and carried out numerous pieces of furniture and burned them in St. Stephen's Square.

The Nazi attack came apparently in retaliation for a demonstration last night involving Catholic youths who had heard Cardinal Innitzer preach a stirring sermon.

The Cardinal's injury was caused by a splinter of glass when the demonstrators hurled stone after stone through the private chapel window. With attending clergy, Cardinal Innitzer had retired there to pray during the hostile demonstration. Palace attendants bandaged the wound, which did not require hospital attention.

Police dispersed the Nazis after they had rioted for nearly an hour, and a fire brigade quenched the blazing furniture.

10,000 Youth at Service.

Last night's near riot, which brought Nazi retaliation today, followed upon a service for Catholic youth who packed St. Stephen's Cathedral while 10,000 others stood outside.

Cardinal Innitzer exhorted his listeners to "preserve faith and give outward testimony thereof, difficult though that may be, for it is not enough to carry faith only within the heart."

After the service ended, crowds demonstrated before a cafe popular among Nazis. Cafe customers shouted "To Dachau with Innitzer!" referring to a German concentration camp, while angry roars came from the crowd gathered in St. Stephen's Square. Police were called to quell the disturbance.

Nazi Guards Take Charge.

Tonight a squad of 20 SS men, Nazi elite guards, wearing yellow armbands which indicated they were acting as auxiliary police, took charge of the Cardinal's massive gothic palace to guard against any further attacks.

The Nazi propaganda office declared the Catholic prelate was unhurt but reliable authorities said he had been struck on the forehead by flying glass.

An official propaganda office statement said "the tumultuous scenes were caused by a mob of irresponsible persons."

BODY FOUND IN ARIZONA THAT OF MISSING KANSAN

Federal Investigators End Hunt for Virgil A. Vaughan, Missing Since Aug. 3.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 8.—Edward P. Guinane, special agent in charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation here, announced today that the body of a man found killed near Safford, Ariz., Aug. 14 had been identified as that of Virgil A. Vaughan, 27 years old, of Baldwin, Kan.

Search for Vaughan began after his automobile was found abandoned at Tulsa Sept. 15. He had been reported alive at Albuquerque, N. M., Aug. 3.

Guinane said identification was made through dental charts.

ITALIAN GRAND COUNCIL APPROVES DEAL AT MUNICH

Sends Greetings to Veterans Being Recalled from Spain, Hails Mussolini, Then Adjourns.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, Oct. 9 (Sunday). — The Fascist Grand Council reaffirmed solidarity of the Rome-Berlin axis early today and voted "full approval" of Premier Mussolini's participation in the Munich conference which partitioned Czechoslovakia.

The Council, ending its third consecutive midnight session, sent "greetings of comradeship to legionnaires about to be returned home from Spain after 18 months of hard campaigning."

Italy made known Saturday that Italian troops, estimated privately to number 10,000, would be withdrawn soon from the Spanish insurgent forces. Some foreign observers say there are 80,000 Italians fighting in Spain.

A communique issued following the three-and-a-half hour meeting said "The Grand Council of Fascism, after hearing a report of Foreign Minister Comrade Galeazzo Ciano, faithful executor of the foreign policy of Fascism based on the Italo-German axis, declares its full approval of that policy which with the Duce's intervention at the Munich conference was solemnly established on a European and world plane."

The Council said also it "categorically reaffirms necessity of the battle for economic independence of the nation" ordering the battle accelerated and conducted "with extreme energy."

Fascism's supreme policy-making body then adjourned until Oct. 18.

The unusual fact of another meeting 10 days hence caused foreign observers to speculate on the possibility of consideration of Anglo-Italian and Anglo-French relations at that time.

It was considered likely since today's communique made no mention of the Anglo-Italian talks which have been held by Ciano and the Earl of Perth, British Ambassador, for the past five days.

An official announcement said Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco was "preparing immediate repatriation of Italian Legionnaires who have more than 18 months' uninterrupted campaigning in Spain."

Political circles expected the decision to withdraw part of the troops would figure in Mussolini's international affairs declaration before the Fascist Grand Council.

The council, holding its third consecutive night meeting, had only

MAN, APPARENTLY HIT BY AUTO, FOUND DEAD

Unidentified Body Is Discovered in Front of 560 Catalan Street.

The body of an unidentified man, apparently killed by an automobile, was found at 8 o'clock last night in front of 560 Catalan street. His skull, right leg and left arm were fractured and the condition of his clothing indicated that he had been dragged for some distance.

The body was found by Leonard Hadley, employed at the Laclede Gas Light Co., who was going to work at the company's plant at 526 Catalan street. At the City Morgue, where the body was taken, attendants said it was uncertain how long the man had been dead.

The man was about 45 or 50 years old, about 5 feet 10 inches tall and weighed about 150 pounds. He had brown hair and gray eyes. He was wearing blue trousers, a brown coat and vest, a light slipover sweater and a blue workshirt.

Although the man's injuries indicated he had been struck with considerable force, no glass or parts from an automobile were found in the street.

PROF. AND MRS. FRANKFURTER GUESTS OF THE ROOSEVELTS

They Stay Overnight After Quiet Day With the President at Hyde Park.

By the Associated Press.

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Oct. 8.—President Roosevelt spent a quiet Saturday at his home today in the company of his old friends, Professor and Mrs. Felix Frankfurter.

The Harvard law professor has been mentioned often as a possible appointee for the existing Supreme Court vacancy. In announcing the Frankfurters' visit, however, the President warned reporters not to speculate on its purpose. He pointed out the Frankfurthers customarily visit him in the autumn. They stayed overnight and were to return to Cambridge tomorrow.

Mr. Roosevelt will leave tomorrow for Washington. He will remain there about a week, returning then to Hyde Park for another week's visit.

NEW GOVERNMENT REPORTED SET UP ON SLOVAK LINES

Minister at Conference Said to Have Given Assurance That Prague Will Promptly Approve Forming of Unit.

POLAND SOUGHT CESSION OF AREA

Previously Demanded That It Be Given to Hungary Thus Further Cutting Off Czechs From Their Ally Russia.

By the Associated Press.

PRAGUE, Oct. 8.—Parliamentary representatives of Ruthenia today voted for their mountainous Eastern district to remain within dwindling Czechoslovakia against the wishes of Poland and Hungary.

A conference of the Ruthenian representatives urged that autonomy be granted Ruthenia (sub-Carpathian Russia) similar to the self-government set up this week for the Slovaks.

Such a government was reported organized today at a meeting of the united Carpatho-Russian parties in Uzhorod, regional capital.

The Czechoslovak Minister for Ruthenia, Ivan Parkany, attended the session and was said to have given assurance that the Prague Government would approve promptly the new unit in the reorganized Republic.

The population greeted enthusiastically the decision of the parliamentary representatives to remain within Czechoslovakia.

Poland has demanded that Ruthenia be ceded to Hungary thus giving Poland and Hungary a common frontier and further cutting off Czechoslovakia from Soviet Russia with which it has a mutual assistance pact. A strip of Rumania already divides Czechoslovakia from the Soviet Union.

A Ruthenian delegation was named to present today's decision to the Prague Government.

Slovak Government Completed.

Organization of the autonomous Slovak Government meanwhile was completed with Dr. Joseph Tiso as Premier and Minister of Internal Affairs.

Other Cabinet members, named by the Prague Government, were: Matuf Cernak, Minister of Schools; Dr. Ferdinand Durciansky, Justice, Social Affairs and Health; Pavel Teplansky, Agriculture, Commerce and Finance; Jan Lichner, Communications, Posts and Public Works.

Czechs Under Hitler.

The influential newspaper Prager Presse said that by Monday, the date set for the completion of the German occupation, German troops will have occupied 28,000 square kilometers (10,811 square miles) of Czechoslovakia's border regions, which is more than half as large as Bohemia itself, and which is exactly one-fifth of Czechoslovakia's former area.

(The total area of Czechoslovakia before cession of lands to Germany and Poland was 54,244 square miles. In Berlin Friday it was estimated 11,500 square miles would be occupied by Monday.)

Czechoslovakia replied to Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's assertion that he did not want any Czechs in lands ceded him by issuing large colored maps showing 850,000 Czechs will be under dominion of the German military by the end of occupation, while Czechoslovakia will still have 250,000 Germans.

"850,000 Czechs to lose their fatherland," is the legend printed on the maps.

One heading published over the figures read: "The result of Czechoslovak fidelity to the west."

After plebiscites, it was said, the total number of Czechs ceded to Germany may reach 3,000,000, which would put one Czech in every seven under the Nazi Reich.

One new map widely posted in Prague showed many regions ranging from 30 to 80 per cent Czech

RAILROAD LABOR ATTACKS CLAIM WAGES ARE HIGH

To Show 55 Pct. of Workers Get Less Than $100 a Month—44 Pct. Drop in Employes Since 1920.

UNIONS' INNINGS AT HEARING THIS WEEK

Executives Have Said Carriers' Situation Is the Worst in History and Employes' Is Best.

By RICHARD L. STOKES,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. — Labor went to bat today and will continue to have its innings next week at the hearings being conducted by President Roosevelt's emergency fact-finding board regarding a demand by the railroads for a 15 per cent wage reduction, representing an estimated cut of $260,000,000 in the pay envelopes of more than 1,000,000 employes.

This week there has passed before the board a procession of railway executives, including Martin W. Clement, president of the Pennsylvania; Frederick E. Williamson, president of the New York Central; Hale Holden, chairman of the Southern Pacific; H. A. Scandrett, trustee of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific; Ernest E. Norris, president of the Southern Railway, and Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific.

The members of the board are Walter P. Stacy, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of North Carolina, chairman; James A. Landis, dean of the Harvard Law School, and Harry A. Millis, chairman of the department of economics at the University of Chicago. The principal attorneys engaged are Charles M. Hay of St. Louis, representing 18 standard railroad labor organizations, and J. Carter Fort, chief counsel for the carriers' Joint Conference Committee.

The Worst and Best.

Testimony of the railway chieftains was summarized in a paragraph by President Donnelly of the Northern Pacific. The proposed wage cut should be granted because, he said: "Our situation is the worst in railroad history. The situation of labor is the best in railroad history."

Witnesses for the unions, Hay told the writer today, will attempt to show, first, that the present plight of the railroads is due to their own sins of management and finance, for which the workers were in no manner responsible and, secondly, that while 1,000,000 men now are doing the work done by more than 2,000,000 in 1920, the average pay per hour has increased only 1 cent during the 18-year period, the current figure being 72.1 cents.

There will be an effort to prove that the average wage for railroad labor, skilled and unskilled, is lower than that of unskilled labor in the motor car industry.

Employes Decrease 44 Pct.

During these years, Hay declared, the total number of railroad employes decreased 44.9 per cent and total railroad outlay in wages has declined 46.1 per cent. But revenue per ton-mile of freight carried per employe are alleged to have increased from $2134 to $3100, or 45.3 per cent. Some of the reasons for this showing are found in an increase of 37 per cent in the tractive power of engines, 26.2 per cent in the average number of cars per train, 14 per cent in the size of freight cars, and 53.4 per cent in the speed of both passenger and freight trains.

"We shall prove," continued Hay, "that in 1937 only 4000 of the total number of railroad employes received as much as $300 a month: 74.64 per cent less than $150 a month; 55.24 per cent less than $100 per month; 46.09 per cent less than $75 per month; 37.69 per cent less than $50 a month; 30.03 per cent less than $25 a month, and 25 per cent less than $150 for the year. Records for the present year are not available, but we may estimate from Interstate Commerce Commission data that the number employed and their aggregate earnings are less than in 1937.

"Statistics of the Railroad Retirement Board show that last year 47.27 per cent of all employes were partly or irregularly at work, and that the average wage in this group was $376 for the year, or about $30 per month. The average for those steadily employed during 12 months of the year was $1785, or $149 per month. The grand average for both groups was $1115, or $93 per month."

Before the evidence is completed, the attorney emphasized, the rail unions are going to have a great deal to say about bankers and their relations with the railroads.

"We have no intention of engaging in muckraking for sensational purposes," the St. Louisan declared, "but we are going to show that the sins of the railroad fathers are being visited upon the children, even to the fourth generation. These sins go to the very heart of railroad financing and management today.

"They include the perpetuation of large amounts of water in the stocks and bonds of railroad capital structure and the payment on them of vast sums in dividends and interest; issuance of bonds and preferred stock on the basis of maximum earning capacity, irrespective of the value of the property; huge over-capitalization in the form of funded debt, with no provision for retirement, and reckless distribution of cash and dividends in prosperous periods.

"It is our contention that railroad workers and railroad wages are in no sense responsible for these abuses or the conditions they have produced."

"Unreasonably High."

On the other hand, Attorney Fort declared that the railways are demanding a 15 per cent cut "because the general level of railroad wages is unreasonably high in the light of existing conditions." He assured the board that "this is not a tin-cup case." J. Elmer Monroe, statistician for the Association of American Railroads, submitted elaborate tables purporting to show that between 1915 and 1938 the average weekly pay of conductors increased from $30.38 to $54.77; trainmen and switch tenders, from $20.65 to $38.29; engineers, $35.20 to $59.52; firemen and hostlers, $21.05 to $40.88; clerical and office employes, from $28.27 in 1921 to $35.44 in 1938; maintenance of way workers, $19.64 to $22.04; shop crafts group, $31.63 to $32.72, and signalmen, dispatchers and telegraphers, from $32.59 to $38.04.

Monroe further estimated that the increase in "real" weekly wages for conductors has been from $53.93 in 1929 to $65.44 in 1938; for trainmen and switch tenders, from $41.84 to $45.81; for engineers, $60.01 to $71.11; firemen and hostlers, $43.48 to $48.82; clerical and office employes, $29.65 to $39.06, and maintenance of way workers, $20.47 to $26.33.

Heated Clashes Mark Hearing; Lawyer "Gets on Hay's Nerves."

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct 8.—Tempers flared at the rail wage hearing today in a dispute over the cost of living and pay data offered by opposing sides. David Kaplan, statistical witness for the Railroad Workers' Brotherhoods, and J. Carter Fort, railroad counsel, engaged in a three-hour debate over differences in statistics offered by labor and management.

Railroads had presented charts to show that railroad pay was at a peak, that living costs had gone down, and that rail revenue had dropped as wages went up. The data was offered in support of a proposal for a 15 per cent wage reduction, against which 1,000,000 workers have voted to strike.

Kaplan accused railroads of trying to compare "apples and pears" and offered his own exhibits to show the cost of living did not warrant a pay reduction.

When the labor witness answered questions with long explanations, Fort protested: "I don't want this to develop into a filibuster on my time."

At another point Kaplan offered to read a newspaper interview quoting Ernest T. Weir, steel executive, on the relation of wages to cost of living. A railroad attorney questioned its authenticity, and Charles M. Hay of counsel for the brotherhoods, shouted: "That's insulting!" Then, after thinking it over, he added: "I promised not to get mad but this fellow gets on my nerves."

BENES WILL GO BACK TO PRAGUE PROFESSORSHIP

President of Czechoslovakia Who Resigned, to Teach Sociology at Charles University.

By the Associated Press.

PRAGUE, Oct. 8.—Associates of Dr. Eduard Benes, who resigned Wednesday as President of Czechoslovakia, said today he would return to the professorship of sociology at Charles University in Prague. The former President is now at his home near Prague.

Benes was a professor at Prague when the World War broke out. He quit teaching to agitate for Czech independence and to devote his time to guiding the new republic.

FRANCO'S FLYERS BOMB PASSENGER TRAIN; 60 KILLED

More Than 100 Injured When Plane Drops Six Missiles on Cars Bound for Barcelona.

By the Associated Press.

BARCELONA, Oct. 8.—Sixty persons were reported killed and more than 100 injured today when an insurgent plane bombed a Barcelona-bound passenger train near San Vicente de Calders, 20 miles northeast of the port city of Tarragona.

The attack on the train, in which the raider dropped six bombs, followed an insurgent foray by 10 tri-motored planes at Tarragona.

More than 100 bombs rained on the port city but no deaths were reported. Three persons were wounded and 12 houses were destroyed.

Barcelona was the object of another insurgent raid tonight when two squadrons of planes dumped bombs on heavily populated sections of the city.

Early reports said four persons were killed and an undetermined number wounded.

A fire, which could be seen from distant parts of the city, was set off during the attack.

Rebels Take Five Mountain Posts on Ebro Front.

By the Associated Press.

HENDAYE, France (At the Spanish Frontier), Oct. 8.—Spanish insurgent and Government planes engaged in a battle over the Ebro front today in which both sides claimed victory.

Insurgent reports said rebel pilots routed the Government planes, bringing down eight of them. Government leaders said their flyers beat off the insurgents and downed four of their craft.

Barcelona advices said heavy fighting continued between ground forces on the Ebro front, south of Ventade Campesinos, with Government forces "bettering their positions."

Government commanders on the Estremadura Front in Southwestern Spain reported they advanced in the Toledo sector yesterday, moving up their positions three-quarters of a mile.

GRAND COUNCIL APPROVES ITALY'S ACTION AT MUNICH

the international situation to consider to complete its agenda.

Originally foreign policy was placed second on the agenda, but it was believed in Fascist circles the discussion was postponed until tonight in view of continuing negotiations between the Italian and British Governments.

Stefani, official Italian News Agency, carried the withdrawal announcement in the form of a communique from Franco's headquarters in Salamanca, Spain.

It said:

"General Franco is preparing immediate repatriation of Italian Legionnaires who have more than 18 months' uninterrupted campaigning in Spain.

"Nationalist Spain, in effecting this substantial withdrawal of volunteers, is contributing in an efficacious manner to the re-establishment of international confidence and at the same time satisfying in this manner the desire manifested by the non-Intervention Committee."

Premier Juan Negrin of Government Spain announced Sept. 21 to the League of Nations that his Government had decided on immediate total withdrawal of all foreign volunteers fighting with the Government armies.

No Word on Aviators.

The communique failed to make clear whether any Italian aviators and artillerymen would be evacuated but the reference to "legionnaires" was regarded in foreign circles as meaning only infantrymen.

Diplomatic quarters expected British recognition of Italy's conquest of Ethiopia eventually would follow Mussolini's withdrawal gesture.

Diplomatic circles indicated application of the British-Italian agreement signed April 16 probably would be arranged in negotiations after the British Parliament meets Nov. 1.

This agreement, for settling long-standing British-Italian differences in the Mediterranean, Africa and Spain which had brought the two countries to the verge of war, was made dependent upon a Spanish "settlement."

Progress in Talks.

Diplomatic circles indicated some points remained to be cleared up between the British and Italian Governments but considerable progress was reported in the week's talks between British Ambassador Lord Perth and Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano.

It was believed that these two negotiated the troop withdrawal announced from Salamanca.

France already has decided to accredit an Ambassador to Rome to Vittorio Emanuele as King and Emperor, recognizing Italy's Ethiopian conquest.

Thus there was a feeling here that a general settlement among Italy, Britain and France was well under way following animosities originating in the economic and financial penalties exacted against Italy during the Italian-Ethiopian war and fed by the issue of intervention in Spain.

Britain to Ask Italy to Withdraw All Aid in Spain.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Italy's first move toward abandoning the Spanish war to the Spaniards today gave Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain preliminary grounds for sealing the British-Italian pact and for reaching out for a wider general appeasement.

The Italian decision was welcomed in London but the Earl of Perth, the British Ambassador to Rome, is expected to continue pressing Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano to promise to cease all aid to Spanish insurgents before Parliament reassembles Nov. 1. It was expected Chamberlain then might ask Parliament to approve application of the British-Italian agreement.

In return for Italy's withdrawal of troops, Britain already is prepared, together with France, to grant formal recognition of Italy's conquest of Ethiopia.

Informed political quarters meanwhile forecast a broad reorganization of Chamberlain's National Government.

Ideas on Rearmament.

The Prime Minister, on a Scottish holiday, weighed from every angle demands for more drastic rearmament measures and prompt elimination of defense defects disclosed in last week's hurried war preparations.

The Cabinet vacancy resulting from the protest resignation of Alfred Duff Cooper as First Lord of the Admiralty may be used as an occasion for further Cabinet changes. One under consideration was said to be creation of a new high defense ministerial post which would enlarge on the power of the present co-ordinator of defense, Sir Thomas Inskip.

14 American Prisoners Freed by Spanish Rebels

Men Cross Into France on Way Home and Tell of Experiences—74 Others Said to Be Still Held.

By the Associated Press.

HENDAYE, France, Oct. 8.—Fourteen Americans who had been captured by the Spanish insurgents were freed today after months of imprisonment.

"Who's winning the world series?" was one of the first questions asked as the group arrived in France from Irun, across the border in insurgent Spain.

The 14 were exchanged for 14 Italian aviators in a deal arranged by United States Ambassador Claude G. Bowers. The Americans came from the San Pedro de Cardena prison camp, in an abandoned monastery, where 74 other American captives are reported still held.

The Americans had been imprisoned for an average of seven months each. Luis Ornitz of New York City had been a captive for 14 months.

Kansas City Man Among Them.

The names of the prisoners were given out after they crossed the border. Besides Ornitz they were: Doneg Barbarian, Boston; Charles A. Barr, Steubenville, O.; Homer B. Chase, North Hillsboro (State not given); Norman Edward Dorland, Memphis, Tenn.; Samuel Romer, New York; Leopold Berman, New York; Frederick Stix, Suring, Wis.; Edgar Acken, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Richard Browne, Kansas City, Mo.; Roger Braley, Boston; Morris Conway, Janesville, Wis.; Carl Belau, St. Paul, Minn.; Van Chase, New York.

Escorted by an insurgent guard, the 14 crossed the international bridge and were met at the French side by Ambassador Bowers, French officials, the Spanish Government Consul and a representative of the French Red Cross.

Ham and Eggs, and Steak.

The men sat down to eat what they called "the first square meal we can remember"—ham and eggs and steak. While arrangements were being made to send them to Paris en route to the United States, they talked of their experiences.

The prisoners were grateful for the insurgent commemoration on June 3 of the first anniversary of the death of Gen. Emilio Mola, who was killed in a plane crash. On this occasion, they said, their steady luncheon and dinner diet of sardines and lentils was swelled by a cup of beef broth and each of them received two cigarettes.

Barr said he had a narrow escape from death when he was captured in Belchite last spring. He lost his left eye.

A Deal, Backed Up by Grenade.

"I was in a fort on a hilltop near Belchite as a sniper," Barr said. "Fascist planes bombed us continually and dropped everything on us but their engines. My friend, Charles Youngblood of New York City, was killed by rifle bullets. I was bending over him when a bullet struck me in the eye.

"An anti-tank gun shell blasted a hole in the back of the Fort through which I tried to escape, but heavy machine gun fire kept me back. They surrounded me, but I waited until the group got close and then I took out the pin of a percussion grenade.

"They raised their guns to shoot me, but I told them I would throw the grenade if a shot were fired. Finally they agreed to keep me a prisoner, unharmed, if I would throw the grenade where it wouldn't do any harm. I agreed and they kept their promise."

Dodging a Tank's Guns.

Browne said "The Italians captured me near Alcaniz."

"We were outflanked and withdrawing from Hijar when I found myself looking down the barrel of a gun on an Italian tank," Browne said.

"I jumped before the tank's blind spot and clung to its muffler, burning my hands, but I finally succeeded in escaping the fire from the tank's guns and boarded a passing Republican ambulance. The ambulance and all its occupants were captured a half hour later."

Belau, who was in the engagement with Barr at Belchite, said: "I lay with six leg wounds, two face wounds and a broken wrist on the battleground, surrounded by dead, until finally the Navarese stretcher bearers found me and took me to a temporary hospital."

Stix praised the bravery of 40 Greek volunteers with the Government forces, who fought as a unit with the internationals at Belchite.

"They held out until the very end on a fortified hilltop," he said. "I am convinced there was not a single survivor."

EFFORTS TO END STRIFE IN PALESTINE CONTINUE

Britain, Iraq, Jews and Moslem Congress Debate Situation Without Results.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Three possible solutions to end strife in the Holy Land were pursued in three countries today without concrete results.

In London Colonial Secretary Malcolm MacDonald and Sir Harold MacMichael, high commissioner for Palestine, continued their talks. Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, and the Foreign minister of Iraq, Seyyid Taufiq es Suwaidi, started their own discussion.

These conferences revolved around the British plan to partition Palestine into Jewish, Arab and British mandated domains. The Iraq Foreign Minister, it was understood, proposed yesterday at a conference with MacDonald and Sir Harold a scheme which would prohibit more Jews from entering Palestine. The Jewish Agency for Palestine responded to reports of this proposal with the statement that "the Jewish people reject any solution which would condemn them to a minority status in Palestine."

Observers expected that nothing would come from the deliberations until after Parliament has considered the latest report of the Royal British Commission which investigated conditions in Palestine.

In Cairo, the Moslem Congress adjourned for the week-end without adopting a plan of action. Aly Alloura Pasha, chairman of the Egyptian Parliamentary Committee, criticised Britain's policy of partition in Palestine at the opening session.

Fares Bey Kohouri, president of the Syrian Chamber of Deputies and leader of the Syrian delegation to the Congress, proposed that Palestine be united with Syria. He also demanded the establishment of a new constitutional government on the lines of Iraq, with the Government being allowed to settle the minorities question. He advocated treaties of alliance with Britain and France.

In Palestine itself, the death toll continued to mount as the British attempted to impose peace by force on fighting Arabs. A Royal Air Force plane machine-gunned three Arabs to death near Nazareth when the pilot spotted them building a road barrier.

GREEN CABLES PLEA FOR JEWS

A. F. of L. Head Asks That Palestine Be Kept Open to Them.

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 8.—President William Green of the American Federation of Labor asked the British Trades Union Congress today to oppose any effort by the British Government to limit migration of Jews to Palestine.

In a cablegram to Sir Walter Citrine, an official of the congress, he urged assistance in maintaining an open door to Palestine "for persecuted millions of Jewish people in Central and Eastern Europe."

population as being in zones already occupied by the German troops, including a crescent running from Troppau to Olmutz.

A semiofficial statement listed Policka, Breclav, Postorna, Zbuch and Sabreh as communities within German-occupied regions which even in 1910 had only a modicum of German population.

Policka has important munitions works and the other towns are communication centers, the statement said.

Referring to the use of the 1910 census, the statement asserted "it is difficult to understand the abandon of Czechoslovakia's western allies which would lead them to accept as the basis of the new delimitation the figures of lying Austrian statistics."

The differences between the 1910 and later Czechoslovak censuses was due, the statement said, in many cases to a correction of the Austrian practice which compelled many Czechs and Jews to declare themselves German to obtain jobs.

"The International Commission in Berlin simply casts aside impartial Czechoslovak statistics," the statement said. "Thousands of Czechs study the map of their mutilated country and are unable to understand how their allies prepared such a fate for them."

The Government announced that occupancy of the Freistadt district by Polish troops had brought thousands of Czechs under the Polish Government, with 39,000 Czechs and 29,000 Poles in Freistadt alone.

Officials said the Polish occupation of the Teschen area included 23,000 Czechs and 34,000 Poles.

CLAIMANTS FIGHT PAYMENT OUT OF CAMPBELL TRUST

Court Hearing Oct. 21 on Objections to $90,000 Outlay for Beneficiary Who Died in March.

ATTACK MADE ON TRUSTEES' REPORT

Judge Asked to Withhold Approval of It Till Litigation Over Hugh Campbell's Estate Is Settled.

Objections to expenditure of $90,000 for maintenance of Hazlett Kyle Campbell from August, 1932, until his death last March out of funds of the trust estate established for him by his father in 1885, have been set for hearing Oct. 21 in Circuit Court.

The objections, filed yesterday for 140 of the 300 or more claimants for shares in the $1,900,000 trust estate, point out that the will of Hugh Campbell, Hazlett's brother, who died in 1931, left the income from his $1,000,000 estate for support of Hazlett.

In a recent report of receipts and disbursements in the Hazlett Campbell trust estate, including items making up the $90,000, the trustees said they had been advised that the filing of a suit, in August, 1932, contesting Hugh's will, prevented further payments for Hazlett out of Hugh's estate. The trustees are the St. Louis Union Trust Co. and Allen C. Orrick, an attorney.

Their report, covering the period from 1926, when they were appointed successor trustees, to Hazlett's death, placed the valuation of approximately $1,900,000 on the trust estate. That value does not include eight parcels of real estate. The bulk of the estate is in Government bonds.

The objections, exceptions to the report, were filed for the 140 claimants by their attorneys, Harry Troll and W. W. Henderson, who asked the Court to withhold approval of the report until disposition of the litigation contesting Hugh's will, now pending in the State Supreme Court.

The expenditures were for medical care of Hazlett Campbell, an invalid, and for his living expenses, including salaries of employes. He was 80 years old when he died March 27, the last of the Campbell clan to occupy the mansion of Civil War days at 1508 Locust street.

Troll said six of the eight pieces of real estate were on the riverfront, involved in the Government's condemnation proceedings to acquire land for the proposed Jefferson National Expansion Memorial. They had been used, he said, by Hazlett Campbell's father, Robert Campbell, Indian trader, for warehouses for furs.

Hearings were held intermittently last month to determine who are the heirs-at-law of Hazlett Campbell, entitled to share in the $1,900,000 estate. Those hearings have been adjourned indefinitely to permit Special Master John J. Nangle to review evidence already given and enable attorneys to determine whether depositions should be taken in other parts of the country or Ireland, home of Hazlett Campbell's ancestors.

Court Grants Motion of Former Bookshop Operator Suing for Divorce.

A motion for temporary alimony of $150 a month, filed by Mrs. Jonne White, 412 Hawbrook court, Kirkwood, in her divorce suit against Loftin E. White, manager of a St. Louis typewriter agency, was granted after a hearing yesterday before Circuit Judge Julius R. Nolte at Clayton.

Mrs. White testified that her husband's annual income averaged $10,000. In her divorce petition she alleges general indignities and says he failed to support her in a manner commensurate with his income, making it necessary for her to find work. She formerly operated a book store in the Pierce Building.

White told the Court his income was $5500 to $7500 a year. In a cross bill he says he had been willing to support his wife but that her interest in her business prevented her from making a proper home for him.

DEMOCRATS OPEN STATE CAMPAIGN AT SEDALIA RALLY

party know equally well that he is our ace in the hole. Any party which has been in power for six years has inevitably created many grievances against it.

"Ordinarily it would cause the voter to cast his vote not for one party but against the party in power. The one reason that as a party we may be saved from that fate which has overtaken all other parties in American political history is that same faith and popularity in which Franklin D. Roosevelt is held by millions of our people.

Clark said he was asking for the judgment of the voters "upon the whole record, both for the Democratic party and myself," and said that was the issue which should be fought out in the campaign between the Democratic party and the Republican party and "between Gov. Caulfield and myself."

Clark On His Record.

Discussing his record during his first term in the Senate, which Caulfield has attacked, Clark said that he had regarded some of the experiments recommended by the President as "unsound policies, and when I have been unable to conscientiously agree with the recommendations of the President, I have differed with him with the greatest reluctance but under my own oath of office have followed my own convictions."

"I hold it to be duty of any Senator or Representative sworn on his oath to represent a great constituency," Clark said, "to give the greatest possible deference to the recommendations of the President of the United States, to resolve all possible doubts in favor of those recommendations, to vote in favor of them if possible to do so, but, if theoretically convinced that they are wrong, under his own oath of office, to vote against them."

"Like Wrestling With Eel."

Turning his guns on Caulfield, Clark said "any attempt to join issue with him on concrete questions of governmental policy is like wrestling with an eel. He views the six years of Democratic responsibility for governemnt with a melancholy eye," Clark said. "With an air of gentle aloofness, he vaguely expresses pious regret that the improvements of the last six years have not been greater than they are; he ignores completely the sorry record of the period when Hoover was President, and he was Governor, and Mellon and Mills the fiscal dictators of the nation."

"If Mr. Caulfield can convince the people of Missouri that they should return to the Hoover ideas and the Hoover processes of government," Clark said, "he will show powers of persuasion the like of which have never been seen in our country until this time."

Relief and European Crisis.

Clark defended the relief policies of the administration and spending by the Government for relief of unemployment. He said it was regretable but true that the relief situation and its responsibilities "must still be faced until unemployment is ended by a more proper balance in the economic processes of production, distribution, and income, wages and profits."

Referring briefly to the recent war crisis in Europe, Clark said he thought the most important subject confronting the American people was to keep America out of war; he did not think it was the duty of the United States to act as the policeman of the world, "or to protect the investments of a handful of adventurers abroad."

Woodring on Roosevelt.

Woodring paid tribute to President Roosevelt for the part he played for peace before the Munich conference, which averted the threat of immediate war. "When everyone else had quit," Woodring said, "he changed that desperation to hope."

"No one knows whether last week brought peace to Europe or only a breathing spell," Woodring said. "But whether we have peace for the years or whether it is only peace for the moment, at least we have been granted a respite. But we should regard it only as a storm signal, as a warning to put our house in order. . . .

"As the President pointed out in his first appeal to the German Chancellor last week," Woodring said, "a European war—if there should be one, and we sincerely hope there will not be—would inevitably result in the collapse of the economic and social structure of all nations involved, with severe repercussions for America that we could not expect to avoid. To withstand the shocks, if they come, the nation must be united." . . .

Candidates and Fish Fry.

Gov. Stark, who introduced Woodring, reviewed briefly the record of the State administration and said the State would finish this year with a balanced budget and with operating expenditures within the legislative appropriations.

The Democratic nominees for State offices and for representatives in Congress were introduced by Chairman Aylward, together with Robert E. Hannegan, chairman of the St. Louis Democratic City Committee, who introduced Senator Clark.

A fish fry for visiting Democrats was held before the rally by a local committee, which announced 2600 pounds of fish went into the frying pans.

LAND-GOING PERCH AND FISH THAT SPIT IN RARE COLLECTION

Latter Can Put Out Lighted Cigarette in One Shot, Says Syracuse Scientist.

By the Associated Press.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 8.—Syracuse University has acquired perch that can climb out on the seashore at night to hunt for their suppers, fish that can spit with bull's eye accuracy and "mud skippers" that hop along on their tails. These queer fish are part of a collection that Dr. Justus F. Mueller of the New York State College of Forestry brought back with him after a round-the-world trip.

The "climbing perch" are found in the Philippine Islands, the Malay Peninsula and Siam. They are about five inches long. On shore they propel themselves along by spiny gill extensions, bumping along like an airplane about to take off.

"Actually," Dr. Mueller said, "they do very little 'climbing,' but in some instances they 'climb' to a height of three or four feet. They can stay out of the water almost indefinitely."

The Siamese "archer fish" is the one with uncanny skill as a spitter. "In action," Dr. Mueller said, "the fish shoots at insects dangling from strings. At night it will mistake a cigarette for a firefly and will put it out with a shot of water."

The "mud skipper," a tiny fish found from Burma to the Philippines, also can stay out of the water for long periods. It is grotesque, with eyes like a bullfrog and a front fin like a foot.

Ten Years for Fatal Stabbing.

LEBANON, Mo., Oct. 8.—A Laclede County Circuit Court jury convicted James Evans today of second degree murder in the fatal stabbing of Manuel Nobles, Sept. 5. Evans was sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary.

BRUCE SHOE CO. OWES $54,671, HAS $22,393

Chain Firm Schedules Filed With Referee in Bankruptcy.

A schedule of liabilities and assets of the John Bruce Shoe Co., a chain store firm, was filed with Referee in Bankruptcy E. E. Pearcy yesterday by the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co., chief creditor.

Ownership of the Bruce chain, which operates eight shops in Iowa, Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas, is in dispute between Hamilton-Brown and Luke E. Hart, attorney and former president of Hamilton-Brown. Each asserts the other owns the stores.

Debts of $54,671 were recorded in the schedules, of which $53,195 was listed as owed to Hamilton-Brown. Assets were placed at $22,393 as follows: Stock in trade, $11,175; cash, $8198, and fixtures, $3020. The balance of the liabilities represents Federal, State and municipal taxes.

Application for the appointment of a receiver and an involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in Federal Court last month against the Bruce firm by Hamilton-Brown. W. L. Collins, president of Hamilton-Brown, was appointed receiver by District Judge Charles B. Davis. It was stated that Collins would serve without compensation.

Previously Raymond Dolphus, a clerk in a Bruce store at 7318 Manchester avenue, Maplewood, was appointed receiver for that shop after he testified in Circuit Court at Clayton that he did not know his boss and had not learned who owned the business. Several days later P. J. Richardson, former manager of the Maplewood store, was arrested on an embezzlement warrant issued on complaint of a supervisor for the firm. To a Post-Dispatch reporter, Richardson denied taking company funds.

STRIKE VOTE IN BUICK PLANT OF GENERAL MOTORS PUT OFF

Delayed Pending Conference at Detroit With Company's Executives as Agreement Provides.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, Oct. 8.—A strike vote among United Automobile Workers in the Buick division of the General Motors Corporation at Flint was deferred today pending a conference with high officials of the firm in Detroit Tuesday.

Elmer Dowell, UAW international board member in charge of General Motors locals, said the union's contract with the company required that disputes which could not be settled locally should be taken to the corporation's executive offices in Detroit before a strike could be called.

Dowell said the union had six grievances, and that the 32-hour week was the principal matter up for negotiation. He said that if the dispute could not be settled in the Detroit meeting, the 25-man bargaining committee of Flint Local No. 156 had the power to call a strike.

About 6000 employes of Chrysler's Plymouth division, who remained away from the Plymouth plant here yesterday, refusing to work more than 32 hours in one week, will return to their jobs Monday morning. The Briggs Manufacturing Co.'s Mack avenue plant, body supplier for Plymouth, which also closed yesterday, will reopen with 9000 workers.

MOTHER RE-WEDS; GIRL INHERITS $1,000,000

Gets Estate Left in Trust 21 Years Ago by Father Who Shot Himself.

By the Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 8. — A 22-year-old Louisville girl, Jessie Barr, has inherited a million dollars, the full estate of her father, Jesse Barker, a banker who died 21 years ago.

Only a few minor court formalities separated Miss Barr, expert swimmer and Junior Leaguer, and the inheritance.

Barker was found dead in his home at Peoria, Ill., a bullet wound in his head, Oct. 7, 1917. A jury said it was suicide.

His will, which is on file in the Peoria County Probate Court, dated Jan. 5, 1915, specified a trust fund be set up for the widow, Mrs. Chamie W. Barker, now Mrs. Wright Barr, wife of an insurance man of this city. The testament provided the widow should get the income from the trust fund until the time of her death, provided she did not remarry.

Jessie Barker Barr, who adopted the surname of her mother's second husband, was born March 22, 1916, and on that date, the will showed, her father attached a codicil providing that if his wife remarried after his death his daughter should inherit the entire estate.

The codicil set out that his daughter, in this event, should receive the full estate 21 years after his death. That date arrived yesterday.

Attorney William G. Roberts of Peoria, Miss Barr's guardian and a trustee of the estate, came here Thursday night to ascertain if Miss Barr was alive and to fulfill other obligations pertaining to the transfer of the estate.

Mrs. Barr, with whom Jessie makes her home, obtained a third of the estate as her widow dower right before she remarried, the will showed.

Jessie, a graduate of the Louisville Collegiate School, was taught to swim by Johnny Weissmueller, Olympic champion and film star. She has spent her last three winters in Miami Beach, Fla.

EDMUND BABLER STATE PARK TO BE DEDICATED TOMORROW

Secretary of Interior Ickes to Speak at Ceremonies at 1810-Acre Ozark Tract.

The Dr. Edmund A. Babler Memorial State Park, in Western St. Louis County, will be dedicated at a public ceremony at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, with Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes as the principal speaker. As part of the program, a 10-foot bronze statue of the late Dr. Babler, a surgeon, will be unveiled near the main entrance to the park.

The park, consisting of 1810 acres of Ozark hills near the Missouri River bluffs, was a gift to the State from Jacob L. Babler, former Republican National Committeeman, and Henry J. Babler, in memory of their brother. Formal opening is not expected until next year, but visitors tomorrow will be permitted to drive around the grounds, which have been developed by the National Park Service, CCC WPA and State park department, at a cost of about $1,500,000.

Ickes, who in his address is expected to discuss conservation, will be introduced by Gov. Stark. The address will be broadcast by Station KSD from 3 to 3:30 p. m.

GEORGE E. SOYSTER DIES IN COLORADO HOSPITAL

St. Louisan, Former Officer of Railroad Telegraphers, Stricken on Way Home from California.

George E. Soyster, 69 years old, former vice-president of the Telegraphers' National Bank, died Friday of heart disease at a hospital in Colorado Springs, Colo., to which he had been taken after becoming ill a week ago when returning from a trip to California. He lived at 4351 Itaska street.

Mr. Soyster, who had been general secretary-treasurer, chairman and a director of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, retired last May from his offices in the organization, in which he had been a member for 37 years.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Tuesday from the Mullen Brothers' mortuary, 4259 Lindell boulevard, to be followed by cremation at Valhalla. Surviving are his wife and two sons, George E. and Homer L. Soyster.

THEODORE GARY, CAPITALIST, MARRIES AGAIN, AT 82

Weds Mrs. Ross Larrabee, Sister-in-Law of His First Wife, at Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 8.—Theodore Gary, 82 years old, capitalist, was married here today to Mrs. Laurie Larrabee. The bride, a widow of the late Ross Larrabee, was a sister-in-law of Gary's first wife, who died several years ago.

The marriage was performed by the Right Rev. Robert Nelson Spencer, Bishop of the West Missouri Episcopal Diocese.

The pair left immediately for Gary's estate near Macon, Mo.

Gary, whose fortune was made in the telephone industry, was one of the early supporters of a hard road system in Missouri. He was appointed a member of the State Survey Commission by Gov. Caulfield in 1929.

WOMAN FROM OXFORD GUEST AT MARYVILLE

Principal of College on Way Back From Parley in Australia.

Miss Grace Eleanor Hadow, principal of the Society of Oxford Home Students, oldest of five colleges for women at the University of Oxford, arrived yesterday to be a guest at Maryville College of the Sacred Heart on her return from Australia, where she was the only woman member of a group from England attending the conference of British Commonwealth Relations.

The conference, attended by members of the Institute of International Relations from British dominions, expressed confidence that continued peace would result from the recent settlement of the German-Czechoslovak crisis. At Sydney, members of the conference, called to discuss relationships of the various dominions, followed developments by radio.

"Among the 120 members of the conference there was a strong sympathy for Czechoslovakia," Miss Hadow said in an interview. "The feeling was much the same as that in England and in the United States."

"It was one thing to go to war to force unwilling Sudeten Germans to remain in Czechoslovakia; it would have been quite another if Hitler had invaded Czechoslovakia. As one member of our conference expressed it, in conversation with another, 'Would you be willing to lay down your life for the defense of Sudeten Germany?'

"There is another point worth making," she continued. "There has been a good deal of feeling that Great Britain should police the world. But, after all, would the rest of the world really like it?

"Great Britain set a worthy example for other nations in disarmament. She cut her army to the bone. It is no secret her army is below fighting strength. True, there is the British Navy. But you can't send the navy to Czechoslovakia. In the event of another war, British dominions would not be called upon to send large forces of troops to foreign lands. The airplane and other modern war machines will eliminate trench warfare."

Miss Hadow, who taught English at Bryn Mawr 25 years ago, will leave today for New York.

100,000 NAZI TROOPS NOW IN SUDETENLAND

Occupation Regarded as a Maneuver, German Army Officers Say.

By MELVIN K. WHITELEATHER
A Correspondent of the Associated Press.

WITH THE GERMAN ARMY OF OCCUPATION IN SUDETENLAND (via Zittau), Oct. 8.—Military forces in Germany's peacefully conquered new territory in Czechoslovakia were brought tonight to an estimated 100,000 or 150,000 men.

Army officers said the occupation of Sudetenland is regarded as a maneuver. Almost as many men are being employed as compose the United States' full peace-time army.

At noon today troops began their occupation of the so-called fifth zone—small scattered areas added to the four zones already occupied. Completion of the occupation of overwhelmingly Sudeten regions is scheduled for Monday.

Six thousand troops under the command of Colonel-General Fedor von Bock moved into the Reichenberg textile manufacturing district today.

Reichenberg and its industrial neighbor, Gablonz, were trouble areas a few weeks ago. The troops marched in a hailstorm which ripped welcoming banners from their moorings.

Von Bock, with five generals wearing long coats with red lapels, reviewed their goose-stepping men in what until today was Benes Square. It was rebaptised Bismarck Square.

Sudeten German party members reported a large number of men had fled to Germany before the Munich peace agreement of Sept. 30.

Members of a Czech colony in the Reichenberg suburb of Ober Rosenthal likewise reported that one-fourth of their 6500 members had fled inland to Czech territory.

Completely equipped SS elite guards wearing steel gray uniforms are participating in the "army maneuvers." A full division today occupied one section of zone four in the Riesen Mountains. Further divisions are in other zones. Their units are identical with those the regular army is using.

Reservists called to the colors during the war tension of the last two months form part of the Reichswehr now in Sudetenland.

Thousands of commandeered private vehicles—auto busses, small and large trucks and touring cars—are used in a test of the mobilization of civil vehicles.

Chauffeurs designated to drive these vehicles in wartime are behind the wheels now. Officers said the object was to have the men thoroughly familiar with their jobs in case of need.

$8000 JUDGMENT AWARDED FOR OCCUPATIONAL DISEASE

Metal Grinder, Who Sued Century Electric for $25,000, Said Dust Affected His Lungs.

A verdict of $8000 was returned yesterday by a jury in Circuit Court in favor of David Clohesy, 308 Elm street, who contended he suffered a lung disease from working as a metal grinder for the Century Electric Co.

Clohesy charged that the firm failed to provide proper safeguards for him during the four years he worked as a grinder, beginning in 1923. As a result, he said, he inhaled emery and metal dust and is suffering from pneumoconiosis. Clohesy sued for $25,000.

The company denied negligence, and contended that the suit was barred by the statute of limitations.

HITLER TRAVELS TO THE SAAR FOR SPEECH TODAY

Further Friendly Gesture Toward France by Fuehrer Considered Possible in Address.

U. S. VISAS UPSET BY RECENT DECREE

Consulate Seeks Conference With Interior Ministry on Canceling Passports of Jews in Germany.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Oct. 8.—Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler went tonight from Sudetenland, Germany's newest acquisition, to the Saar Valley, its first gain under Nazi rule, to speak tomorrow at the opening of a new theater in Saarbruecken.

The belief was general he might seize upon his proximity to French territory to make another gesture of friendship to the western democracy.

Meanwhile, German troops moved into the fifth zone of Sudetenland which was delimited by the international commission in Berlin.

In Berlin, the Government revoked all German passports in the hands of Jews. This action was taken under a decree of the Ministry of Interior. It applies to Jews who are German citizens. They were given two weeks from yesterday, when the decree was signed, to surrender their passports. Several thousand visas issued recently by United States Consulates will prove worthless unless the Ministry of Interior agrees to restore and revalidate passports for such Jews as have received United States visas.

United States Consulate officials here said they had asked the ministry for an early conference. It may be held Monday.

The decree provided that Jews would receive police identification cards in place of their passports. If a Jew wishes to travel abroad his passport may be made valid again by a special amendment.

Hitler's Speech to Be Broadcast.

Hitler will speak at 2 p. m. (7 a. m. St. Louis time) in the Saar which officially became a part of Germany March 1, 1935.

He made guestures of friendship toward France in two previous speeches, on Sept. 12 at Nurnberg when he reiterated his renunciation of any claim to Alsace-Lorraine and on Sept 26 in Berlin when he renounced all further territorial claims on the European continent after the annexation of the Sudetenland.

Berlin diplomatic circles awaited the speech with interest but no German in authority was able or willing to disclose the probable nature of the talk.

Officials pointed out that Hitler is interested in art as well as foreign affairs and therefore his speech might easily be devoted to the theater and its place in German cultural life.

Goering in Sudetenland.

It will be broadcast throughout the nation.

Hitler left Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering behind in the fourth zone of occupation of Sudetenland as he boarded a special train for the Saar amid the cheers of crowds at Patschkau.

Goering delivered a speech at Karlsbad (Karlovy Vary).

"Now you have returned to your home, Germany," he declared from the balcony of the Karlsbad theater. "The Fuehrer took your fate into his strong hands. Don't ever forget, you are no longer Sudeten Germans; you are the Reich's Germans."

Throughout the day Hitler's battalions were proceeding further into the Iser and Giant Mountains.

There was real difficulty in marching over Spindler Pass in the Giant Mountains both on account of the general character of the approach and the fact that rain made the road slippery.

While the Czechs in that part of the country apparently stuck to their positions until the last possible moment, the occupation of the fifth zone proceeded according to schedule. It is to be completed Monday.

Economic Issues Considered.

In Berlin only the economic subcommittee of the International Commission set up under the four-Power Munich accord was in session.

Presiding over it was Karl Ritter, German Ambassador to Brazil, whose return to Rio de Janeiro was said to have been delayed at Hitler's request.

(A Rio de Janeiro dispatch said reliable sources there reported Ritter had been declared "persona non grata" by the Brazilian Government.)

Before his appointment as Ambassador to Brazil, Ritter was chief of the economics division of the Foreign Office.

A Wilhelmstrasse spokesman said that until economic issues were settled all other problems, such as the question of having or not having a plebiscite in the mixed areas of Czechoslovakia, were shelved temporarily.

COLE COUNTY PROSECUTOR DENIES OUSTER CHARGES

Carl F. Wymore Tells Supreme Court He Did Not Refuse to Prosecute Gamblers.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 8.—Prosecuting Attorney Carl F. Wymore of Cole County filed categorical denials in Supreme Court today of Attorney-General Roy McKittrick's charges he had "failed or refused" to prosecute "open or notorious" violators of the gambling and lottery laws.

McKittrick brought an ouster suit against Wymore in August, 1937, after a State-wide drive on slot machines.

Wymore, now nearing the end of his first term, is the Democratic nominee to succeed himself in the November election. He first fought the ouster suit on jurisdictional grounds, but the Supreme Court unanimously held in a decision Sept. 28 it had power to rule on his title to the office and ordered the case heard on its merits.

In his answer today, Wymore asserted "that, from time to time when respondent (Wymore) knew or had reason to believe that such gambling devices were in operation in Cole County, he caused appropriate action to be taken for the suppression thereof, by confiscation and otherwise."

SIGNATURES SOUGHT IN EFFORT TO REPEAL STATE SALES TAX

Consumers' Association Announces It Will Seek Levy on Chain Stores.

The Consumers' Association of Missouri is seeking thousands of signatures throughout the State in support of its efforts for repeal of the State sales tax.

Bills for the repeal of the sales tax and for the establishment of a tax on chain stores will be presented to the Legislature next January on behalf of 50,000 independent retailers, the Consumers' Association has announced. The repeal bill will contain provisions for revenue from other sources. The chain store tax would be at the rate of $1000 for the first five units, $2000 for the next five, $3000 for the next 10 and $5000 for each unit over 20.

The Consumers' Association bases its opposition to the sales tax on the contention that collections can be used for purposes other than old age pensions. Investigations, it is said, show 7000 delinquent taxpayers in the State.

JAPANESE SEVER HANKOW RAILROAD IN CAVALRY DRIVE

Chinese Admit Horsemen Cut Line at Two Points North of Capital—Counter Attack Begins.

By the Associated Press.

HANKOW, China, Oct. 8.—Chinese military headquarters acknowledged today that Japanese cavalry had reached the Peiping-Hankow Railway at two points for their southward drive on this military capital.

The Chinese said the Japanese advance forces drove to the rail line in South Honan Province, near the border of Hupeh Province, in which Hankow is located.

(Japanese reports received in Shanghai said the Peiping-Hankow line was severed at Liuling, 90 miles north of Hankow.)

Chinese were reported attacking the invader's advance units in an effort to prevent the main force from reaching the important rail link between Hankow and Northwest China. The Japanese main force was said to be several miles east of the line.

To the south the Chinese said they had halted the Japanese hitherto rapid westward push at a point 50 miles from the Canton-Hankow Railway, which, since the loss of the Shanghai-Nanking line, has served as China's most important life line. The Japanese were 60 miles south of Hankow.

Although failing to confirm Japanese claims that the Kiukiang-Nanchang Railway had been cut 40 miles north of Nanchang, Chinese military leaders said Japanese mobile units were very active northwest of that city.

Chinese official and other reliable sources said that mine fields and shore batteries were making Japanese naval progress up the Yangtze River toward Hankow a slow, costly job.

Japanese officials in Shanghai said that after 458 days of slow progress in the Yangtze Valley their forces had occupied Kichun and placed their naval units within 95 nautical miles of Hankow.

There were reports here that two fresh Japanese divisions were moving up to strengthen the forces depleted in recent fighting in the Yangtze Valley.

W P A ORDERS INVESTIGATION INTO JERSEY COERCION CHARGES

Newspapers Have Alleged Workers Have Been Subjected to Political Pressure.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. — The Works Progress Administration ordered today an investigation of charges that WPA workers in New Jersey had been subjected to political coercion. Aubrey Williams, acting administrator, directed Francis H. Dryden, field representative for the Middle Atlantic States, to make the inquiry.

Officials said the action was taken after charges and countercharges in New Jersey newspapers. They stated Representative Hartley (Rep.), New Jersey, had written calling attention to the charges. Williams requested Hartley to make available any material he had as to specific cases.

THREE KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Car Breaks Apart When It Hits Bridge Rail Near Buckner, Mo.

By the Associated Press.

BUCKNER, Mo., Oct. 8.—A man and two girls from Kansas City, Kan., were killed and a fourth injured early today when their car crashed into a concrete bridge rail on U. S. Highway 24, near here. The dead: Audolph Brening, 23 years old; Mrs. Christine Smith, 17, and Miss Della Fern Brown, 17. Joseph Wilkoszyinski, 23, suffered a double skull fracture and lacerations.

The car was split by the impact. The left door, fender and running board were found at the far end of the 60-foot-long bridge. Other debris was scattered along the right side of the rail.

New Foreman in Vote Inquiry.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 8.—John E. Blacet, St. Joseph engraving plant executive, was sworn in Friday as foreman of the Federal Grand Jury investigating the 1936 general election here. He succeeds Forest McHenry of Jefferson City who was excused because of pressing business demands. The jury recessed until Oct. 17.

CZECHS TO CONFER WITH HUNGARIANS ON BORDER TODAY

Meeting at Komarom, Expected to Be First Town Handed Over If Agreement Is Reached.

By the Associated Press.

KOMAROM, on the Czechoslovak-Hungarian Border, Oct. 8.—This former Hungarian fortress town was making preparations tonight for a meeting tomorrow at which Czechoslovak and Hungarian representatives will discuss Hungary's territorial demands.

Hungarian, Czech and Slovak banners flew today on buildings and churches of Komarom, which is expected to be the first town handed over to Hungary if an agreement is reached. Part of it is on the Czechoslovak side of the Danube River boundary, part on the Hungarian.

6178 Square Miles Demanded.

It was said in dispatches from Budapest that Hungary would demand unconditional return of 16,000 square kilometers (6178 square miles) of "pure Hungarian" regions of Czechoslovakia.

Budapest, it was said, will demand a region close to the Hungarian border containing approximately 1200 communities and having a total population of 1,200,000, of which 860,000 are asserted by Budapest to be Hungarians. The most important four towns of this area—Hungary is expected to claim 14 townships in all—are Bratislava, Komarom, Nitra and Kasa.

Czechs Still Guard Bridge.

On the 2600-foot steel bridge over the Danube a Czechoslovak army detachment still patrolled with cannon, machine guns and tanks pointed against Hungary. Hundreds of wires were still running to the bridge girders and mines, which by a touch of a button could be blown up instantly. It was understood Hungary had demanded immediate removal of the explosives from the bridge before her statesmen cross it tomorrow.

Hungary in her note of last Monday to Czechoslovakia demanded that Komarom and one other town should be occupied "symbolically" by Hungarian troops before negotiations were started, but it was learned Czechoslovakia has insisted upon a round-table conference first.

A trip along the border showed that the Czech and Slovak authorities still observed strict measures against Hungary. Border traffic into Hungary was almost at a standstill, with no train or telephone communication between the two countries.

Hungarian Troops Ready.

Many Hungarian-speaking peasants stood all day on both sides of the border silently waiting for the moment when the Danube frontier will disappear. Hungarian military bands also were in readiness to be among the first to play Hungarian victory marches after 20 years of Czechoslovak rule here.

But nobody actually knew what the outcome of the negotiations would be, or exactly how new borders would be drawn. Thousands of residents of Slovakia seemed worried about which country they would be allotted to next week.

Admiral Nicholas Horthy, Regent of Hungary, throughout the last week inspected various troops which made ready to occupy the Hungarian regions of Czechoslovakia. Today he visited the Hungarian side of Komarom and seemed pleased with the troops.

DUCK HUNTING BLINDS BARRED AT POOL ABOVE ALTON DAM

Col. Reinecke Says Hunters Must Wait Until Use of Government Land Is Decided.

Duck hunters who had hoped to shoot over Government owned land on the banks of the pool above the Mississippi River dam at Alton probably will be disappointed this year. The season opens next Saturday.

Lieutenant-Colonel P. S. Reinecke of the army engineers notified Harry Barmeier, United States game management agent, yesterday that he would not grant permission for construction of duck hunting blinds on the Government property.

Such permission cannot be given, he said, until other Government agencies have decided what use they will make of the land. If and when the land becomes available for duck hunting, Col. Reinecke said, the Government will probably advertise the letting of leases for blinds by competitive bidding.

BOY BURNED IN GASOLINE FIRE

Fuel Ignites When Rex Donahue Pours It In Truck Carburetor.

Rex Donahue, 16 years old, of Valley Park, suffered serious burns of the chest, arms, and hands, yesterday when gasoline he was pouring from a can into a carburetor of a truck near his home became ignited in an undetermined manner and set fire to his clothing. He is at County Hospital.

The truck was the property of Donahue's brother-in-law, Ora Wideman, Meramec Station road, with whom he lived. Wideman helped extinguish the flames and took Donahue to the hospital.

DALADIER SEEKS DEAL WITH BLUM TO SAVE CABINET

Calls in Ex-Premier and Labor Leader in Hope of Blocking Reds' Plan to Revive People's Front.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Oct. 8.—Premier Edouard Daladier called in today former Socialist Premier Leon Blum and Leon Jouhaux, secretary of the General Confederation of Labor, in an effort to block a Communist plan to wreck his government by resurrecting the People's Front.

Two immediate differences between the Premier and the two leaders were over the questions of French recognition of the Spanish insurgents as belligerents and continuing labor troubles, including a threatened strike at the shipyards where the battleship Jean Bart is being built.

They conferred for half an hour, but none would disclose the outcome.

The Communist leader, Maurice Thorez, had declared his party would be willing to broaden its invitation, already tentatively accepted by Blum's Socialists, to form a front against Daladier.

Question of Decree Powers.

Blum agreed to the new Communist proposals provided Daladier's use of his 40-day decree powers forced the Socialists to break their tacit alliance with him and the Premier decided to dissolve Parliament and hold new elections, as he has been widely reported to be considering.

The reported decision of Premier Mussolini to withdraw about 10,000 Italians from the Spanish insurgent army and Daladier's desire to improve France's cool relations with Italy brought the recognition question to the fore.

The Socialists and the influential Labor Federation both are bitterly opposed to recognizing the Spanish insurgents. Blum is believed to have told Daladier that the recall of 10,000 Italians would be deemed insufficient to warrant French recognition.

Want All of Them Out.

The opinion of the Socialists and other Leftists was that Mussolini and Reichsfuehrer Hitler should recall all their nationals from the insurgent army in view of Government Spain's promise to get all foreign fighters out of its territory.

Until then, Leftist leaders indicated, they could not agree to recognition of the insurgents. They were not opposed, however, to sending an Ambassador to Rome and improving strengthening French-Italian friendship if it could be done without recognition of the Spanish insurgents.

VEILED PROPHET RETURNS FOR 59TH YEAR ON TUESDAY

Parade That Night to Be Followed the Next Evening by Annual Ball and Crowning of Queen.

MEMORIAL PLAZA STREET FESTIVAL

Two of Floats Substituted at Protest of Irish and to Avoid Criticism Because of European Events.

The Veiled Prophet will return to St. Louis for the fifty-ninth year next Tuesday night to lead his gaily costumed followers over the traditional seven and one-half mile parade route.

Following the custom established last year there will be a street festival on the Memorial Plaza after the parade. The ball, at which the Prophet will choose his queen for the coming year, will be held Wednesday night at the Municipal Auditorium.

This year's parade of 20 illuminated horse-drawn floats develops the theme: "Songs We Sing." The procession will begin at 7 o'clock at Ranken and Laclede avenues, and will return there about 9:50 o'clock. About half an hour will be required for the parade to pass a given spot.

Floats in Parade.

After the chariot of the Veiled Prophet the floats, in the order of their appearance, will be: "Old Oaken Bucket," "Rio Rita," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Stein Song," "Aloha Oe," "When It's Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," "Ole Man River," "Sweet Adeline," "Roses of Picardy," "Sidewalks of New York," "Home on the Range," "Annie Laurie," "Desert Song," "Alexander's Ragtime Band," "The Man on the Flying Trapeze," "Harvest Moon," "Isle of Capri," "Dixie Land" and "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean."

The floats, "Sidewalks of New York" and "Harvest Moon," are eleventh-hour substitutions for "Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly?" and "Schnitzelbank." The Irish float was altered because the sensibilities of some St. Louisans of Irish descent were offended by the comic Irishmen depicted, and the German float was eliminated to avoid any possible criticism because of recent European events.

Eleven bands will be interspersed in the parade, playing the music represented by the floats nearest which they march.

Prophet to Visit Plaza.

The Prophet will return to the Memorial Plaza after the parade to be greeted by Mayor Dickmann and Gov. Stark. There will be an hour of entertainment on the plaza provided by radio performers and Miss Gladys Baxter, Municipal Opera prima donna, after which there will be dancing in the streets.

At the ball on the following night guests with floor tickets are required to wear strictly formal attire which means swallow-tail coats, white vests and white ties for the men, and for the women, evening costumes without hats.

Evening dress will not be required in the gallery, from which about 12,000 are expected to view the ball. Doors to the gallery will open at 7 o'clock and main floor entrances at 7:30 o'clock.

Two national radio networks will broadcast descriptions of the ball and the coronation ceremony. Local stations which will carry this program are KWK and KSD.

Traffic Rules.

The traffic approach to the auditorium will be eastbound on Market street. Traffic from the west and north may, alternatively, use Olive street to Seventeenth, crossing over there to Market. Traffic from the east will proceed west to Seventeenth, turning there to reach Market, and join the eastward flow of traffic.

Guests may use either the Fourteenth or Fifteenth street entrances to the auditorium. Parking instructions will be given to drivers when they discharge their passengers.

After the ball the guests will gather for midnight supper and dancing at various clubs and hotels. The principal party of the evening is the queen's supper dance at Hotel Jefferson.

MAN DIES OF AUTO INJURIES; HIT SEPT. 29 ON GRAVOIS ROAD

Henry Baumgartner, Laborer of Gardenville, Succumbs; Inquest Tomorrow.

Henry Baumgartner, a laborer, died yesterday at St. Louis County Hospital of injuries suffered Sept. 29 when he was struck by an automobile at Gravois and Weber roads.

Baumgartner, who was 48 years old and resided at 7900 Fleta avenue, Gardenville, St. Louis County, suffered a skull fracture and internal injuries.

The driver of the machine, Oliver Greenwald, 24, 218 East Washington avenue, Kirkwood, said he was driving east in Gravois road at a moderate speed when Baumgartner walked into the side of his automobile. An inquest will be held at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning at the office of Coroner John O'Connell, 10,300 Lackland road.

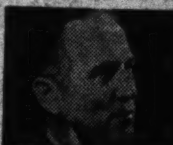
May Buy Ozark College Buildings.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CARTHAGE, Mo., Oct. 8. — A movement has been started by civic leaders here for the purchase of Ozark Wesleyan College buildings here for high school use. Prof. J. L. Campbell, head of the public school system, in addressing the Chamber of Commerce, revealed that Government aid may be obtained in purchasing the property from bondholders. More than $250,000 was invested by the Methodist Conference in the college buildings a few years ago.



"They have been eminently successful."

BIGGERS CALLS WOMEN CRUX OF JOB PROBLEM

Census Shows 2,740,000 More Than Expected Have Work or Seek It.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. — John D. Biggers, resigning as head of the unemployment census, asserted today that women in the nation's labor market were the crux of the unemployment problem.

Last November's postcard survey of the jobless, he advised President Roosevelt, showed that there were 2,740,000 more women employed or seeking employment than had been expected on the basis of the 1930 census. He estimated 39,978,000 men and 14,496,000 women were in the labor market.

Biggers urged the President to turn over the problem of women workers to the Monopoly Investigating Committee, which is going into all aspects of the nation's economic structure.

The recommendation was contained in his letter of resignation. This disclosed his unemployment census was completed for only $1,900,000 of the $5,000,000 Congress appropriated.

The White House also made public President Roosevelt's reply congratulating Biggers on his work and calling the economy with which he did it noteworthy.

A total of 7,822,912 persons filled in the question postcards mailed them by Biggers. After sample checks by mail carriers to determine what percentage of the jobless were missed, Biggers computed that a maximum of about 10,500,000 were out of work at that time. The business recession then beginning increased the total by about 4,000,000 in the following months.

Biggers said the postcard survey produced invaluable data on the industries and localities in which unemployment was most severe, and also on the age, sex and physical fitness of jobseekers.

Biggers, who is president of the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co. served in the census job without pay.

PETITION TO SELL 328 ACRES

Court Asked to Pass on Offer for Trust Firm's Land.

A petition was filed yesterday by State Finance Commissioner R. W. Holt asking for court permission to sell a tract of 328 acres in Mississippi County, Missouri, which is owned by the Title Guaranty Trust Co., now in liquidation.

Holt, through J. S. Lockett, his liquidating agent, set forth he has a cash offer of $7300 from Hunter Rafferty and he believes it is a fair price. A commission of $300 is to be paid in event the offer is approved. Circuit Judge William S. Connor set the hearing for Oct. 13.

Woman, 74, Hurt in Fall, Dies.

Miss Kate Bumbery, 74 years old, died at City Hospital yesterday of complications resulting from a fractured left hip suffered Sept. 25 when she slipped and fell when attempting to step up on the curb at the northwest corner of Twenty-third street and St. Louis avenue. She lived with her sister, Miss Sarah Bumbery at 2311A Montgomery street.

Part of Curtiss Airport Farmed to Augment Income

300 Acres Put in Winter Wheat on Share Basis—Maj. Wassall, Lessee, Also Gets Third of Corn Crop.

A visiting avaiator circling Curtiss Airport, south of East St. Louis, yesterday and seeing tractor-drawn machinery at work below, speculated, no doubt, as to just where the aviation industry was charting its course.

Farm hands, manning plows, seeder and harrow, were putting in a winter wheat crop on 300 acres of the flying field to augment the income from aviation sources of Maj. C. Ray Wassall, lessee. The planted area is laid out so as to leave the approaches to each of the 1650-foot concrete runways open, with plenty of landing room remaining. In a pinch a level wheat field is not a bad landing place, anyway, as any old barnstormer will testify.

Curtiss Airport was opened in June, 1930, as a $2,000,000 development, with optimistic prospects. Financed by the Curtiss-Wright Corporation and Transcontinental Air Transport, now TWA, it was believed the airport, only 6½ miles by automobile from Twelfth and Olive streets, would become the air terminal for this area. The prospects failed to become actualities; Lambert-St. Louis Field, in St. Louis County, was established as the local air terminal, with full Government facilities, and the East Side airport was practically forgotten.

Wassall Still Optimistic.

After passing through several operating hands, the airport was leased to Maj. Wassall, who has been associated with the field since its opening. Wassall still is optimistic about the future of private flying, but he has to pay rent on the field and live while awaiting aviation developments. Wassall's lease covers 569 acres of land, all of which, it was originally expected, would be required for flying area. After viewing the expanse of weeds, which it cost money to keep under control, for several years, Wassall, a city man, decided to mix agriculture with aviation and make a profit. That was better, he argued, than sitting in his office with his ears cocked for the infrequent arrivals of transient gasoline and oil customers.

"I'm a share cropper," Wassall explained to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "Those boys," pointing to the tractor crews, "are putting in the third crop of winter wheat to be planted since I got the idea. The farmer, with whom I have a deal, furnishes the seed and does the planting and the harvesting. I get one-third of the crop as land rental. Last year I got $1.19 a bushel for my wheat. My share of the wheat cut this year was about 2000 bushels, although the price is lower." The airport operator also gets a third of a 10-acre corn crop on the field.

On the aviation side, Wassall sells storage and supplies to the owners of 30 private airplanes. Visitors needing gasoline and oil and a night's stopover are, of course, always welcome. The must arrive in daylight, or be familiar with the field, because the field lights are out of order, and Wassall says he can not afford to repair and maintain a lighting system under present conditions. Pilots using the field as a base have no trouble with night landings, as approaches are clear and obstacles few.

Goats Roam Big Hangar.

Planes are stored in three large brick hangars, designed to accommodate 10 ships each. A fourth, and largest, hangar, built to house 80 planes, is without a floor and has been practically unused. Wassall rents the office section of this hangar to a family as a home, at $10 a month. The family owns goats, which scamper through the $90,000 building.

Living quarters were built in the three hangars now in use, and bachelor apartments have been set up in these living rooms by 12 men, netting Wassall an additional revenue.

Wassall and his wife have a home at the edge of the airport. Although but two miles, airline, from East St. Louis, they live a rural life, and like it. They buy milk, eggs and butter from neighboring farmers and get their water from a well.

"I used to think farmers had a bleak life," Wassall explained. "I've changed my mind about that. If the aviation business don't pick up in a few years I may turn the entire field into a farm."

P W A Grant for Comfort Stations.

A PWA grant of $14,130 toward the $31,400 cost of three comfort stations to be built in Francis Park, Christy Park, and the Negro playground at Sarah street and West Belle avenue, was announced yesterday.

TRUCK, RUNNING OFF ROAD, CRASHES INTO COUNTY HOME

Travels 400 Feet Through Field Before Hitting House, Damaging It Somewhat.

A truck, which ran off Natural Bridge road, near McKibbon road, St. Louis County, at 3:15 a. m. yesterday, crashed into the home of Gail Koenig, a filling station operator.

The driver walked away, leaving the truck imbedded in the foundation wall, after calling out: "I'll take care of the damage." Later, Fred Williams, a bricklayer of 9434 May avenue, St. Louis County, arranged with Koenig to pay for the damage. He said he owned the truck, and that the driver was an employe.

After leaving the highway the truck traveled about 400 feet through a field before hittting the house. A section of the concrete block foundation wall, exposed above the ground, was knocked into the basement, the frame wall was damaged and the four-room building was tilted slightly.

Mr. Lee McCune says "By actual experiment, I proved that FULLY AUTOMATIC HEAT COSTS LESS WITH OIL!"

Apartment house owner makes direct comparison...simultaneously heats half of building with oil, half with another type of fully automatic fuel

In any test of the values of fully automatic fuels, impartial experts agree that oil heat costs less in this locality.

Such tests may satisfy most people of this vicinity, but not Mr. McCune. Before installing oil heat in his entire building, Mr. McCune made a comparison of his own—just the sort that many other homeowners would like to be able to make. He split his apartment building in half, heating the north side with oil, the south side with another fully automatic fuel. This is how he describes his experiment:

"Two years ago, I bought a four-family apartment house. Each apartment had its own automatic heating unit, so there were four heating units in all.

All four units were burning the same type of fully automatic fuel. However, I began to wonder if oil heat might not be more economical. In the fall of 1937, I decided to find out, so I heated the two north apartments with oil and the two south apartments with the fuel I had been using. At the end of the '37-'38 heating season, the fuel cost for the south half of the building was $205.68, while the cost of oil heat for the north half was only $158.68—a saving of nearly a fourth! I believe the saving would have been even higher if I had placed the oil burners on the south or warmer side of the building. Consequently, my apartments are now heated entirely by oil.

Besides saving me money, I find that the oil burners give a copious supply of hot water for each apartment without any additional expense."

Experiences such as this prove that oil heat costs less in actual practice as well as by analysis.

Today—through the FHA—you can install oil heat without a single cent down and take as long as three years to pay! Mail in the coupon below or call FLanders 7777 for a FREE estimate on oil heating your home.

NO CASH DOWN! FHA will finance your oil burner purchase.

MR. LEE McCUNE, apartment house owner, who conducted the remarkable side-by-side comparison which proved to him that oil heat costs less.

The McCune Apartments

THE McCUNE APARTMENTS enjoy all the advantages of automatic oil heat...less housecleaning work ... constant, healthful temperatures ... freedom from smoke and dirt.

Year 'round hot water

WITH HOT WATER or steam heating plants, you can have automatic hot water the year 'round at just a slight extra cost for attachments. In fact, oil gives you the lowest cost form of automatic hot water.

Sleep an hour longer

WITH OIL HEAT, there's no banking of fires at night ... no building of fires in the morning. The thermostat—your silent janitor—does all the work.

ACTION ON PEA WITH C I O LEFT A. F. L. CONVENT

RELATES LEWIS MADE CONDITI

Recounts Previous Re to Renew Negotia for Amicable Settle Otherwise.

By the Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 8.— can Federation of Labor l apparently resisting strong p within their ranks for imm renewal of peace talks wi CIO, were reported ready t to ask the A. F. of L. conv Monday to uphold a policy o ing for John L. Lewis to ma next peace move.

Standing between the lead and a ratification vote, ho was Daniel J. Tobin, one of th eration's vice-presidents, who the A. F. of L. to do somethin than merely hold open the d peace.

After a meeting of the ex council earlier in the day wh bated Tobin's urgent peace the convention Friday and dent Roosevelt expressed hop labor leaders would "make an the peace," Tobin told repor

"My interpretation is th President is extremely anxi a friend of labor, to bring unity in the family of labor interests, not only of the w but of the public."

The possibility that Ro might be drawn into the sit as a mediator or arbitrator w siderably dimmed, however, AFL President William Gree the council finished their ext nary session.

Green told reporters the c interpreted the White House m sage on peace in the labor move ment to mean he did not want convention to close the do peace and that labor leaders avoid jurisdictional disputes result in a stoppage of work.

"We are unwilling," Green "to submit fundamental and questions of administrative c to someone else for final a ment."

Green said Tobin's plea fo mediate peace negotiations w fore the convention and ther nothing the council could do it at this time.

The council's own report CIO situation, he said, woul delivered to the convention Resolutions Committee.

"The convention will take o action," he said. "The conv is the supreme authority."

John P. Frey, secretary Resolutions Committee, sai delegates from the Stove Mou Union and the Hotel and R rant Employes' Alliance, req their resolutions for peace wi CIO be withdrawn and exp from the record.

Green said he informed that while he was abroad summer, CIO Chairman Lew rejected a proposal that peac tiations be resumed where broke off last December.

The federation, Green "stood ready to name a com to meet the CIO with the standing that negotiations begin where they broke off w commitments or stipulations kind."

Lewis was not agreeable renewal of negotiations, Gree he told Tobin, unless all CIO were taken back into the A. F and an understanding reache their charters would not be re even if conferences failed to jurisdictional conflicts.

RELATES LEWIS MADE CONDITIONS

Recounts Previous Refusal to Renew Negotiations for Amicable Settlement Otherwise.

By the Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 8.—American Federation of Labor leaders, apparently resisting strong pressure within their ranks for immediate renewal of peace talks with the CIO, were reported ready tonight to ask the A. F. of L. convention Monday to uphold a policy of waiting for John L. Lewis to make the next peace move.

Standing between the leadership and a ratification vote, however, was Daniel J. Tobin, one of the Federation's vice-presidents, who wants the A. F. of L. to do something more than merely hold open the door to peace.

After a meeting of the executive council earlier in the day which debated Tobin's urgent peace plea to the convention Friday and President Roosevelt expressed hope that labor leaders would "make and keep the peace," Tobin told reporters:

"My interpretation is that the President is extremely anxious as a friend of labor, to bring about unity in the family of labor in the interests, not only of the workers, but of the public."

The possibility that Roosevelt might be drawn into the situation as a mediator or arbitrator was considerably dimmed, however, after AFL President William Green and the council finished their extraordinary session.

Green told reporters the council interpreted the White House message on peace in the labor movement to mean he did not want the convention to close the door to peace and that labor leaders should avoid jurisdictional disputes which result in a stoppage of work.

"We are unwilling," Green said, "to submit fundamental and vital questions of administrative control to someone else for final adjustment."

Green said Tobin's plea for immediate peace negotiations was before the convention and there was nothing the council could do about it at this time.

The council's own report on the CIO situation, he said, would be delivered to the convention by the Resolutions Committee.

"The convention will take official action," he said. "The convention is the supreme authority."

John P. Frey, secretary of the Resolutions Committee, said the delegates from the Stove Mounters' Union and the Hotel and Restaurant Employes' Alliance, requested their resolutions for peace with the CIO be withdrawn and expunged from the record.

Green said he informed Tobin that while he was abroad last summer, CIO Chairman Lewis had rejected a proposal that peace negotiations be resumed where they broke off last December.

The federation, Green said, "stood ready to name a committee to meet the CIO with the understanding that negotiations would begin where they broke off without commitments or stipulations of any kind."

Lewis was not agreeable to the renewal of negotiations, Green said he told Tobin, unless all CIO unions were taken back into the A. F. of L. and an understanding reached that their charters would not be revoked even if conferences failed to settle jurisdictional conflicts.

MONUMENT TO CASEY JONES TO BE UNVEILED TODAY

Senator Barkley to Speak at Ceremonies at Cayce, Ky., Honoring Engineer.

By the Associated Press.

HICKMAN, Ky., Oct. 8.—Almost 40 years ago, Casey Jones died "with his hand on the throttle" of "the Cannon Ball," fast Illinois Central mail train which he drove through three freight cars at Vaughn, Miss.

Tomorrow, at nearby Cayce, Ky., from which Casey derived his nickname, a monument to the engineer will be unveiled.

Senator Alben W. Barkley will be the principal speaker. Sim Webb, Negro fireman, who was with Casey on his last trip and who was unhurt, also will be there. So will Sid Law, Casey's fireman on the night before the wreck, his widow and several relatives and railroad executives.

Casey (John Luther) Jones was killed on the morning of April 30, 1900. He was the only fatality and memory of his fatal ride has been perpetuated in the ballad, "Casey Jones."

Ferguson Election Tuesday.

Two vacancies in the Board of Aldermen of Ferguson from the Second Ward, caused by the resignations of F. H. Bridges and A. J. Ettling who are moving from the district, will be filled at a special election Tuesday. P. H. Bittner and H. C. Bosburg are unopposed for the positions.

ICE CREAM DEALERS!
WHO ARE DISPENSING A DAILY AVERAGE OF 4 GALLONS OR MORE

A recent survey of the ice cream industry in St. Louis indicates that a very large percentage of the "stops" made, are so small, or such poor pay, or have so much excess equipment or money lent by the manufacturers, that they actually lose money for the manufacturers.

It is obvious, therefore, that the larger dealers and users who pay their bills and who receive only ADEQUATE equipment for dispensing, must carry these losses by paying higher prices than they should. It is also obvious that if the losing accounts could be eliminated, the manufacturer could maintain his fair margin of profit and either deliver a better ice cream for the same price, or the same quality at a lower price.

If you do not wish to continue to pay for the other fellow's losses, we request that you signify your interest and we shall be pleased to give you details of our sales and profit-sharing plan. Our present customers know of this ad.

If You Have any of these Symptoms—and suspect Acid Indigestion as the Cause—Lose No Time in "Alkalizing" the Quick, Easy "Phillips'" Way. If Trouble Persists, GO TO YOUR DOCTOR TO FIND THE CAUSE

Don't be alarmed if you get a low "score" on the above symptoms—and suspect over-acidity as the cause. For now there is a way to relieve even the most annoying symptoms of "acid indigestion"—a way that acts with almost incredible speed—is simple to do—and costs but a few pennies.

What you do is alkalize excess stomach acidity almost instantly this way:

JUST DO THIS—Take 2 teaspoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia 30 minutes after meals. OR—take 2 Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets, the exact equivalent.

Results are amazing. Often you get relief in a few minutes. Your stomach is alkalized—soothed. Nausea and upset distress quickly disappear. It produces no gas to embarrass you and offend others.

Try it—you'll be glad you did. Get either a bottle of liquid Phillips' Milk of Magnesia for home use or get a big box of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets to carry with you—have ready when trouble begins. Only 25¢ a box. But—see that any box or bottle you accept is clearly marked "Phillips'" Milk of Magnesia.

BEARS SHOW STRONG DEFENSE BUT LOSE TO TULSA, 14 TO 0

THOMPSON PASSES TO REAGAN GREGORY FOR BOTH HURRICANE SCORES

Washington Repulses Foe on One Yard Late in Game—Conzelman's Team Threatens in Opening Minutes — Yore, Ferfecky and Warner Star.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

TULSA, Ok., Oct. 8.—Tulsa University's Golden Hurricane, whics has never lost a Missouri Valley football game since it joined that conference in 1935, kept its record spotless here Saturday by downing the hard-fighting team of Washington University's Bears, 14 to 0.

The big and powerful Tulsa line was the difference between the two teams today but it was the sharp passing of "Tossin' Tommy Thompson," rangy Tulsa halfback, that accounted for both touchdowns.

Reagan Gregory, sticky-fingered end, snatched Thompson's heaves on both occasions, both times in the same corner of the field only a step from the pay-off line.

The first touchdown came in the last minute of the opening half, after Morris White and George Farmer had driven to the Washington 20-yard line. Thompson faded back deliberately and whipped the ball to Gregory, who took it in stride and stepped over the line.

Tulsa Scores Again.

Excepting for time out during the halves, the second counter came within three minutes of the first. Washington kicked off into the wind and White and Troy Scholl drove all the way from their 13 to the Washington 23, alternating at lugging the ball. Thompson then fell back and threw to Gregory, the play duplicating the one that registered the first touchdown. Farmer kicked goal both times.

The Washington passing attack, which functioned so perfectly last week, when the Bears upset a favored Drake team, was blasted by the fast-charging Tulsa aggregation. The Bears completed only two out of 11 aerials and had the same number intercepted, forcing them to rely on their running game.

The light Washington line, except for intervals, functioned well on defense and, late in the fourth quarter, repulsed Tulsa five times with only a yard needed for another touchdown. Tulsa got one extra try because of an offside. Scholl, powerful fullback, was sent crashing into the line on every attempt, but the plucky Bears clung on tenaciously and the closest he got was to the one-foot line.

The famed "aerial circus" of Tulsa U. was kept pretty much under cover, except for the two touchdown heaves, but White, Scholl and Farmer kept hammering away and managed to stay in Washington territory much of the time.

Bear Stars.

Bill Ferfecky, Jack Warner and Dick Yore all played well for the Bears, but their blocking up in front did not stand up well enough for them to gain consistently, although they did throw a scare into the home forces early in the first quarter.

The visitors took the opening kickoff from their own 10 to the Tulsa 19 without losing the ball, with Warner and Ferfecky skirting both ends and Yore churning through the line, but when the goose pimples were really beginning to grow on the home fans an intercepted pass broke up the long march. Yore tossed the ball, aiming it at Siebert, but Adams, Tulsa center, and well known as a ball hawk, snagged it and was dropped on his own seven.

With seconds to go in the first quarter Tulsa, taking full advantage of a stiff wind, attempted a place kick from the 20. Forrest Gregory, co-captain and guard, tried his educated toe with Collins holding but the kick was low.

Most of the game was fought between the 20-yard lines, with Tulsa apparently content to "sit on" its lead, and the Bears unable to muster a consistent attack. Each team tried one lateral and saw it backfire in favor of the opposition so the "razzle dazzle" was then left in the bag.

Ohio State Marches 79 Yards

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

Frank Zadworney, Ohio State back, making a gain of 11 yards in a 79-yard match by the Buckeyes in their game with Southern California yesterday. However, an 83-yard run by one Coast star, Grenville Lansdell, helped U. S. C. to score a 14-7 victory, before 62,578 spectators, at Columbus.

U. S. C. UPSETS OHIO STATE BY 14-7 SCORE

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 8.—Tradition and an alert Southern California team wrecked Ohio State's hopes of football glory here today before a crowd of 62,578, the Trojans winning, 14 to 7, although outgained in every department of play.

Grenville Lansdell, Trojan quarterback, and one of the finest backs ever to sink a cleat in Buckeye soil, probably could have taken care of the Ohioans alone, but these ghosts of former years haunted the Buckeyes:

Ohio has never beaten a West Coast team; Ohio in four attempts has never beaten a team coached by the Trojan mentor, Howard Jones; Ohio has never beaten a team which has scored against it since the middle of the 1935 season, the week after Notre Dame tagged the Bucks, 18 to 13.

Fumbles and intercepted passes spelled Ohio's doom—the alert Trojans snagged three Buckeye bobbles and added six pass interceptions. Ohio gobbled up but one Trojan fumble and did not get a hand on any of 14 aerials tossed by the Westerners.

Soldan Defeats McBride 24 to 0

With Joe Dowdy making great gains on single and double reverses and Tommy Lombardo scoring three touchdowns, Soldan High's football team trimmed McBride, 24 to 0, last night at Walsh Stadium.

Dowdy's running set up Lombardo's three touchdowns. A 50-yard drive in the first period ended as Lombardo hit right tackle for one yard and a touchdown. Then in the fourth Lombardo counted again on three and seven-yard plunges.

Howard James scored the other touchdown in the second period on a reverse from the 12-yard line. Dowdy, Lombardo, and Switowicz all failed to kick extra points.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Hope Springs Eternal.

"WHAT chance is there that St. Louis will be represented in the 1939 world series?" writes an inquiring optimist. "Very little," probably will be the answer of most of those who take a casual glance at the final standings of 1938.

The Browns, seventh place in the race, can be dismissed from consideration, even though the season just ended proved that the club possesses at least one great pitcher, and two "finds" in McQuinn and Almada.

History points out that no club is likely to acquire as much aid, either by purchase or development, as would be needed to convert the Brownies into a stout contender or to give Barnes and Co. the team's first American League pennant in 37 years.

AS FOR THE CARDINALS—well, that's another matter. The Redbirds, after a staggering start, gradually found themselves and became a pretty strong team toward the close of the campaign—whenever good pitching was provided for it.

Improvement was noted over the early months, when experiments with Gutteridge, Terry Moore, Padgett and other players almost destroyed the club's efficiency.

When these players were sent back to their normal positions the team began to win. Since then improvement has been noted at shortstop and in the team's young catchers; the infield has pretty well stabilized, although second base is not too stoutly manned. The club toward the finish began to develop fine batting power with Mize hitting in full stride, Medwick driving in important runs and Gutteridge, Padgett and others meeting the ball hard and often.

WITHOUT MORE PITCHING even these assets apparently are not enough to make the Cards a formidable contender. But an ace pitcher or two, added to what the Cardinals already have, might give the still-to-be-named manager of the 1939 club materials from which to shape a championship factor.

Where those two pitchers are to come from not even Branch Rickey knows at this time. Therefore the chance of getting the club into the thick of next year's pennant fight is the same as the chance of landing two hurling marvels.

And the answer to that is—slim.

However, no club with two hitters like Mize and Medwick need ever give up hope. And no opposing team is going to take lightly any club with the swat power possessed by the Cards.

If we can't figure a pennant for them, we can at least quote "Elsie" Davis and say: "It looks like first division."

He Can Afford It.

JACOB RUPPERT, whose business is beer and whose pleasure is baseball (with a profit on the side), is a real "Choke 'Em Charley." He not only wants to win every world series in which his Yankees play, but he wants to win in four games, when possible. Like the famous Charley Herzog of other days, his slogan is, "When you get 'em down, choke 'em."

Jake is not one of those who thinks his rivals are entitled to help. And certainly, even though they do need it, he is not going to lend assistance to those who might turn and bite the hand that aided them, by beating his beloved Yanks out of a flag.

"Let them take care of themselves—I'll look out for myself," is the Ruppert philosophy. He adds that it would break down the confidence of the public, built up through the years, if any pooling or artificial distribution of players through desire to balance a league race were to be attempted.

And he may be right. But, of course, Ruppert is able to take that position, being immensely wealthy through profits from both beer and baseball. He can afford to say he wants to win the series in four games, because the excess profits that might accrue from a longer series would be mere chickenfeed to Jacob.

THAT GOES FOR the Chicago Cubs, for the New York Giants and perhaps one or two other teams. But what Jacob does not seem to see is the plight of at least eight other clubs without which the leagues could not go forward. Unless baseball is made financially safe for the small owners as well as the large ones, the sport can hardly be considered safe. There are not enough large cities and not enough independently wealthy owners to make it so, under present conditions.

Until some method of strengthening teams in the smaller and less wealthy communities is devised, baseball's major problem will remain unsolved. And little progress toward a solution will be made as long as there are Rupperts who tie up stars they cannot use.

Cards More Liberal.

IN THE EARLY DAYS of the chain store idea, when the Cardinals were turning out bumper crops of prospective stars from their farms, they did a real service to baseball. Many a promising youngster was peddled to rival clubs and one of them helped the Cubs win a pennant—Lee.

No one expects Mr. Ruppert to break up his winning team just to help out some second division owner. But he could at least scatter some of his upcoming material more liberally than he has seemed inclined to do in the past.

For one thing, Jacob must realize that a pennant monoply by the New York Yankees is not making a hit with the country at large and may break up the league more effectively than pooling the players.

PURDUE HOLDS MINNESOTA TO SEVEN POINTS

By the Associated Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 8.—Minnesota opened its 1938 Big Ten title bid by defeating Purdue, 7 to 0, before 52,000 persons today, but the gallant Boilermakers fought so stubbornly that the Gophers' famed power attack needed almost three complete periods to produce the winning score.

So unyielding were Purdue's stalwarts that Minnesota got 16 first downs and vast stretches of yardage before Fullback Christiansen blasted over from the one-yard line near the end of the third quarter.

BUDGE ADVANCES IN COAST TENNIS EVENT

BERKELEY, Cal., Oct. 8.—Don Budge, the world's No. 1 net ace, moved into quarterfinals of the Pacific Coast tennis championships today by eliminaitng Ronald Shayes of England, 6-4, 6-0, as other events went into the semifinal and final rounds.

Gene Smith reached the men's singles quarterfinal round by beating Robert Mouvet of Belgium, 6-0, 6-2, while in the same division Jack Bromwich defeated Wayne Sabin of Portland, 6-3, 6-3, and Robert Riggs of Chicago, No. 2 American Davis Cup player, eliminated Leonard Schwartz of Australia 6-2, 5-7, 6-3.

Otis Thomas Wins.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Otis Thomas, St. Louis Negro heavyweight, had little trouble outpointing Yustin Sirutis of New York in a 10-round bout at Rockland Palace tonight. Thomas weighed 198½, Sirutis 219½. Thomas scored effectively with left hooks to the head and body to take seven of the rounds. There were no knockdowns and the bout was slowed down by frequent clinching.

Indoor Tennis Matches.

Three matches were played on the inaugural program of the Indoor Tennis Club last night at the Armory. Ray Wiese defeated Karl Hodge, 6-3; Hodge and Wiese split sets with Frank Keaney and Charles McMillin, 6-1, 6-8, while Lois Keene and McMillin disposed of Keaney and Frances Jacobson, 6-3, 6-4, in mixed doubles.

ST. LOUIS U. AND WICHITA PLAY TO A SCORELESS TIE

Billikens Fail to Go Over Goal Line From 2-Yard Mark

Hartle's Attempt at a Place Kick is Wide Just Before End of Half—Denny Cochran's Fine Kicking Pulls Team Out of Several Holes.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WICHITA, Kan., Oct. 8.—Two yards separated the St. Louis University Billikens from a touchdown aaginst Wichita in the game here tonight, but it might as well have been two miles, and the teams finished the contest in a scoreless tie.

The Billikens drove to the two-yard line late in the first half and then, on the first down, they tried a place kick which failed.

The drive started after Denny Cochran intercepted a Wichita pass on the Shockers' 49-yard line. Denny shot a pass to Roemer for a first down on the Wichita 34-yard stripe, then another to Johnny Veith, who was tackled on the 24.

An offside penalty on Wichita advanced the Billikens five more yards, then another pass, Cochran to Roemer, put the ball on the two-yard line, first down and goal to go.

Place Kick on First Down.

Yokubaitis tried a line plunge but both sides were offsides. Then a place kick was called but Johnny Hartle's attempt was wide. Shortly afterward the half ended.

Much of the time was spent in kicking back and forth but the Billikens once had a narrow escape.

In the second period a 15-yard penalty pushed the St. Louisans back to their three-yard line. Backing into the end zone, Denny Cochran tried to kick out of danger. The boot was blocked by a Wichita back and the ball bounded end over end along the goal line.

With 5000 fans screaming at the Wichita opportunity, a Billiken back saved the night by recovering the ball on th eone-yard line. Denny immediately kicked out to the St. Louis 36-yard mark.

Denny's kicking most of the time was superb an dhis passing and running made him outstanding during the game.

But he couldn't break through for a touchdown. In the last quarter he, and later Aussieker, hurled passes continually in an effort to score but all were knocked down.

Santa Clara Wins, 7-0, From Texas Aggies

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.—Santa Clara, football toast of the Pacific Coast, turned one yard-gaining thrust of 52 yards into a touchdown today to defeat the formidable Texas A. & M. eleven, 7 to 0, and remain in the race for mythical national championship recognition.

The touchdown rally started swiftly and finished the same way when Santa Clara put the ball into play on its own 48-yard line.

Left halfback Bruno Pellegrini cut through tackle on a fake reverse, and slashed and twisted 20 yards to the Texas 32. Quarterback Ray McCarthy banged into the line for four yards and right halfback Jim Barlow followed with five more.

It was inches to go for another first down but Barlow made it certain by weaving through for 14 yards to the nine-yard marker.

Pellegrini responded with three yards, then one as the Aggie line tightened in desperate defense.

The next play proved the winning one. McCarthy faked to Pellegrini, then darted through a hole in the opposition's left tackle, pushing two Texans over the goal line with him. Pellegrini calmly split the uprights on the try for point and the game was decided, as the third period ended.

U. C. L. A. Upsets Huskies.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8. — The University of California at Los Angeles rose to one of its greatest gridiron triumphs today when it defeated the highly favored Huskies of Washington, 13 to 0, in a Pacific Coast Conference battle.

The victory marked the first time the Uclans had been able to score on the stocky lads from the Northwest in the four games played since 1932, much less the first time the U. C. L. A. colors had waved in victory.

Stanford Beats Washington State.

PALO ALTO, Cal., Oct. 8.—Stanford University's Indians scored an unimpressive 8-to-0 victory over Washington State today before 15,000 spectators.

It was Stanford's first Pacific Coast Conference game, but the third league defeat for the luckless Cougars from Pullman, Wash.

KANSAS CITY BEATS NEWARK, 8-4, FOR TITLE

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 8.—Kansas City, runner up in the American Assocation pennant race, concluded a brilliant series of back-to-the-wall comebacks tonight by defeating Newark, International league champions, 8 to 4, to wrest the Little World Series title from the 1937 winner.

A crowd of 15,054 saw Kansas City fall behind 0-4 in the first four innings and then surge ahead with a blast of singles and doubles which routed Joe Beggs, previously undefeated in two other appearances in the series.

Kansas City took the series, four games to three, after being down three games to two in a battle between two clubs which are both the property of Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees.

Kemp Wicker, Kansas City's most effective pitcher against Newark until tonight, started and was laced for four runs on five hits, the last a triple by May which sent him to the showers.

The Blues surged from behind to the biggest title in minor league baseball by repeating their dramatic performances in the American Association playoffs. They fell behind two games to one against the fourth place Indianapolis, then beat the Indians three straight on their home lot. Against the pennant-winning St. Paul Saints in the playoff finals, they went down one game to three, within one of elimination, won the fifth game at home and took the next two at St. Paul.

PEARSON PITCHES YANKEES TO THIRD STRAIGHT VICTORY, 5-2; AMERICAN LEAGUERS NEED ONLY ONE MORE GAME FOR TITLE

CUBS ARE HELD TO FIVE HITS, NINE GOING OUT ON STRIKES; BRYANT IS ROUTED IN SIXTH

Gordon, Dickey and Marty Smash Homers, and Second Baseman Also Drives in Two Tallies With a Single; 55,000 See Contest.

By J. Roy Stockton
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Joe McCarthy's Yankees, champions of the American League by right of batting might, fielding skill and brilliant pitching arms, need only one more world series victory to gain an objective never before reached in the history of baseball competition, their third straight championship of the world.

Claiborne Henry Bryant, strong-armed and stout-hearted son of old Virginia, a rugged young man with a darting curve and a popping fast ball, held the devastating American League bats in check for four innings before 55,236 spectators at Yankee Stadium this afternoon, but in the doing he gave all he had. He retired the first two batters in the fifth inning, with the enemy still hitless, but the strain was too great and the enemy bats were too strong, and soon thereafter Bryant was beaten, 5 to 2, as Bill Lee and Dizzy Dean had been defeated before him.

Joe Gordon, young second baseman of the Yankees, delivered the first telling thrust. He tied up the game with a home-run drive into the left field seats and the Bryant spell was broken. Monte Pearson singled, the weary Bryant walked a waiting and eager Crosetti, and Red Rolfe then popped a single to center, scoring Pearson with a run that put the Yankees ahead. And they stayed ahead.

Yankee Bats Too Hot.

Bryant gamely carried on into the next frame, but the Yankee bats were hot now. Opportunity was knocking at the door. The Ruppert warriors heard the jingle of the world series coin, the spoils of victory and when they are hot they are hard to stop. Joe DiMaggio shot a single to left, a burning grounder that skipped between Stanley Hacks' legs with such perilous speed that he couldn't put his glove on it. Lou Gehrig shot a line single to right-center and DiMaggio raced to third. There was a lull as Dickey fouled out to Hack, but the over-careful Bryant walked Selkirk, filling the bases, and Gordon singled, this time a drive to left that sent DiMaggio and Gehrig scampering home.

The Yankees then had one run more than they needed, with Monte Pearson pitching so brilliantly, and it was unimportant that Jack Russell checked the rally as the weary Bryant went to the dugout, battered just as Lee and Dizzy Dean had been. It didn't matter, either, when Bill Dickey hit a home run in the eighth inning, a line drive into the right field seats, to increase the Yankee total to the ultimate five.

Nothing mattered after that, for the Cubs were as helpless against the grinding curve and the fast ball of Pearson as were the National League pitchers trying to stop the pressure of the ever-flailing Yankee bats.

Ruffing Effective and Gomez Brilliant, But Pearson Better Than Either of Them

Ruffing had been effective and Gomez brilliant, but Pearson was better than either of them. He held the Cubs to five hits, scattered one to an inning except in the third when there were two futile Chicago singles. Pearson struck out nine men and mixed that darting curve no effectively with a burning fast ball, high and then low, that the Cubs were always off stride, so hobbled at the plate that it took a homer into the left field seats by Joe Marty to produce the underdogs' only earned run of the afternoon.

So brilliant was Pearson that even two errors by his infield did no particular damage, except to yield the first Cub run, which quickly seemed to spur the Yankees into a rally that made that one run unimportant.

Only the super-optimists can see even a ray of hope for the Cubs now. The Yankees, needing only one precious victory, will send Charles "Red" Ruffing to the pitching mound tomorrow and if he again can take the measure of Bill Lee, vanquished in the opening game, the series will be over. And even if the Cubs upset the strong-armed Ruffing, they still will have to face another brilliant pitcher in the then necessary fifth game, for Lefty Gomez, triumphant in the second game at Chicago, will be ready for another trip to the hill Monday. If Lee should win tomorrow, however, Manager Joe McCarthy of the remarkable Yankees has indicated that he will call on Spurgeon "Spud" Chandler in the fifth contest, saving Gomez for a possible sixth game.

And Then—Maybe Dean Again.

And if Lee should win tomorrow, the Cubs would find themselves in a pitching quandary. Manager Hartnett of the sagging National Leaguers then would have to pick a pitcher from his secondary ranks, or else call again on the sore-armed Dizzy Dean, whose courageous effort in the second game was not sufficient, and who might find it difficult to make another trip to the hill with so little rest.

The Cubs, rubbing the wounds of their third straight defeat, can look back at the game as one of many wasted opportunities. In the very first inning, before Pearson had found the control which later made him unbeatable, Chicago filled the bases on walks to Hack and Herman and Marty's infield single. Cavarretta had flied out between the second pass and the infield hit, but with the bases filled the stands roared with hopes that perhaps at last the Cubs would show something to make it a better series.

Carl Reynolds, however, continued as the outstanding weak hitter of the series by striking out and even Gabby Hartnett, the swashbuckling leader of the Chicago forces, was unable to do anything with the Pearson assortment of pitching tricks, striking out to end the frame.

There was another chance in the third when Cavarretta and Marty singled with one out, but again Reynolds struck out and Hartnett grounded weakly to Gordon.

Hack Doubles and Scores.

It took a two-base hit, an infield error and an accident to give the Cubs their first run. Hack opened the fifth inning with a double to left, only to have Herman strike out, after trying to hit to right and then to sacrifice. Cavaretta, however, was safe on his grounder to Gordon when Joe took his eye off the ball to watch the runner going to third and then fumbled, both runners being safe.

Marty followed with a grounder to Rolfe, who fired the ball to Gordon in the hope of starting a double play that would take Pearson out of the inning with the Cubs scoreless. Gordon took the throw, forcing Cavarretta, but when he wheeled and fired the ball toward first, without taking time to aim or look, it struck Umpire Charley Moran in the face and caromed away and Hack of course scored and Marty reached first.

Players from both teams rushed out to give first aid to the courageous Moran, who was bleeding from the mouth, but who stayed on his feet. There was a conference between Commissioner Landis and National League President Ford Frick and they thought Moran should retire from the game and leave the umpiring to the three other field officials. But Moran would have none of that. He tore an end off a towel, mopped the blood from his mouth and stayed on duty.

Marty Hits for Circuit.

Hack's double, which started that inning, was the fourth Chicago safety, and there was only one more after that, so effective was Pearson. The fifth safety, as described, was a home run by Marty, his sixth hit in his last seven times at bat, but it did no harm or good. It seemed merely to be another spur to Yankee deeds of prowess, for only a few minutes later, in the New York half of the same inning, Bill Dickey matched the run with a four-base blow into the right field seats.

It was a business-like game the Yankees played, a contest without the necessity of much fielding brilliance. Crosetti saved a run in the first inning with his stop of Marty's infield hit and Gordon made a leaping catch of Jurges' line drive in the fourth. Then in the eighth Gehrig took a hit away from Cavarretta with a lunging stop of a hot grounder. Otherwise the Yankees had only to stand in their positions and handle easy chances that came their way as the Cubs tried with grunts of great futility to do something important with the peerless Pearson's pitching.

Except for a few outbursts, the crowd, 15,000 under the capacity of the huge park, took the game and the Yankee victory quietly. World series and Yankee victories are nothing new here, and when it was evident that the Cubs weren't going to do anything about it, the spectators just sat back and yawned.

Frank Crosetti, Yankee shortstop, home run hitting hero of the second game, was less fortunate in the third contest. He is shown here out on an attempted steal of second in the third inning. Bill Jurges is making the putout. The umpire is Moran.

Clay Bryant of the Cubs pitched no-hit ball for four and two-thirds innings. Then Joe Gordon made the first hit—a home run into the left field seats. Gordon is shown crossing the plate. Standing with head down is Manager-Catcher Gabby Hartnett of Chicago.

World Series Sidelights

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct 8.—It took the Yankee artillery a long time to find the range again in their home park but they bagged the jackpot with their first hit—Joe Gordon's home run into the left field stands.

Monte handed the Cubs a pair of free bases at the outset, but refused any Annie Oakley advances to first base after that. He started bearing down and, for a while it looked as if he might equal Howard Ehmke's strikeout record of 13 against these same Cubs in 1929. But after getting nine in seven innings, Pearson sloughed off.

Clay Bryant tried to mix his stuff up and did well for four and two-thirds innings (the longest stretch the Yankees had gone without banging on the touchdown door) but his slow-ball was never deceptive.

RUFFING TO TRY TO BEAT LEE AGAIN TODAY

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Charles "Red" Ruffing will pitch for the Yankees tomorrow as Joe McCarthy's American Leaguers will seek their fourth straight victory over the Cubs in the world series, which would give the Yankees their third straight world baseball title.

Bill Lee, who lost the opening game of the set to the Yankees and Ruffing in Chicago by a score of 3 to 1, will pitch for Chicago, it was announced after New York won the third game of the series here this afternoon.

Negro Baseball Game.

The American Negro Baseball League All-Stars and the St. Louis Giants will play at South End Park at 2 o'clock this afternoon. "Fireball" Smith of the Pittsburgh Crawfords will pitch for the Stars, who are under the management of Quincy Troupe of St. Louis. "Doc" Brackens, who has an average of 16 strikeouts per game for the season, will be in the box for the Giants.

Dartmouth Beats Princeton, 22-0

By the Associated Press.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 8. — Dartmouth's bold blocking football sons set a hapless Princeton foe back on its heels on the Palmer Stadium turf today and carried away a 22 to 0 victory as token of its bid for Ivy League honors.

Held to a virtual stand-off for the first half, the big Green Wave rolled with full fury from the intermission to the end of a game that kept more than 35,000 spectators bobbing up and down in their seats.

The Dartmouth line didn't leave the Tigers with a foot to stand on through most of the sunny afternoon, and in backs Bob MacLeod, Colby Howe and Bill Hutchinson, the Hanoverians put on the field three of a kind—all aces.

HARTNETT WILL BENCH HIMSELF AND REYNOLDS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The greatest baseball contrast of any world's series took place today after the Yankees had walloped the Cubs for the third straight time and found themselves only one game removed from their third straight world's championship.

When the conquering Yankees trooped into their dressing room they were as quiet as pallbearers. The place was silent as a morgue. There was no back slapping, no hollering and no apprehension over what they might expect from the Cubs in the fourth game of the series tomorrow. They were extremely cocky and confident.

In the adjoining dressing room, the Cubs, from Manager Gabby Hartnett down the line, were fighting mad. They were more angry than downhearted. Hartnett was in a rage and will shake up his lineup in an attempt to turn the tide.

Hartnett paced up and down the floor, puffing on a big black cigar, and then suddenly screamed at the top of his voice:

O'Dea to Catch.

"Boys, I'm going to change the lineup," he yelled, "I've got to do something. Reynolds ain't hitting, and I ain't hitting. Both of us will be out of there tomorrow. I'm benching myself. Marty will be batting fourth, Demaree fifth, and Ken O'Dea will do the catching. He'll bat sixth, Collins, Jurges and Lee will follow him. Hack, Herman and Cavarretta will be on top.

"We ain't licked yet, and I'll guarantee you that if we do lose we will go down fighting. We'll still make those guys go back to Chicago."

Jack Russell, who relieved Pitcher Clay Bryant in the fifth inning, was muttering and swearing to himself, threatening vengeance. He doesn't think the Cubs are ready for the execution.

"It's a cinch they can't beat us four straight," he moaned. "They couldn't even do that to the St. Louis Browns. They can't do it to us either."

Manager Joe McCarthy is convinced that Charlie Ruffing, who pitched the Yankees to victory in the first game, will duplicate his performance tomorrow and that it will be all over. McCarthy is determined to reward Col. Jacob Ruppert, 71-year-old owner of the Yankees, with four straight victories. He said that Col. Ruppert, who is ill, requested it and that he and his players were fired with the spirit to please him.

"The Cubs have given us a good fight, but the Yankees have too much power for them," McCarthy said. "Lee may give us trouble tomorrow, but I think we will get past him and wind it up. Gordon showed his class today, both at bat and on the field. His homer in the fifth made up for that unfortunate error in the first half of the inning."

Gabby Praises Pearson.

Hartnett lavished praise on the pitching of Monte Pearson.

"He's the best we've looked at yet," he said.

Pearson, who should have scored a shutout, was pleased over Hartnett's comment.

"It was one of the toughest games I ever pitched," he said. "You may believe it or not, but I was bearing down on every pitch. I'm damned tired now."

The 57-year-old Charley Moran, umpiring at second base, required two stitches in the left side of his upper lip to close a gash caused when Gordon fired a ball at first base in an attempt to nip a runner. The ball hit Moran squarely in the mouth, knocking off his upper bridge of teeth.

To Hold Amateur Show.

The Knights of Columbus of East St. Louis will hold an amateur boxing show, next Friday night, at the K. of C. Hall. The show will be the first of a series to be decided throughout the season.

COLUMBIA'S EXTRA POINTS BEAT ARMY

By the Associated Press.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 8.—Columbia's fighting football forces, rocked on their heels by Army's superior drive and man-power in the first half, came roaring back with a second-half surge that put over two touchdowns, added the valuable extra points and thus earned the Lions a well-deserved 20-18 victory over the Cadets before a crowd of 25,000 in Michie Stadium.

Score by periods:

Army	12	6	0	0—18
Columbia	0	6	7	7—20

Army scoring: Touchdowns—Wilson (2), Martin (sub for Wilson).

15,000 SEE FAIRFLAX WIN FAIRMOUNT CLOSING HANDICAP

STABLEMATE, PIN MONEY, IS SECOND IN RACE

By Dent McSkimming

Franke Seremba landed with his one-two punch at Fairmount Park yesterday afternoon and knocked Prince Argo, Unassisted, Phalasan and a couple of other horses right out of the closing day handicap picture. Seremba sent two horses to the post, Fairflax and Pin Money. They broke fast, took command in the opening 50 yards and ran one-two throughout the six furlongs to win to the cheers of 15,000 spectators.

The fact that Fairflax won by a length and a quarter over Pin Money was not taken as definite proof that the winner was the best horse in the race. Earl Dew, riding Pin Money, appeared content to hold second place from the rush of Phalasan, which finished third, beaten a head. Had a real threat developed, Dew would at least have hustled Pin Money and then the track record might have been in danger, for it was Pin Money that set a new mark of 1:10 4-5 a week ago. Fairflax won the race in 1:11 1-5. The Seremba entry thus for the second straight week ran one-two in the handicap. The bettors made the entry an even-money favorite over the Herdandez pair of Prince Argo and Adolf.

Bright Takes Opener.

There was no Torch Stick to beat in the two-year-old race that opened the program and that gave Butsey Hernandez's Bright a chance to score a victory. Torch Stick had beaten Bright three times here but would have had to carry excessive weight had she been started yesterday. As it was, nine youngsters went to the post and after much delay caused by the uncontrollable Norman Sloat, they broke in ragged order. Leonard's Son, pressed by Tra-La-La, was first around the turn, Bright far back. The avenue on the rail was open as they wheeled into the home stretch, else Willie McCadden might never have been able to get Bright through. He had all the best of it in the last eighth, passing the pacemakers and pulling away to win by half a length. Bright ran the five and one-half furlongs in 1:06 4-5, which is exactly the time in which Torch Stick beat him a week ago.

When he learned before the start of the program that his contract rider, McCadden, was only two victories behind Earl Dew in the race for jockey honors, Norman Hernandez made a switch in riders for Bright. He felt sure he could win the race so, to help McCadden win the championship, he took his son, Jockey Johnny Hernandez, off the horse and put McCadden up. That gave Willie 30 victories as compared to Dew's 31. At the close of the day Dew had 32 winners and McCadden 30.

Miss Europe was recognized as a standout in the second, was heavily played at 9 to 5 and won as she pleased.

Musical Jack again proved himself an unsafe betting proposition when he bolted to the outside fence at the stretch turn while leading the field in the second. He thus lost at least 10 yards and finished third, beaten about six feet. Big One profited by the accident to win by a nose from Young Playtime.

Waringa Scores.

Waringa, winner of a mile race a few days ago, came right back to win the fourth yesterday at a mile and 70 yards, a surprise to the bettors, who picked Hiddenite and Manhunt to lead the field.

Business conditions in the spring will determine the extent of Fairmount racing next year, General Manager D. C. Burnett said late yesterday. He intimated that if conditions warrant, there will be spring and fall meets.

The mutuel handel at the 29-day meeting which closed yesterday was 10 per cent better than that of the spring meeting, but about 12 per cent below that of last fall, Burnett said.

Grand Day, which had been running well in shorter races here, held on like a champion to win the fifth, running the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:45 4-5, the fastest time of the meeting. He was pushed hard by Silver Palm and Checks at the finish.

Norman Hernandez was awarded a wrist watch as the leading trainer of the "second half" of the meeting. Earl Dew was also presented with a watch as the leading rider of the "second half" on the basis of 10 points for a victory, 4 points for a second and 2 points for a third. He had a big point lead over McCadden.

Quotum came from far back to win the seventh after it seemed that the sprinter, Sun Henry, would snatch the purse. Nameoki, Triple Play and Cletus were disappointments.

Perfect One, winner of his most recent start, ran right back to form and beat Noah's Pride, the 2 to 1 favorite, at the wire in the last race of the last day of the meeting.

William J. Jones, 6160 McPherson avenue, won the patrons' handicapping contest prize of $1000 when his third horse in the eighth race, Overplay, finished closer to the winner than any of his rivals. Seven contestants picked five winners and their selections in the eighth race broke the tie.

Bright, under good handling, was reserved off the early pace, and, steered to the inside for the final drive, moved into command inside the final sixteenth, and, under mild urging, held Tra-La-La safe at the end. The latter forced the pace from the start, continued gamely through the stretch run, but could not hold off the winner. $2 mutuels paid: Big One, win $8.20, place $4.40, show $3.20; Young Playtime, place $6.20, show 4.20; Musical Jack, show $3.40.

Big One, racing in his best form and allowed to settle into his best stride, responded when called upon turning into the stretch, went wide slightly in the stretch and under strong urging was up in the final stride. Young Playtime, racing forwardly from the start and in close quarters rounding the far turn, moved into command when the leaders went wide turning into the stretch, continued strongly under hard riding and just failed to last. Musical Jack, hustled from the start, showed good speed, went wide turning into the stretch, forcing Rettef to the extreme outside, was allowed to settle into his best stride when straightened out and finished gamely.

Waringa saved ground the entire trip, was under strong restraint for three quarters, responded to strong urging turning into the stretch, and, taking command inside the final sixteenth, withstood Miss Kiev. The latter, displaying good belated speed for the final drive and securing room on the inside in the final furlong, closed strongly. Ozark, on the inside for the early stages, came out for the final drive, and, under strong urging, took the lead approaching the final furlong but weakened badly in the final seventy yards.

$2 mutuels paid: Grand Day, win $21.80, place $11, show $6.60; Silver Palm, place $5.80, show $3.60; Checks, show $3.

Grand Day, under good handling, was steered to the inside rounding the first turn, was under steady restraint in the run down the back stretch, responded when steered to the outside turning into the stretch, and, taking command approaching the final furlong, drew clear easily. Silver Palm forced the pace under mild restraint, took a short lead rounding the far turn, relinquished same under strong pressure and withstood Checks in the final strides. The latter, outrun early, moved to the leaders entering the stretch, continued gamely, but was not good enough.

ILLINI TAKE A PLACE IN BIG TEN TITLE RACE

By the Associated Press.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 8. — A fighting Illinois football team, with a line that outcharged opposing forwards throughout the battle, smashed its way into the Big Ten title picture today by a 12 to 2 upset victory over Indiana's stubborn Hoosiers before 15,000 spectators.

A stirring 42-yard touchdown drive in the third period brought Illinois from behind after Indiana had picked up two points on a safety in the second quarter. Then, in the final seconds, Illinois made another touchdown through a pass interception which ended the last of several desperate Indiana aerial bids to pull victory out of the fire.

Moberly Scores Late to Defeat Principia, 9-6

A last-quarter touchdown enabled the Moberly Junior College football team to defeat Principia College, 9 to 6, at Elsah, Ill., yesterday afternoon.

Forward passes gave Principia its score in the opening quarter. Bradbury passed to Long, who scored from the three-yard line. Laret's place kick for the extra point was blocked. A fumble proved costly to Principia in the second quarter. The Elsah team had the ball on Moberly's one-yard line when Bob Fleming, fullback, fumbled the ball on the first down.

Aided by Bob Foley, tall fullback, Moberly counted in the second period. Foley went through the line for 21 yards then passed to Ross who advanced to the 12-yard line. Foley then place kicked for three points.

Neither team gained much ground in the third period. Moberly, however, opened the fourth quarter with plenty of power. Starting in midfield Moberly's backs went through the Principia line for four first downs to the two-yard line. Foley hit center for a touchdown to win the game. His kick for the extra point was wide.

Test of Conservation Board's Powers.

A TEST case now pending for decision by the Missouri Supreme Court, involving the question of whether the Missouri Conservation Commission may, by adoption of a regulation, legally modify or set aside a State law governing the bass fishing season, will probably settle any legal question as to the commission's power to enforce its more recent order closing the deer and wild turkey hunting seasons for 1938.

The pending case, in which the general regulatory powers and future effectiveness of the Commission in conservation work are at stake, was submitted to the court last Sept. 23, and taken under advisement for preparation of an opinion.

Counsel for the Conservation Federation of Missouri, which intervened in the test case in support of the Commission, at that time asked for an early decision, stating the Commission desired to enter upon a sweeping revision of hunting and fishing regulations in Missouri. The Supreme Court, as is its custom, gave no indication as to when its decision will be handed down.

The Commission last Sept. 26 ordered the closing of the deer and wild turkey hunting seasons for this year, on the ground of scarcity of such game in the state. Whether hunting of such game will be permitted next year will depend upon improvement in the supply of wild turkey and deer, it was said.

Would Supercede State Law.

If this regulation stands, in the light of whatever ruling is made by the Supreme Court, it will supersede the State laws prescribing the open seasons for deer and wild turkey.

The law limits the deer hunting season to the fourth Thursday, Friday and Saturday of October (Oct. 27, 28 and 29 this year) and limits the legal kill during the season to one buck deer having four or more points on one antler. The open season for wild turkey is the entire month of December, under the law, and the bag limit is one turkey during the season.

Attorney-General Roy McKittrick, who has been opposed to the powers apparently conferred on the commission by the constitutional amendment creating it, and who attacked the validity of the amendment in the case before the Supreme Court, said he planned no legal action at this time to block enforcement of the order closing the deer and wild turkey seasons.

McKittrick said the legal questions presented by this order of the commission were identical with those involved in the pending test case, and the court's decision in that case was expected to cover the whole issue of the commission's power to supersede State game and fish laws through adoption of its own regulations.

No Test of Deer Season Order.

Director Irwin T. Bode of the State Conservation Department, said he had heard of no move so far to contest the validity of the order barring wild turkey and deer hunting this year, pending a Supreme Court ruling on the bass fishing case.

The test case grew out of an order issued by the commission last May, which advanced the opening of the bass fishing season from May 30, as fixed by law, to May 28.

The constitutional amendment creating the commission was adopted by voters of the State in the 1936 election. The amendment was designed to take the control of game and fish conservation in Missouri out of politics, and to give the new commission broad powers over conservation of game, fish, other wild life, and the forestry resources of the State.

The amendment, containing a provision making it self-enforcing and thereby eliminating the necessity of the Legislature passing enabling acts, became effective July 1, 1937.

Commission members have not indicated whether they will take any other steps to revise hunting and fishing regulations, in addition to the ban on deer and wild turkey hunting this year, before the Supreme Court issues a ruling in the bass test case.

Hunting of deer in Missouri was prohibited by law between 1925 and 1930. Since the Legislature provided a legal hunting season of three days a year, the legal kills during the open season have averaged about 100 a year since 1931, according to the Conservation Department.

How's Your Automatic?

IT'S ABOUT TIME to give your automatic shotgun the once over —also, whatever other treatment it may need due to seasonal idleness. The ducks are coming. At least the shell burners hope they are. What we meant to say is that the duck season is coming, if that means much to you in these days of intensive conservation.

Intermediate zone duck shooting, under the migratory bird law, opens next Saturday and continues until Nov. 29. Shooting conditions have not greatly changed from last year.

That means your automatic must be built so that it will not carry more than three shells and must not be larger than 10-gauge. Also, that you must not begin firing before 7 a. m. and must put your gun back in the case at 4 p. m. if you don't want to talk it over with the judge, later. That's for waterfowl and coot. And if you have to say, "Good morning, Judge!" on a Federal game violation charge this year, you will look in vain for mercy—or political pull. Just drag out your pocketbook and settle.

Twenty in Possession.

Among the don'ts to be remembered are the following:

Don't shoot more than 10 ducks a day or have more than 20 in possession.

Don't kill more than three a day of any of the following species (or have more than six in your possession): Canvasback, redhead, bufflehead or ruddy.

Don't shoot more than five geese or brant a day or have more than 10 in possession.

Don't use live decoys, or bait the blind.

Don't leave your license at home and don't forget to buy a duck stamp.

Don't, in short, forget to take a copy of the migratory bird regulations with you, because there are lots of other don'ts not herein set forth.

With the opening of the duck season hunters will have plenty of good sport, even though the deer and turkey seasons are eliminated. Besides ducks squirrel, mourning doves and rabbits will diversify the hunter's interest until Nov. 10, when the big day arrives—the opening of quail shooting.

NOTRE DAME IS VICTOR OVER GEORGIA TECH

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Oct. 8.—Overcoming unexpected stubborn resistance, Notre Dame loosed two offensive thrusts today to conquer an inspired "Rambling Wreck" of Georgia Tech, 14 to 6, in renewing an intersectional rivalry before an overflow crowd of close to 30,000.

Elmer Layden's smoothly-functioning gridders drove for touchdowns in the opening and closing periods. Otherwise, the offensive penetrated no farther than the 2 yard line.

The Irish backs, Lou Zontini, Neil Tonelli, Bob Saggau and one Edward Francis Simonich, spearheaded an attack that humbled the gallant efforts of the Southerners.

KANSAS STATE BEATS MISSOURI, 21-13, NEBRASKA UPSET, 8 -7

WILDCATS OPEN UP ATTACK IN SECOND PERIOD

Seelye and Hackney Score in Two Sustained Drives — Christman's Passing Leads to Tiger Points.

By the Associated Press.

MANHATTAN, Kan., Oct. 8. — Missouri's Paul Christman pitched a great game today, but his support was weak and the Tigers bowed to a more rugged Kansas State team in a thrill-saturated opening Big Six football game, 21 to 13.

The big, tough Missouri sophomore from Maplewood kept 8000 sun-baked and wildly partisan fans in a dither throughout the afternoon with his sensational passing, but his one man show couldn't counteract the all-around power of Kansas State's versatile attack.

Thirty-five times Christman flipped the ball, usually with astonishing accuracy, toward the arms of the Orf boys, Bob and Bud, or burly Jim Starmer or fleet Ray Moss. Sixteen tosses found their marks. Seven were intercepted, and it was this alertness by the Kansas State secondary which brought the Wildcat victory.

Starmer Scores on Pass.

Missouri scored in the first period, marching 58 yards despite a 15-yard penalty. Porter Robb interspersed sharp dashes with Christman's passes and Jim Starmer scored on a pass from Christman, good for 18 yards. Starmer's place-kick was low.

Then it was Kansas State's turn. Starting in the air in the second period and swooping down in to a savage ground attack the Wildcats marched 69 yards. Melvin Seelye rambled his right end one yard for the score, and Jim Brock's place-kick was good.

In the waning moments of the period the Wildcats scored again, marching 66 yards with Blanke and Crumbaker or Nieman co-operating on passes and Elmer Hackney again picking up priceless yards on plunges. A long pass was given Kansas State on interference on the Missouri nine-yard line, and Hackney finally took it over on a short plunge. Crumbaker's place kick was good.

Completes 53-Yard Pass.

Blanke's punt outside on the Missouri four-yard line, early in the third period was the bud of the third Wildcat touchdown. He returned Bob Faurot's short return punt 17 yards to the Missouri seven, and then ran his right end for the score. Crumbaker again kicked goal.

Christman really warmed to his work after that. The Tigers covered 81 yards in six plays for a touchdown, five of the plays being passes. Starmer, another sophomore who played a whale of a game, took a pass good for 19 yards and the score. His place-kick was good. That was the scoring, but the aerial circus continued until the end. One of Christman's flips in the third period, completed to Moss, covered 53 yards in the air from where Christman stood.

Munski Sets Record, Team Loses Race

MANHATTAN, Kan., Oct. 8.—John Munski, Missouri star, set a new track record of 9:35 to lead the field in the Missouri-Kansas State two-mile team race here today, but Kansas State won the event, 34 to 21. Mitchell of Kansas State finished second, Hofsess of State third, and Leland of State fourth.

Will the Gunners Stop Him?

Alex Rado, 205-pound fullback of the Dayton Rosies, whose passes to End Max Padlow are said to be the Ohio team's chief stock in trade. The Dayton eleven will be the guests when the Gunners open their home American Professional League season, tonight, at Walsh Stadium. Rado, six feet, one inch tall, was an all-West Virginia Conference fullback three years while playing at New River State College. He played professional football with the Los Angeles Bulldogs and Pittsburgh Pirates. Is considered one of the best and most accurate passers in professional football. Padlow was an all-American end at Ohio State University.

GUNNERS PLAY DAYTON ELEVEN HERE TONIGHT

St. Louisans will have their first opportunity to see the 1938 Gunner's professional football team in action tonight when it plays the Dayton Rosies of the American League at Walsh Stadium. Kick-off is scheduled for 8:15 o'clock.

Fayne Grone, Gunner coach, has added many new players to his squad during the past week. After yesterday's brief signal drill in which all of his 27 players participated, Grone predicted that the team is 100 per cent stronger than it was against the Chicago Steelmen, last week.

"I believe," the St. Louis coach continued, "that the recent additions to the club, and the added work the boys got this week will be the difference between defeat and victory."

The fullback position, which heretofore had been weak, was strengthened with the addition of two burly fullbacks. Benny Cook, a 200-pounder, is fast and a good line plunger, and Ralph Cavanah, who scales over the 200-mark, is a triple-threat back. Cavanah can pass, kick, hit the line, and is also good at receiving passes. Both fullbacks, Coach Grone said, yesterday, are "very good on the defense.

"And speaking of defense," the Coach went on, "this Dayton aggregation has just about the best passing combination in professional football. Alex Rado, their fullback, is a very accurate passer, and every football fan knows how Max Padlow, former all-America end while playing for Ohio State, can pull aerial heaves out of the sky. I know they are extremely dangerous; that is why I stressed pass defense in every practice session this week."

Don Philpot, who starred for last year's Gunners, will probably see duty at an end berth. Last year he played tackle, but because of his height, he stands 6 feet, 6 inches, he has been switched to end. Mike Sebastian, who was all-American two successive years while he was playing for Pittsburgh University, will again call the signals. Sebastian played the entire game against the Steelmen, at Chicago, last week.

The probable lineups:

Penn Defeats Yale for Second Time Since 1879

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—A couple of gridiron stars named Jim Connell and Frank Reagan took the Yale Bulldog in hand today, 21 to 0, and gave Pennsylvania its first victory over the Blue in 13 years.

Connell's crushing assaults on the Yale line and Reagan's nimble feet put the Eli on the defensive at the start of play and held them there until the finish before a crowd of 50,000.

All question of Pennsylvania's quality this season vanished with Yale hopes. The Quakers attacked with dynamite and speed. Connell drilled holes; Reagan swept the ends. And in the line, Capt. Walter Shinn and a guard named A. Balfour Smith blocked nobly while the backs tore the Blue defense to shreds.

It was the Eli's second loss to the Quakers in 18 games dating back to 1879 and the first time Yale has gone scoreless since the 1933 Georgia game.

Molinas Play Today.

The Pete Molinas, of the City League of the Municipal Baseball Association, will play the Hufschmidts of the Trolley League in a game at Jones Park, East St. Louis, this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

FIRST DEFEAT IN 19 YEARS BY IOWA STATE

Cyclone Team Clouds Huskers' Big Six Conference Hopes, Scores All Points in Third Quarter.

By the Associated Press.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 8.—The Iowa State Cyclone swept a dark cloud over Nebraska's hopes for a fourth consecutive Big Six Conference football championship by leveling the Cornhuskers, 8 to 7, here today. It was the first time Iowa State defeated Nebraska since 1919.

The revenge was sweet, because the Huskers defeated Iowa University three times in recent years by one point. The result wasn't so pleasing to coach L. M. "Biff" Jones, however, for today was his forty-third birthday.

Iowa State scored all its points in the third quarter, after a seesaw battle in the first half. Soon after play was resumed following the intermission, Center Jack West blocked a Nebraska punt. Quarterback Harry Hopp recovered in the end zone for the Huskers, but it was two points for the visitors.

Late in the period Iowa State put on a drive which ended with Quarterback Everett Kischer scoring a touchdown from the Nebraska nine-yard line. Kischer's kick from placement was wide.

Nebraska shook off its listlessness as the final quarter opened, scoring a touchdown on a 30-yard pass from Hopp to End Raymond Prochaska. The wingman caught the ball just inside the playing field. Halfback Herman Rohrig place-kicked the extra point.

The lineups:

IOWA STATE	Pos.	NEBRASKA
Heileman	L E	Seeman
Morin	L T	Goetowski
Mueller	L G	Alfson
West	C	Brock
Bock (CC)	R G	Iverson
Shugart	R T	Schwartzkopf
Boswell	R E	Prochaska
Kischer (CC)	Q B	Hopp
Reupke	L H	Rohrig
Bazik	R H	Dodd
Wilder	F B	Callihan (CC)

Score by periods:

Iowa State	0	0	8	0—	8
Nebraska	0	0	0	7—	7

Iowa State scoring: Touchdown, Kischer; safety; Nebraska scoring: touchdown, Prochaska; point from try after touchdown, Rohrig (placekick).

Referee, Reeves Peters, Wisconsin; umpire, Ted O'Sullivan, Missouri; linesman, Strong Hinman, Springfield Y. M. C. A.; field judge, John Waldorf, Missouri.

With unemployment insurance,
the plan was put into effect
Lloyd George with the National the unemployment plan was en

Voluntary Societies Utilized.

It was possible to put it into pr

Socialized Medicine in England After 25 Years; What Subscribers Get, What It Costs, How Financed

Health Insurance Doctors to Seek Higher Fees, Once Refused—Many Excluded From Benefits.

By ERNEST KIRSCHTEN
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, Oct. 8.

AFTER having been quietly accepted as a permanent social fixture, England's 25-year-old experiment in "socialized" medicine now is being reappraised because of the recent announcement by the British Medical Association that it will ask for higher annual fees for doctors engaged in so-called "panel" practice.

The demand is to be made on the Ministry of Health through the Insurance Acts Committee, a group representative of the British Medical Association and those members of the medical profession engaged in National Health Insurance practice.

An increase from nine shillings or about $2.25 to 12 shillings, 6 pence ($3.25) is sought, although a similar request was refused last May. The annual fee a patient at one time was 11 shillings ($2.75), but was reduced in 1934 as a result of the depression.

Can Have 2500 Patients.

While this fee for each patient seems extremely low, the law permits a doctor to have as many as 2500 patients. Actually, the average number of patients to each doctor is a little less than 1000. Thus the system guarantees "panel" practitioners an annual income of at least $2250.

However, in the light of the current dispute between the Department of Justice and the American Medical Association over the practice of co-operative medicine in Washington, Americans are interested not so much in the fees paid English doctors as they are in the actual working of the health insurance system.

With unemployment insurance, the plan was put into effect by Lloyd George with the National Insurance Act of 1911. Incidentally, the unemployment plan was enacted quietly enough, but has been the subject of almost continual controversy ever since. Health insurance, on the other hand, was vigorously opposed before it was placed on the statute books, but has had a comparatively smooth course since then.

How Plan Is Financed.

It was national in its scope from the very beginning and applied to the whole industrial population. With a few exceptions, membership was compulsory for all manual workers between the ages of 16 and 70 whose annual income was less than 160 pounds a year—a limit that has since been raised to 250 pounds or about $1200.

The system is based on an actuarial insurance contract that calls for regular weekly premiums. A sum equal to that paid by the worker is asked of the employer, and because of the large measure of governmental control, the State subsidizes the plan by a further contribution which is, however, considerably less than those of employer and employe.

The plan, which is actually a stabilizing addition to the wage system and which is often cited to argue that Great Britain is at least 20 years ahead of the United States in the field of social service, now covers about 18,000,000 workers.

Voluntary Societies Utilized.

It was possible to put it into practice quickly because there were in England before 1911 many voluntary societies which had been administering health insurance systems for years. These societies—trade unions, fraternal groups, employers' benefit associations, etc.—were utilized by the Government. Insured persons were encouraged to enroll themselves in approved societies, and each society was given control over the funds collected from its members and their employers. Whenever such a group acquired surplus funds, it was permitted to expend them for additional benefits to its members.

There have been but few changes in this general plan since its adoption. A few new classes of members have been admitted. The age limit has been lowered to 65 years. Special privileges have been introduced for elderly workers with long insurance records, and the financial position of the weaker societies has been considerably improved.

Medical benefits under the plan consist of ordinary treatment, together with the necessary medicine, as often and as long as necessary. Contrary to American notions, the insured are permitted to select their own doctors and, on giving notice, may change to another.

In addition to the medical benefits, weekly sums are paid in case of sickness that makes it impossible for the insured to work. After 26 premiums have been paid a man will get about $2.50 a week and a woman a slightly smaller amount. These sums are increased in proportion to the number of premiums paid.

In case of disablement, weekly payments of half the sickness benefit are continued after the maximum period for the latter, generally 26 weeks, has elapsed.

Maternity Benefits Up to $20.

The plan also provides for maternity benefits which consist of a lump sum payment of $10 to $20. Here, as in the case of some of the other benefits, the amount paid is not intended to cover even the minimum need of the insured, but rather to supplement other income at a time when special demands are made on it.

A considerable surplus has been accumulated by many of the societies. This makes possible many special benefits. The most popular of these provide for dental and ophthalmic needs, but they meet also hospital bills, surgical appliances, convalescent home treatment and many other items, in whole or in part.

The whole system is administered by the Ministry of Health in England, the Department of Health in Scotland and the Welsh Board of Health. These maintain inspectors who supervise the approved societies and investigate complaints of non-payment of benefits. With the exception of medical treatment, all benefits are paid by 788 approved societies, including 25 that have 5490 branches.

Health Policies.

Under the law, none of these may be operated at a profit, but a number of insurance companies issue National Health Insurance "policies," using this service as a means of selling other forms of insurance.

One of the difficulties of the plan is that the approved societies vary greatly in size and that their activities are not confined to a specific geographical area. Thus a Royal Commission found that in England 65 per cent of the societies insured only 2 per cent of the persons in the system. On the other hand, 76 per cent of the insured were included in 2.5 per cent of the societies. At one end of the scale there were 70 societies with fewer than 100 members each, while at the other extreme were 24 groups with more than 50,000 persons enrolled in each.

As a result, the working population of a single town may be enrolled in hundreds of societies. In Dundee, for example, the commission found 217 societies operating in a population of 180,000. Of these, 52 had only a single member in the city. Their offices, naturally, were elsewhere.

Because of the obvious administrative difficulties presented by this set-up, pressure is being brought to

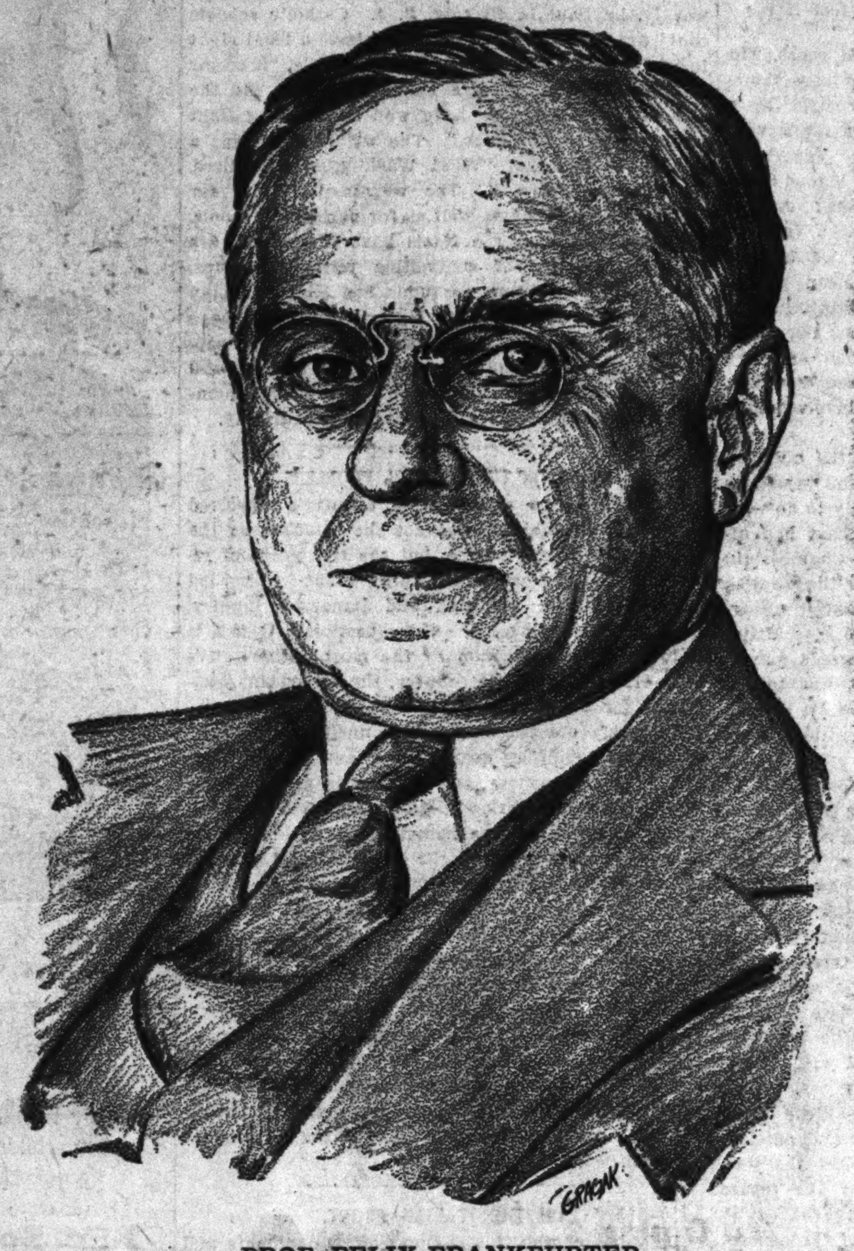
Institution Ruled by Men of Diverse Equipment, Background

Felix Frankfurter's Concept of Supreme Court

Inevitably a Vital Force in Economic, Political Life of Nation

Harvard Law Professor, Himself Mentioned for Appointment to Tribunal, Restates His Philosophy in New Book on the Late Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Justices Makers of the Law as Well as Interpreters—Whole Course of American Corporate Practices and Finance Would Have Been Different Without Decisions.



PROF. FELIX FRANKFURTER

By IRVING DILLIARD
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.

BY a remarkable set of coincidences, last week saw the reconvening of the United States Supreme Court for its 1938 term, the publication of an important book on the work of the Court since 1900, and the return to the news of the name of the writer of the book as probably the most widely favored possible appointee for the existing Supreme Court vacancy.

The book, a human interpretation of the court in terms of the work of one of its greatest members, is "Mr. Justice Holmes and the Supreme Court," published Thursday by the Harvard University Press. Its author is Felix Frankfurter, Byrne professor of administrative law in the Harvard University Law School, at various times an adviser of the administration, who is spending this week end as a guest of President Roosevelt at his home at Hyde Park, N. Y.

If not another coincidence, it is at least a most interesting fact that Prof. Frankfurter dedicates the book "To Mr. Justice Cardozo, rightful successor of Mr. Justice Holmes," for it would be the seat made vacant by the death of Justice Benjamin N. Cardozo last July to which Prof. Frankfurter would be appointed if President Roosevelt should choose him to fill the vacancy.

Philosopher of the Law Sharpens His Previous Theses.

These elements of coincidence are by accident and not design. The book consists, for the most part, of three lectures delivered to the public at Harvard last April as part of the program of the Committee on Extra-curricular Reading in American History.

At that time Justice Cardozo, though inactive, was still a member of the court. Widespread sentiment in favor of appointing Prof. Frankfurter to the court shaped up in the main during August and September, although as long ago as February, 1937, before the retirement of Justices Van Devanter and Sutherland, a poll of lawyers over the country showed him to be the choice of the legal profession for the first vacancy under Roosevelt.

Those familiar with Prof. Frankfurter's other writings on Supreme Court problems and personages — in the Harvard Law Review, the Encyclopedia of the Social Sciences, his printed lectures and elsewhere—will find him saying what they would expect him to say about the historic contribution to American law and life of his long close friend, the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, during the latter's 30-year tenure from Theodore Roosevelt to Herbert Hoover.

Yet is will seem to many who know his writings that the Harvard scholar, who was born 56 years ago in Vienna, states his views on the way the Supreme Court operates and on its work in general much more sharply in this book than in any earlier publication. A devoted admirer is paying tribute to the work and memory of Justice Holmes, but that admirer interlards his description of Holmesian philosophy and act with thoughtfully critical comments of his own—comments more significant, coming from him today, than ever before.

Court as Economic Force; Institution of Personalities.

Take the idea of the Supreme Court as an economic force, for example. Prof. Frankfurter is in no doubt about this. When he checks back through the decisions under the "due process" clause of the fourteenth amendment, one of the three constitutional changes growing out of the freeing of the slaves during the Civil War, he finds ample proof.

As he puts it:

"The Supreme Court gives direction to economic forces, especially to the pace and range of their incidence. No matter how powerful the pressures behind the use of the corporation as an instrument of enterprise, it cannot be denied that the Supreme Court has enormously furthered corporate growth. By devising facilities for business conducted through the corporate form and protecting it from policies hostile or inhospitable to corporate enterprise, the decisions of the court themselves have operated as economic factors."

Aware that Judges are not merely "expert reporters of pre-existing law," but, because of the "free play of judgment allowed by the Constitution," inevitably fashioners of law, Prof. Frankfurter is not content to speak of the Supreme Court as though it were an "abstraction." The court, he agrees, is an institution, but individuals of diverse endowment, experience and outlook have charted the institution's course.

These diverse personalities—and it is interesting to note that only 77 men have sat on the Supreme Court as against the thousands who have been sent to Congress in the nation's 150 years—so the Harvard law teacher explains, make decisions, lay down doctrines, and refine, modify and sometimes even overrule the decisions of their predecessors, "reinterpreting and transmuting their doctrines."

How much the work of the Supreme Court and the largely consequent course of American history depend on the individuals who act as the court, their outlook and equipment for their exacting tasks, Prof. Frankfurter

From the Philosophy of Felix Frankfurter

POINTED excerpts from Prof. Felix Frankfurter's new book, "Mr. Justice Holmes and the Supreme Court":

The Constitution of the United States is not a printed finality but a dynamic process; its application to the actualities of government is not a mechanical exercise but a function of statecraft.

There is no inevitability in history except as men make it.

The "square deal" of Theodore Roosevelt, the "new freedom" of Woodrow Wilson, and the "new deal" of Franklin D. Roosevelt have a common genealogy . . . the eras which these slogans summarize derived from efforts to reconcile modern economic forces with the demands of a popular democracy.

• • •

Mr. Justice Holmes' conception of the Constitution must become part of the political habits of the country, if our constitutional system is to endure.

Judicial control of the individualism of the states is an aspect of centralization too often overlooked.

Strikes grow out of unsatisfactory industrial standards, and these are lifted through social legislation as well as by the power of collective bargaining.

In a civilization like ours where the economic interdependence of society is so pervasive, a sharp division between property rights and human rights largely falsifies reality.

The successful exercise of judicial power calls for rare intellectual disinterestedness and penetration, lest limitation in personal experience and imagination operate as limitations of the Constitution.

Without freedom of expression, liberty of thought is a mockery.

Had the views of Mr. Justice Holmes prevailed, the Constitution would not have been used as an obstruction to the healthy development of trade unionism . . . the resistance to which has been one of the most disturbing factors of our economy.

Neither court and counsel nor police and prosecution are the ultimate reliance for the liberties of the people. These rest in ourselves.

Big Industries Got Bulk of TVA Power Last Year and Wholesalers, Reselling at Profit, Took Share

Direct Consumers, Enjoying Low Rates Fixed, Took Only 15.8 Pct.—Several Cities, However, Now Plan to Buy Current.

By SAM J. SHELTON
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 8.

THAT part of the Tennessee Valley Authority's electricity output distributed to the consuming public at the low retail rates prescribed by TVA in the last fiscal year was only 15.8 per cent of the total usable production.

Large commercial and industrial customers, buying direct from TVA at wholesale prices and using the electricity for their own profit, received 51.2 per cent of the total, and utility corporations, also using it for private profit, received 8.9 per cent. These two classes of wholesale customers bought 60.1 per cent of all the electricity sold in that year by this huge Government agency being developed in the Tennessee Valley at an ultimate cost of more than $500,000,000.

Various departments of TVA used 24.1 per cent of the available production, largely in the construction of dams and in extensive operations.

Cities to Buy Power.

These figures, covering the year which ended June 30, do not, however, reflect the full extent of TVA power benefits to the consuming public at the present time, for within recent weeks important expansions have been made in the development of the Authority's long-time program.

When the Post-Dispatch a year ago checked TVA performance against promises, it was found that although sponsors of the agency, created five years ago as one of the first steps of the New Deal, had talked eloquently of widespread benefits of cheap electricity to be brought to homes and farms, there was actually only 11.3 per cent of the power reaching such consumers at the low rates established by TVA.

At that time, as the article pointed out, injunction suits brought by utility corporations were keeping TVA electricity out of several large cities. These injunctions have been dissolved and municipalities wishing to do so are free to purchase TVA power.

The City of Knoxville began municipal distribution of electricity last Sept. 2 under a contract to purchase its supply from TVA. This followed agreement by the city to purchase the distribution system previously operated by a utility corporation. This added about 30,000 customers to the TVA system.

Expanding Service.

Another large block of customers, about 50,000, will be added when Memphis begins distribution of TVA electricity in the next few months. Announcement was made Oct. 1 that the city had concluded negotiations for the purchase of the city-wide distribution system of the Memphis Power & Light Co. The city had started construction of a competitive system and already had about 3000 customers attached to its lines.

The City of Chattanooga also expects to have municipal distribution of TVA electricity, having voted bonds to build its own system in case it cannot buy the existing one.

The number of customers of all kinds receiving TVA electricity at the close of the fiscal year, and before Knoxville and Memphis acquired their distribution systems, was 45,331. Obviously the number will be more than doubled when Memphis users are supplied in addition to those of Knoxville. In two Alabama towns, Hartselle and Russellville, 1200 customers were added with the commencement of service early in September.

Buyers of Power.

There are now 21 municipalities and 19 co-operative associations buying and distributing TVA power. The Authority is providing direct retail service temporarily to about 2000 customers in four areas. It is expected co-operatives will be organized to take over this service.

TVA is selling power direct in large quantities to the Aluminum Co. of America, Monsanto Chemical Co. and Victor Chemical Co., all operating large plants in the area. Two utility corporations—Alabama Power Co. and Arkansas Power & Light Co.—are buying extensively from TVA.

Electricity from the big TVA dams is a bargain for homes and shops able to get it. Even after the utility companies reduced their rates to meet competition the average customer was able to buy about 30 per cent cheaper if he could get energy at the retail rates established by the Authority.

For homes served by municipalities and co-operatives under TVA contracts the schedule starts at 3 cents a kilowatt hour for the first 50 consumed in a month, and succeeding steps are: 2 cents each for the next 150 kilowatt hours; 1 cent each for the next 200; 4 mills each for the next 1000, and for consumption in excess of 1400 kilowatt hours in a month, 7.5 mills each. TVA requires that these resale rates be observed.

Under St. Louis Rate.

How these rates compare with what residential customers in St. Louis pay the Union Electric Co. of Missouri is shown by the following table:

Cost for monthly use of 50k.w.h.	100k.w.h.	200k.w.h.

TVA	$1.50	$2.50	$4.50
St. Louis	1.95	3.14	5.51

Municipalities and industries buy wholesale at 4 mills for the first 100,000 kilowatt-hours in a month, 3 mills for the next 200,000, 2.5 mills for the next 700,000 and 2 mills for all in excess of 1,000,000 kilowatt hours in a month, plus a demand charge of 90 cents a month for each kilowatt of demand. A large amount of secondary or interruptible power is available to industries and utilities at even lower rates.

Total TVA revenue from electricity sales in the fiscal year, including charges made for interdepartmental sales, was $2,264,777, for 699,303,675 kilowatt-hours.

Comparative Charges.

By way of comparison it is interesting to note that the total electricity output in 1937 of Union Electric Co. of Missouri, serving St. Louis and surrounding areas, was 2,339,584,146 kilowatt-hours, more than three times as much as that of TVA, and the gross revenue of Union Electric system from sales of electricity was $29,902,025. The distinction should be noted, however, that TVA sales, except for a very small part, were at wholesale rates, and that most Union Electric sales were at retail.

Revenue received by TVA for sales to municipalities and co-operatives in the fiscal year was $545,690 for 97,939,543 kilowatt-hours, an average of 5.57 mills a kilowatt-hour.

Commercial and industrial customers paid $918,565 for 358,074,859 kilowatt-hours, an average price of 2.56 mills. A large amount of this was secondary power. Direct sales to temporary rural customers produced $113,056 for 12,602,633 kilowatt-hours, at an average price of 8.97 mills. Utility corporations paid $196,767 for 62,336,568, at an average rate of 3.15 mills, also including substantial amounts of secondary power.

The revenue account was credited with $490,699 for interdepartmental sales aggregating 168,350,072 kilowatt-hours, charged for at 2.91 mills. This, of course, was a pocket-to-pocket transaction.

The TVA construction program is proceeding on a large scale. With the virtual completion of Pickwick Landing Dam it now has

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Economics of Cotton Picking.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I RECENTLY made a short comment in this column on our cotton pickers' strike in Southeast Missouri. A friend who read it said to me: "Thad, this is the first time I ever knew you to pull your punches." This friend is a big planter, he is very discerning and he knows me well. He meant by his remark that, in order to avoid the displeasure of my neighbors, I had written less critically of the planters' attitude in our small labor disturbance than I had felt in my heart. It goes without saying that feeling runs high when a strike is on, and it is easy for any one to get in bad who does not side definitely with his class.

Of course I want the respect and affection of my farmer and planter associates, because I love them almost without exception, but if I know myself, I am not willing to hedge and trim or to be insincere in written or spoken word in order to retain their unqualified esteem.

In so far as we have a class struggle in the cotton country, my sympathies are definitely with the poor devils who bend their backs to do our work. There is no mistake about that. I have watched the feeble rise of the Southern Tenant Farmers' Union with deep interest. I have felt no manly inner urge to kill the men who join the union, but on the other hand I would be pleased to see the union grow strong and wise and able to pick leadership that planters would be bound to respect.

I have seen planters and workers go down to miserable economic depths side by side. They go down together, but I have observed that they don't come up side by side. I don't see how a cotton workers' organization could do much to prevent the mutual descent, but it seems to me that it might do a good bit to mutualize the ascents.

A word about our recent small strike. In spite of my leaning toward the workers, I thought it was ill-advised, poorly timed and badly led. Space forbids discussing it at length but one point ought to be mentioned. This strike, for the first time in our territory, brought out clearly an inner conflict in the union that it would seem must somehow be resolved before the organization can get on solid footing. The union membership is made up of both share-croppers and unattached laborers. Their interests are quite different.

The day-laborer may get a little chopping in the spring and is almost sure to get 30 to 45 days' picking in the fall. His need is clearly to earn as much as possible during his short work period. If he can get a dollar a hundred for picking, he thinks he has it coming because he has waited 10 or 11 months to get it.

But at present prices of cotton, if a share-cropper pays a dollar a hundred for his picking, he will have just about enough left out of his crop to pay for his summer's "furnish" and nothing to go on.

It works about like this—our average yield will probably be about 400 pounds of lint per acre, or about 1300 pounds of seed cotton. So the picking would cost $13. The cropper pays all the picking cost. The cash return from 400 pounds of lint at $8.75 plus the small "gin premium" is about $37.50 of which the cropper gets half. Take $3 from $18.75 and that leaves about the amount per acre that the cropper has borrowed during the summer to live on while making the crop.

The average crop (restricted under the farm program) is perhaps 12 to 15 acres. But of course the size of his crop is of no avail to him if he hires it picked at a dollar a hundred. Cotton has opened pretty much all at once this fall and planters have the right which they have freely exercised to run in outside pickers or croppers who get behind.

So it looks to me that a difficult problem exists for the young and struggling union—if its unattached day labor members run picking prices up, their success will mean destitution for many share-cropper members of the union. I am sure I don't know the answer.

Of course, there are many planters who grow their crop all or in part by day labor in order to grab the entire Government "crop diversion payment," or for other reasons. Such planters are fair game for the union. No inner conflict is involved. The planters are not helpless like the share-croppers and it is O K by me if the pickers are able to pick them clean.

Mother Nature's Fashion Parade.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

MOTHER NATURE is leading her fall fashion parade of trees over the hills and highways. Old and young, they are stepping out. Here a stately dowager with a waving plume of yellow on her high-held head; there, a chubby little thing in fall's new print—yellow, orange, brown, with just a tinge of green.

'Round the corner comes a beauty, wearing tiny red bowknots and a matching streamer reaching to the ground. Across the fields, against a background of hills, stands a saucy little minx, flaunting proudly a frock of flaming red. While high upon the hillside, barren and alone, is a somber figure in black, grieving for the days of youth, when she, too, joined Nature's color caravan.

AFTERTHOUGHTS ON THE CRISIS.

What will be the verdict of history on Neville Chamberlain no man can say, for this must depend on developments of the future, but surely history will deal generously with him for his decisive part at Munich in pulling Europe back from the edge of war. This will be true no matter what may be the ultimate verdict upon the general policy of "appeasement"—the policy of dealing with the dictators—which led up to the final crisis.

Who that reads the words of the Prime Minister in the House of Commons on Thursday, as he defended his course at Munich, can fail to be moved by his statement of the issue as it finally presented itself, and of the Gethsemane through which he passed?

> I have been charged (he said) with cowardice, weakness, presumption and stupidity. I have been accused of bringing the country to the edge of war and have been denied the merit of snatching it back to safety.
> Nobody who had been through what I had to go through, day after day, faced with the thought that in the last resort it would be I, and I alone, who had to say that Yes or No which would decide the fate of millions of my countrymen, their wives and families, could readily forget it.
> I claim no credit for my action, for it was only what anybody in my position would feel it his duty to do.

England wanted peace. France wanted peace. The civilian populations of those countries saw themselves in imminent danger of bombardment by a superior German air force. They were faced with a war more dreadful than any similar experience in the history of mankind. Who can blame them, who can blame Chamberlain, for recoiling? And at Munich, let it be recalled, was heard the voice of the American President, speaking, as we believe, the overwhelming desire of the American people, calling for negotiation, negotiation, negotiation, to the end that peace might be saved. Mark the words of the President: "The economic system of every country involved is certain to be shattered (by war). The social structure of every country involved may well be completely wrecked."

As President Roosevelt pointed out, the question at Munich did not turn on the errors and injustices of the past; the issue at the end had only to do with the means of executing an agreement that had already been arrived at. The issue that Chamberlain faced at Munich was war or peace. For the English believed, the French believed, as Roosevelt apparently believed, that if the agreement to give Hitler the Sudeten lands fell through, Hitler would march. Chamberlain, as he told the Commons, had to say that Yes or No which would decide the fate of millions of his countrymen—the fate of millions more outside England.

It may be granted that the peace for which he cast his vote is built on an insecure foundation. None knows that better than Chamberlain. "Let no one think because we have signed this agreement between the four Powers at Munich," he told the Commons, "we can afford to relax our efforts or call a halt in our armaments at this moment." It is a peace for which, as we have said, a terrific price has been paid; a peace that may be only a reprieve.

Yet peace it is, and the world today is a brighter world than if Europe resounded to the tread of marching men, and the air were filled with death-dealing planes, and the fumes of poison gas, rolling through town and field, were tearing at the lungs of men. It is a brighter world for all, and particularly for the plain man who would fight the war, and his wife and children. Whatever the future may bring, the respite is worth while.

No matter what may be one's view of the general foreign policy of the Conservative Government of England, the peace stand of Chamberlain at Munich, on the issue there presented of immediate war or peace, deserves the heartfelt thanks of intelligent men and women throughout the world. It is easy for sheltered critics to say that he should have sought more firmly to "stop Hitler" at Munich. But who of them, bearing the responsibility that was his, confronted with the dreadful alternative that he faced, would have chosen a different road from his?

A NAME WORTHY OF HONOR.

Discussion of possible names for the new high school in the southwestern section of the city has brought the suggestion that it be named for the late Dr. Edward Watt Saunders. If unselfish service to the children of the city over a long number of years is taken as a criterion, then the suggestion deserves serious consideration.

For 40 years prior to his death in 1927, Dr. Saunders, childless himself, dedicated his brilliant professional gifts to caring for the children of St. Louis, rich and poor alike. Known as the "father of pediatrics west of the Mississippi," his earnings were large and he could have accumulated an impressive personal fortune. He chose, instead, to invest all his earnings in institutions for the care of unmarried mothers and under-privileged children. The Bethesda institutions, which he founded and nursed through precarious years, survive and flourish today. In his last illness he requested his friends to refrain from sending flowers for his funeral and to give the money instead to Bethesda, "which is sorely in need of contributions."

Since Dr. Saunders was a resident of the South Side himself, it would be peculiarly fitting for his memory to be honored in naming the new high school or some other school in that section.

THE HORNSBY EPISODE.

Rogers Hornsby was barred from the press box at the second game of the World Series in Chicago, his admission card was taken up, the incident naturally was reported, but the action, for the powers responsible for it, did not have a good press. The public response was adverse, too. Hornsby's glory is all behind him, and even in his heyday he never cultivated popularity, but he was one of the game's greatest, and this seemingly calculated humiliation was properly resented.

In the face of "the returns," so to speak, an explanation seemed expedient. Commissioner Landis' office issued a communique that the press box was reserved exclusively for working newspaper men assigned to cover the game. There was no intent, it was implied, to single out Hornsby for disfavor. Two other pseudo-journalists had been similarly denied admission.

The ruling may be all right, though it was not literally enforced, as the Post-Dispatch correspondent pointedly recorded. But even if it had been enforced, the affair was ineptly managed. Had the announcement been made, before the series opened, that only accredited writers could occupy the press box, there would have been little, if any, objection, and the Hornsby episode, with its unpleasant publicity, would have been avoided.

But that sensible procedure is not in the tradition of baseball's High Commissioner. Ex-Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis is a headline hunter in his baseball office, as he was in the weightier matters of the law. The front-page complex—age apparently cannot wither, nor custom sate, its infinite rapacity.

FEDERAL FUNDS AND PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS.

The denominations which support schools of their own often face the question of whether they should seek, or accept if offered, funds toward their maintenance from outside governmental sources. Some members, indeed, assert that since they pay taxes for maintenance of public schools, they should receive a share in public funds for their own institutions.

The issue arose again last spring when the Advisory Committee on Education, appointed by the President, recommended creation of an $855,000,000 Federal fund for education, to be distributed among the states over a six-year period and to include private and parochial as well as public schools.

Some sound observations on this moot point are made in a recent issue of America, the Catholic weekly, by Paul L. Blakely, S. J. Catholic schools could use the money and doubtless have a legal right to it, Father Blakely says. "But," he adds, "it seems to me that by accepting a Federal dole, we run the risk of losing what we have won in our long fight for freedom in education." The writer then adds a significant warning: "What Washington subsidizes, Washington controls." The warning is valid for state school systems as well as for parochial schools.

Church subsidies, the Nazis have discovered, are a handy weapon for controlling religious groups. The threat of holding up funds has silenced many a pastor who dissents from Hitler's credo. Perhaps it is true that "It can't happen here," but the separation of church and state remains a fundamental American principle. It is one on which church members and non-members can agree whole-heartedly.

LIGHT ON THE ALCOHOL PROBLEM.

Liquor remains one of this country's unsolved problems. Prohibition was not the solution, as the 14-year experiment proved, but the five years of repeal have many aspects of failure. What was needed long ago was a thorough and impartial inquiry, along scientific lines, into this question. At last it is to be undertaken, and by the most authoritative body of its kind in the country, the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Its newly created Research Council on Problems of Alcohol comprises nearly 100 scientists, educators and political economists. No partisans of either side in the great politico-religious wet-dry feud which raged a decade ago are included. A well-organized body of facts is to be sought on three vital aspects: the effects of alcohol on the individual, its effects on society and the effectiveness of various measures of industrial and legal control. Research, education and control are the three phases into which the investigators will divide the work. When the conclusions are attained, they will be presented to civic and legislative groups for discussion and action.

No sound and permanent solution of the problem may be hoped for without a basis of scientific fact such as this new inquiry hopes to provide. It should lay the foundation for intelligent action on a great problem.

ON THE ITALIAN FRONT.

Italy has chosen this moment of realignments and increasing Fascist power in Europe to take several significant steps.

Mussolini at last fulfills his long-projected plan to abolish the Chamber of Deputies and replace it with his own creation, the Chamber of Fasces and Guilds. The Deputies had long ago become mere echoes of the Duce, and the new chamber will play the same role. The change is important only in the overthrow of a constitutional form and its replacement by a dictatorially imposed body.

The new anti-Semitic orders, issued by the Fascist Grand Council, do not fulfill Mussolini's prediction that "the world perhaps will be more astounded by our generosity than by our rigor." Instead, the measures prove to be more drastic in some respects than the Nazi code, which set the pattern. One "concession," for example, is offer of a haven for Jews in Ethiopia—where they would be a weapon of Fascism in its strenuous efforts to develop and pacify the country.

Ordering withdrawal of some 10,000 Italian soldiers from Spain is a gesture intended to bring the friendship pact with Britain into force. It may be acceptable to London, but the fact remains that from 30,000 to 70,000 of Mussolini's troops will still remain as an important part of Franco's forces. Mussolini certainly has not given up hope for Fascist victory in Spain. Nevertheless, any reduction in the foreign armies which have prolonged the Spanish war is to be welcomed.

The three developments take their proper place in Mussolini's scheme of things. To the outside world, they prove again: that Fascism means destruction of popular representation; that it means religious intolerance and oppression; that it means aggression, betrayal and war.

EVERYBODY LOSES BY UNEMPLOYMENT.

The figures on food distributed during the last fiscal year by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation are impressive. Food was given to more than 2,500,000 families. The agency bought 1,800,000,000 pounds of surplus farm products during the year. The cost was $48,400,000, plus an outlay of $1,018,000 for administration. Retail value of the food is estimated at $62,210,000.

These statistics should be viewed as giving a partial picture of what the unemployment crisis is costing the country. This phase of relief cost much more than the $49,418,000 taken outright from the taxpayers' pockets. There must be considered also the loss to retail business caused by the inability of these 2,500,000 families to supply their own needs, and their resultant dependence upon the Government for support.

The burdens of unemployment are not borne by its immediate victims alone. They are shared by the taxpayers and by business in general. This country's potentialities for prosperity cannot be attained until the No. 1 problem, unemployment, is brought under control.

EUROPE IS ALSO PAVED WITH GOOD INTENTIONS.

Life Under Dictatorship

Daily lessons in propaganda have won younger generation in Fascist countries and set children against parents, correspondent writes; many elders drift into coma of acquiescence, learn to hold their tongues and agree the dictator knows best; power of state reaches into every activity and casual interest, with spies everywhere.

Vincent Sheean, Author of "Personal History," in Redbook.

LIFE under the German dictatorship might seem at first to be very much as always. The main body of the daily material preoccupations, for an ordinary citizen, remains about the same, but the individual's responsibilities toward the state have fundamentally changed.

It is when you go home from work that the new regime makes itself strongly felt. Your children, whatever their ages, are yours no longer. They are the children of the state, Hitler's children, and they take their part in the psychological and physical training which is the regime's insurance against the future. In the schools, children are taught the same highly colored versions of history, wherein the German virtues are forever extolled, and human development is seen as a steady progression toward the ultimate magnificence of Adolf Hitler.

Your children come home from school with strange new ideas, and it is of no use—besides being downright dangerous—for parents to argue with them. In a very short time, the children come to have a point of view so different from that of their parents that real communication between the non-Fascist and the Fascist generation becomes practically impossible.

So when you get home at night, your children talk to you in a language you can hardly understand. If they tell you Germany won the war and was cheated only by the peace (which the youth of Germany all believes), you cannot argue. The children would not understand; moreover, they might report you at school the next day. They yield so unreservedly to the persuasions of emotional patriotism that they think their duty to the state and the party is greater than that to their parents.

Speech is no longer free anywhere, either in your own home or in the cafe or on the street. Anybody can be a spy; your own children are not safe, and much less the neighbors or waiters in a cafe. Anybody can denounce you as an "enemy of the state," and you are liable to arrest without trial at any time. The ordinary guarantees of the liberty of the citizen do not exist in either of the great Fascist states. Dozens of acquaintances have been arrested, and you are therefore properly cautious.

It is here—in the realm of ordinary pleasure and casual interests, not bread-winning—that the dictatorship becomes downright intolerable to many men. Some men have become politically minded under the dictatorships for the first time; others have simply crumpled under dictation, and grown dull and old without the ordinary interests and diversions of a full modern life.

I know men in Italy who have not been near a film theater or a play for years, for just this reason, and who pay little or no attention to the daily newspaper. They must be content with their daily work, and with such domestic pleasure as the family can still afford them.

Bit by bit, since most minds are open to impressions, you are very likely to get into the way of thinking that the dictators are right, because everybody says so all day long. The ideas of racial purity, Nordic superiority, Jewish-international conspiracy and injustice done to the pure Nordic people of Germany are hammered again and again, a thousand times a day, in every town and hamlet of Germany, on the farms, in the army, in the factories and shops and offices. Pretty soon you begin to believe it; you can't help it.

Or if you don't fully believe it, you think "there is something in it"—you give over arguing against it, even in your own mind. And slowly, insensibly, so that you do not even become aware of it yourself, you drift into that state of benevolent acquiescence characteristic of the larger part of the populations of both Germany and Italy.

These people will be very easy to manage when the day of war comes (as they were in Italy on the Ethiopian and Spanish questions). They have no means of knowing other sides of the questions presented to them; all they know is that their country is "attacked" (always attacked) and that the superior wisdom of the dictator has decided for the advantage of all.

What makes Austria especially interesting just now is that it is a new-made Fascist country. It has not had the years of steeping in Fascist doctrine which have made both Germany and Italy so easy for their leaders to manage. Social life in Vienna in all classes was remarkably free and easy, and under all stages of economic distress the people remained spirited and full of good humor. It is startling to see what has happened to this city now that it has suddenly been informed that it is "German."

The dislocation of mind produced by this event was itself very considerable. It was aided by the terror: wholesale arrests, thousands of people sent to jail or concentration camps, other thousands confined to their houses, other thousands thrown out of their jobs. A flood of Germans from Germany arrived to carry out all these activities.

The people of Vienna seem, from all I could learn, to have liked the German army officers and men, who were good-natured and friendly; but they detested and feared the Brownshirts, Blackshirts and plain-clothes-men of the Gestapo. They were plunged into bewilderment from which most of them have not yet emerged.

But all this is for the adults. Among the children and young people the response to Nazi persuasions is very much quicker, the period of bewilderment very short indeed. The Fascist-Nazi doctrines and practices have everything to offer young people, particularly the children and youth of the poor.

The fear of war—even a war of defense—is prevalent among the adult citizens of the dictatorships. They do not want it at all; they think of it a great deal; they wonder if the wicked machinations of the "Bolshevized" democracies (which includes England, France and the United States) cannot be circumvented somehow; they trust their dictators to do so.

The dread of a general conflict clouds and oppresses their minds, even in later stages when they have completely surrendered to the Fascist persuasions and sink into that coma of acquiescence which is characteristic of the mass in both Italy and Germany.

History in Carbon Copy

Books in the News

THAT history repeats has often been demonstrated. It remained for Wilfred J. Funk, book publisher and former editor of the Literary Digest, to prove with devastating documentation that history actually is a series of carbon copies, at least so far as panics and depressions are concerned.

Mr. Funk has gone back a century or more to exhume contemporary comment on America's major economic reverses, each appraised at the time as "the worst in history." The result of his vast labor is "When the Merry-Go-Round Breaks Down" (Funk & Wagnalls Co., New York), the most merciless and iconoclastic little book since "Oh, Yeah?" appeared in 1931.

The formula is identical, whether the period is 1836-38 or 1929-38. First comes fulsome praise of the country's prosperity, and then, a few months later, the crash. Moans about the nation's unprecedented plight follow, and next are the attempts at analysis. The President is always the No. 1 culprit, but Wall Street is almost equally guilty.

Over-speculation, a do-nothing Congress, the Supreme Court, labor's excessive demands, the machinations of politicians, governmental extravagance, the banking system, lack of confidence—all these were publicly walloped in 1837, 1857, 1873, 1893 and 1907 no less than in the present "recession." Even the sunspot theory and the meddling of college professors are not new.

It may be considered axiomatic that any President in time of depression is a dictator. "We have over us a worse tyrant than any of the Caesars," said the Detroit Advertiser in 1837, talking about Van Buren. "The conduct of our chief magistrate is no better than the tyranny exercised by the despots of Europe"—that was Buchanan, as appraised by the Cincinnati Gazette in 1857. "President Roosevelt (Theodore) does not care a rap about law, proprieties or precedent," said the Natchez Democrat in 1907.

Not only the general outline but some of the actual phraseology is uncannily duplicated. The Wilmington (Del.) Commercial's statement of 1873, "The general business of the country is in a sound condition," was virtually paraphrased by President Hoover 56 years later: "The fundamental business of the country is on a sound and prosperous basis." "The only matter with us is fright," said the Savannah (Ga.) Republican in 1857, and Franklin D. Roosevelt echoed the words in his first inaugural address: "The only thing we have to fear is fear."

Reading the book produces abundant amusement, but it will be a failure if that is its only result. Instead, its readers (and they should be legion) ought to be persuaded by the perspective it affords to do a little serious thinking. After all, is there any reason why a country so rich as ours needs to mount the merry-go-round (formally known as the economic cycle) for a wild ride every few years, and then find itself, with a splitting headache, back where it started, and bombarded by the same old ballyhoo about what happened? F. G.

TWO years ago Dr. William Beebe spent two months on a two-masted schooner studying sea life in the vicinity of Lower California. Harpooning a whale shark, largest fish in the world, was a chief objective, but that thrilling adventure was only one of many. Our leading scientist-man of letters writes the absorbing report his audience would expect in "Zaca Venture" (Harcourt, Brace & Co., New York). I. D.

969 FOREST FIRES IN MISSOURI LAST YEAR; $24,800 LOSS

20,800 Acres Burned, Says Federal Government Report—$20,668,000 Damage in All of U. S.

THREE SOUTHERN STATES HARD HIT

Georgia, Florida and Mississippi Account for More Than Half of Total Figure For the Country.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
201-05 Kellogg Bldg.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Missouri, in 1937, had 969 forest fires, which burned an area of 20,800 acres and caused a damage of $24,800, according to figures made public today by the United States Forest Service. The total for the country was 185,209 fires, destroying 21,980,500 acres at a loss of $20,668,880.

Contrary to general impression, which associates forest fires with the West, three Southern states, Georgia, Florida and Mississippi, accounted for more than half the national total. Georgia had 25,880 fires, which burned an area of 3,780,910 acres and did damage of $3,813,990. The statistics for Mississippi are 25,668 fires, 4,211,690 acres and $4,319,690; and for Florida, 36,415 fires; 7,850,160 acres and $5,913,310.

Illinois had only 117 forest fires and Indiana 157, but Kentucky had 3045, Arkansas 3477, Tennessee 4529, Oklahoma 7055 and Texas 15,171. In Texas the property damage was $608,070; in Oklahoma, $968,320; and in Tennessee, $682,350. California's loss was $173,620 in 2992 forest fires; that of Oregon, $118,710 in 1925 fires; and of Washington $84,760 in 1433 fires. Colorado's 155 fires burned 130 acres at a loss of $190.

Reduction in Burned Acreage.

The reduction of acreage burned from that in 1936, according to the Forest Service summary, was equal to the area of the New England states, excluding Maine. This decrease is attributed to more favorable weather conditions, improved fire-fighting technique, availability of trained Civilian Conservation Corps fire fighters, and increasing care with fire by forest workers and visitors.

The report shows that 94 per cent of all acreage burned was on unprotected forest areas and more than 11 per cent of all unprotected forest land was burned over. The 121,449 fires on lands not receiving protection last year burned over about 20,637,000 acres and caused damage estimated at more than $18,000,000.

The annual average number of fires on unprotected areas during the five-year period 1933-37 was 104,816 and the average annual burn was 33,129,000 acres, causing a yearly damage estimated at $33,613,000.

The Forest Service reports that protection is now given to the 138,776,000 acres of Federally owned forest land needing protection, but only three-fifths of the 423,070,000 acres of private and State forest areas needing protection is as yet actually protected by organized fire control systems.

Loss On Protected Land.

Only one-fourth of 1 per cent of the protected forest acreage was burned during 1937 and, out of the total of 185,209 fires reported on all forests, only 66,752 occurred on protected land. Of these, 9468 were on national forest and other Federal lands and 54,292 were reported on State and private forest holdings.

The area burned in protected forests in 1937 was 1,344,000 acres, of which 194,000 acres was non-productive forest land while 1,150,000 was productive forest land. Of the productive forest land, 266,370 acres was mature timber and 883,260 acres comprised young growth.

Damage to protected forests is estimated at $2,466,000, a decrease of $6,774,384 from the average of the preceding five years. Protected Federal lands suffered damage of $186,000, while protected State and private forest holdings were damaged to the extent of $2,280,000.

Origin of many of the fires burning on unprotected areas could not be determined accurately, but reports on the protected forests show 89 per cent of all fires are man-caused and therefore preventable. Fires caused by lightning increased by one-fourth in 1937, but smokers, incendiaries, and debris burners are each responsible for more fires than lightning.

Big Loss by Incendiaries.

Some of the most serious fires were those caused by incendiaries and lumbering activities. Incendiaries set 22 per cent of the 63,760 fires on protected land and such fires caused 26 per cent of the damage. Lumbering was responsible for only 2 per cent of the fires but they caused slightly more than 9 per cent of the total damage on protected forest land.

Of the 63,760 fires in 1937 on protected areas, 15,023 were controlled with a loss of less than one-fourth of an acre; 30,823 burned between one-fourth of an acre and 10 acres, and 17,914 fires burned areas greater than 10 acres. In the national forests and other Federally owned lands, more than two-thirds of the fires were kept under one-fourth acre and only eight per cent spread beyond 10 acres. Only 65 fires in the national forests exceeded 300 acres. Fires starting on such lands numbered 1237 more in 1937 than the average of the previous five years, but the total area burned was only one-fourth and estimated damage only one-fifth of the average loss during the previous five-year period.

literally writes in capital letters and underscores.

"In law, also, men make a difference," he declares. "There is no inevitability in history except as men make it."

By way of supporting this conclusion, he tells his readers that "it would deny all meaning to history" to believe that American constitutional law, and therefore the Constitution as interpreted and made effective would be the same if Jefferson had had the opportunity to fill the chief justiceship when John Adams named John Marshall. Had the views of Justices like Samuel F. Miller and John M. Harlan, prevailed — the former one of the court's sharpest inner critics, the latter its "great dissenter"—the evolution of finance in the United States and hence of American history would hardly have been the same, he says.

In this connection, Prof. Frankfurter invites greater attention on the part of his fellow social scientist, the historian, in the work of the Supreme Court as a shaper of American life and institutions. In a passage which inescapably calls to mind the controversy a year ago over the Supreme Court, he presents the provocative observation that "the history of the Supreme Court would record fewer explosive periods if, from the beginning, there had been a more continuous awareness of the role of the court in the dynamic process of American society."

Something for Historians.

The vital share of the Court in the interplay of the country's political and economic forces has largely escaped the historian's attention, he writes. To quote Prof. Frankfurter:

"The momentum of the Court's influence has been achieved undramatically and imperceptibly, like the gradual growth of a coral reef, as the cumulative product of hundreds of cases, individually unexciting and seemingly even unimportant, but in their total effect powerfully telling in the pulls and pressures of society. And so the rather arid doctrines of lawyers have largely held the field.

"This has had two unfortunate aspects. The public has been denied understanding of the intimate share of the Supreme Court in the affairs of states and nation; the Supreme Court has been deprived of that healthy play of informed criticism from without which is indispensable for the vitality of every institution."

Casting his eye back over the history of the Supreme Court—and it is doubtful if there is anyone on the bench or off more familiar with that history than he—Prof. Frankfurter finds a notable change in the balance of the work of the Court. The technical forms of issues which it must decide and the technical nature of a portion of its business, he explains, "have helped build up the tradition of the Court as a body quite disassociated from the conflicts of politics."

Fewer Private Cases, More Public.

But this technical business of the court and the private litigation, those cases in which only the immediate litigants are deeply interested, he finds going through the Court's mill in a diminishing proportion. Indeed, he says that it may now be "fairly characterized as a minor aspect of the activities of the Court." Today "it is the Court's public business that has excited public interest."

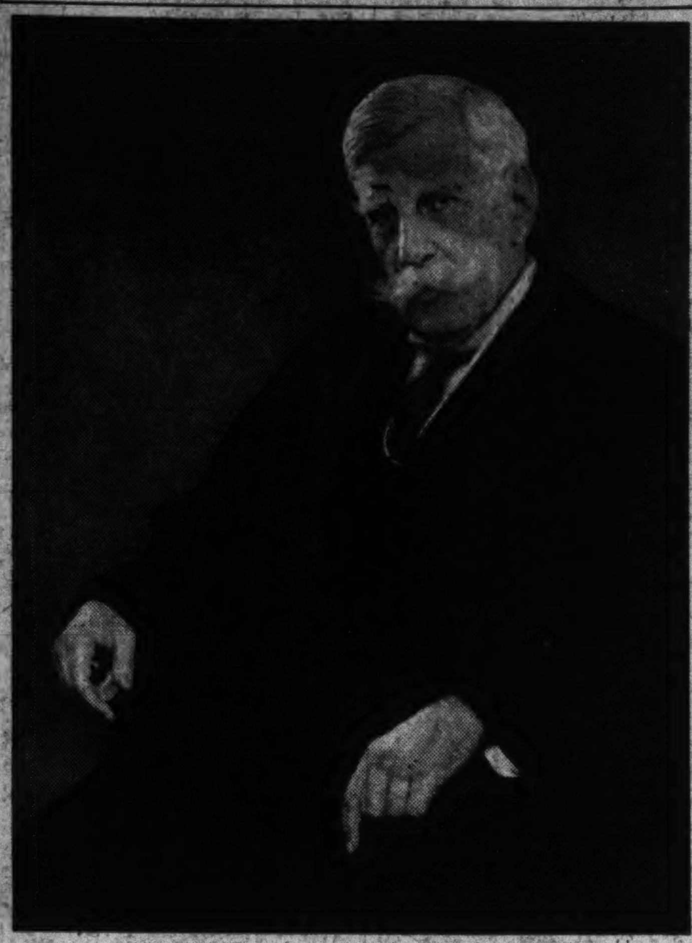
This public business of the Supreme Court has affected the nation "as much as action either by Congress or by the President," in Prof. Frankfurter's opinion.

"The raw material of modern government is business," he writes in the introduction to the three lectures. "Taxation, utility regulation, agricultural control, labor relations, housing, banking and finance, control of the security market—all our major domestic issues—are phases of a single central problem, namely, the interplay of economic enterprise and government. These are the issues which for more than a generation have dominated the calendar of the Supreme Court."

Why it is that the Supreme Court has been to so great an extent the molder of American society, Prof. Frankfurter sets forth in a particularly lucid — he is always clear and graceful, in the Holmes-Cardozo tradition—passage. Words in the Constitution like "liberty" and "property," phrases like "regulate Commerce . . . among the several States," "due process of law," "equal protection of the laws," have a "convenient vagueness" which compels the Court to put meaning into the Constitution, as he terms it.

On cases arising from the explicit clauses of the Constitution, there is comparatively little disagreement within the court, he reminds his readers. It is when important economic and social questions have come up, to be challenged under an ambiguity such as "due process of law" that the great battles within the court have taken place and the dissents, such as those for which Justice Holmes is famous, have been written and delivered.

Focus of New Book on Supreme Court



O. W. Holmes

The late ASSOCIATE JUSTICE OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES

Evidence From the Past.

Quoting the letter of Theodore Roosevelt to Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts relative to the social, economic and political views of Holmes, then Chief Justice of Massachusetts, Prof. Frankfurter says that the assumption of presidents that the past in which a Supreme Court appointee is "inured" may have a powerful effect on his future decisions is supporter by weighty judicial evidence.

During the '80s and '90s, he writes, members of the Supreme Court continued to reflect the economic order in which they grew up, notwithstanding the fact that our country was "in process of drastic transformation." As he tells it:

"Between the presidencies of Grant and the first Roosevelt, laissez faire was the dominant economic social philosophy, and it was imported into the Constitution. Temporary facts were translated into legal absolutes; abstract conceptions concerning 'liberty of contract' were erected into constitutional dogmas. Malleable and undefined provisions of the Constitution were applied as barriers against piecemeal efforts of adjustment through legislation to a society permeated by the influence of technology, large-scale industry, progressive urbanization, and the general dependence of the individual on economic forces beyond his control. The due process clauses were especially the destructive rocks on which this legislation foundered."

"This Subtle Danger."

Holmes battled during all his years on the Court against "this subtle danger of the unconscious indentification of personal views with constitutional sanction," Prof. Frankfurter writes, and for a short time, from about 1908 to the World War, "his views were in the ascendant." During this period "the Court did allow legislation to prevail which, in various aspects, regulated enterprise with reference to its social consequences and withdrew phases of industrial relations from the area of illusory individual bargaining."

The swing toward the Holmes' view that the Constitution allowed the forces of government wide discretion in their attack on their problems, arising from industrialization, was short-lived. "Changes in the Court's personnel and in the general economic and social climate of the Harding-Coolidge era soon reflected themselves in decisions," says the Harvard scholar. "Until after the 1936 election, the Court was back to the high tide of judicial negation reached in the Lochner case, in 1905."

The Lochner decision, denying New York the right to limit hours of work in bakeries, provoked Justice Holmes to one of his first and greatest dissents.

"This case," Holmes declared, "is decided upon an economic theory which a large part of the country does not entertain. If it were a question whether I agreed with that theory, I should desire to study it further and long before making up my mind. But I do not conceive that to be my duty, because I strongly believe that my agreement or disagreement has nothing to do with the right of a majority to embody their opinions in law. A Constitution is not intended to embody a particular economic theory. . . . It is made for people of fundamentally differing views, and the accident of our finding certain opinions natural and familiar or novel or even shocking ought not to conclude our judgment upon the question whether statutes embodying them conflict with the Constitution of the United States."

Holmes' Views Coming In.

It was Holmes' fate to serve his long tenure and to live out his long life without seeing his views come into acceptance, but still another change in the outlook of the Court has come and the opinions which he held are now more nearly the opinions of the Supreme Bench than at any other time.

Citing the 1937 reversal on the minimum wage issue in the Washington State case, a frank overruling of the Adkins decision of 1923, as the starting point, Prof. Frankfurter writes:

"During most of his 30 years on the Supreme Bench, and especially during the second half of his tenure, his were not the views of the majority. But the good that men do lives after them. About a year ago, the old views of Mr. Justice Holmes began to be the new constitutional direction of the court."

This belated change in the direction of accepting Holmes' views, the professor points out, has now extended beyond the field of social legislation into the province of civil liberties. Noting the decision of the court in the Angelo Herndon case, which freed a Negro Communist, by a vote of 5 to 4, he says that "not until after Holmes' death did the powerful seeds of his dissents bear fruit in the decisions of the court" in the human rights field.

In this connection, Prof. Frankfurter does not find it strange that "a majority of the court which frequently disallowed restraints upon economic power should so consistently have sanctioned restraints of the mind." He sees "an underlying unity of fear of ample experimentation in economics and fear of expression of heretical ideas." In the Holmes view which Prof. Frankfurter, of course, shares, "action derives from ideas" and "the evolutionary process of social institutions" requires "the fullest freedom of mind."

A Few Examples.

The idea that decisions of the Supreme Court have been a vital force in shaping the national life runs through the book like the main theme of a musical composition. Prof. Frankfurter sets forth, to cite only a few of his examples:

That a majority of the court of 20 years ago "remained obdurate and imposed a doctrinaire view of the Constitution" against state laws to assure trade unions the opportunity of association which they already had in the rest of the English-speaking world.

That the court, by "the narrowest margin," in 1895, in "the much-criticised income tax cases, unexpectedly denied to the nation a power which the Federal Government had exercised from time to time for a hundred years"—a power which had to be restored at a great cost in time and revenue by the income tax amendment in 1913.

That the court, by "a bare majority," killed the first child labor law, opening up a controversy which for 20 years "deflected much political effort and engendered needless ill-will," notwithstanding the fact that the analysis made by Holmes for the minority "has not yet been answered in reason."

That the court, "along the whole gamut of legislative activity," vetoed "state action in matters of confessedly local concern and derived from local experience."

It is not enough to say, Prof. Frankfurter points out, that the Supreme Court has sustained more laws than it has nullified. "Numbers alone do not tell the tale," he writes. "All laws are not of equal importance; and a single decision may decide the fate of many measures."

Power of 42 States Curbed.

Even so, the Harvard professor's compilation shows in more than 200 cases the vague language of the fourteenth amendment was used to strike down state action in no fewer than 42 members of the Union. Not only that. "The significant cases," he writes, "were decided always by a divided court, almost invariably over the protest of its most distinguished minds. In about 40 per cent of these cases there were dissents, while in the ordinary private litigation of the court less than 10 per cent of the cases gave rise to differences."

The news factors involved in the appearance of Prof. Frankfurter's new book make it necessary to center for the most part on a news discussion of it on the views of its author, and yet, in fairness to Prof. Frankfurter, it needs to be said that the book is a tribute to Holmes from start to finish and that the great jurist's philosophy is on every page.

Qualities of Personal Genius.

Prof. Frankfurter's study of the Court and its personalities leads him to the conclusion that Holmes possessed the qualities of personal genius perhaps in richer measure than any other Justice in history. Similarly, he thinks it is more true of him than of any other that "the host of public controversies in which he participated was subdued to reason by relatively few guiding principles."

Holmes' willingness to allow experiments in economics which he doubted or distrusted, like his protection of speech that offended his taste and wisdom, his analyzer finds coming from a central faith and a governing skepticism—the belief that the whole of truth "has not yet been" and that "the first duty of an educated man was to doubt his major premise even while he continued to act on it."

And "his traditions were founded not on fear but on knowledge, and his rejections came from knowledge, not from the blindness of prejudice. He left issues in the arena where they belong. He knew that judges in their way legislate, and therefore did not propose that they should undermine the Legislature's power to legislate. He knew too much to believe that it was within his power to save, if it was within the power of the Legislature to ruin."

Conception of a Nation.

Rejecting absolutes, holding to a spirit of accommodation and realizing that life is the reconciliation of contradictories, Holmes produced a large body of constitutional opinions, from which emerges, Prof. Frankfurter says, "the conception of a nation adequate to its national and international duties, consisting of federated states in their turn possessed of ample power for the diverse uses of a civilized people."

Like all human institutions, the Supreme Court, "he believed must earn reverence through the test of truth."

An interesting incidental observation of Prof. Frankfurter is that apart from the Civil War amendments, "the emergence of national parties has had a more powerful influence on the workings of our Government than any structural change."

Missourians may note that two of the important cases quoted by Prof. Frankfurter as containing significant utterances by Holmes came up from this State. These were Missouri vs. Holland (1920), the famous migratory bird treaty case, and Baldwin vs. Missouri (1930), a tax case, in which Holmes, then at the age of 89, once more asserted his conviction that the fourteenth amendment was not intended "to give us carte blanche to embody our economic or moral beliefs" in the Constitution.

BOOKS ON POLITICAL PROBLEMS MOST POPULAR AT LIBRARY

Circulation So Far in 1938 Is Above That for Corresponding Period in 1937.

Public Library books most popular recently have been those on current domestic and European political problems and in addition the following individual titles: "The Importance of Living," Lin-Yu'tang; "With Malice Toward Some," Halsey; "Horse and Buggy Doctor," Hertzler; "My America," Adamic; "Evolution of Physics," Einstein; "Summing Up," Maugham.

Circulation for the first nine months this year totaled 2,354,883, an increase of 163,975 over that in the corresponding period last year. Circulation in September was 266,480, an increase of 26,762 over circulation in September, 1937.

An increase of incoming telephone calls to an average of 300 a day indicates that the public is relying to a greater extent on the library for a wide variety of information, Librarian Charles H. Compton said yesterday. Tabulation of inquiries on one day recently showed they included requests for such divergent information as names of Missouri Supreme Court Judges and the spelling of "rarin' to go."

Dinner for Three Congressmen.

St. Louis food brokers will give a luncheon Tuesday at noon at the Statler Hotel in honor of Congressman C. Arthur Anderson, Thomas Hennings and John Cochran. The three will speak on "Trends of the New Congress."

John Charles Thomas, Metropolitan Opera baritone, will open the fifteenth annual Civic Music League concert season with a recital at the Municipal Auditorium on Nov. 8.

Other concerts in the series include the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Eugene Goosens; Luboshutz and Nemenoff, duo-pianists; Trudi Schoop and her ballet; and Nathan Milstein, violinist.

Season tickets, on sale until the first concert, are $5.10, $4.08 and $2.55.

ICKES TO SPEAK HERE ON JUSTICE CARDOZO

Dinner Tomorrow at Temple Israel House; Bar Leaders on Program.

Evaluations of the life and work of the late United States Supreme Court Justice Benjamin Nathan Cardozo will be given tomorrow evening at a dinner, beginning at 6 o'clock, of the Brotherhood of Temple Israel at Temple Israel House, Washington and Kingshighway boulevards. Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes will be one of the speakers.

City, State and Federal judges in St. Louis have been invited by the sponsors of the dinner. Other leaders of the local bar also will be guests.

Dean Joseph A. McLain Jr. of the Washington University School of Law will discuss "Cardozo's Contribution to the Philosophy of Law." Kenneth Teasdale, former president of the St. Louis Bar Association and of the State Bar Association, will speak on "Cardozo, the Judge" and B. L. Liberman, an attorney, on "Cardozo and the Constitution."

"A Layman's View of Justice Cardozo" will be given by Charles G. Ross, editor of the editorial page of the Post-Dispatch.

WALLACE FOR COTTON PROCESSING TAX

Prefers It to Loans as Subsidy to Farmers, He Writes Senator Smith.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace said again tonight, in a letter made public after the Federal crop reporting board had forecast an unexpectedly large increase in this year's cotton crop, that new processing taxes should be enacted to finance subsidy payments to cotton growers.

His letter, addressed to Senator Smith (Dem.), South Carolina, replied to demands of a group of southern Senators and Representatives for an additional Federal subsidy of three cents a pound on this year's cotton or an increase in the rate of Federal loans on the crop.

Wallace repeated that he preferred subsidy payments to increased loans, which he said would tend to block exports, pile up additional government cotton holdings and tend to bring about complete government operation of the cotton handling, selling and exporting industry.

Without committing himself to the additional 3-cent subsidy demanded by the Southern congressmen, he said: "I believe most firmly that the cotton farmers' situation is such that they are going to need continuing help from the Federal Government in the form of payments to supplement their income."

Wallace said that a tax should be levied on the processing or manufacture of cotton to finance the subsidy payments, so they would not interfere with efforts to balance the Federal budget.

Another way in which the Government may aid cotton farmers, Wallace said, is by helping them to obtain more cotton goods for their own use. He suggested some of the 7,000,000 bales of cotton now held by the Government as security for loans might be used in this undertaking.

The crop board forecast a yield this year of 12,212,000 bales—an increase of 387,000 bales over its estimate made a month ago.

Agriculture Department officials said provision already has been made for payment of a subsidy of about 4.5 cents a pound on this year's crop.

GEORGE REPORTS SPENDING $44,355 IN PRIMARY VICTORY

Senator, Winner in Spite of Opposition by Roosevelt, Submits Figures.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Senator George (Dem.), Georgia, reported to the Senatorial Campaign Expenditures Committee today that contributions to his successful campaign for renomination totaled $48,696. The Senator, renominated despite President Roosevelt's opposition, reported that his campaign receipts originally amounted to $43,215, of which he personally contributed $5865.

He said that he returned $800 which had been contributed by Federal officials, which left his receipts prior to the primary $42,415. Since the primary, he said, he had received contributions totaling $6280.

The Senator submitted a statement showing disbursements totaling $44,355.

George called attention of the committee to the fact that the Georgia law places no limitation on expenditures in primary elections.

MISSOURI PEACE CONFERENCE PLANNED FOR NEXT APRIL

Council of Four Groups, Meeting at Columbia, Also Plan Armistice Day Observance.

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 8. — Plans for a State-wide peace workers' institute conference next April were formulated at an executive council meeting of four Missouri peace groups here today.

Paul Weaver of Columbia, in charge of arrangements for today's meeting, said several nationally prominent speakers, including Walter Kirk, president of the National Peace Conference, would speak at the April conference.

Plans also were discussed for Armistice day observances. Fifteen delegates from Kansas City, St. Louis, St. Joseph and Columbia attended the council session. The group met with Arthur Reeves, an executive of the Naitonal Peace Conference.

TESTIMONIAL FOR BISHOP HOLT

Service Today to Call Attention to Efforts for Church Union.

A special vesper service, calling attention to efforts of Bishop Ivan Lee Holt toward denominational unity, will be held at 4 p. m. today at Christ Church Cathedral, Thirteenth and Locust streets, under auspices of the Metropolitan Church Federation.

Bishop Holt, who was active in the merger of the Methodist denominations, will speak as will various ministers of other denominations, including Bishop William Scarlett of the Cathedral.

BRAHMS RECITAL TOMORROW

The music of Johannes Brahms will be played at a recital sponsored by the Musicians' Guild tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock at the College Club, 5428 Delmar boulevard. The Sonata in A Major, for violin and piano, will be played by Ernest Walker Jr., and John Kessler.

George L. Scott will join them in the second portion of the program, playing the Trio in E Flat for violin, piano and French horn.

SYMPHONY TO BEGIN SEASON TICKET DRIVE

Campaign to Be Started at Meeting of Woman Workers Tomorrow.

A campaign to sell $35,000 worth of season tickets for St. Louis Symphony Orchestra concerts will begin with a meeting of about 200 volunteer woman workers at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at Hotel Chase.

The campaign is being directed by the Women's Association and the Junior Division of the St. Louis Symphony Society. Mrs. Henry Bry is chairman and Mrs. T. Lawrence Post and Miss Adelaide Mahaffey are vice-chairmen. Edgar Taylor, head of Taylor School, will speak at tomorrow's meeting.

The women's group expects to raise $10,000, and the goal for a men's division, including civic and business organizations, is $25,000. Service clubs have been asked to buy five season tickets for use by members and guests.

Season reservations already received at the society's offices in the Municipal Auditorium amount to $77,000. This represents more than half of the capacity of the opera house for the Saturday evening series and almost half for Friday afternoon concerts. Reductions of as much as 35 per cent, as compared with single ticket prices, may be obtained by purchase of season tickets. Reduced subscription rates will be discontinued after the first pair of concerts Oct. 28 and 29.

The Skilling building and Elizabeth Holloway Woods Memorial Chapel will be open for inspection Friday night.

U. S.-CANADA BRIDGE OPENED

Ceremony at Dedication of Span at Port Huron, Mich.

By the Associated Press.

PORT HURON, Mich., Oct. 8.—The United States and Canada joined today in the formal dedication of a new international bridge. Standing on the American approach to the span, which bridges the St. Clair River between Port Huron and Point Edward, Ont., Gov. Frank Murphy of Michigan and Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn of Ontario in dedicatory speeches termed the bridge another token of peaceful and friendly relations existing between the two countries. The ceremony was viewed by a huge crowd.

The dedication was the climax of a two-day celebration marking completion of the $3,250,000 project. Built by Michigan and Ontario, the bridge is 8120 feet long.

D'ANNUNZIO'S SON MARRIED

Italian Soldier-Poet's Heir Wed in New York.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8. — The marriage of Capt. Ugo V. d'Annunzio, son of the late Gabriele d'Annunzio, Italian soldier-poet, and Miss Gigiotta Conquest Bertelli, daughter of Riccardo Bertelli, a bronze manufacturer, was announced by friends today.

The bride, a graduate of the Brearley School in New York and a member of the New York Junior League, is a granddaughter of Admiral Luigi Bertelli, former Chief of the Royal Italian Navy. D'Annunzio is vice-president of the Bellanca Aircraft Corporation and managing director of the Italian Library of Information.

Broad Advance Begun With Calling Of Four-Power Peace Conference Is Continued in Security Markets

Stock Prices Climb to Best Levels of Year—Average up 2.90 Points for Week—Fastest Week-end Pace in Three Months.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The stock market climbed to the best levels in about a year this week, shaking off persistent profit cashing without much trouble, and breaking through the year's high resistance level, set in July, by a narrow margin.

Continuation of last week's "peace rally" was unmarred by any serious declines, although here and there a pivotal share slipped as traders tried to reappraise the industrial outlook. Volume inclined to be heavy on the upside, but petered down in the indeterminate sessions.

The moderate gains of the period spread to virtually every division, although buying on the whole was selective with traders seeking the shares considered most likely to benefit from improving industrial activity and a continuation of the business recovery aided by Europe's calming down.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at today's short session rose .6 of a point at 52, a new top since Oct. 9, 1937. On the week this composite was up 2.9 points. The Dow-Jones average of 65 stocks was .62 higher for the day and like the A. P. the week's change upward was 2.9 points.

Transfers of 1,113,130 shares today compared with 946,490 a week ago and were the largest for any two-hour session since July 2. Sales for the week totaled 9,674,470, compared with 7,642,670 the preceding week.

Strong rails, ably abetted by steels, rubbers, coppers and specialties, today spurred the market on its fastest Saturday sprint in more than three months.

Although profit taking, insistent throughout, resulted in recessions from best prices at the close in some cases, numerous issues finished with gains running to 2 or more points at new highs for a year.

Rails Go Through Average.

Buoying analytical sentiment, especially, was the fact the rails, which held back in the forward thrust of June-July, today for the first time went through the average peak established by this group last January, thus "confirming" the new highs which were posted by the industrials in June and again on three separate occasions this week.

The day's prominent share climbers included Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Railway, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Kennecott, American Smelting, U. S. Rubber, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, American Sugar Refining, Fajardo and South Porto Rico Sugar.

Oils were backward on the weakening of wholesale midcontinent gasoline prices. Chrysler's labor troubles kept motors in the background most of the day, but they stepped up near the close.

Today was the tenth, with the exception of Tuesday, on which the stock price trend has been upward.

Bonds followed stocks today as well as on the week. The day's commodity trends were mixed. Wheat at Chicago was off ⅛ to ⅛ of a cent a bushel and corn down ⅝ to ¾. Cotton dropped 45 to 75 cents a bale on a larger than expected Government crop estimate. Foreign currencies were narrow in terms of the dollar.

Day's 15 Most Active Stocks.

Sales, closing price and net change of the 15 most active stocks today: Loft, 54,700, 5⅝, up ¾; New York Central, 24,300, 20½, up 1; United States Steel, 23,500, 64⅛, up 1⅞; General Motors, 21,200, 50½, up ½; Anaconda, 18,200, 38⅝, up ⅝; Standard Brands, 15,400, 8⅛, up ⅛; Radio, 15,100, 8¼, up ⅛; Southern Pacific, 14,900, 20¾, up 1⅛; Southern Railway, 14,000, 17⅜, up 1⅛; United States Rubber, 13,000, 53⅝, up 1⅜; United Aircraft, 12,200, 30⅝, up 1; Pennsylvania Railroad, 12,100, 22½, up 1; International Telephone & Telegraph, 12,100, 11½, up ¼; Goodyear Tire & Rubber, 11,400, 30⅞, up 1⅛; Chrysler, 10,900, 80½, up 1½.

Building material shares, spurred by a renewal of the gain in residential construction, turned in many new highs for the year. Rails and aircrafts enjoyed important support in the closing sessions. Steels and motors, which lagged a little at the start and at the finish, had their day in a sharp rally Wednesday.

Bonds Continue Rise.

Bonds, subjected to less profit-taking than stocks, continued their upward trend, with rail liens active and generally in demand. U. S. Government loans pulled ahead, and the foreign list, although disturbed by varying influences, tended higher.

Approximately $79,999,999 in utility new financing broke the taboo that has persisted for weeks past and was well received, underwriters reported. New registrations with the SEC for important issues mounted as investment bankers declared the ground clear and institutional buyers in a mood to snap up good offerings.

Day-to-day traders as well as investors of the longer pull variety found domestic news reassuring, although dispatches from Europe reported a few spots on the shining escutcheon of the much-hailed Munich accord.

In the home field the Associated Press index of industrial activity reached its 1938 peak at 79.0 against 78.4 the preceding week. Steel mill activity advanced to its best level since Nov. 1, last year, railroad freight carloadings improved more than seasonally, and the nation's textile mills swung into a higher rate of operations. A decline in electric power output for the week ended Oct. 1 was again assigned to results of the New England hurricane.

Market Stimulants.

Principal stimulants to better market prices, brokers agreed largely, were the heavy votes of confidence given the French and British Governments for their handling of the partition of Czechoslovakia, and the reception accorded the opinion ascribed to President Roosevelt that business was on the way to recovery should industrial "sabre-rattling" cease and prices be kept within proper limits.

Toward the end of the period a hint of hitches in the smooth working out of the four-Power accord and the demand of both British and French Premiers that rearmament continue, made some financial circles wonder if Munich had drawn all the sting from European sore spots. The position of the French franc was viewed with some alarm, but the decree powers to remedy the financial situation accorded the Cabinet tended to alleviate this to a degree.

Notable features of the stock market action were the increase in the number of lower priced shares traded, and the breadth of the market nearly every day, indicating, some observers said, a revival of public interest that had been frozen out previously under the threat of European war scares. Investment buying, according to brokers, appeared to be on the increase, but orders from abroad, while on the purchasing side, dwindled in comparison with the preceding period. There was little evidence, however, of any sustained repatriation of the fugitive capital which came here in September.

Dayton Rubber Dividend.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Directors of Dayton Rubber Co. today declared a dividend of 50 cents a share on common stock, the first payment on this class since reorganization of the company in 1934. A semi-annual payment of $1 a share on class "A" stock was also ordered, both payable Oct. 7 to holders of record Oct. 17.

THE WEEK ON NEW YORK STOCK MARKET—

CORPORATION REPORTS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Aviation Corporation reported today for nine months ended Aug. 31 net profit of $402,062, equal to 14 cents a share on the capital stock, compared with net loss of $82,681 in the comparable period last year. The company owns substantial investments in other aircraft companies and through subsidiaries manufactures military and commercial planes with plants at Williamsport, Pa., Wayne, Ind., and Farmingdale, N. Y.

Alaska Juneau Gold Mining Co. estimated profit for the nine months ended Sept. 30 was $1,539,100 before depletion, depreciation and Federal taxes, compared with $2,020,300 in the comparable period last year.

INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITY INDEX AT NEW '38 HIGH

Heavy Industry Sets Pace of Upward Movement During Latest Week Data Available.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Industrial activity resumed its advance into new high ground for the year during the latest week for which data are available.

The Associated Press seasonally adjusted index jumped to 79.0 per cent of the 1929-30 average from 78.4 in the previous period and compared with 99.2 last year.

Heavy industry set the pace of the upward climb. Steel mill operations, residential building and railroad carloadings spurted to new peaks for the year or longer after allowance for seasonal factors.

The only major industry to register a decline, electric power production, reflected largely crippled plant capacity in hurricane-stricken areas according to spokesmen for the producers.

Home building set a new seven-year high as the spectacular advance that started in February continued its rising arc.

With assemblies of 1939 automobile models being started in earnest, steel mills received a heavier quota of orders from this source.

Freight shipments, with miscellaneous loadings setting the pace, rose to the highest level since last December. Cotton manufacturing also improved moderately after last week's setback.

The index, with its seasonally adjusted indices based on 1929-30 as 100, compared as follows:

FOREIGN MARKETS AT A GLANCE

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 8.—Wheat futures finished ⅜d to ⅝d higher in quiet trading today. Opening at the top of the day, uniformly 1d higher, prices went into a slow decline as demand for actual wheat continued poor. Trading at the outset was encouraged by improved North American markets yesterday and firmer American and Canadian shippers' offers.

After a quiet forenoon session, cotton futures dropped 6 to 8 points from yesterday's levels upon publication of the United States crop report showing a gain of 387,000 bales above last month's estimate. The trade had expected little change from September figures.

U. S. TREASURY STATEMENT

FOREIGN CURRENCIES ON MORE STABLE BASIS

British Pound and Other European Rates Give Up Some of Previous Week's Rally.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Foreign currency dealings got back to a more stable basis this week after the recent wild fluctuations during the peak of fears for an immediate general war in Europe.

The swift rebound which followed announcement of the four-Power conference at Munich the previous week, resulting in a peaceful settlement of the Sudeten German question in Czechoslovakia, leveled off. The British pound and other European rates gave up some of their gains on the previous week's rally.

But good support came in on the dips and fluctuations narrowed. Powers given the Daladier Government in France for dealing with fiscal problems there helped bolster the franc.

How long Europe would continue to enjoy its peace was a matter of debate in political quarters. However, the passing of immediate war fears was apparent in broadscale buying in world security markets, voiding of war-risk insurance rates on trans-Atlantic shipments and an ebb tide in the capital outflow from Europe.

Week's Gold Shipments.

Nevertheless, additional large engagements of gold were made abroad for transfer to New York. The week's engagements through Friday totaled $21,551,000 against $32,856,000 the previous week.

Still working to force gold to this country, bankers noted, was a large export surplus in the United States' foreign trade this year. Continuation of the arms race in Europe, it was contended, probably would continue to favor exports, although industrial revival here was expected to expand imports of raw materials.

The British pound and French franc recovered their equilibrium today in terms of the dollar after several days of falling rates.

Ignoring the muddy French financial scene temporarily money men iterpreted favorably some late news from Europe, notably prospects of partial withdrawal of Italian troops from Spain.

Sterling advanced ⅛ of a cent and the French franc .00¼ of a cent. The Swiss franc gained .01 of a cent while the guilder dipped .02 of a cent and the belga was unchanged.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—In final foreign currency dealings today the United States dollar advanced 1 3-16 of a cent in sterling terms. The unit ended 4.78 5-16 to the pound, compared with the New York overnight sterling rate $4.78⅜.

French francs were 178.91 to the pound, against 178.94 yesterday.

DIVERGENT TRENDS TO COMMODITY PRICES

Industrial Raw Materials Rise Briskly, Major Farm Staples Ease Moderately.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Commodity prices trod divergent paths this week, the major farm staples eased moderately while industrial raw materials moved briskly upward.

The Associated Press weighted index of 35 important wholesale commodities, however, showed only fractional change as gains approximately offset declines. The index closed at 67.12 this week, compared with 67.20 last week and 82.91 a year ago.

Among the staples making up the barometer, 11 advanced and an equal number declined, the remainer recording no change.

Copper, hides and rubber, in heavy demand from industrial quarters where operations were stepped up to a new high for the year, set the pace, with tin and turpentine also moving up a notch.

Steel scrap was again marked down in Chicago, although the principal steel center, Pittsburgh, posted no change. Bituminous coal and burlap also weakened.

Non-Ferrous Metals Up.

Non-ferrous metal prices pushed up to within a fraction of the year's best levels, approximately 20 per cent above the low registered in June. Other industrial staples were some 9 per cent above the recession bottom.

Textiles nudged ahead for the fifth consecutive week on gains in wool and silk. Demand was reported to have improved for most yardgoods, although price changes were moderate.

Livestock, led by hogs, slumped sharply. Supplies pouring into the leading marketing center have risen steadily during recent weeks and although consumer demand has been maintained, according to trade analysts, larger stocks pressed quotations down.

Grains were mostly lower, although wheat breasted the receding tide for a small advance. Heavy overhanging supplies continued the ruling factor price-wise.

Cotton edged up throughout the period. Consumption was maintained on the relatively high plateau prevailing during the past few weeks, tending to buoy prices.

Market-basket items were higher for the most part.

Improvement in cocoa, flour and lard more than offset dips in eggs and sugar.

METAL MARKETS MAKE SUBSTANTIAL GAINS

Copper and Tin Prices Reach New Highs for Year—Export Yellow Metal Leads.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Metal markets improved substantially during the past week, copper and tin prices reaching new highs for the year. A rush to buy copper followed upturns in the export market and the remarks of the President that some commodity prices were too low. Steel operations reached 48 per cent of capacity aided by good demand for structural steel and the improvement in auto manufacturing.

Copper advanced ¼ of a cent to 10⅛ cents for electrolytic. Export sales were largest in some weeks and the price gained about ½ cent to 10.80 at the week-end. Domestic sales were also high. Scrap copper advanced ¼ cent and is a basis which indicates possibility of further advances in electrolytic, especially in view of the upturn abroad.

Lead was quiet and unchanged at 5.10 @5.15 cents New York and 4.95 East St. Louis. Consumption was said to be holding up well and demand from abroad continued large.

Zinc was unchanged at 4.95 cents East St. Louis. The market seemed to await improvement abroad, where it was said irregularity prevented improvement locally.

Tin was ½ cent higher at one time but reacted partially to close at 44.87½. Speculative and large consumer buying at London together with a general better business outlook firmed the market here although buying was only moderate.

Antimony was quiet and unchanged at 14 cents a pound for the Chinese grade. But there was an upturn in the domestic grade to 11.75 cents, making an advance of ¾ cent in the past couple of weeks.

GENERAL MOTORS SALES

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—General Motors Corp. reported today sales in September to dealers in the United States and Canada, together with overseas shipments, totaled 36,335 units. This was a decrease of 45,982 units from 82,317 sold in the same months a year ago.

Sales in the first nine months aggregated 795,749, or less than half of the 1,594,378 units sold in the first nine months of 1937.

Sales to consumers in the United States in September, totaled 40,796, against 88,364 in September last year. Sales in August were 64,925 units, and in the first nine months they amounted to 682,599, compared with 1,279,930 in the comparable period of 1937.

Sales to dealers in the United States amounted to 16,469 units, compared with 58,181 in September, 1937, and 34,752 in August. For the nine months sales to dealers were 532,695 units against 1,282,238 in the comparable period last year.

WASHINGTON BUSINESS NOTES

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. — The Federal Reserve Board reported that department store sales were 15 per cent less in the week ended Oct. 1 than in the corresponding week last year. In the preceding week the decline from last year was 6 per cent.

Commerce Department report said that collections on open credit accounts of department stores increased in August for the first time in 14 months. The gain was 2.5 per cent to a total of 42.4 per cent of accounts due. Collections on installment accounts declined fractionally to 15.9 per cent.

Business advices to the Commerce Department from representatives abroad include: Germany—cotton imports up. Italy—more coal imported. Australia—gold production grows. Argentina—wool scouring declines.

COMMODITY MARKETS

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Basic industrial raw materials staged another advance in commodity futures markets, while cotton and grains fell back.

Higher at New York were copper, lead, zinc, rubber, hides and cocoa futures.

Wheat futures at Chicago, after early gains, weakened to close ⅛ to ½ cent a bushel down. Corn contracts were off ⅜ to ¾ cent. Oats futures were unchanged to ¼c up.

Cotton futures at New York, weakened by the Government's estimate of a 1938 crop of 12,212,000 bales, or 400,000 bales larger than had been generally expected, finished 45@70c a bale down.

Tin futures at New York were unchanged. Tilting lower were coffee, cottonseed oil and wool tops futures. The silk market was closed. Sugar futures were uneven.

The Associated Press index of 35 weighted spot wholesale staple prices, with 1926 as 100, declined to 66.95 from 67.12 Friday.

New York Sugar.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Raw sugar was unchanged today at 3.15 for spots with no sales reported. Estimates of yesterday's business ran as high as 40,000 tons.

Covering in November No. 3 ran that position up 12 points to 2.25 in the futures market but otherwise trading was quiet. The No. 4 closed ½ higher to ½ lower with March at 1.04 and July 1.09½ with sales of only 250 tons.

Refined was unchanged at 4.50-75 for fine granulated after yesterday's upward revision. Most refiners quoted the latter figure.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Sugar futures No. 3 closed unchanged. Sales, 800 tons.

BIG RECEIPTS OF CORN ARE WEIGHT ON GRAIN PRICES

Pending Government Report on Farm Reserves Also Factor — Wheat Down After Higher Start.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Setbacks of prices at the last in the Chicago wheat market today more than overcame earlier fractional gains.

Unfavorable crop reports from the Southern Hemisphere were largely responsible for transient upturns of ½ cent a bushel here. Most traders, however, apparently deemed it unwise to base operations on crop damage talk at this time.

Export takings of Canadian wheat totaled about a million bushels, but failed to have any stimulating effect in Chicago. On the other hand, unabated big receipts of corn here served as a drag on corn values and on wheat as well.

Closing quotations on Chicago wheat futures were ⅛@½ lower compared with yesterday's finish, Dec. 64⅝@½c, May 65½@⅝c; corn, ⅜@¾c down, Dec. 45⅜@½c, May 48⅝@¾c; oats, unchanged to ¼c up; rye ⅜c off and provisions unchanged to 5 cents advance.

For a while trade attention focused on a cable from Melbourne, Australia, saying heat was causing deterioration of crop prospects, and that rain was needed. In addition, advice at hand declared that some western areas of the Argentine wheat belt were developing a yellow tinge because of persistent lack of moisture. It was also asserted the latest Argentine official crop estimate appeared now to have been too optimistic.

Complaints of dryness in certain domestic wheat producing territory, the Southwest in particular, attracted much notice. They served, though, as more of a deterrent to sellers than as a motive for purchases. Some buying of wheat futures for export interests was in evidence here at times nevertheless, and there were indications that further export business in wheat and flour out of the United States had been done through Government channels.

The corn market, weak from the outset, extended its losses in the late trading, with selling by professional traders a feature. Some of this selling was associated with the fact that the Government report on farm stocks is scheduled for issuance Monday afternoon.

Rye and oats trade lacked volume, and fluctuations were of little significance.

Provisions tended uphill, impelled mainly by jumps of the cottonseed oil market. Packing interests were the chief sellers.

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Oct. 8.—Price changes in wheat were small today.

Liverpool wheat closed ⅜ to ⅝d higher after opening 1d up.

Winnipeg wheat began ⅛-¼c lower and later was ¼@⅜c higher. The close was net unchanged to ⅛c lower.

Argentine wheat and corn opened unchanged. At the close wheat was ⅛c higher to ⅛c lower and corn net unchanged to ⅛c lower.

Local wheat receipts, which were 49,500 bushels, compared with 53,500 a week ago and 40,500 a year ago, included 31 cars local and 2 through. Corn receipts, which were 42,000 bushels, compared with 20,000 a week ago and 49,000 a year ago, included 28 cars local. Oats receipts, which were 20,000 bushels, compared with 10,000 a week ago and 6000 a year ago, included 8 cars local and 2 through.

St. Louis Cash Grain.

In the cash grain market Saturday, soft wheat was 1c higher. There was only a fair supply and a good demand quickly cleared the offerings. Elevators were the purchasers. Quality was not suited to the needs of order buyers. Trading basis practically was unchanged. Corn was unchanged to ½c lower. Demand improved and a clearance was made. Elevators and industries were the buyers. Premiums were ½c lower with No. 1 yellow ½c over, No. 2, ½c over, No. 1 white 1½@2c over and No. 1 mixed 1c over the December figure. Oats were unchanged. A good demand cleared the somewhat larger offering. Mill, elevator, feed and outside orders buyers showed interest.

LOCAL STOCKS RISE ON LARGER VOLUME

Transactions Exceed a Thousand Shares in Three Issues —Best Gains on Smaller Lots.

Prices rebounded and a marked pickup in trading on the St. Louis Stock Exchange last week but the major gains were made in cases of restricted turnovers. These extended beyond two points. In the bond section sales of $34,000 were made on rise of ¼ to 7½ points.

The three most active issues were Hamilton-Brown, Laclede Steel and Wagner Electric.

In the quieter group were Dr. Pepper, Griesedieck Western, Hyde Park and National Bearing Metals up 2 points or more and Coca Cola Bottling, International Shoe, Johnson Stephens Shinkle and Scullin Steel up point to nearly 2 points.

HOG AND CORN PRICES AT LOWEST LEVELS IN 4 YEARS

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—The pace of corn and hog marketings from the farm belt, gaining momentum with the approach of winter, today had forced prices of these two important commodities downward to around the lowest level for October in four or five years.

Harvest of the huge new 1938 corn crop had spurred marketings of old corn, much of which is coming from cribs being cleared to make room for new grain. Receipts at major markets, principally Chicago, have been stepped up sharply the past few weeks.

Hog supplies, after touching a low in July, have also expanded for the first eight months inspected hog slaughter throughout the United States was 12 per cent greater than in the corresponding 1937 period, although 28 per cent less than the average for the years from 1929 to 1933. Receipts here last month were the largest for any September in four years and volume has been increasing steadily since the first of October.

Spring pigs fattened on cheap corn throughout the summer now are finding their way to slaughtering rows as farmers pare herds for the winter and cash some of their animals. Hog prices, therefore, have tumbled almost $1 per hundredweight in the past month and now are the lowest for October since 1934 and more than $2 lower than a year ago, although still a little higher than they were this spring. Hogs touched a 11-year top of $13.75 in August, 1937. They sold below $3 early in 1933.

The ratio of hog prices to corn prices is still about 18 to 1, which is unusually favorable for fattening of livestock. A year ago this ratio was about 17 to 1.

When December corn sold down to 44⅝ cents a bushel here this week it was at the lowest point since December, 1933.

387,000 BALES ADDED TO COTTON ESTIMATE

Department of Agriculture Forecasts Crop of 12,212,000 Bales as of Oct. 1.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. — The Federal Crop Reporting Board forecast today a cotton crop of 12,212,000 bales, based on conditions as of Oct. 1. This was an increase of 387,000 bales over the Sept. 1 forecast.

Such a crop would compare with 18,946,000 bales harvested last year, the largest on record, and 13,201,000 bales for the 1927-36 average.

The board said generally favorable weather in September in all parts of the cotton belt, except Oklahoma and Northwest Texas, was a factor leading to the increase in the forecast of this year's crop. Drouth conditions continued in Oklahoma and Northwestern Texas.

The board said cotton bolls opened rapidly last month and consequently, a larger proportion of the crop than usual was picked by Oct. 1.

In Texas, there was no change from the Sept. 1 indicated production, but in Oklahoma there was a further decrease. The board said the loss in Oklahoma, however, was much more than offset by marked increases in the Mississippi River states and in Alabama. It reported that in South Carolina there was a recovery during September of a part of the losses sustained during August due to unfavorable weather.

Estimates for States.

The Census Bureau reported cotton of this year's growth ginned prior to Oct. 1 totaled 6,578,313 running bales, compared with 8,260,071 for last year and 4,031,950 for 1936.

The condition of the crop on Oct. 1 was reported as 66 per cent of a normal, compared with 65 a month ago, 79 last year and 59, the 1927-36 10-year average.

Indicated yield is reported as 221.1 pounds to the acre, compared with 214.1 pounds a month ago, 266.9 last year, and 179.8, the 10-year average.

The condition of the crop Oct. 1, indicated acre yield in pounds and indicated total production in 500 pounds gross weight bales, by states, follow:

Missouri, condition 84 per cent of a normal, indicated yield 427 pounds, and indicated production, 350,000 bales; Virginia 53; 205 and 18,000; North Carolina 54; 238 and 450,000; South Carolina 58; 247 and 675,000; Georgia 56; 197 and 866,000; Florida 68; 149 and 27,000; Tennessee 74; 296 and 500,000; Alabama 68; 238 and 1,085,000; Mississippi, 69; 303 and 1,700,000; Arkansas 73; 265 and 1,350,000; Louisiana 72; 271 and 700,000; Oklahoma 62; 143 and 550,000; Texas 63; 158 and 3,200,000; New Mexico 81; 444 and 103,000; Arizona 90; 451 and 200,000; California 89; 568 and 420,000; all other states 77; 355 and 18,000.

Lower California Old Mexico, 88; 224 and 44,000.

Ginnings in running bales, by states, to Oct. 1, with comparison for a year ago, were reported by the Census Bureau as follows:

Classes of Cotton.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The Bureau of Agricultural Economics said today that 29 per cent of this year's cotton crop ginned prior to Oct. 1 was 29 per cent strict middling white or better in grade.

The Bureau said 36 per cent was middling white, 16 per cent strict low middling or below and 19 per cent colored grades.

Only 4 per cent was shorter than ⅞ inch in staple length; 47 per cent ranged from ⅞ to 31-32 inch; 25 per cent ranged from 1 inch to 1 1-32 inches; 17 per cent ranged from 1 1-16 to 1 1-32, and 7 per cent 1⅛ inches or longer.

The Bureau said 96 per cent of the cotton was of tenderable grades and staple lengths.

COTTON PRICES DOWN AS CROP ESTIMATE IS PUT HIGHER

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Cotton eased today under liquidation influenced by a Government estimate for the cotton crop of 12,212,000 bales. December reacted from 8.34 to 8.19 and closed at the low, with final prices 9 to 14 points net lower.

Early trading was quiet in advance of the Government report and when the market recessed prices were 1 to 4 points net higher.

The crop figures were about 400,000 bales in excess of average expectations and as a result commission house and local liquidation appeared when the market reopened but selling was not aggressive. Foreign and domestic trade buying uncovered at old limits gave the market a fairly steady undertone at the decline. It was believed the effect of the larger crop figure was offset by the possibility more cotton would be placed in the loan program.

Commodity Credit Corporation reported 264,744 bales entered the loan during the week, making a total of 484,418 pledged under the new program.

Amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the close of the week estimated at 86,000 bales against 162,000 last year and 115,000 two years ago.

New Orleans Spot Cotton.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 8.—Spot cotton closed steady 10 points lower. Sales 5633; low middling 7.12c; middling 8.37c; good middling 8.29c; receipts 9528; stock 728,824.

Memphis Spot Cotton.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 8.—Spot cotton had a steady tone. Middling closed at 8.40c, compared with 8.50c yesterday. Sales amounted to 18,837 bales.

Sheep 5500 including 5000 direct; for week ending Friday 24,300 directs; compared Friday last week: fat lambs uneven, around steady, yearlings easier in instances, sheep steady, feeding lambs strong to higher; week's lamb top $8.40 paid for both natives and westerns early, closing top $8.35 on natives; late bulk natives $8@8.25, week's bulk both natives and westerns within that price spread; closing bulk westerns $8@8.15; slaughter yearlings $5.75@6.50, top $6.75; slaughter ewes mostly $2.65@3; occasionally $3.25, but no strictly choice lightweight western ewes here; feeding lambs $6.75@7.50.

BOND LIST CONTINUES ON UPWARD COURSE

Speculative Rails Lead Advance—Utility, Industrial and Some Foreign Bonds Follow.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The bond market moved upward last week in continuation of the broad advance that began with the calling of the four-Power peace conference in Europe 10 days ago.

Speculative rail issues steamed at the head of the procession. Utility, industrial and some foreign dollar bonds also added sizably to market values. Volume increased on the rise.

United States Governments were strong, many Treasury issues hitting new 1938 highs.

The steady rise in bonds, which accompanied correspondingly brisk advances in stocks and major commodities, was attributed by traders not only to lifting of war tension but improvement in the domestic business picture which began while the European war clouds were the thickest.

The rising markets set the stage for flotation of new securities, and the past week saw public offerings of big blocks of new bonds by two utility companies. The offerings were $37,500,000 of Virginia Electric Co .30-year 3½s, and $42,000,000 Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. bonds and notes.

Underwriters expected further new corporate bond offerings shortly "if the markets continue right." Dealers say such financing this month may top $300,000,000.

Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. Wednesday filed a registration statement with the Securities & Exchange Commission for a proposed new issue of $50,000,000 of debentures.

Nickel Plate Railroad bonds moved during the week in a series of gyrations set off by announcement Wednesday the road had declared operative a plan to extend for three years the maturity of the road's 6s of '38, which fell due Oct. 1.

The 6s shot up 23¼ points on the announcement, then later fell back somewhat as the stock exchange let it be known it was investigating transactions in Nickel Plate securities from Sept. 1 through Oct. 5. An SEC study of Nickel Plate dealings was also reported under way.

The market forged steadily ahead today despite week-end profit taking by those who felt the extensive rise might have exhausted bullish ammunition.

Railroad liens did by far the best climbing act, stimulated to some extent by better carloadings the past week and increasing optimism that something will be done for the carriers by the committee now studying the labor reduction plea. The Associated Press average of 20 carrier bonds advanced .5 of a point to 60.4, the best level since Aug. 10, peak of the late summer bond buying move.

Among prominent issues scoring advances of major fractions to 2 points or more were Nickel Plate 4½s at 42½, Southern Railway 4s at 53½, Studebaker 6s at 83, Utilities Power & Light 5s at 50 and Great Northern 4s of 1996 "G."

United States Governments took a back seat in so far as price enhancement and activity went, but lost little of the ground recently gained. Some of the longer-term Treasury issues lost up to 5-32 of a point.

The foreign dollar list was a bit spotty. Poland 8s declined 2½ points to 43½. German 7s gained ⅝ at 36½.

Transfers of $4,839,500, par value, compared with $4,959,200 last Saturday.

STEADY TO LOWER PRICES ARE PAID FOR CATTLE

Horses and Mules.

NATIONAL STOCK YARDS, Ill., Oct. 8.—Another light run of horses and mules arrived the past week and conservative buying prevailed. Quite a few operators were on hand, but they were not disposed to pay high prices.

Good fillies sold reasonably well and other horses were about steady with the exception of work stock which had a weak undertone. Dealers report an outlet for broke mares and fillies with quality, but not too big, also the desirable small fillies.

The feeling in mules was slightly improved. There is inquiry for colts of the better grades and for good cotton offerings.

*NATIVE HORSE QUOTATIONS.

Good to choice draft, $115@140; medium to good draft, $90@115; good to choice chunks, $90@110; smooth-mouthed chunks, $65@90; large farm mares, $110@135; medium farm mares, $90@110; fillies, yearlings and twos: Small, common, $30@50; good size, $60@85; extra size and quality, $110@130; (horse colts sell $10@15 per head less than fillies). Good Southern mares, $75@100; small Southern mares, $40@60; small, cheap horses, $30@50.

*MULE QUOTATIONS.

Farm mules, 15.2 to 16 hands, $110@140; colt mules, mares, with size and quality, $125@150; colt mules, small, $60@85; draft mules, $150@175; mine mules, 14.1 to 15.2 hands, $120@160; choice cotton mules, 14.3 to 15.2 hands, $160@200; small, green mules, over 3 years old, $50@85.

*Quotations are for average animals and do not cover those of outstanding quality or the very cheapest grade.

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY STOCK YARDS.

Industries Got Most of TVA Power

four operating dams with power plants attached. The generating capacity installed at all four is 420,000 kilowatts. Wilson Dam is the largest with 184,000 kilowatts. This was constructed during the war and has been fitted into the TVA unified program. Norris Dam has 100,000 kilowatts, Wheeler Dam 64,000 and Pickwick 72,000.

Dams now under construction will have initial installed generating capacity of 211,500 kilowatts, as follows: Guntersville, 72,900; Chickamauga, 81,000; Hiwassee, 57,600. The Authority also is doing preliminary work for construction of a huge dam at Gilbertsville, Ky., on the Tennessee River about 20 miles above its confluence with the Ohio.

Total sales of TVA in the 1938 fiscal year were less in volume of kilowatt-hours than in the preceding year, the 1938 figure of 699,303,675 comparing with 731,587,192 in 1937. Interdepartmental sales, included in both, were slightly greater in the 1938 year than in the preceding one. The volume might have been expected to increase, since the project is in the development stage and is increasing both its production and transmission facilities.

Sales Promotion.

Through most of the 1937 fiscal year a private utility was buying large amounts of power, but did not renew its contract when it expired in February, 1937. This left TVA with a large volume of surplus power which other prospective markets were not ready to take. Sales promotion was undertaken to find new markets. Only recently have some of the new industrial and municipal customers commenced taking substantial quantities.

The controversy over the "honesty" of TVA rates as a "yardstick" goes on. It centers principally around the question of proper allocation of the costs of dams and other TVA enterprises. If the entire capital investment were charged against power operations, the rates obviously are too low, even when output reaches its maximum, to cover fixed charges and operating costs.

The act of Congress creating the TVA provided that the dams should serve also for aiding navigation and for protection from floods, and required that TVA directors should make an allocation of costs attributable to the various functions. Only recently an allocation was made as to the cost of three dams, Wilson, Norris and Wheeler. Total investment in the three was taken as $94,125,671, as follows: Wilson, $30,120,009, written down from an original cost of $47,000,000; Norris, $31,532,120, and Wheeler, $32,473,542. In the case of both Norris and Wheeler some depreciation was written off.

52 Pct. Allocated to Power.

To power, the TVA board allocated 52 per cent of the investment, or $49,360,179; to navigation, 28 per cent, or $26,294,865, and to flood control, 20 per cent, or $18,470,627.

That part of the cost of dams allocated to power does not, of course, represent by any means the entire TVA investment for power purposes. There will have to be included many millions spent for transmission lines, substations and other electrical equipment, as well as a substantial part of all overhead costs. The committee making the allocation stated it did not consider interest accruing during construction, a charge always appearing in the capital investment of private companies.

The congressional committee investigating TVA, which recently held extensive hearings in Knoxville, is preparing to go thoroughly into the question of the "yardstick" at future hearings in Washington.

Socialized Medicine In England

bear on the smaller societies to amalgamate. To remove some of the greater disparities in benefits, arrangements are being made to permit societies to pool their resources. Additional benefits can thus be paid out of a central fund, whereas without the pool there would rarely be such payments for members of some of the smaller groups.

Local committees have been organized in all counties to administer ordinary medical benefits. Three-fifths of the members of each of these represent the insured of the area; one-fifth are appointed by local authorities, and the other two-fifths are chosen by the local medical profession and the Ministry of Health. A doctor and two women must be included in this group.

Scope of Insurance.

While the panel practice doctors are not necessarily represented on these local committees, they are not without a voice in the working of the system. The local Insurance Committee must confer with three other groups. One of these is a local medical committee representing the practitioners of the area; a second represents the doctors on the insurance panel and is often identical with the Insurance Committee, and the third is a pharmaceutical committee, representing the druggists of the area.

The scope of British Health Insurance probably can be best appreciated by a glance at its financial balance sheet. The yearly income of the societies is upwards of £40,000,000 ($200,000,000) of which the Government contributes about $35,000,000. Regular benefits amount to about $155,000,000, while $30,000,000 goes for administrative charges, leaving an annual surplus of $15,000,000 for special benefits.

Chief Objection.

The chief objection to the system here seems to be not at all the quality of medical service rendered, but the fact that many persons are excluded from the benefits. Many civil servants, local governmental employes, policemen, teachers and other workers, not to mention those with a salary of more than $1250 a year, cannot obtain national health insurance.

There is also some opposition to the employer contribution on the theory that this is either a tax on employment or that the cost is passed on to the worker.

More real, however, is the argument against the disparity between sickness benefits and those paid under the Unemployment Insurance plan. For no apparent reason, the latter are considerably higher.

A man with a wife and two children, for example, receives more than twice as much each week under the Unemployment Insurance plan than he would get in the form of health insurance sickness benefits.

It is obvious why panel practice doctors frequently are embarrassed by requests to certify that their patients are fit for work long before they really are. The patients want the higher unemployment payments.

ROOSEVELT'S ADVICE TO BUSINESS WOMEN

Urges Specialized Training and Cultivation of an Understanding of Social Problems.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. — President Roosevelt suggested today that women might well prepare to meet their service responsibilities by "specialized training" and "cultivation of an understanding of social problems."

In a letter to Miss Earlene White, president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, the President sent his congratulations to the organization on the eve of the beginning of national business women's week. He said:

"In recognition of the expanding influence of women and the corollary of constructive service in the fields of business, Government and the professions, I extend sincere greetings and hearty congratulations to the far-flung membership of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs on the occasion of national business women's week, Oct. 9th to 15th.

"I am impressed with your slogan, 'Better business women for a better business world.' Guided by this ideal and encouraged by the incentive afforded by existing and potential opportunities, women may well strive for greater preparedness for meeting their service responsibilities and thus contributing to a better business world. This not only involves specialized training, but the cultivation of an understanding of social problems.

"Congratulations and best wishes for the success of national business women's week and hearty greetings to all the members!"

41 C C C CAMPS IN STATE TO BE OPEN UNTIL MARCH 31

Soil Erosion Station to Be Re-Established at Carrollton, Replacing One at Butler.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Forty-one Civilian Conservation Corps camps will be operated in Missouri from Oct. 1, 1938, to March 31, 1939.

Robert Fechner, CCC director, said today that while the number of camps in operation would remain the same as during the last six months, two changes would be made in camp locations.

The new program provides for re-establishment of a soil erosion control camp at Carrollton. It will replace a soil conservation camp at Butler.

For the next six months, 17 of the CCC camps will be doing soil conservation work, nine will be national forest camps, three State forest, one Bureau of Biological Survey, four drainage and seven State park camps.

C I O CARRIES ELECTION AT PLANT OF PLUMB, INC.

Vote Taken by Workers as Result of Negotiations Following Complaint to NLRB.

The Steel Workers' Organizing Committee of the CIO was selected as representative for collective bargaining by a majority of the employes of the St. Louis plant of Fayette R. Plumb, Inc., at an election held Friday at the plant, 6300 St. Louis avenue.

The firm, which manufactures tools, had a union agreement until last February. The company questioned whether the Steel Workers represented a majority of its workers, and the union contended, in charges filed with the local office of the National Labor Relations Board, that the firm was undermining union organization by discharging 13 active union members.

After negotiations directed by the Labor Board, it was decided to hold a consent election. It is now expected that the complaints will be adjusted by the company and the union.

CHAMPION SHOE MACHINERY INSOLVENCY ORDER SOUGHT

10 Bondholders File Motion Asking U. S. District Judge to Take Action.

United States District Judge Charles B. Davis is asked to find the Champion Shoe Machinery Co. insolvent in a motion filed yesterday by counsel for a group of 10 bondholders.

The motion contends the recent report of Special Master Frank Y. Gladney, filed in connection with reorganization proceedings under the amended bankruptcy act, supports the allegation of insolvency. Gladney proposed a new plan of reorganization. Three previous plans had been rejected by bondholders, who objected to insistence of stockholders on retaining the power of management.

The company's offices are at 3717 Forest Park avenue.

TRUMAN'S 7 SPEAKING DATES

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 8.—Democratic State headquarters announced seven speaking dates today for United States Senator Harry S. Truman in the fall campaign. They are: Oct. 10, Independence, Mo.; Oct. 11, Anderson, Mo.; Oct. 13, St. Joseph; Oct. 15, Hardin; Oct. 18, Fayette; Oct. 21, Roaring River; and Oct. 25, Springfield, Mo.

Headquarters also said State Senator Albert M. Clark, candidate for the long Supreme Court term would speak at Novinger, Oct. 15.

OIL FIRMS LOSE APPEAL TO MEXICAN COURT

Supreme Bench Holds U. S. and British Companies Have Other Recourses Open.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 8.—The Mexican Supreme Court today dismissed an appeal of American and British oil companies against expropriation of their properties by the Mexican Government March 18.

The Court held the foreign companies had not exhausted other administrative recourses open to them and that the matter thus was not one for the Supreme Court to rule on.

A petition for revocation of the expropriation decree, the Court ruling pointed out, still is under consideration by the Department of National Economy.

Holdings of 17 American and British concerns were included in the expropriated property which the companies valued at $400,000,000.

One oil man said today's decision meant that the determination of the legality of expropriation would be indefinite, since the National Economy Department's ruling must be awaited before the oil companies could start up through the courts again to get a final Supreme Court decision.

"Inasmuch as it took approximately six months for the dismissed case to go through the courts, we may assume it will take as long for the next case to reach a decision," he said.

$1,000,000 'PLAGIARISM' SUIT

Ritz Brothers of "Kentucky Moonshine," Others, Accused.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8.—The Ritz brothers, along with Twentieth Century Fox, Darryl Zanuck and half a dozen others were sued for $1,050,000 damages today on a charge of plagiarism in the picture "Kentucky Moonshine."

Writers Ned Washington, Al Green and Sam H. Stept filed the action, which also named David Butler, director; and Jack Lait Jr.; M. M. Musselman, art author, Sid Feller, and Ray Golden, writers.

SAYMAN ESTATE SELLS 48 FLATS ON KENNERLY AVENUE

Holding Company of Late Soap and Patent Medicine Manufacturer Disposes of Series of Buildings With 375 Foot Frontage.

By Berry Moore

Approximately a block in length, a series of two-story structures comprising 48 flats at 3924-60, inclusive, Kennerly avenue, owned by the Thomas M. Sayman Investment Co. has been purchased by interests represented by the Hardesty Realty Co.

The real estate department of the Mercantile Commerce Bank & Trust Co. represented the Sayman interests in the negotiations. The consideration was not disclosed.

The property has a total frontage on Kennerly of 375 feet, with a depth of 100 feet, extending to the east and west alley of the block. The flats consist of three-room units, with bath, etc. Annual rentals aggregate $8000. Only one vacancy is reported.

The Sayman Investment Co. is primarily a holding corporation of the Thomas M. Sayman Estate, of

NATIONAL MOVEMENT FOR TAX BETTERMENT OUTLINED

In at least one-half the states, leaders in tax reform have approved in principle the adoption of a limitation on the real estate tax and today they are preparing to bring before the people action to this end either through legislation or constitutional amendment, Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, former Governor of Ohio, said addressing the Southeast Regional Conference of the National Association of Real Estate Boards held in Memphis, Tenn. Cooper, who is chairman of the associaton's national committee on real estate taxation, said that the excess burden of taxes which property owners are now paying beyond their rightful share amounts to fully 25 per cent.

At least nine states have already found an over-all limit on the real estate tax an effective method of accomplishing three distinct and important reforms in our taxation system: (1) limitation of the amount of the levy; (2) the forcing of a broader spread of the tax base; (3) putting a stop to unlimited spending by limiting easy sources of taxable funds.

There is, he said, a major proposal now being widely discussed to tax real property on a fixed or determined income basis. While this proposal is new to America, other nations have adopted it with the result that real values rather than imaginary values have been fixed on which taxable returns are made and taxes paid.

LIFE INSURANCE MAN BUYS HOME IN COUNTRY CLUB PLACE

Walter S. Payne, manager of the ordinary department of the Prudential Insurance Co. of America, in St. Louis, has purchased the residence at 7721 Club drive in Country Club place, Clayton.

Colonial in design, the house has eight rooms and three baths. There are glass enclosed porches on the first and second floors. The site is heavily wooded.

Cornet & Zeibig Inc. represented the purchaser and Le Grand Jones Inc. acted for the sellers. The purchase price was not announced.

Formerly of Salt Lake City, Payne recently removed to St. Louis to assume his new post.

House in County Acquired

Residence at 16 Granada drive in La Hacienda, Ladue bought by John R. Ellison, consulting engineer, from Mrs. Clara B. Baugh. W. B. Shelp & Co. handled the sale.

SWING TO ONE-FAMILY DWELLINGS IN AUGUST

Temporary Trend at Least From Apartments to Private Residences.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—Nearly twice as many residential units for American families were built in cities of 10,000 population or more during August this year than in August, 1937, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board announced yesterday.

On the basis of statistics gathered from these cities, the board found that, while the number of all units constructed in August was slightly below those built in July, the total of one-family dwellings constructed in August was larger. This indicates at least a temporary trend from apartments to private residences.

Numerically, the board's survey showed:

All residential units built in August, 1938, 21,126; in August, 1937, 12,601; all residential units built in July, 1938, 21,660.

One-family dwellings built in August, 1938, 13,150; one-family dwellings built in August, 1937, 9426; one-family dwellings built in July, 1938, 11,707.

Index figures compiled on the basis of 100 for 1926 showed residential construction in the nation at 38.5 in August this year as compared with 23 in August, 1937, an increase of 67.4 per cent.

The rental market, on the basis of figures compiled by the National Industrial Conference Board, stood at 85.5 during August, exactly where it was in July.

SIX SUMMIT PARK HOMES DURING LAST TEN DAYS

Approximately 71 houses, erected in Summit Park, Brentwood, St. Louis County, by the Fairfax Construction Co., of which Arnold H. Maremont is president, have been sold, including six disposed of during the last 10 days.

The most recent purchasers include J. D. Ruick, warehouse manager of the Famous-Barr Co., Oscar Linde, with the Baldwin Piano Co., William Schirmer, with the MacGowan & Finnegan Cordage Co., Robert Walsh, district manager of the Pacific Coast Borax Co., William R. Miner, with the St. Louis Star-Times, Alvin J. Day, an engineer associated with the Bitucate Products Co., and Woody S. Ford, with the St. Louis Terminal Warehouse Co.

The new houses comprise five rooms and seven closets. New bathroom fixtures with pastel shades are an attractive feature. The houses are distinctive and dissimilar in design.

TRACT ON MOSELEY ROAD BOUGHT FOR DEVELOPMENT

William Clabaugh, contractor, has acquired 10 acres on the east side of Moseley road, just north of Ladue road, through B. Valle Grossman, realtor.

The tract will be subdivided into one-half acre plots for small homes. Electric and water mains are being installed, while a road construction is to be started within the next 60 days.

DOCTOR BUYS BRIARCLIFF SITE FOR HANDSOME RESIDENCE

Lot No. 27 of Briarcliff, comprising slightly more than an acre of ground, has been purchased by Dr. Charles Armin Gundelach. Plans have been made by the firm of Jamieson & Spearl for a handsome residence for the site.

Briarcliff is on the north side of Ladue road west of Price road. A. T. & Whitelaw Terry negotiated the transaction.

HOME CONSTRUCTION AT SEVEN-YEAR PEAK

Percentage Increase in Residential Building Sharpest Since Early Days of Recovery.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Residential building continued to set the pace for the current industrial recovery in September, soaring to a seven-year peak.

The Associated Press index of home construction, adjusted for seasonal and material cost changes, jumped to 77.8 per cent of the 1929-30 average i nthe third week of September from 75.9 in the previous period.

The latest figure was one-third above last year and the highest since May, 1931.

The upward surge in home building started in February, after the Government announced a more liberal down payment and loan plan in conjunction the Federal Housing Administration program.

The subsequent rush to build—boosting the index more than 80 per cent in seven months—was the most impressive, according to contractors, in more than a decade. The percentage increase, at any rate, was the sharpest since the early days of recovery from the 1929-34 depression.

Factory construction ,however, has shown less response to the improved level of business and trade. Public building has only in recent weeks shaken off earlier lethargy, with the Administration "pump-priming" activity getting under way.

D. W. Piper Joins Weiss Co.

Daniel W. Piper, active in South St. Louis real estate for a number of years, has joined the sales force of the Weiss Real Estate Co.

BUYS BUILDING IN INDUSTRIAL CENTER

Philip Carey Acquires Office and Warehouse Structure at 4165 Duncan Avenue.

The Philip Carey Co., manufacturers and distributers of roofing and insulation material, has concluded negotiations for the purchase of the one-story office and warehouse building at 4165 Duncan avenue.

The building is "L" shaped, with approximately 25,000 square feet of floor space. The lot has a frontage of 150 feet by a depth of 200 feet.

The concern, for the last 16 years, has occupied a building at 4485 Duncan avenue, now inadequate to its requirements.

J. Russell Moore, district manager of the concern, will have charge of the office. He was formerly stationed at Birmingham, Ala. The Anderson Leasing Co., handled the transaction.

FIRM REPORTS SEPTEMBER SALES TOTALING $232,260

The Dimmitt-Rickhoff-Bayer Real Estate Co. reports having closed 29 sales in September for prices aggregating $232,260. The list includes 16 residences, six bungalows, 3 flats and 4 parcels.

REALTY MEN TO HEAR INDUSTRIAL FINANCING TALK

New Types of Loans to Be Discussed at Milwaukee Convention —Women to Participate.

New possibilities and new methods in the financing of industrial real estate, farms, and housing developments are a phenomenon of today significant of real estate's place in the investment field. Concrete application of these possibilities is one phase of the whole preparation for changing conditions of general business with which realtors of the country will be concerned when they meet in Milwaukee Nov. 9, 10, 11 and 12, for the annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Important current questions of public policy affecting real estate, and objectives of the association for the coming year in developing sound fundamental conditions for real estate ownership and in establishing real estate business standards, will be discussed in three general sessions of the convention. Current development of real estate business practice over the country will be surveyed in some 25 staggered sessions of the association's specialized divisions, the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers, the Institute of Real Estate Management, the Brokers' Division, the Land Developers' and Home Builders' Division, the Industrial Property Council, the National Mortgage Council and the Institute of Farm Brokers and Managers.

To Conduct Round Table.

New methods of financing industrial real estate purchase and improvement will be a central subject for industrial real estate specialists of the country who will hold a dinner meeting Nov. 10 at the Milwaukee convention under the auspices of the Industrial Property Council. Effect of the wages and hours legislation on industrial location will be one important question of the round table to follow the dinner.

George C. Smith, St. Louis, assistant to the president of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad, will conduct the round table. He, a former chairman of the association's Industrial Property Division, was for several years director of the very active Industrial Bureau of the Industrial Club of St. Louis, and earlier was director of the Industrial Bureau of the Baltimore Board of Trade.

Wallace W. True of the Equitable Life Insurance Co. will address the council on financing industrial real which the Mercantile-Commerce is co-executor and co-trustee with Mrs. Luella B. Sayman.

SAYMAN ESTATE SELLS 48 FLATS ON KENNERLY AVENUE

The property sold had been acquired through a loan made by the Sayman Investment Co. prior to the death of Thomas M. Sayman, a millionaire manufacturer of soap and patent medicines, in September, 1937. It is understood plans of the purchasers contemplate extensive improvements to the buildings.

The Mercantile-Commerce recently disposed of an eight-family tenement at 2206-12 Carr street for the Sayman interests.

Submitted presumably by speculators, several offers have been made recently for the former seven-story Town Club Building at 1122-24 Locust street, and for the adjoining four-story building at 1126-28 Locust, both owned by the Thomas Sayman Investment Co., of which Mrs. Luella B. Sayman is president.

The former was acquired by Mr. Sayman under the provisions of a loan. The adjoining building at 1122-24 Locust street was purchased by him several years before his death, ostensibly as an investment. It stands at the southeast corner of the north and south alley of the block and is just east of the nine-story store of the Igoe House Furnishing Co. at the southeast corner of Twelfth and Locust streets.

Purex Deal Closed.

Purex Corporation, Ltd., manufacturer of a bleaching solution, has purchased a group of buildings with 3½ acres of ground at Chippewa and Ridgewood avenues, east of Kingshighway, for a plant on a large scale, as was forecast exclusively in last Sunday's Post-Dispatch.

Negotiations for the property were handled by William R. Cady, vice-president of the Mississippi Valley Trust Co.

Has 85,000 Square Feet.

The buildings, which are of brick and steel construction, comprise approximately 85,000 square feet of floor space, including a two-story office structure. Equipment, specially designed for the manufacture of the concern's products, is to be acquired for the new plant.

The property bought has a frontage of 300 feet on Chippewa. It is served by the Christy switch, operated in connection with the Missouri Pacific Railroad. The buildings, together with 10½ acres, were formerly occupied by the Algonite Corporation, manufacturers of synthetic stone building blocks, which was adjudicated a bankrupt in 1937. There are still 6½ acres of the original tract available.

The Purex Co., whose main plant is in Los Angeles, Cal., now operates a branch at 4999 Fyler avenue. H. H. Harris of Los Angeles, vice-president of the concern, has been in St. Louis in connection with the purchase.

HOUSE AT 2142 EAST HARRIS, OVERLOOKING PARK, SOLD

The residence of Mrs. Nellie Hannegan at 2142 East Harris avenue, purchased last week by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert O. Niemoeller. The JJoseph F. Dickmann Real Estate Co. handled the transaction.

The first floor consists of a large reception hall, living room, dining room, kitchen and pantry. There are four specious bedrooms, tile bath and sunroom on the second floor, with ample attic space on the third floor.

The matt brick structure stands on a 50-foot lot facing O'Fallon Park. There is a large two-car brick garage in the rear of the premises.

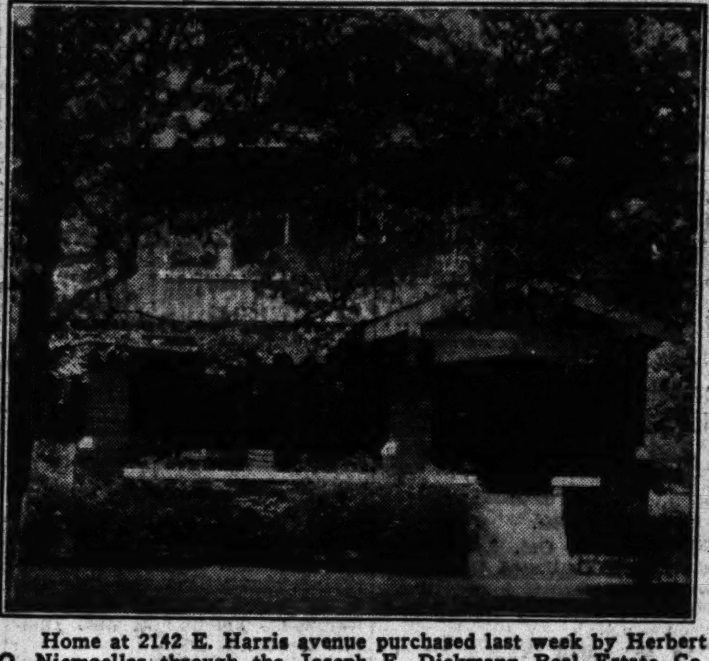
BUYS TEN ACRES ON WEBER ROAD FOR SUBDIVISION

The Affton Realty Co., has purchased 10 acres on the Weber road, at Forham avenue in St. Louis county with plans for the subdivision and improvement with attractive homes. The Brinkmann Realty Co. represented the seller in the negotiation, while the Jolly Real Estate Co. represented the purchaser.

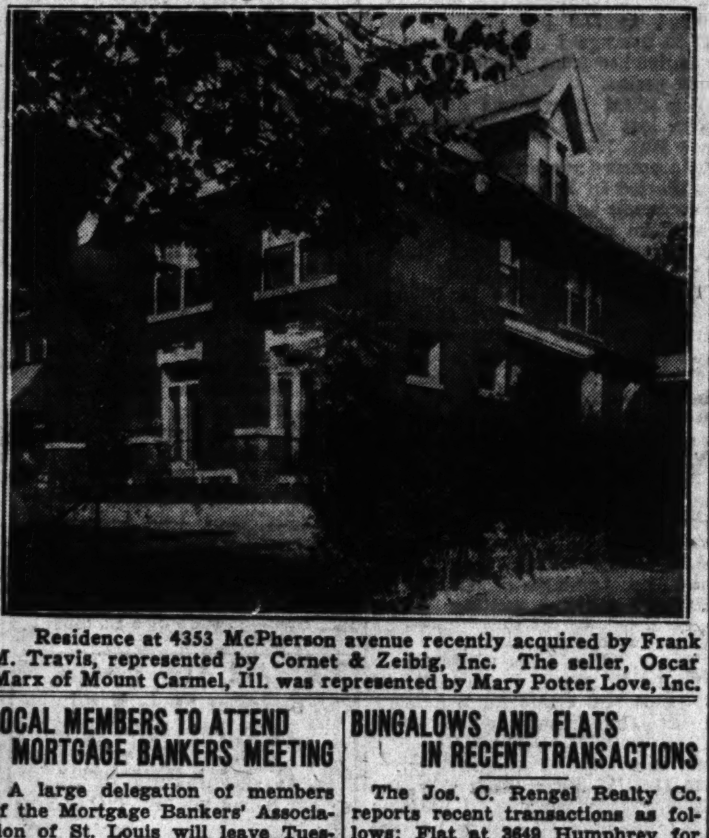
Residences and Apartments Figuring in Week's Transactions

12-unit apartment building at 6640-44 Washington boulevard, University City, acquired by M. Rudolph. The Dubinsky Realty Co., the Chauncey P. Heath Realty Co. and the Barngrove Realty Co. participated in the negotiations.

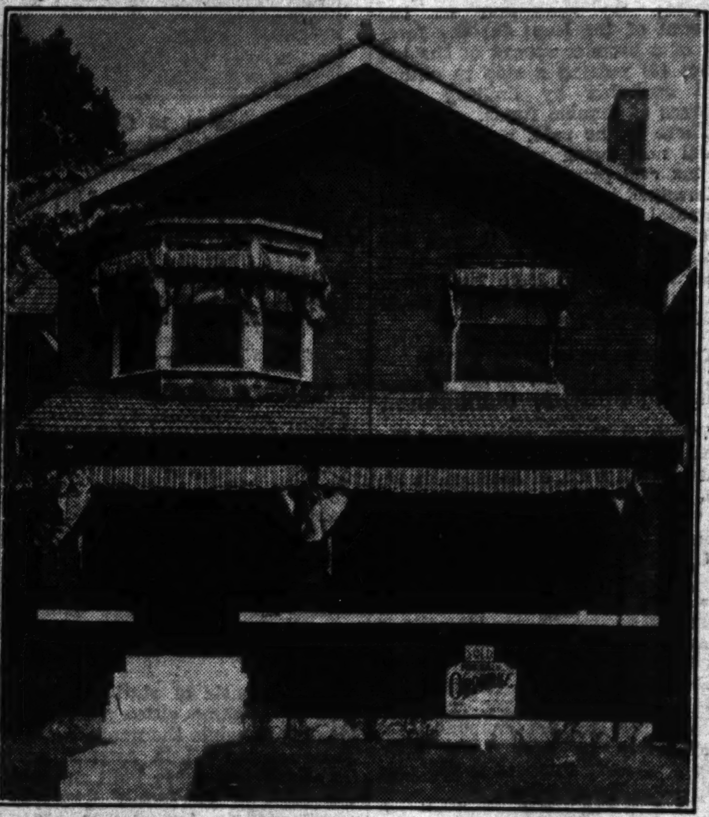
House at 6325 Washington avenue recently acquired by Mrs. Mary Bernice Kauffman through A. T. and Whitelaw Terry.



Home at 2142 E. Harris avenue purchased last week by Herbert O. Niemoeller through the Joseph F. Dickmann Real Estate Co. from Mrs. Nellie Hannigan.



Residence at 4353 McPherson avenue recently acquired by Frank M. Travis, represented by Cornet & Zeibig, Inc. The seller, Oscar Marx of Mount Carmel, Ill. was represented by Mary Potter Love, Inc.



Residence at 5831 DeGiverville avenue bought by Hugo Barth from Louis F. Lauman. H. A. & A. T. O'Rourke effected the sale.

REALTY BOND PRICE AVERAGE OFF 1.2 PCT.

Hotel Issues Slump 3.2 Per Cent in September as Result of War Clouds.

For the month of September the Amott-Baker realty bond price average shows a decline of 1.2 per cent on the basis of the market action of 200 representative issues.

It was generally believed that war in Europe at this time would have had a very unfavorable effect upon the prospects of the New York World's Fair. A large percentage of the issues included in the average stand to benefit greatly from a successful fair. Hotel issues during the month slumped 3.2 per cent as a result of these fears. In view of this situation, the investment house does not consider the general decline of the entire average of great importance. In fact it appears likely, with no further complications, that the upward trend of the past months will be resumed in October. Even during the past month 53 issues increased in price, 60 remained unchanged at the close and only 87 declined.

During September apartment hotel issues declined 1.7 per cent, housekeeping apartment issues dropped 1.3 per cent and office buildings and theaters were down 1.9 per cent and 1.1 per cent, respectively. For the first nine months of 1938 hotel issues are still 3.7 per cent above the 1937 close, apartment hotels 2.9 per cent up and theaters 1.6 per cent up.

By cities only Boston issues increased in the month, up 0.5 per cent. Philadelphia declined 2.1 per cent, New York 1.6 per cent, Pittsburgh 0.4 per cent, while Buffalo remained unchanged. For the three quarters of 1938 only Buffalo and Pittsburgh are above the December 31 (1937) figure. Buffalo is up 7.8 per cent and Pittsburgh 0.9 per cent. New York issues were down 0.3 per cent, Philadelphia is down 7.6 per cent and Boston 21.9 per cent.

The list from which the average was struck does not include any St. Louis issues, it being confined to eastern cities.

estate. He is in charge of this phase of his company's work.

Appraisers' Program.

With meetings of its committees opening two days in advance of the convention proper, the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers is planning a very active program for the Milwaukee convention.

Valuation of retail business properties under today's rapidly changing economic conditions will be the subject of extensive discussion.

Gustavus Walker Dyer, professor of economics, Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., will be the principal speaker for the institute's annual banquet, to be held on the evening of Nov. 11.

E. L. Oostendorf, Cleveland, former president of the institute, will address its sessions on some important current objectives and current problems.

Farm Brokers' Session.

Speaking on a new system of making farm loans, Guy H. Williams, Indianapolis, will be a principal speaker at sessions of the Institute of Farm Brokers and Managers of the Association, which will hold two group meetings in connection with the coming convention.

Williams, head of his own company, which specializes in farm management, farm real estate brokerage, loans and appraisals, will speak at the institute's opening session Nov. 11.

Industrial Milwaukee will be studied by the visiting industrial property realtors in a tour arranged for the afternoon of Nov. 10 by the Milwaukee Real Estate Board, hosts to the convention.

A tour of Milwaukee's leading subdivision developments is being arranged by the host board as part of the program for the land developers and home builders division of the association. It will be scheduled Friday afternoon, Nov. 11. A tour of business and office structures especially interesting to brokers will be arranged for the same afternoon as a part of the program of the brokers' division.

A two-and-a-half-hour sightseeing tour of Milwaukee for women of the convention delegations is an interesting part of the very elaborate program of entertainment now being planned by the host board for visiting women.

Women realtors and women real estate salesmen of the country will have a national meeting of their own in connection with the coming annual convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards at Milwaukee, Nov. 9, 10, 11 and 12.

The group meeting, the first of its kind ever to be held, will be a luncheon meeting. There will be an informal discussion of matters of common interest to women who are heads of real estate companies or who are otherwise engaged in the business of real estate. Mrs. W. H. Wright of Oak Park, business manager of the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards, will preside.

LOCAL MEMBERS TO ATTEND MORTGAGE BANKERS MEETING

A large delegation of members of the Mortgage Bankers' Association of St. Louis will leave Tuesday to attend the Silver Jubilee convention of the Mortgage Bankers' Association of America to be held at the Drake Hotel in Chicago on Oct. 12, 13 and 14.

KOOCHOOK COMPANY LEASES BUILDING AT 3141 LOCUST

Koochook Company, Inc., an auto parts concern, has leased a two-story reinforced concrete building at 3141-45 Locust street, owned by Frank A. Ruf estate, of which the Mercantile-Commerce Bank & Trust Co. is trustee. The lessee will occupy the building as a drive-in department and shop for auto accessories. The premises comprise more than 20,000 square feet of floor space.

Negotiations in this connection were handled by the real estate department of the Mercantile-Commerce Bank & Trust Co. The lease is for a long term.

DAIRY ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN

Producers' Committee to Draft Sales Improvement Plan.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Representative dairy producers have named a committee to advance plans for a national advertising campaign to be financed by the producers on a scale of 50 cents a thousand pounds of their butterfat output. John Brandt of Minneapolis was oppointed chairman Wednesday and was authorized to call a national meeting to further the campaign. One official said producers of 45 per cent of the butterfat in Minnesota already had been signed.

Members of the committee included Bryce Landt, Wisconsin Dells, Wis., a representative of the Tri-State Dairy Committee; C. K. Vogel, Indianapolis, Ind., of the American Butter Institute; C. R. George, Marion, Ind., of the National Co-operative Milk Producers Federation, and George Mooney, Plymouth, Wis., of the national cheese industry.

RESORTS FOR SALE

WE PICKED A PARADISE TO BUILD YOUR LODGE

RIVERMONT RANCH

RIVERMONT RANCH is a highly restricted play place—reserved for selected families who love the great outdoors One thousand acres of soul-inspiring scenery. Miles of secluded saddle trails where every bend unfolds a majestic panorama. NOT an ordinary "resort" development. NOT a "Dude Ranch," but the real western ranch atmosphere with cowboys, bronchos, steers . . . huge corral for rodeos, community sports now under construction . . . rustic community house and diningroom.

Limited number choice sites now available. Surprisingly low prices. Convenient terms. Write for illustrated folder or drive out to Ranch. Gravois Road, 1 mile past House Springs, turn right at Trading Post.

THE METROPOLITAN AREA OF THE

Robert J. Ambruster Mortuary

FIFTY MILES IN EVERY DIRECTION

WITHIN this circle of one hundred miles in diameter the Robert J. Ambruster service costs no more than for St. Louis proper.

For families who have come to stay in St. Louis, or for residents who are temporarily here, an interment, should occasion arise, may be made in their home town, with every detail of service of the same quality throughout as obtains in St. Louis. A nominal mileage is charged for distances beyond the fifty mile limit. The advantages of this extended service are, immediate and competent attention, the facilities of this beautiful mortuary and the freedom from the complications that might otherwise ensue.

CARD OF THANKS

I WISH to express my thanks for the kindless, sympathy and beautiful floral offerings from my many friends in my sad bereavement in the loss of my beloved husband, dear father of the late George J. Fauth and Norma Fauth McDaniel, dear brother and uncle.

I especially thank Rev. Alfonse G. Duenow for his consoling words; Atwell T. Lincoln Unit No. 62, American Legion and Auxiliary; Miss Emma Wirthmeuller for beautiful songs rendered; Vogel Fauth, Wilhelm Post 135 V. F. W., and Auxiliary; also Ziegenheim Brothers for their efficient service.
MRS. J. FAUTH.

We wish to thank our many friends and relatives for the expressions of sympathy and the kindness shown us in our sadness in the late great loss of our dear father, Christian Brinkop. Also, for the many beautiful floral offerings. We, also thank Rev. Alfonse Duenow, the officers of Naphtali Lodge No. 25 of R. F. and A. M. and Washington Lodge I. O. O. F. for their kind and consoling words. Also, Mr. Frank H. Spahn, soloist, and the members of the Biederweden Funeral Home for their kind and splendid service.
THE BRINKOP FAMILY.

I WISH to thank my friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy shown in the loss of my dear husband, Henry Zedler, also the priests of Holy Ghost Church for their consoling words.
MRS. ELLA ZEDLER.

IN MEMORIAM

BRAUN, MRS. N. SCHWEISS—In loving remembrance of our beloved mother, who died Oct. 7, 1937.
The month Oct. again is here,
To us the saddest of the year,
Because the good Lord whom we fear,
Saw fit to take our mother dear.
From her loving
SONS AND GRANDCHILDREN.

GENTRY, EDWARD—In loving memory of our dear son, who died suddenly Oct. 11, 1933:
Often from our heart comes a bitter cry,
Why, oh why, did our baby die;
Then comes the thought so solemn and deep,
He is not dead, but only sleeps.
Sadly missed by FAMILY.

GROBE, FRANK—In memory of our dear father, who passed away Oct. 9, 1935.
HIS DAUGHTERS.

HALM, PHILIP—In loving memory, who died Oct. 13, 1937:
Till memories fade and life departs,
You'll live forever in our hearts.
Sadly missed by
WIFE, CHILDREN AND GRANDCHILDREN.

KAUFFMAN, AUGUST—Departed Oct. 12, 1933.
Sadly missed by WIFE.

LAMB, JOHN J.—Departed this life Oct. 10, 1937. Sadly missed by WIFE AND SON.

METTING, WILLIAM—In loving memory of darling husband, who departed this life Oct. 10, 1933.
Nothing but memories as we journey on,
Longing for a smile from a loved one gone.
Sadly missed by wife.
ELIZABETH METTING.

IN MEMORIAM

MULVOY, JOHN S. JR.—In loving memory of my dear husband, who departed this life Oct. 8, 1937:
I have lost my soul's companion,
A life linked with my own;
And day by day I miss him more,
As I walk through life alone.
Sadly missed by wife,
AGNES MULVOY.

RENEKE, DORA — Whom God called home Oct. 13, 1912.
Sweet to remember her who once was here,
And who though absent is just as dear.
Sadly missed by HER LOVED ONES.

ROHLING, MARY—In memory of our dear mother, who died Oct. 11, 1933.
Sweet and peaceful be her rest;
Forget her we can never.
God called her, He alone knows best;
His will be done forever.
Sadly missed by
SONS, DAUGHTERS-IN-LAW AND GRANDCHILDREN.

SCHLENKER, MRS. E.—In loving memory of my dear mother, who passed away on Oct. 8, 1937.
Not dead to those who loved her,
Not lost, but gone before.
She lives with me in memory,
And will forevermore.
Sadly missed by
HER CHILDREN AND GRANDCHILDREN.

SCHOEN, MILTON W.—In loving memory, who departed this life Oct. 11, 1936.
Gone but not forgotten.
Sadly missed by
BEREAVED PARENTS.

SCHULDE, JOHN—In memory of my dear husband and father, who departed this life Oct. 10, 1931.
Sadly missed by
WIFE AND DAUGHTER.

SUCHER, GEO. P.—In memory of my dear husband and father, who died Oct. 8, 1936.
Never shall you be forgotten,
Never from our memory fade;
Loving hearts will always linger
Around the grave where you are laid.
Sadly missed by
WIFE AND DAUGHTER, MARIE.

TOBERMAN, EDW. T.—In loving memory of my darling husband, who passed away Oct. 9, 1935. Sadly missed by wife,
ELEANOR M. TOBERMAN.

VOGEL, MARGARET—In memory of our beloved daughter, who passed away Oct. 6, 1931:
October once again is here,
To us the saddest of the year,
Because it took from us away
A dear one just seven years today;
Her loving heart is now at rest;
God took her home when He thought best.
Sadly missed by MOTHER, FATHER, AND ALL WHO LOVED HER.

Asia Coal, Sensational Heat
$4.95, $5.85, $6.10, $6.35

Asia Coal from out East is sensationally different from any Franklin County or any Southern Illinois coals in powerful heat with only a fraction of the ash. Remember, Asia Coal is the hottest coal from here to the Appalachian Mountains and Asia's Vanishing Ash requires removal only once a week from under the grate bars.

Asia washed and waxed home stoker coal is the ideal home stoker fuel combining perfect size with sensational performance.

Hardracite Eastern, $7.25 Up

Virtually no ash or dirt, unbelievably hot. Little smoke. Why, hard Hardracite is so hard and pure it looks like Anthracite, rings like steel and swiftly outheats any other. Remove ashes semi-monthly. Liberal $1.25 to $1.75 Margin to Dealers on above coals at 1138 Carr.

SALESMEN WANTED

ATTENTION—MEN WHO ARE UNEMPLOYED

In and around St. Louis are men who are complaining about work being very hard to find. Some of these men actually want work, others are not looking for work, or want something that is easy to do for a mere existence. To the men looking for a chance to prove their ability with possibilities of earning a good consistent living for themselves and their families we can present a splendid opportunity.

In our previous announcements we have repeatedly made the statement that we are not interested in men who are merely concerned with the limitations of a small income. However, we will go a long way in helping a man to a lucrative and permanent future if that man is big enough and willing enough to realize that he must pay the price and prove his worth.

In order to assure that no man will remain in a rut because of a stipulated income used as a harness over him, our men are paid on a profit-sharing basis, giving them a chance to receive in dollars and cents what they actually earn. This business is both modern and mutual. No investment is required from any man qualifying. We finance everything.

Our requirements are: Good references and neat appearance. To you who are reading this ad, is your future worth two hours' interview with our factory representative? Where he can outline what we consider a real opportunity to you?

This ad gives no honest, industrious man an excuse for being out of work. We are not interested in ad seekers or floaters. Apply in person, Monday between 9:15 A. M. and 1:15 P. M., at ROOM 512 PAUL BROWN BLDG., 9th and Olive Sts.

This is a special interview and may mean the turning point of your life regardless of your present occupation.

This is not an ordinary ad, but this is not an ordinary selling job. We firmly believe this represents one of the outstanding opportunities of the decade in specialty sales work.

Permanent Sales Position

A new sales plan makes it possible for us to add a few field men to our regular Outstate Sales Force. Eligible applicants may live anywhere in Outstate Missouri and must be over 25 years of age. Car necessary. A man of only average sales ability will make $140 per month the first year. Commission basis; real future for good producer. Selling experience desirable, but not essential for success, as the men chosen will be thoroughly schooled and assisted when in the field. If you can sell or think you could, why not write to our Outstate Supervisor, Mr. George C. Leach, giving fullest details about yourself or apply to our nearest division office.

Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN TO BEGIN TUESDAY

$161,000 to Be Sought for Current Expenses—Workers' Dinner Tomorrow.

Solicitation by 1500 volunteer workers for $161,000, the goal of a current expense campaign of the Y. M. C. A., will begin Tuesday in St. Louis and St. Louis County. The drive will end Oct. 27.

Final instructions will be given workers tomorrow night at a dinner at the Downtown "Y" building, 1528 Locust street. The amount sought this year is about 30 per cent greater than the total received in 1937.

Dr. Hedley Seldon Dimock, dean of George Williams College of the Chicago Y. M. C. A., will speak at the dinner, as will Earl Brandenburg, general Y. M. C. A. secretary, and Sam W. Greenland, president. Young members of the various branches of the organization will demonstrate program activities.

Victor Cullin, chairman of the campaign, in asking for public support, said: "Young people are depending on agencies such as the Y. M. C. A. for guidance. Last year 18,612 personal problem interviews were held by staff members with young people on matters vitally affecting their lives. With youth flocking to the "Y" for guidance, we feel that we must not let them down. We are not asking for funds for a long-range program, but just enough for minimum needs."

Cullin also called attention to praise given 91 neighborhood boys' clubs operated by the "Y" by Frank X. Reller, juvenile court probation officer. Reller said the clubs were responsible for a substantial reduction in child delinquency.

A special gifts committee that started its canvass a week ago is headed by Donald Danforth and Henry B. Pflager. Divisional leaders are W. H. Willcockson, downtown; Frank E. Agnew, Jefferson College; G. Donald Gibbins, industrial; F. C. G. Lanz, Carondelet; Louis F. Bunte, north side; Randall Foster, county; Claude M. Gray, south side; Dr. W. H. Olmsted, Washington University; and E. A. McKinney, Pine Street branch. Headquarters are at 1528 Locust street.

$41,442 PLEDGED IN DRIVE FOR THE SALVATION ARMY

"Clean-Up Meeting" Tuesday Expected to Increase Total to $60,000.

A total of $41,442 has been subscribed to date in the Salvation Army maintenance campaign, Albin P. Crowe, general chairman, announced yesterday. At a final "clean-up meeting" on Tuesday, the total is expected to reach $60,000, Crowe said.

Work to pledge the remainder necessary to reach the $82,000 goal will be continued after Tuesday's meeting.

The largest single amount has been collected by the special gifts division, which has reported a total of $19,358, or 70 per cent of its quota.

MAN KILLED IN TRUCK ACCIDENT

Two Others Hurt When Car Hits Loose Gravel Near Bloomfield.

DEXTER, Mo., Oct. 8.—Walter Dearmond, 28 years old, was killed and Frank Musgrave, 28, suffered a fractured skull when their truck struck loose gravel on Highway 25, 10 miles north of Bloomfield, this afternoon.

Carl Tracer, 17, also riding in the truck, suffered a broken arm and minor injuries.

National Horse Show Closes; Midnight Star, San Antonio Gelding, Is Grand Champion

Attendance for Eight Performances is 80,629—Vanity, Sold for $15,000, Wins Again—Final Awards.

Midnight Star, eight-year-old blackgelding from San Antonio, Tex., won the championship stake for five-gaited saddle horses at the St. Louis National Horse Show last night and became the grand champion of the show.

The winner had been a favorite with spectators who cheered in approval when the decision was announced. Midnight Star is owned by the Leisure Hour Stable at San Antonio and was ridden by Frank Heathman. Second place went to Lady Jane, last year's grand champion, owned by Pine Tree Farms, McHenry, Ill.

Last night's was the final performance of the show at the Arena, and featured seven stake events and the final appearance of the "Rough Riders" of the Third United States Cavalry.

Attendance at the final performance was 13,130, making the total attendance at the eight performances 80,629, including two matinees. Last year 69,349 persons attended the six evening shows.

Another victory was recorded for Vanity, handsome bay mare which was sold for $15,000 Friday by Irving S. Florsheim of Libertyville, Ill., shoe firm president, to L. Victor Weil, Elberon, N. J. Vanity's triumph in the closing performance was in the $500 stake for fine harness horses, in which there were 16 entrants.

Chester Caldwell, Florsheim's stable manager, told reporters Vanity had never suffered a defeat and that the sale price was a record for a three-year-old harness horse.

Summary of last night's performance:

DAHLIAS, ALL KINDS, EXHIBITED AT SHOW

464 Other Displays at Annual Event at Shaw's Garden.

Dahlias of brilliant colors and pale hues, ranging in size from a 25-cent piece to the width of a dinner plate, are shown at the annual Dahlia and Fall Flower Show, which opened yesterday in the Floral Display House at Shaw's Garden, sponsored by the St. Louis Horticultural Society. The show will remain open until 5 p. m. today.

Besides the 108 dahlia exhibits, there are 464 displays of roses, annuals, perennials, flowering shrubs and trees, house plants, and decorative arrangements for tables and stands.

Fine growing weather during the last month, except for lack of rain, which the amateur gardeners apparently overcame by watering, brought in an unusual number of high quality flowers, George H. Pring, superintendent of Shaw's Garden, said.

14-Inch Dahlia Wins Prize.

A special award for the largest and best dahlia in the show was awarded to Richard Kramske of Jefferson Barracks, for a huge canary-yellow bloom about 14 inches in diameter, named California Idol. It has an almost perfect arrangement of petals, and the bloom is without a flaw. It was one of a group of five blooms of the same variety he entered, but the other four were not as nearly perfect or as large.

A seed pod zoo, entered by Mrs. A. Huntington of Webster Groves, received a special award and attracted much attention from visitors. Among its curiosities are seed pods that look like snakes, pods that resemble monkeys, another that has the shape of an elephant's ear, and one that is a replica of a rose.

There are artistic necklaces made from seeds of natural color in red, pink and blue-gray; buttons for women's coats made from cross-section and lateral slices of hickory nuts, butternuts, black walnuts and eucalyptus seeds, and patio strings of native seed pods colorfully decorated.

Best Seedling Dahlia.

The best seedling dahlia in the show was exhibited by Raymond C. Grass of Normandy. Named Joyce Louise, it was first grown from seed by Grass two years ago, and last year won a certificate of merit at the American Dahlia Society's trial grounds at East Lansing, Mich. It is a lavender colored, informal decorative type. Grass has propagated 500 tubers from the original seedling.

An award for the most meritorious exhibit also was given to Grass for a basket of 25 splendid dahlias of mixed color and large size.

Considered by the judges to be the best among the 113 entries of roses is Crimson Glory, grown by Mrs. J. Schwettmann; Max Kraus, a yellow with a long bud, shown by C. M. Hall, and a dark pink rose exhibited by Mrs. J. E. Klein.

Sixteen awards for a wide variety of exhibits were given Mrs. Vane Deal. Among her entries is a winter decorative arrangement for the home, made up of weathered leaves of clematis and dried pods of the Missouri primrose.

A silver shell containing an artistic arrangement of white gladiolas and gardenias, and a black bowl with an arrangement of limes, grapes and lemons for table decoration, exhibited by Mrs. E. Littman, received gold ribbon awards.

Red-berried pyracantha, wahoo and bittersweet add their bright colors to those of the flowers among the exhibits. There are miniature arrangements of flowers only two inches high.

Logansport (Ind.) Publisher Dies.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Oct. 8.—Samuel O. Berman, 56 years old, publisher of the Logansport Pharos Tribune, died today in Billings Memorial Hospital, Chicago, after an illness of more than a year.

She Brought the Ducks

Golden Beauty of Roedare, owned and handled by Richard Ryan, Minneapolis sportsman, is shown retrieving her duck in the retriever trials at Dardenne Shooting Club yesterday to win the amateur all-age event. The trials, sponsored by the Mississippi Valley Kennel Club, will be continued today.

RYAN RETRIEVER PLACES HIGH IN FIELD TRIALS

Two Golden Retrievers of Richard Ryan of Minneapolis, Minn., yesterday captured two seconds and one first in the retriever trials at Dardenne Shooting Club at Peruque, 13 miles west of St. Charles, on the Missouri River, under the auspices of the Mississippi Valley Kennel Club. The two remaining classes, the non-winner stake and the open all-age, will be held this morning, beginning at 8 and 11 o'clock, respectively.

In the derby event, Freehaven Jay, a Labrador owned by James L. Free of Glencoe, Ill., and handled by James Hogan, won first honors. Second place went to Golden Beauty of Roedare, owned and handled by the youthful Ryan, while third place was awarded to Gorse of Arden, a Labrador owned by Mrs. Morgan Belmont of New York City and handled by Francis Hogan. The local Golden Retriever, Whitebridge Wally, owned by S. Cupples Scudder and handled by James Hogan, placed fourth.

In the amateur all-age, two post-entries, Golden Beauty of Roedare and Nero of Roedare, both owned and handled by Ryan, placed first and second, respectively, ahead of Paul Bakewell's Rip. Tyke of Woodend, F. F. Garlock's Labrador, took fourth.

Probably the outstanding work of the day was done by Golden Beauty of Roedare in the field. The control which Ryan exerted over the retriever was excellent and many points were added to her score when, despite the dry condition of the field which held down the scent of all dogs, she scented the bird while still a fulll 40 yards away and wasted no time in retrieving it to her master, with nice delivery to hand and good mouth.

Today's open all-age event will feature the very best retrievers in the country working against each other. Of the entrans, the favorites include the Chesepeake, Brewester's Laddie, owned by Dr. Neil M. Leitch of Warroad, Minn.; Peconic Pyne of Arden, owned by W. A. Harriman of New York; Banestone Buck, owned by Dr. George Patton of Greeley, Colo., and, of course, the winners and runners-up of yesterday's events.

GREATER ST. LOUIS PIN ASSOCIATION TO MEET

The [illegible]y-seventh annual meeting of the Greater St. Louis Bowling Association will be held next Sunday afternoon at the North Side Y. M. C. A. Officers will be elected and plans made for the city tournament which will be rolled on Rogers' alleys beginning Feb. 17.

Jerry Ameling, secretary of the association, reports that 2008 teams have enrolled to date and he expects to have 3500 teams before the middle of the season.

Annual dues for membership in the A. B. C. is $2 if paid by Nov. 1 and $2.50 after that date.

Softball Title Game.

The opening contest of a three-game series to determine the championship of the Municipal Softball Association will be played this morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Sisler North Side Park, Grand and Florissant avenues. The opponents will be the Westinghouse team of the Electrical Board of Trade League and the Globes of the Downtown League.

Marquette League Opens Today.

The Greyhounds oppose the Harmony De Molay eleven today in the first game of the Marquette Football League's opening doubleheader at the Marquette Park. The first game starts at 1 p. m., while in the second game, at 2 o'clock, the Young Republicans, 1937 champions, plays the Jennings A. C.

Gene Fehlig Wins High School Golf Title Third Time

By the Associated Press.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 8.—Gene Fehlig, slim St. Louis University High senior, won his third State High School golf championship in the annual tournament here today, stepping around the 36 holes for a 136.

Ralph Striegel and Hillis Ponder of Poplar Bluff turned in a combined score of 297 to take the team title.

Fehlig's 136 was three strokes below the score that gave him the title last year. Ponder, with a 142, was runner up for individual honors.

Other low individual scores: Jack Peat of Webster Groves, 143; George Hagen of Columbia, 147; John Buoy of Butler, 148; Max Williams of Chillicothe, 149; Laird Wasson of Kirkwood, 149; and Tony White of Springfield, 151.

Low team scores: James Jackson and Laird Wasson of Kirkwood, 301; Lloyd Calhoun and Tony White of Springfield, 304; George Hagen and Earl Stone of Columbia, 305; Robert Grant and John Stock of Jefferson City, 316; Fred Houser and Jimmie Messmek of Raytown, 317; Buel Snyder and George Scott of Clinton, 318; Harold Welton and Dan Davies of Kansas City Central, 320, and Gilbert Davis and Gordon Armacost of Kansas City Southwest, 325.

Hendry Wins Tennis Title.

George Hendry, student at Beaumont High School, and the McBride team took the State High School singles and doubles tennis titles as play was concluded.

It was an all-St. Louis final as Hendry, member of the championship Beaumont doubles team a year ago, downed Joe Mitchell, St. Louis University High, in the finals of the singles matches by 6-1, 6-1 scores.

McBride, with a team composed of Ed Serwan and Francis Poelker, was pitted against the St. Louis University High team of Urban Faulstich and Jim Wigge in the finals and turned in two deuced-set victories 7-5, 9-7.

BOYS' CLUB TO OPPOSE TOWER GROVE TIGERS IN FOOTBALL GAME TODAY

Football teams in the Roosevelt League today will play their second round of games at Roosevelt High School Field. The Ramblers will meet the Bombers in the first contest at 1 o'clock, and the Boys' Club will oppose the Tower Grove Tigers at 3 p. m.

CROSS-COUNTRY RACE TO BE HELD TODAY

The first of a series of cross country runs will be held this morning at 1 1o'clock in Forest Park. The distance will be two miles and the start will be at the Code Ball course, located just west of Union and south of Lindell. Anyone desiring to participate is invited to report at the start with shoes and running clothes.

This is the first of a series of races which will be sponsored by the St. Louis Relay Association. The climax to the cross country season will come with the holding of the National A. A. U. cross country junior championships in Forest Park, Nov. 13. There will also be an Ozark A. A. U. championship prior to the National event.

SUMNER HIGH DEFEATS EVANSVILLE TEAM, 26-0

The Sumner Negro High School football team won the first game of a doubleheader at the Public Schools' Stadium yesterday afternoon from Lincoln High of Evansville, Ind., 26 to 0. Harris scored one of Sumner's touchdowns, McFarland two and Emory one. Harris and McFarland each kicked a point after touchdown.

ST. L. U. HIGH ELEVEN BEATS WESTERN, 6 TO 0

St. Louis University High defeated Western Military Academy yesterday afternoon in a Prep League football game at Alton, 6 to 0.

The only score came in the third quarter after John Fischer, Western safety man, fumbled a punt on his own 25-yard line, with Kruckemeyer recovering the ball. Earl Peterman, St. Louis fullback, made 15 yards through the line in two plays. Vinnie Eberle picked up six around end, and Eberle then cut wide around left end for the final four yards and scored standing up.

In the fourth quarter, Western rallied when Arthur McBride intercepted a St. Louis pass near midfield. Ed Hagnauer completed four passes in succession to Douglas Deacon, advancing the ball to the 25-yard stripe, but there the attack bogged down, and on the fourth down Hagnauer's pass to Fischer in the end zone barely grazed his finger-tips.

Score by quarters:

St. Louis U.	0	0	6	0—6

Substitutions: St. Louis U. High—Quirk, Tedoni and Gannon at guard; Farinella at tackle; Barry at center; Jones at quarterback; Guigon and Gannon at end; Ruma and Gaskill at halfback. Western—Gerson and Ditto at tackle; Dalton and Peara at guard; Dillavou at center; Zuleback at end; Ray and Lyman at halfback.

Officials: Referee, Major (Illinois); umpire, Brickbauer (Wisconsin); head linesman, Wahlbrink (Illinois).

CHRISTIAN BROTHERS AND CENTRAL CATHOLIC ELEVENS PLAY TODAY

The Christian Brothers' High School football team will meet Central Catholic at Parson's Field, East St. Louis, in a non-league game this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The Brothers have played two tie games so far this season with McKinley and Webster.

Soccer Teams Sought.

Soccer teams, which wish to play in the University City Muny League, should communicate with Andy Taylor, 921 Locust street. It is planned to play a split-season with nine contests in each half.

CHRIS KENNEY TO DEFEND TITLE IN SENIOR GOLF MEET

Chris Kenney will defend his senior district golf championship against 22 others in the annual tournament Wednesday at Meadow Brook Country Club. It is an 18-hole medal play event.

The tournament will celebrate the 50th anniversary of golf in America by forwarding a Golden Jubilee cup to the winner.

The pairings:

1:00 p. m.—Christian Kenny, Normandie; Edward Grubb, Norwood; Albert H. Strache, Triple A.

SUEVER DEFENDS MIDWEST TITLE IN BIKE RACES

With an entry list of 182 riders the annual bicycle Derby and Midwestern championships will be decided on St. Louis' new bike track in Forest Park, on Oakland avenue this afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock. The track, which will be officially dedicated by city officials, is a one-fourth mile oval.

Richard Suever, local star, will defend his title in the midwestern races of one-half, one, two and five miles. He is expected to get plenty of competition from Gene Gotsch, Ray George, Roy Dietsch, Ed Meier, Orville Grosse and Andrew Blonde.

In the girls' division, Marie Dietsch, who finished second in the recent national championships, is the outstanding entrant. Others who are figured to score points are Dot Nelson, Babe Chase, Virginia Baum, Thelma Grosse and Ruth Emmert.

A total of 18 events will be on the program, including Midwestern championship, high school championship, boy scout championship, girls championship Class A, girls championship Class B, two mile open, boys under 14, boys over 14, coaster bike race Class A, coaster bike race, velocipede race, novice race, sidewalk bike race (solid tires), sidewalk bike race (pneumatic tires), messenger boys race, old timers race, colored boys race, tandem race.

William C. Murphy, secretary of the Park Department, will serve as honorary referee. Bleacher seats have been erected to accommodate the public.

LAWTON, COUNTRY DAY, SCORES THREE TIMES AGAINST KIRKWOOD

Country Day opened its football season with an 18-0 victory over Kirkwood yesterday afternoon on the Country Day field. Carl Lawton, 180-pound fullback, scored all of Country Day's points.

Country Day took the kick-off on its 20-yard line and moved the ball down the field in a series of line plays which resulted in a touchdown when Lawton scored on an end run. During their drive for the first touchdown, Country Day used only two plays which failed to give them yardage.

Lawton scored again late in the second quarter on a simple reverse from the 15-yard line.

The last Codasco score came in the third quarter when Lawton scored after Johnston had intercepted a Kirkwood pass on the Kirkwood 40-yard line.

Country Day made 12 first downs while Kirkwood made five.

Lineups and summary:

COUNTRY DAY.	Pos.	KIRKWOOD.

Clayton Victor In League Game

Clayton High's Greyhounds opened their Suburban League season yesterday afternoon with a 13-6 victory over the Wellston Trojans at Clayton.

All afternoon, it was Ed Gleitman off tackle or Ed Gleitman off guard, or Gleitman passing, as the 185-pound Greyhound left halfback led his team to its second 1938 victory. As in the Hounds' opening contest a week ago, Gleitman did not score, however.

Coach George Stuber's men counted first in the secod quarter when Left End Wilbur Rosvall ran the ball over from the five-yard stripe after taking a lateral from Mac Hanson, who had taken the ball on a reverse from Parks. Stan Koenig drop-kicked the extra point.

Coach Jerry Stingel's eleven kept the Greyhounds on the defensive with passes in the third quarter and counted their lone tally when Roach took a toss from Bennett on the Clayton 20, from where Roach scampered over for the score.

Clayton counted again in the final period as Ed Gleitman tossed to Rosvall in the end zone for six points. The pass was good for 30 yards.

The lineups:

CLAYTON	Pos.	WELLSTON

this New York

by Lucius Beebe

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.

A NEW high in perfumed chichi manifested itself as part of El Morocco's seasonal opening when Bergdorf-Goodman ran display insertions in the papers, advertising evening gowns in colors to match Jimmy Reynolds's murals which decorate the entry to Mr. Perona's parlors this year. Since no amount of attention to dress, or even a certificate of character from your pastor, could have gotten you a table, and what with folk arranging their attire and coiffures just to stand in the lobby, another year probably will find patrons having costumes designed to match the policemen and carriage starters outside, and there will be special dress effects in which to lounge on the Morocco sidewalk while waiting for a table.

LUCIUS BEEBE

The opening of Morocco, the first night of Clare Boothe's play, "Kiss the Boys Goodbye," and the appearance in his specially tailored winter uniform of Ed Snyder, the social policeman of Fifty-sixth street, any one of them a sufficient omen in itself, combined to indicate that what is known as the season was on, which it was with a stunning crash. Gene Cavallero and his waiter captains at the Colony were wreathed in smiles, and the roast and truffled grouse flew out of the kitchens to come to rest on the tables of Mrs. T. Reid Vreeland and Averell Harriman with almost their original and animate velocity. At Jack and Charlie's the crush of plush folk was so great that a genuine Indian maharaja and his suite had to be shown to the back room, which made almost every one unhappy.

—o—o—

The real push of the evening, of course, was at Morocco, which has been restyled, at least in part, by Mr. Reynolds and where the customers were enchanted to sit in each other's laps, lean at the bar and stand in the gangways, so long as only they were permitted inside the premises at all. Carino, the captain and one of the two or three most adroit men in Manhattan, was hard pressed for quick decisions, with every one known to man, including Mae Murray, Molly Vanderbilt, Conde Nast, Brenda Frazier—whom Maury Paul has selected as this year's glamor girl—Kay Wagstaff, Marion Tiffany Saportas, with Joe O'Donohue; the George Hopper Fitches and the essential Malcomb Whittaker—without whom there just is no party—all descending in a fine cascade of bijouetrie and Shalimar at one and the same time.

—o—o—

THE ONLY unfortunate note of an otherwise glamorous week was the debut at, of all places, the stately Plaza of Miss Sally Clark, a Roosevelt kin and somewhat hoydenish chanteuse who has been attracting some attention to herself up Boston way and finally essayed a fling in the big city. It was all a terrible, terrible mistake, and not even a patient claque which made optimistic noises to the bitter end could save much of the evening. The list of the notables who made a quick sneak between numbers would make tasty readings, but it is better to draw the veil.

● THE NAMES OF England's leading gourmets, most of them members of the council of the Wine and Food Society, have always exercised for us a special fascination. It seems so vastly appropriate that Sir F. Colchester-Wemyss, Sir Stephen Gaselee, the Lord Moynihan and the Dowager Lady Swaythling should be involved in the best gastronomic scuffles of Albion. Now there comes along one of the happiest of all cheese books, called "Cheddar Gorge" (the Macmillan Company, New York), of which the English staff of editors includes Ambrose Heath, Horace Annesley Vachell, Vyvyan Holland, Osbert Burdett, Moray McLaren and Ernest Oldmeadow, and no names to trifle with, either. Compared to them our own Codmans, Wildmans, Kellers, Gaiges and other eating and drinking enthusiasts seem just a thought prosaic.

—o—o—

Oliver St. John Gogarts writes on Irish cheese, and there is an introduction by Sir John Squire. Leicester cheese fairs, folk festivals pertaining to cheese manufacture are included, and there is on record the celebrated remark in the Hungarian Parliament that "Chesterton is a cheese." "Cheddar Gorge," gayest and most amiable cheese handbook in years, deserves to rank among the top-shelf gastronomic classics, along with Saintsbury's "Notes on a Cellar Book," De Gouey's "Derrydate Fish and Game Cookbook" and Geugan's "La Fleur de la Cuisine Francaise."

● RETURNED TRAVELERS from England are wistful about the new hors d'oeuvre at Quaglino's: smoked trout. . . . For his last year's Christmas card Alfred Barton, of the Miami Surf Club, had a drawing of himself being blown away in a hurricane. . . . Now that he's manager of the whole resort out at Montauk, on Long Island, he plans to use the same plate this year. . . . Says it's just as appropriate. . . . For popular consumption, Roger Kent (who copies every thing the most expensive custom tailors can produce) is featuring those ultro-swank green chamois waistcoats with gold buttons for sports wear. . . . The Dutch Treat meets again at the Ambassador this year, beginning Oct. 18. . . The one really genius-born act in "Sing Out the News," an otherwise noisy and witless evening, is the cafe society burlesque with the lyric "Let's Go On to La Conga," sung by six bored exquisites who had only been twice to Morocco that night and haven't been married this year. . . . Model railroad fans should ask Santa Claus for Raymond F. Yates' "Making and Operating Model Railroads" (D. Appleton-Century). . . .

Hollywood's New Man of the Hour

John (Jules) Garfield, born in New York's Lower East Side, Credits His Success on Stage and Screen to Guidance Given Him by Angelo Patri.

By H. H. NIEMEYER

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 8.

IF ever a boy was born to be a mug, a gangster, or a second-rate fighter, it was a fellow who came into this world on March 4, 26 years ago. His birthplace has generally been considered, in song and story and melodramas, both of the stage and screen, as the cradle of most of the tough guys in the United States—the lower East Side of Manhattan Island. It happens that a lot of other fellows who worked up to fame and fortune hailed from the same neighborhood, but, be that as it may, John Garfield, christened Jules, had two strikes on him from the moment his infant eyes first saw the light of day. The fates had decreed that he should end up in Sing Sing prison or as a battered, punch-drunk pug. He was well on his way toward achieving the pattern of life cut out for him when a man who doesn't believe in fate, who holds that any distorted youthful character can be remolded by proper guidance, took him in hand.

That man was Angelo Patri, the eminent child psychologist and head of the famed New York school for underprivileged and problem children which bears his name.

As a result of Patri's guidance, Garfield today is being hailed as one of the greatest talent discoveries Hollywood has made in years. Out here in the cinema colony they're combing the dictionary for adjectives to describe his first screen performance in "Four Daughters." We dare say by this time you have seen John (nee Jules) Garfield's cinema debut for yourself. Whether or not you agree with Hollywood's estimate is really beyond the point. We simply passed it along to you for what it's worth.

"But why the excitement?" Garfield himself wants to know. "The role was a natural. Mickey Borden (that's the name of the character he portrays) was a defeatist. He was licked before he started. He knew it wasn't worth while to try to accomplish anything, because someone else would steal the glory. I knew exactly how Mickey felt because there was a period of my life when I felt the same way."

"Father was a tailor," he explains. "He worked in a garment factory, making army uniforms. It was a constant bitter struggle for him and mother to keep the wolf from the door, let alone devoting any time toward building the characters of my brother, Max, and I. So we spent our childhood on the sidewalks and in the gutters of lower east side New York. From older children of the neighborhood we learned all the meanness, all the toughness it's possible for kids of that age to acquire."

John's mother died when he was seven and his brother Max went to live with an uncle in Jersey. John moved to a somewhat less disreputable neighborhood in the Bronx with his father.

"But the slightly more genteel atmosphere didn't seem to help," he recalls. "It worked the other way, in fact. I was so bad that the mothers of the neighborhood kids forbid their youngsters to play with me or to associate with me in any way. My father was away all day, of course, and left me pretty much to my own devices. He'd put me in one school and then another and I'd promptly get expelled!"

John was a constant source of annoyance to the police and school authorities of his neighborhood. He was always in hot water and, by his own confession, it was a wonder that he didn't end up in a reform school.

After school—when he went to school—he sold the Bronx Home News on a street corner. He had learned to use his fists much earlier in life and he used them to good advantage protecting his domain from kids who thought they were tougher than he and wanted his corner.

—o-o—

"I KEPT that corner until I surrendered it of my own accord," he says.

John was 13 when the authorities decided something had to be done about him. He had fallen into casual contact with two criminal gangs for either one of which, he says, he was ripe material.

"They packed me off to Angelo Patri's school," he recalls. "And that was the luckiest break I've ever had in my life. They decided that if Patri couldn't do anything with me, nobody could."

Garfield hadn't been at the school more than a couple of days when he decided he didn't like it. Moreover, he decided to leave it before, as had so often happened previously, he was kicked out. But it wasn't in his nature to leave by the front door as he might have done. Instead, he decided to climb a mysterious looking wall and make it a first-class escape. He found himself in a garden and started to run directly across it, regardless of the profusion of flowers that grew in it.

He had reckoned without thought for the student monitors, who virtually governed the institution under Mr. Patri's supervision, however. Two of them caught up with him before he was halfway across the garden. They returned him to his room and he was soon notified that Patri wanted to see him in his office.

John prepared himself for the worst. It would not be his first interview with a school principal; he was, in fact, pretty familiar with the proceedings in such cases.

But this one was different.

"When I reached his suite I was immediately shown into Mr. Patri's private office," Garfield remembers. "He asked me to sit down. Then, in a very kindly manner, he explained that he was not angry because I had crushed some of the lovely flowers in his garden.

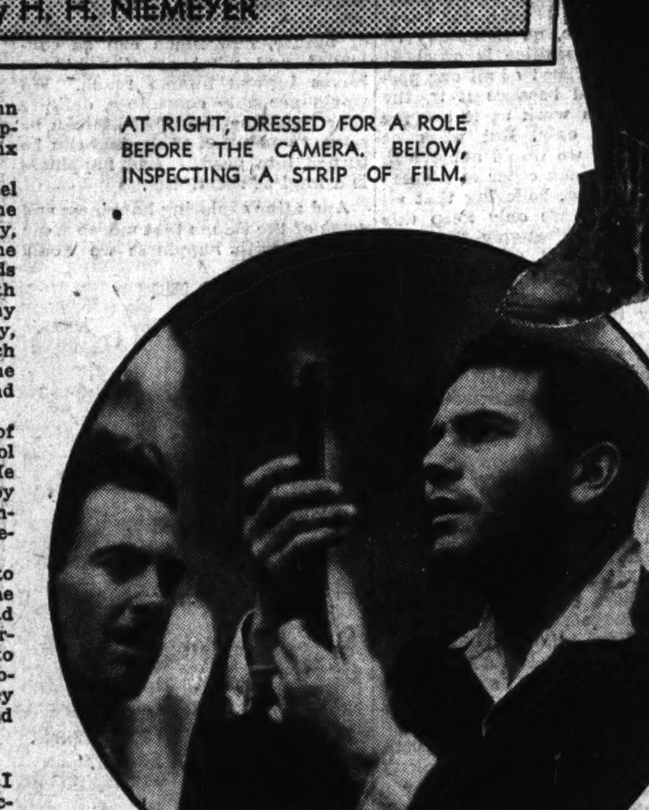
"He said other things, too; things which might have sounded a little silly to an adult, but which made a very deep and lasting impression on me. He explained that flowers were living, beautiful things; that they had a right to live. He asked me if I thought boys had any right to ruthlessly crush the life out of lovely things that were entitled to their existence.

"I was dumbfounded," Garfield recalls. "I had never in my life experienced such kindness. Usually, when I broke a rule or violated a law, I had been beaten or at least spoken to harshly. My worship of Patri began from that moment and it grew with boundless strides during the following months."

It was Angelo Patri who steered young Garfield toward the profession in which he has made such a shining success.

"At different times during the weeks following our first meeting I spent hours in his office," Garfield explains. "I didn't realize then what he was doing, but I realized later that he was trying to find some interest that would appeal to my imagination. He told me, eventually, that he thought I might make a good actor. The idea had never occurred to me and it sounded fascinating the moment he mentioned it. I enrolled immediately in the dramatic class and for the next three years I ate and slept dramatics."

During his first year at the school young John entered a national oratorical contest at the suggestion of Patri. He reached the semifinals in New York and quite magically he found himself something of a hero in his neighborhood in the Bronx. Where once the neighborhood kids had avoided him like a plague they now sought his friendship.



His first summer vacation from the Angelo Patri school young Garfield spent writing, producing, directing and starring in "sandlot" plays in the Bronx. Admission was a penny per person and the profits were used to defray the costs of sets—they were built of apple boxes and discarded vegetable crates—and props. Not all the productions were originals for occasionally John switched to Shakespeare for an evening or two.

—o-o—

AFTER he was graduated from Patri's school, Garfield decided to continue his dramatic education, if possible. For weeks he racked his brain in a vain effort to discover some means of doing this. Finally he decided to seek advice from another. He wroe a letter to Jacob Ben-Ami, the brilliant Russian actor who was then appearing at the Guild Theater. He explained his circumstances, his burning desire to go on the professional stage. "But how should I proceed?" he asked.

Much to his surprise, a few days later Garfield received a reply from Ben-Ami. The actor suggested that he enroll at the Hecksher Foundation.

That was fine but, unfortunately, John knew he'd never be able to finance himself through the Foundation. He was selling newspapers once more and averaging about $6 a week but that certainly wouldn't be enough to put him through the school.

Desperate, Garfield decided to visit the Foundation and see what could be done. He explained to the head that he was financially unable to pay hs way through.

"But," he added, "I was recommended to you by Jacob Ben-Ami and I simply must do something about it."

"You were recommended by Ben-Ami?" he was asked.

"Yes," said Garfield.

"Then, by all means, you must be given a scholarship."

Garfield couldn't get out of the place fast enough after that. He was afraid that he might drop some remark that would disclose

Listen Ladies

By Inez Robb

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.

WELL, ladies, I am here today to tell each and every one of you how to turn your Butchie-Boy into a sartorial dream prince. I attended the third annual showing of gents wear staged by Esquire, that magazine devoted to women's frailty and men's fashions, and if you want your Butch to be able to hold up his head in public during the next annum, then burn that old racoon coat, give his black tail coat to the Salvation Army and get the guy a velvet weskit with matching tie to wear in moments of whimsy.

You can even break the news to him—but gently, pray—that there's no future in the two-pant suit. All these fashion ukases and a good many more were laid on the line in the main ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria at a fashion show, to which admission was fifty dollars and nothing off for cash.

Our glamor boy of the immediate future is going to look simply lovely in a London drape, which allows for free-wheeling around the shoulders, and in trousers "cut on the narrow side" (meaning around the cuff, not the equator). Bell-bottom pants are gone with the bustle. In no time at all Butch will be needing a shoe horn to ease his shanks into their covering. His pants are going to fit like leggings, and he'll like it or lump it.

—o-o—

It is true that woman's work is never done, especially when Tootsie has to sit up nights waiting for Butchie-Wutchie to go to bed so she can rifle his pockets. Well, darned if the designers haven't added to the little woman's burden by putting more pockets into a man's suit than ever grew there before. The "outside cash pocket," and Ittsy-Bittsy pocket on the right side of the business coat, nestles just above the regulation right-hand pocket. This pocket business comes to a grand climax in an evening top coat which doesn't have pockets at all, but just slits so that Butch can jam his paws right into the trousers of his dress clothes for his street car fare.

—o-o—

THE NEWS IN men's formal wear is bad. If Butch wants to associate with the best people and pull himself up the social ladder, there is only one course of action advisable. He must burn those old-fashioned, dated black dinner and evening clothes. Better to sit at home night after night with a good book than to venture abroad in any but a midnight blue tails or Tuxedo (which is a horrid word and not to be mentioned at a high-class $50-per fashion show!)

The coat sleeves of his dress clothes as well as his business suits must be shorter, too. They should hit the wrist bone and stop. The shirt cuff takes up at that point and carries on for antoher two inches. Frankly, I think the manufacturers have formed a united front with the Chinese hand laundries.

—o-o—

EVEN THE CARNATION, which has taken root in American lapels in recent years, didn't escape the attention of the fashion arbiters. The wine red carnation, which has leered from all the best lapels for two years, is to be replaced by one that is a shy, faint blush pink. Carl Sloss showed the coral carnation, as it has been christened, to advantage.

As a background for his carnation, Mr. Sloss wore a black jacket with a pair of plaid cheviot pants, a coral pink shirt with a pleated bosom, a white collar and a black tie with a stick pin in the form of a galloping fox. Mr. Sloss isn't a man content to shoot his cuffs; Mr. Sloss shoots the works.

—o-o—

But Mr. Sloss was the only Anthony Eden in the gathering. The more than 400 manufacturers and retailers who lapped up every detail of fashion's masculine whimsies looked as conservative as a bankers' convention. The old reliable double-breasted box-suit or the three-button single-breasted number in gray, brown or blue was good enough for them.

—o-o—

ONLY ONE OF the 400 even approached an Esquire dream of beauty. He was C. E. Read, manufacturer of Toronto. Read, in a wine red suit of Scotch tweed, overlaid with a plaid in black and a light shade of red, stood forth in that assembly like a pair of dish-pan hands at a Newport party.

"It's something I thought up myself," Mr. Read said, modestly.

What St. Louis Women are Wearing --- turn to Page Five

by Martha Carr

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I HAVE read your column for some time and have found it very helpful and interesting. Mrs. Carr, my sister is 23 years of age, has been divorced for one year. She and her two children have come home and have been living here for the past year. We live in a four-room house where there are six of us, and we find it very difficult to get along. She manages to dictate our business affairs and her two children are very disturbing. When dad comes home in the evenings they jump all over him and she does not seem to care about making them mind. Mrs. Carr, don't you think it is time for her to lay a stick on their legs when they don't mind her at all? When she takes something away from the little girl, who is 3½, the child stiffens up and stamps her feet. Her mother says she doesn't believe in spanking children. What do you think of this affair? Don't you think four rooms are too crowded for six persons and a dog? M. G.

The size of the apartment is rather limited, but one with many more rooms might seem too crowded with children who have had no training and discipline of the right kind. The little girl is, of course, not much more than a baby, but a very young child with the right training and a positive mother need not make such a display of temper or make herself a nuisance in the house. Usually, grandfathers, when they are not too tired and when they are properly dressed for such a rough house, like the play of the children. But the children should be taught, of course, that the times for this are those decided upon by the older people. This mother is one of those foolish young women who have a smattering of the "mother talk" which does not help either the children or those around her. And she succeeds in making the children pests instead of lovable little ones. It is poor preparation for them to meet other children, and the world, which has less kindness and less forbearance than the household where they grow up. Your father or your mother should direct this daughter in no uncertain terms about these ideas and, while giving the children their affection, demand their obedience and control.

—o—o—

Dear Mrs. Carr:

● THIS IS THE first time I have ever written anyone for advice. I've always tried to solve my own problems. But I feel your advice would be better than taking so many chances.

I went out with a boy whom I think is very good looking. He lost interest in me and I feel it was my fault. In fact every boy I go out with has much interest at first then it's "I'll see you againsometime." Martha, I know how to get a man, but I don't know how to hold him. I may be too self-conscious about my looks or my clothes or think someone disapproves of me, although people say I am attractive. I don't run after the boys, either, but I wonder what scares them away. SMALL FRY.

Send me self-addressed, stamped envelope for my folder, "Popularity." I believe you might get some worthwhile suggestions from its reading.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

YOU HAVE HAD so much experience with human nature that I want you to help me. When a man enjoys vulgar jokes and gathers obscene printed matter, do you think a nice woman should marry him? We are in love and he does not know that I know of this other side of his nature, but is the perfect gentleman with me at all times. But I am afraid that after we are married all restraint will be thrown to the winds. All of the above mentioned is very, very distasteful to me and I couldn't stand it I am sure. Do you think I should break the engagement and return my ring? Is it proper to return the ring? I want to do what is right but would rather not keep it as after I am over being in love I feel sure I will hate him for what he is under the surface.

Do you think I will be happier remaining single than married to such a man, as the chances are he is my last chance, as I am past 30? DISTRESSED.

I would think you well justified in your apprehension that a man of this type of mind might be wholly unbearable when he no longer secreted his thoughts and tendencies. The telling and hoarding of such thoughts and stories bespeaks the coarse fiber of either man or woman.

—o—o—

Dear Mrs. Carr:

WE ARE WRITING this in the hope that someone may have two small table radios they would give to two girls at Robert Koch Tuberculosis Sanitorium, Koch, Mo. We have been out here a number of months and are convalescents who must remain through most of the winter and we would appreciate so much having these radios and will write personally to these donors, if they care to have us do so. TWO CONVALESCENTS.

—o—o—

Dear Martha Carr:

● I AM A YOUNG married woman. My husband is the sales representative of a large industrial concern which recently has transferred him to this city. After joining him and establishing living quarters here, I find myself exceedingly lonely. Mrs. Carr, is it possible that there might be some club starting up—a reading or study club which would welcome a stranger outside of their own immediate circle of friends? You may advise me to join some church so as to meet people. Because church organizations, though worthy, are usually so large, it is difficult to become close friends with individuals. I would prefer the small group. I have had a fine education, enjoy good books, am well versed in current events and play a fair game of bridge. I sincerely hope, that, should my letter be published in your interesting column, it may accomplish my purpose. Sincerely, MRS. A. G.

While the suggestion may seem a little too impersonal at first, I believe a good way to make a beginning is to ask at the Cabanne Branch Library about clubs and organizations specializing in reading and other branches of study in which you are interested. They may know of some high class card clubs, or work you could do in some specialized charity that would eventually bring you into contact with people of your own choice and kind. If letters and offers come in to you, we will be glad to forward them; but we cannot, of course, sponsor everyone of them.

THE WORLD AS WOMEN SEE IT

A Columnist's Explanation of Love's Meaning

"It Is Life's Noblest Opportunity and Its Most Gallant Adventure."

By Elsie Robinson

LOVE doesn't "just happen." It is not a miraculous visitation—a superhuman seizure—an instantaneous explosion.

Love starts happening when we start living, long before we find the loved one. Love is an answer—love is many answers. Love is the answer to countless fears, fevers and frustrations, hopes and hungers, ecstasies and surrenders. Love is the answer to all we are—and aren't; have achieved—and haven't.

Love—the conscious awakening—comes when we are ready for it to come. But it is a long time getting ready.

We say "I love!" And we think these two words always mean the same thing. No matter how we may differ in character, in intelligence, in taste and experience, we think that "love" is always the same thing, a beautiful and noble thing, always deserving reverence, always meriting gratitude.

But that's idiotic. Love isn't always the same thing. Love is never the same thing—not even in the same person! Love is not necessarily beautiful, or noble; or even excusable. Love is as good as the individual who feels it—and no better. Love is what-are-you and what-have-you?

Love may be a prayer—a song—a blessing. Of it may be a coward's hide-away, an egotist's sounding board, a sentimental alibi, a glutton's greedy snatch. Love is sometimes a glorious partnership—but, far oftener, a habit which we are too lazy or timid to break. And sometimes a drawn-out spite contest.

Jealousy has no place in love—no justification. Nor has meddling, nor possessive domineering. These things are cancerous growths on the body of love which will surely destroy it.

—o-o—

REAL LOVE is the noblest opportunity in life, the most gallant adventure, the most consecrated service, the sweetest comfort—our closest pact with God. But most of us expect it to be a toe-dance with jazz accompaniment, or a continuous solo broadcast. And quit when we find it isn't.

There is no discipline as stern as the discipline of love, nor isolation as complete, no monotony as wearing, no sacrifice is cruel. It is the most civilized of all our performances. And because it is, the best of us can work at it but for short periods only. But work at it we must, if we would achieve it.

We rush to each other in a great flame of longing, believing that all will be well if we only keep this fire alight. Yet, strangely, the deepest, strongest and most lasting bonds of love are achieved in those hours when the heart is quite cool and only the mind carries on. In hours, even, when we actually dislike each other and keep faith by conscious painful effort!

Love is not "the greatest thing in life." Life is the greatest thing in life. Beware of love that cries that "life is well lost"—and of a "perfectly happy" marriage that shuts life away. And therein lies that certain test of love which we are always craving. Does love make you braver, more honest, more eager to live? Does it make you willing to face those challenges you have hitherto dodged, accept those burdens you have hitherto shirked?

And will the loved one face those challenges with you, share those burdens, and despise you if you try to escape? Then it is love—really! And worth anything it costs.

Tomorrow You'll Wear

Everything but plain clothes. Heavy jewelry, embroidered jackets, fancy sleeves, fur shoulders, beaver hats and big muffs, novelty belts, funny hats.

The skating girl silhouette, which is the return of the full, flared coat hemmed in fur to accent its flare, accenting the legs at the same time.

The straight and narrow silhouette, with the longer jacket often belted; or the dress with the wide crushed girdle in softest kid.

Leopard jackets over black frocks of dinner length after dark.

Gold sequin berets with snoods, matching your dinner jacket trimmed with sequins.

Fuzzy fur caps with animal heads, matching a muff, with untrimmed cloth coats.

Variety in Barettes

Those "scolding locks," as grandmother termed the tiny wisps of hair which would not stay in place when she wore a high hair-do, again are proving bothersome to the followers of fashion. Barettes are the only solution, as they were in 1900, but the modern versions are much more handsome than the old varieties. Flower sprays, for example, may be obtained in any shade that harmonizes with an evening dress, while gold and silver themes also are plentiful. Tiny bowknots of ribbon or velvet also are being worn and the woman with black or snow-white hair will find the black jet barettes most effective.

If I had a Daughter

Writer Says He Would Like to Train Her to Be Economically Independent of Any Snipe of a Husband She May Happen to Take to Her Heart.

By Manuel Komroff.

AITHRA HOLLAND

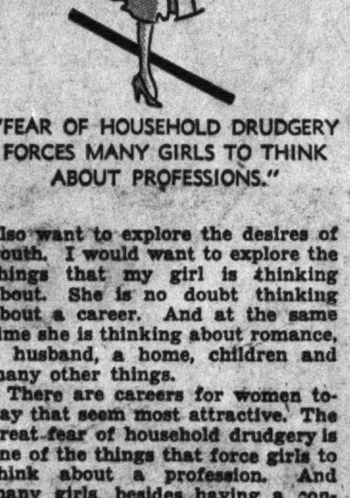
I WOULD like my girl to have as many advantages as my boy. In fact, I would like her to have all the advantages given a boy and then some extra ones so that the customary chains that hang upon the average woman would hang very lightly on my girl's wrists and not cut too heavily into her flesh.

Marriage, a new home and motherhood are events that every girl may expect. These often are heavy chains to bear and I would like my girl to know how they could be made to hang as lightly as the tinkling silver bracelets of a Javanese dancer. One should always prefer the dancer to the drudge.

And, without escaping the natural duties of wife and mother, I am convinced that much of the drudgery of womanhood is degrading and quite unnecessary. And I am also certain much unhappiness is due to a want of understanding and lack of flexibility. In the home happiness is a duty. Radiance of spirit may be one of the great natural gifts from heaven but this spirit can be prompted and encouraged until it becomes part of one's nature. These are some of the things I would like to talk about with my girl.

Also we would look about among our friends and we would discover that the self-centered and selfish women are not only unhappy but they breed an evil force that makes all about them also unhappy. We would compare the traits and manners of the happy souls in our midst with the unhappy ones. We would try to estimate how much is due to education, enviroment, selfishness of nature, how much can be controlled and what are the hidden forces beyond human reach. We would probably come to a definite conclusion that much of life can be altered and much of the bad can be turned into good. And happiness is a kind of social diet.

And after exploring happiness and some of the things that march hand in hand with happiness we would also want to explore the desires of youth. I would want to explore the things that my girl is thinking about. She is no doubt thinking about a career. And at the same time she is thinking about romance, a husband, a home, children and many other things.



"FEAR OF HOUSEHOLD DRUDGERY FORCES MANY GIRLS TO THINK ABOUT PROFESSIONS."

There are careers for women today that seem most attractive. The great fear of household drudgery is one of the things that force girls to think about a profession. And many girls, besides having a congenial employment, would enjoy the independence and economic freedom.

Yes, I think I would like my girl to have as much freedom and independence as possible, for many girls often marry quite worthless youths, and to be tied to a sorry human specimen is indeed very hard. But against this kind of unhappiness the only insurance I can think of is independence.

Independence of spirit is one kind of independence, but it is greatly strengthened by economic independence. A small income would help any young woman, and if I am not able to provide one for my girl I would want to cast about to see what special training we could get that would lead to this kind of freedom. The kind that would make her independent from any snipe of a husband she may happen to take to her heart.

I would like my girl to have some kind of a task she could do easily and in a field that was not too overcrowded so that in case of an emergency arose she could make a modest and steady livelihood. In this thing I think, unless talent is overflowing, the crafts are better than the arts. Design is better than painting; editing, proofreading and translating all better than novel writing; dressmaking, weaving and teaching all better than an operatic career. By better, I mean easier to achieve, more immediate and more lasting. One is a pattern for glory but I seek a way for bread and butter. And when you are forced to save yourself, Robinson Crusoe would advise a small boat, one that you can row yourself.

Gauthier, the famous author of Mademoiselle de Maupin, once cast about for some such congenial occupation for his daughter so that she might be independent if the need arose. As she was deeply interested in Oriental life and history and as she also had a talent for languages, he persuaded her to study Chinese. At that time there were very few Occidentals—and there are not many more today—who are able to read Chinese. Mlle. Gauthier made some of our very first translations from Chinese poetry and all her life, at almost any moment she desired, she could pick up her pen and translate from the Chinese classics or from current journals. A ready market stood waiting for her work and all her life she had this backlog to support her independence.

"MARRIAGE AND MOTHERHOOD ARE OFTEN HEAVY CHAINS TO BEAR. I WOULD LIKE MY GIRL TO KNOW HOW THEY COULD BE MADE TO HANG AS LIGHTLY AS A SILVER BRACELET."

—o-o—

AND so if you were my girl I would want you to have such a backlog as this; something that cannot be lost or stolen, something that is part of you, a work that is not grinding but one that has spirit and to your nature would be congenial. I would want it to be something that is not too commercial or in a field overcrowded. The lucrative employments of today are often the unprofitable jobs of tomorrow. It would be one of our tasks to cast about and see what the world is like and try some of the different occupations in this vast and rapidly changing human workshop.

The career is one thing that we must study but also we must think of many other things. And it would be best to get into our old country clothes and take our old car out of the barn for a long jaunt over our country. In this vast land there are many things for girls to see and learn.

First of all we would see how people live in the country and how they live in the cities. We would compare the life of a woman on the farm with life in a city apartment. We would see the work they do and how they play. Humanity reveals itself through its amusements. And one of the things we would notice is the vast difference between relaxation in the North and relaxation in the South and how different the homes and how different are the minds and ideals of the woman.

And all the time while we were traveling about making these intimate domestic notes we would be casting about for that job that would be unique and satisfying. At the same time we would look into as many homes as we possibly could and try to figure out how the long domestic chains can be shrunk into a pair of jingling bracelets.

Drudgery and heavy duty are things that we can reduce at once. We would learn the home machinery and how best to use it. We would learn about air and light and sunshine, and all the other things that are part of a home. We would visit homes that are modern, convenient and planned with intelligence and we would compare these to the stupid designs that are so numerous all over our land. We would see which houses were built without regard for the woman and which have considered her as a human being. We would find out what seems to make an interior give out cheer and what line or color is depressing. And we would learn why some places reflect a happy life and others look like an authentic setting for crime.

And then we should jaunt out West and see how different is the life of woman there. We could then make comparisons between different sections of the land. Not alone comparisons of home life and domestic matters but also we should have a glance at romance, for it is natural for girls to be concerned with romance.

We know what the conventions are in the East and how girls get to meet boys. We would want to see how the girls in the West get to meet young men and what kind of fellows attract them and how they shoo away those they do not like.

"WE WOULD EXPLORE HAPPINESS TOGETHER."

Yes, romance is an important thing in life and it takes on many forms, some as colorful as the dress of our cowboys and some quite sordid.

My girl and I would look at the magazine stands in the different towns through which we passed just to see what the people of each section are reading. Some we would find quite varied and some stalls, alas, would be stacked high with America's cheapest and lowest printed pulp. And we would conclude that some romance in certain parts of the land is very cheap.

And while we were comparing romance, love and friendship as we found it in different parts of our land, we would also glance for a moment at some of the other things that sustain life. Food is one of the things that we would like to investigate. We would look into the marketing and distribution and storage of food. We would visit the kitchens of small homes and large homes, of farm houses, ranch houses and apartments to learn what we can.

We would also visit playgrounds and nurseries. We would try to compare the schools of the various states through which we traveled and find out which were progressive and which were backward. If my girl had any children she would not want to bring them up in an ignorant and stupid community. This would be too great a handicap for her to overcome single handed.

The world is very full of so many things that it would be impossible to see everything. But a spirit of curiosity is something that I would like to encourage in my girl. And curiosity would lead to investigation. I would like my girl to be curious about hygiene and health so that we could look about and see how these things influence the welfare of the community.

My girl and I would ride through the roads of our land, keeping to the feminine side. We want to see the American woman and try to measure her capacity for work, play and happiness. I would want my girl to learn how her own abilities could be harnessed so that her future may be rich and full.

Jewelry Oddities

Many different oddities are creating a sensation in autumn jewelry so that a woman may now appear with a miniature banjo on her coat lapel, a tinkling bell on her ear, or a collection of beetles clinging to her throat. Unusual costume jewelry prevails in the smartest collections that are seen in the shops.

The musical emphasis is expressed by carefully designed cloisonne banjos available as watch fobs, brooches and as dangling ornaments on gold bracelets. Bells that really play a little tune as the wearer moves are equally as effective and may be purchased in pairs for the ears or by the dozens to attach to necklaces and bracelets. Miniature urns, various birds and insects and numerous leaf formations also are made of gold that looks extremely heavy and fits into the trend toward elaborate accessories.

Girl about Town

by Clarissa Start

AMONG the unsung heroes who make the annual Veiled Prophet ball the exciting and impressive spectacle it is are those little-heard-of fellows, the florists, who spend all their waking and sleeping moments the weeks before the ball in silent prayer for the safety of a certain trainload of tiny glass test tubes that arrives here a day or so before the big event.

For these test tubes with their rubber covering, and shredded tissue paper wrappings, reminiscent of Easter eggs, contain the stems of some 2000 or 3000 orchids, and likewise the water which is the lifeblood of those stems. Without the test tubes, many a lovely gown would be bare of floral adornment, and many a spectator would be robbed of the familiar sight of that wave of purple and related orchid colors that seems to stretch around the ballroom.

To the maids and matrons of honor and to most of the women who attend the ball, orchids mean the ball, and vice versa. But to the florists both mean a long and hectic day, with a to-do and a hubbub that is rivaled only by the New Year rush.

—o-o—

FROM ONE OF our West End florists we learned, much to our surprise, that comparatively few orders are placed in advance, most of them coming in the day of the ball. Consequently there is invariably a dearth of orchids despite all preparations; they just can't get enough.

It was not always so. In 1878 when flower growers came to St. Louis, each carrying two ordinary chip baskets of flowers, the blooms for which retailers fought, bribed, begged, and almost stole, were short stemmed roses and camellias. The fashion then was for nosegays made of these flowers and adorned with ordinary garden asparagus fern and lace paper. Along about 1890, American Beauty roses came into the picture but these too were so rare that they sold as high as $60 or $100 per dozen.

Orchids themselves were not seen at the Ball until 1904. The first ones, introduced at the World's Fair, came from the Dale estate at Brampton, Ontario. Now, the florist told us, most of them come from Philadelphia and New Jersey, although some rare varieties are sent from Hawaii and Mexico, and arrangements are being made to have South American orchids in the future.

—o-o—

THE QUARANTINE of 1919 caused a scarcity of orchids until growers were successful in raising them from seed. Since it requires seven years to grow orchids, it has only been in very recent years that they have been available in large numbers. But, like whisky, the florist pointed out, more are "coming of age" each year.

Gardenias, which are now somewhat out of favor for the Big Occasion, made their debut in 1925. A local grower on the South Side furnished most of the gardenias then and florists literally camped on his doorstep, waiting for the flowers to open. Gardenias were later taken over by Big Business, and greatly improved. But camellias are probably the runners-up in popularity to orchids.

—o-o—

TRENDS IN wearing flowers have changed with the years, too. Corsages in the early 1900s, for instance, were often 12 inches in diameter and weighed more than a pound. It is interesting to note that, although dancing postures were decried as "too intimate" at the time, one of these corsages could be worn at the waist all evening without danger of being crushed. By 1919 these large corsages had given way to shoulder corsages, which in turn eventually "went out."

The lei, which came into prominence a few years ago, will be much in evidence this year, we are told. The newest wrinkle in leis are those made of Hawaiian crown flowers, a small white flower rushed to this country via the China Clipper, and then by plane to St. Louis. With four or five strands of crown flowers and the added attraction of an orchid or camellia on your lei, you'll feel just like a breath of Kalua or Waikiki, with or without a grass skirt.

—o-o—

SPEAKING OF subjects horticultural brings us to the Garden Shop, a new and unique venture on the part of four former debutantes, Marcella Berkley, Eloise Wells Polk, Eugenia Wells and Marion Ewing. This emporium for the garden minded caters to calls for anything from grass seed to a portable barbecue pit, and the ambitious foresome has also taken it on themselves to supply cut flowers, along with a flower subscription service. All this strikes a timely note since everyone has become garden minded recently, whether they have an estate or a back yard.

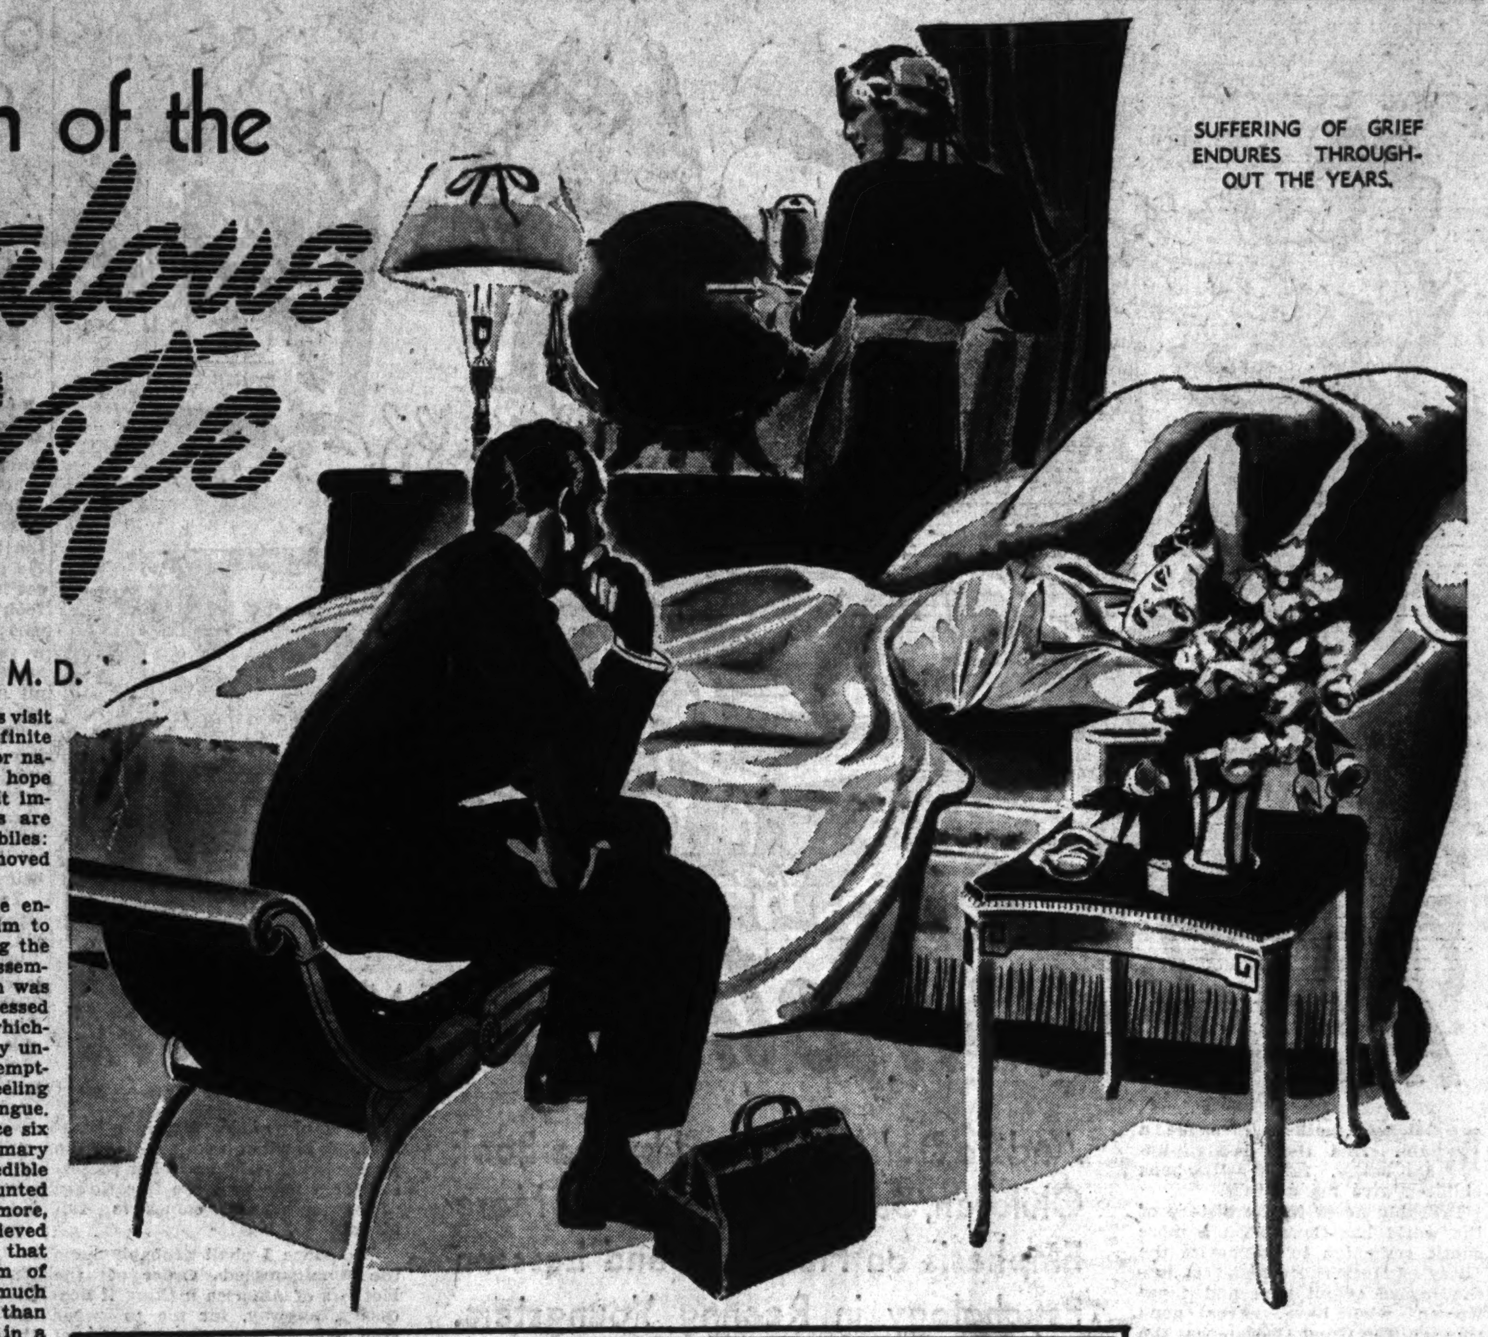
PEGGY FEARS

Problem of the Jealous Wife



SUFFERING OF GRIEF ENDURES THROUGHOUT THE YEARS.

By Arthur E. Hertzler, M. D.

This Nervous Type of Patient Is Difficult for Doctor to Handle—If Her Husband Is a Real Bounder, She Swears by Him; If Faithful, She Swears at Him.

IN MOST cases when patients visit the physician there is a definite complaint, usually of a minor nature which they have some hope may be relieved. In general, it implies that only minor repairs are needed, as we say of automobiles: battery recharged, carbon removed or something.

The old-time doctor was the entire staff and it was up to him to help the lady undress, counting the petticoats, and to help her reassemble them after the examination was complete. If one ever witnessed this process, or procedure, whichever it may be, one can readily understand why the doctor was tempted to content himself with feeling the pulse and inspecting the tongue. In the beginning of my practice six petticoats formed the customary number. This may seem incredible but it is the literal truth. I counted them many a time. Furthermore, many of the patients had achieved such a degree of plumpness that even when one divested them of their clothing one was not much nearer the seat of complaint than before. Hunting for a needle in a haystack is practically child's play compared with locating a pain in three-houndred-odd pounds of gross weight. The general topography of his patients made it safe for the doctor to examine them without being chaperoned by an attendant; that should be fairly obvious. There was that consolation: a patient with six petticoats had no sinister designs and, it may be added, presented no temptations.

The patient now, as then, must be individualized, the treatment depending on the type of patient. The younger women usually supply the greater number of complainers. You explain that her stomach trouble is due to nervousness. If there is any excuse for assigning the trouble to overwork, seize on that. The laziest person on earth is complimented if you suggest he is overworked. If her face lightens up at this suggestion one can give her full doses of bromides and ask for a later interview. If you cannot relax her face by this talk, and vomiting continues to be the dominant complaint, it is necessary to take her into the hospital. Explain to the nurse, out of sight of the patient but within her hearing, that the patient must have very small quantities of broth for a day and then be put on full diet. "If she vomits," you conclude, "get the stomach tube ready at once, for gastric lavage will be necessary." An empty gnawing stomach with threats of the stomach tube causes most of them to eat everything that comes within reach.

—o-o—

NOW, there is another type of patient even more troublesome. They come to the office alone. No hubby is to be seen anywhere in the background. He has made his getaway, a deserter or just a plain refugee. You have to figure out which. If he has deserted, you can do her some good with sedatives. If he is a refugee, the thing to do is to send her to a neurologist as a temporary port on the voyage to the lawyer's office. These patients are taciturn. There is some maladjustment, which the doctor is not told about but knows just the same.

Another type suffers from too much Mamma. Friend Husband is not along but Mamma is. This is one of the most prolific sources of female complaint. Mamma has had all the symptoms and Daughter unconsciously imitates her. Hence you must diagnose the mother.

In cases where there is a strong nervous element, and even if there is pathology, the operation must be avoided if possible, because the result will be a disappointment to all concerned. One can sometimes get a lead as to the nature of the trouble by noting her given name. If it is a silly one, there is a queer psychological quirk in the family, not necessarily on the mother's side. It merely indicates a family trait which may manifest itself in unusual acumen or in nervous complaints. Therefore, one must not place too much emphasis on such leads, for while usually of significance, they may lead one astray.

On the other hand, if a child is named Edith and blossoms out as Edythe or if Anna becomes Annette, you know there is a neurotic quirk in the case, even though a family relationship cannot be identified. In the former case you are dealing with a possibility; in the latter, with a fact. These are social and not medical problems, unless some hapless surgeon begins to operate. From then on it is, in fact, a medical problem. Unhappily one cannot put back what has been removed. The difficulty is that sometimes such patients are afflicted with an organic disease which demands operation. This may cure the organic disease, but the patient's nervous disorder, or her pure meanness, as the case may be, still flourishes. This is the type of person who goes in for malpractice suits, hence the wise surgeon refuses an operation even when the patient really needs surgical treatment.

There is a type of female complainer of greater obscurity. She comes alone, unattended either by husband or woman companion. Her general attitude puts the doctor on the alert. You can see icicles hanging down from her chin, that is how friendly she is. Now the diagnosis is plain enough. She thinks hubby has been out visiting the blonde. If he is a real rounder, his wife will swear by him. If he is faithful she swears at him. This is a funny situation only for those who don't have to live in it. The jealous woman nearly always has a faithful husband.

Such a woman is difficult to handle. You examine her carefully. Then you tell her everything is negative. She is going to believe what she wants to believe and no doctor's opinion is going to stop her. Probably sh hasn't any idea who the blonde is, but she is certain there must be one. It must be a blonde. Possibly hubby has given in too easily for her last new dress or a new radio. If you do not kick on what your wife wants, she is bound to be suspicious. She thinks there is something to cover up or else you would howl at the proposal to spend money.

The foregoing account may seem cynical, but the fact is that these are very real and very important problems both to patient and to the doctor. No one suffers more than the jealous woman. It is distressing to the doctor because it is an incurable state. Once the cause of the complaint is known his course is clear, but if he searches for some organic lesion his labor will be lost. The precursor of jealousy is usually self-pity; and this usually comes into evidence if searched for, because no one is more loquacious than the woman who pities herself. The difficulty from the doctor's point of view is that listening to details is time-consuming. Worse still, the patient may find the doctor is the only one who understands her, if he be too sympathetic. Many a doctor has lost his happy home trying to unravel such cases.

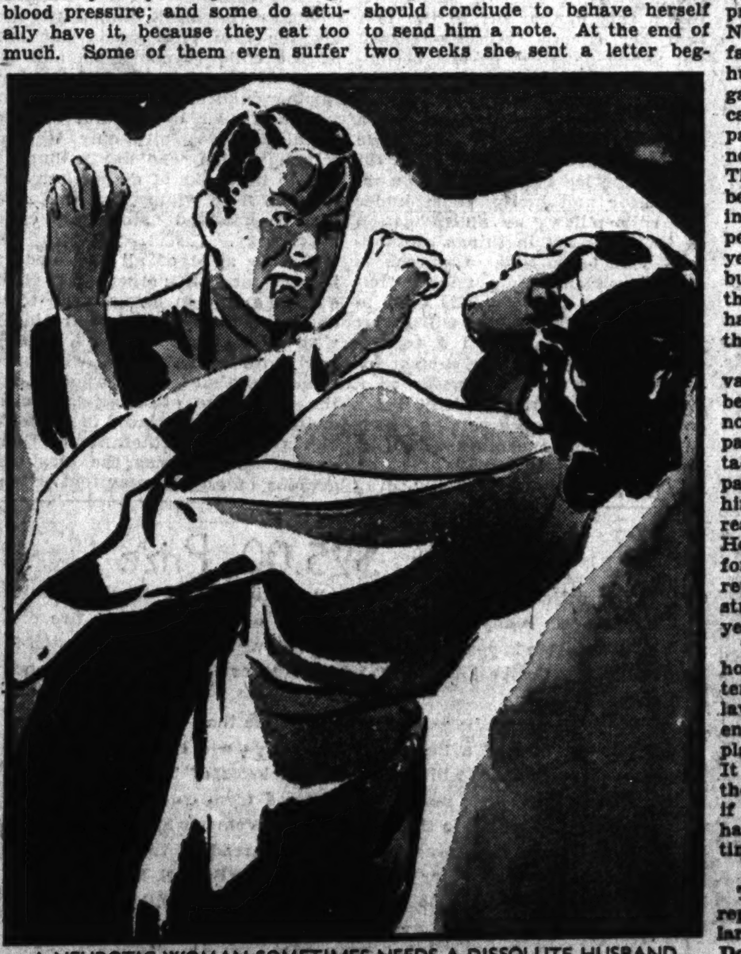
The best cure for a neurotic woman is to marry a profligate and drunken husband. I have seen many cured either on the first or subsequent gamble. I would not advocate kicking the nervous ladies around because it requires a finished technique to accomplish results. Just cussing them gets nowhere, physical measures are necessary. Friend husband must both get drunk and beat her up. The drunken state is required as an excuse in wifie's mind for the beating. After hubby becomes reasonably sober he says he is sorry and everything is lovely until the gong sounds for round two.

—o-o—

ANOTHER group includes women who are overfed and underexercised. These cases are most commonly seen in those past middle life. Usually the children have grown up and established homes of their own and Mother has lost incentive to all exercises except that attending the consumption of food. These patients usually have ruled the home and its inmates so long that any suggestions looking to a change in their routine is welcomed only with a glassy stare. One explains that it would be well for them to limit intake by gymnastic exercises, the same consisting in pushing themselves away from the table when they think they are still ravenously hungry.

These patients complain of distention of the stomach. It is because they eat too much. They have difficulty in breathing, also because they eat too much. Quite commonly they complain of high blood pressure; and some do actually have it, because they eat too much. Some of them even suffer from it. If the doctor is in need of attentive clients he can increase his revenue by telling the patient that she has high blood pressure. He need not be more specific. The patient knows no more than we doctors about high blood pressure, but it is something that one can fix on. In rare cases in which management is necessary, it can be done without picturing the dire results of these conditions. That only makes matters worse. One can tell them that high blood pressure, in the absence of organic disease, is just one of those things and need occasion no alarm. The doctor then has done his duty without inconveniencing the patient in the least. Thereupon he anoints himself with his own self-approval and a pleasant time has been had all around.

I have known several victims of selfish and nagging wives who found relief in narcotics and many more who resorted to alcohol. One is disposed to excuse them because of their desperation. A case in point. The husband of a woman of this type had become a narcotic user because of the eternal nagging of his wife. One day the husband calmly told his spouse that he had his fill, that he was going away for good, but if at any time she should conclude to behave herself to send him a note. At the end of two weeks she sent a letter begging him to return, which he did He died soon after, likely of shock.



A NEUROTIC WOMAN SOMETIMES NEEDS A DISSOLUTE HUSBAND.

Many of these cases could be cured and many more prevented if the husband had the understanding and courage to demand his rights. This is not easy, because the sweet young things get him going long before he wakes up. The easiest thing is to drift along. The wife goes to Florida for her health, and the husband takes the stenographer out to dinner for his health. Someone writes the wife and the fireworks start. It is a social and not a moral problem, certainly not medical.

The human being is a perverse creature. If those ladies troubled with the thought of interloping blondes would just say, "There is no blonde; I just think there is," and repeat this a thousand times a day it would at least keep them occupied. That is the real requirement. They would be right in most cases.

—o-o—

WHETHER these patients above referred to have had adequate medical treatment depends on the point of view. The fact should not be overlooked that such borderline cases may be actually harmed by extended examination, for this may fix the patient's mind on other symptoms of which they had previously been unaware and, in general, give them the impression that they are worse off than is actually the case. It will be a sad day for many not sick of body, but with a mental background, when or if the family doctor is replaced by the political clinic. No clinic can displace him in cases in which a human understanding is necessary preliminary to therapeutic efforts. No one understands so well as the family doctor that a great part of human suffering is not due to organic disease. Really, the sufferings caused by disease are for the most part of short duration; many are not attended by any pain at all. The suffering of grief, whether it be due to circumstances beyond the individual's control, or if it be superimposed, endures throughout the years. It may be voluble or silent, but it is real. In the passing of the old family doctor these patients have lost their best friends, and their chief protector.

Office practice has one great advantage over visits to the patient's bedside. If the young doctor does not know what is wrong with the patient he can adopt the lawyer's tactics and stall. He can give the patient something to take and ask him to return, and in the interval read up on the various possibilities. However, the doctor must read fast, for it is not his habit to charge a retaining fee and the patient may stray off to another doctor. Lawyers are smarter that way.

Though I have always lived an honest life I invariably get the jitters when I receive a letter with a lawyer's name on the corner of the envelope. Of course, there is one place safe from lawyers—in heaven. It is reported there are no lawyers there. Anyway, perdition sounds as if it might be restful to one who has practiced medicine for a lifetime.

This is the second of two articles reprinted from Dr. Hertzler's popular book, "The Horse and Buggy Doctor."

Movie Official Has Own Planes Chased From Air

Harry Warner Didn't Know They Were Making Scene for His Studio.

By Harold Heffernan

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 8.

JACK WARNER was very close to being fighting mad. He strode into the adjoining office of his brother, Harry, pointed out the window and said, "Just listen to that!" The producer-brothers cupped their ears and looked out. Yes, it was pretty bad.

Two airplanes were chasing each other back and forth a few hundred feet above the studio grounds, their motors droning a steady tattoo into the microphones of half a dozen epics at work on Warner sound stages.

"We'll put a stop to that kind of business," said Harry. He pressed a buzzer and ordered his secretary to get the United States Department of Commerce on the phone.

"Listen," said Harry, to the air lane control man, "they're ruining us out here, the noise from airplane motors has killed more scenes than our producers can keep track of."

The department man said he would send a plane up at once with a sign on it telling the frolicking pilots to move somewhere else.

A few minutes later, observers on the lot saw a third plane draw alongside the two cavorting ships, and soon all three disappeared.

Half an hour later the telephone in Harry Warner's office rang. It was the man from the Department of Commerce.

"Well," said the voice, "we moved them away, but I just thought we ought to tell you the pilots were a couple of stunt men doing a dog fight for your picture, 'Dawn Patrol.'"

THE PROPRIETOR of Beverly Hills' leading food market shakes his head (sadly, we thought) and says the good old merchandising days are gone. Time was when the movie folks were reckless food purchasers. Prices meant nothing. Many unscrupulous servants made deals to split 25 per cent graft cuts with the grocers each month. Stars never checked household expenses.

"Now the movie people all have agents and business managers," said the marketer. "They watch every item more closely than the average housewife. And, boy, how they do shop! I know the wives of two important stars who would walk two blocks to save a penny on a box of breakfast food."

WHILE MGM was sending out frantic calls all over the East for Alan Hale to get back and do some added scenes in "Listen Darling," the comedy-villain was visiting his foster-uncle, ex-Gov. James M. Cox of Ohio, for the first time in 37 years.

When the studio telegram finally caught up with Hale in Dayton, "Uncle Jim" recalled to him a scene enacted between them at their last meeting—when Alan was 7. The boy was leaving for his home in Washington, and his uncle told him, "you don't have to go. You can stay here with me." But Alan, the boy, cried and said he wanted to go. He was homesick.

"That offer still holds good," Cox told Alan, the man, when he heard of the summons from Hollywood. "You don't have to go."

"You may know your politics," replied Hale, "but you don't know your Hollywood."

Features of General Interest

Let me Suggest

by

Josephine Walter

A VERY scientific gentleman of my acquaintance has a spotlight placed in the ceiling of his dining room which focuses directly on the space in front of him where he carves the meat. Now, the feature that makes this a very unusual spotlight, indeed, is the fact it automatically turns off after a certain number of minutes for my friend has figured down to the last second just how long it takes him to carve a roast or fowl. Now, this may seem to be carrying science a little too far for most of us, and yet I feel that many people have completely neglected the possibilities of modern lighting.

Today, most people would not think of building or buying a house unless they asked about its air-conditioning possibilities. And yet few are the people who realize the advances that have been made in light conditioning. Most people feel they have done their lighting duty when they have provided Dad with a reading lamp beside his favorite chair, Junior with a study light on his desk, and Hulda with a glaring center fixture in the kitchen. Now, however, we should study the lighting of our homes critically, not only from the standpoint of greater efficiency, but for greater decorative beauty and interest as well.

—o-o—

CONSIDER THE various rooms in your house critically from the viewpoint of illumination, taking into account not only adequate reading and working areas, but the general effect as well. Your drapery and wall colors may take on a different cast from those they assume during daylight, and yet they should be equally effective and pleasing. Too often, due to inadequate lighting, they become murky and muddy in effect and your house, when it should be at its most charming, is lifeless and uninspired. The ideal lighting for most rooms, outside the kitchen or the game room, is a soft, diffused effect, with gently contrasting areas of light and shade to add dramatic interest. There has been a great deal of talk, during the past few years, about indirect lighting and yet very little has been done about it in the average home. Most of us have eliminated center fixtures in the living room and many no longer use the overhead light in the dining room and yet, in place of this type of lighting, few have substituted adequate indirect lighting.

—o-o—

COVE LIGHTING was one of the first types of indirect lighting to be introduced, but few people have availed themselves of this type of lighting which is excellent, both for seeing purposes and dramatic effect. In this type of lighting a trough is usually set entirely around the room just below the ceiling which should be painted white or a near white color to reflect the light into the room. Sometimes, however, lights are merely placed above valances over windows, especially if the room is not very large. Lighting of windows has just been introduced recently but is an excellent solution to the light problem. These lights are usually concealed behind the draperies and are placed either across the top of the window or down the sides. It is possible in this type of lighting to use a daylight bulb, if desired, to give the effect of light coming in through the draperies.

—o-o—

THERE ARE innumerable other ways of obtaining lighting effects. Bookcases or built-in shelves containing decorative ornaments are excellent sources of unusual light treatments. Niches, too, may become a focal point of interest and frequently, in a hallway, may provide a source of adequate light as well, if illuminated from within. Mirrors, especially over fireplaces or above a buffet in the dining room may be sunk into the wall and lighted from the side, thus reflecting the light into the room.

—o-o—

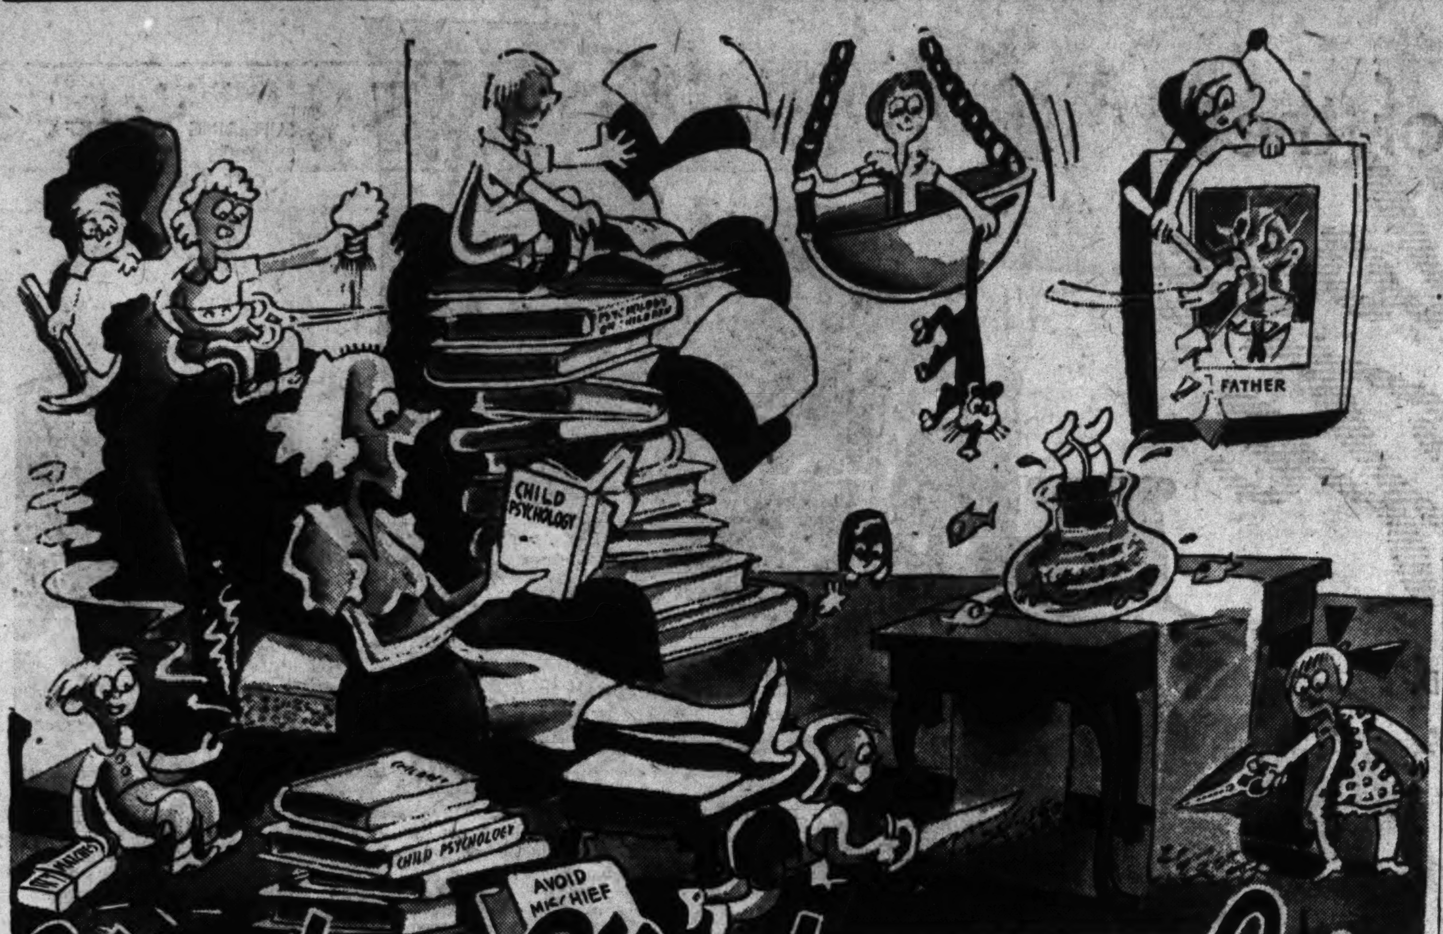
THE MODERNISTS in furniture design have often obtained unusual and effective results by incorporating the lighting equipment right into a piece of furniture. Thus, we often see beds with built-in compartments across the top containing a light by which the occupant may read in comfort. Dining tables, too, are often built with a center glass panel from which light is reflected up into the faces of the diners—incidentally, an extremely flattering effect for the feminine contingent.

—o-o—

The light company, understanding the importance of adequate and efficient lighting homes today, offers a free service which it calls "light and sight service." It will advise about the proper type and number of lamps to have, the kinds of shades that give the most efficient light, the amount of wattage that should be used for each lamp and for an entire room and many other questions about suitable equipment for proper home lighting.

—o-o—

THE NEXT TIME you are out after dark, come home, switch on the lights in your living room and gaze upon it with a stranger's eye. Does it look, gay, cheerful and the type of room you would like to spend an evening in or are there glaring spots of light and murky shadows which might readily harbor ghosts? Answer yourself honestly—and then do something about it.



Modern Mothers GIVE ME A Pain

And So Do Their Raised-by-the-Book Children, Says Writer—Favors More Emphasis on Hairbrush and Less on Psychology in Rearing Youngsters.

By VIRGINIA IRWIN

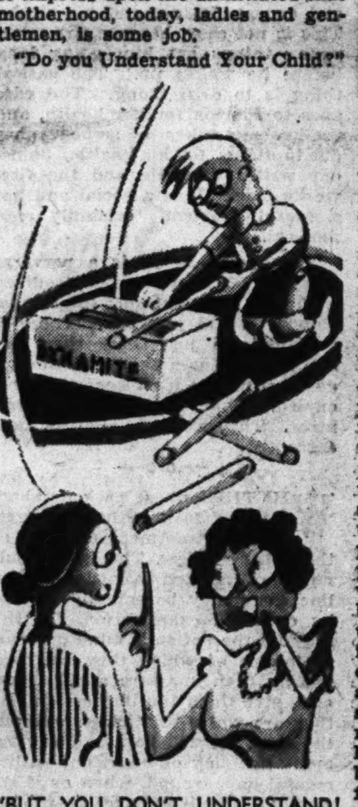
Drawings by Amadee.

MODERN mothers give me a pain. And their brought-up-half-baked, raised-by-the-book children give me another.

Probably never in the history of the world has there been a more subtle campaign to emphasize the Glory of Motherhood and beat into the brains of all men and those women who have never gone through The Great Ordeal, that the Having and Raising of Children is The Supreme Sacrifice.

Pick up any magazine or newspaper you like and there in inescapable type is some article designed to impress upon the uninitiated that motherhood, today, ladies and gentlemen, is some job.

"Do you Understand Your Child?" asks one article; "Are Tantrums Your Trials?" questions another; "Foundation for Failure Laid in the Formative Years," suggests still another. And the implication is plain. We, the unblessed, must understand that a mother's problems are legion.



"BUT YOU DON'T UNDERSTAND! SNATCHING SOMETHING AWAY FROM A CHILD DOES SOMETHING TO HIM."

Being a godmother to a couple of terrors and friend to a handful of mamas with infants, has given me the opportunity to observe firsthand the problems of motherhood and the application of the solutions suggested by child psychologists. And my conviction remains that a little more emphasis on the hairbrush and less on the rules in the book would make for a better child and a less martyr-like mother.

Not long ago I spent an afternoon with a mother who before The Great Event was my idea of a swell gal. Beautiful, level-headed and the possessor of a brilliant brain, she was my nomination for the title of Perfect Mother—until I saw her in action. For one solid hour she coaxed, pleaded and tried in more ways than I could have thought up in two weeks, to get her almost-two-year-old son to give her a beer bottle he had found under the kitchen sink. Finally, when I was thoroughly bored by the proceedings, I remarked, "If he were mine I'd take that bottle away from him and work on the seat of his rompers."

With the sad eyes of a misunderstood spaniel, this but-the-book-said mother regarded me with that look that mothers reserve for us gals who have never gone down into the Valley of the Shadow, and observed patronizingly, "But you don't understand. Snatching something away from a child does something to him." And there she left me in the middle of the mystery, with no explanation of what that "something" was, but with the realization that having a baby had certainly done "something" to what was once a sensible young woman.

Another case in point is one that reminds me of that old saying: "Too many cooks spoil the broth." In this case, it's too many books spoil the brat.

The mother to whom I have long been devoted, but in whom I recognize the fault of being too impressionable, bought a sort of five-foot-shelf of baby books the minute she was sure it was to be her privilege to start knitting upon tiny garments. It was her idea to sift the nuggets of wisdom from these books, mix with a generous portion of common sense, and apply the result to her offspring, which turned out to be a beautiful baby girl. To date, the product of this scheme is an almost incorrigible young lady of two, who in my estimation needs nothing so much as a steady diet of good, sound spankings, and whose mother needs nothing so much as someone to hit her over the head with one of her baby books and wake her up to the fact that she's fitting her darling daughter to make her debut in a Detention Home.

In what I like to regard as my tactful way, I recently attempted to tip this mother off to the fact that her friends secretly regard her young daughter as fast becoming a problem child. To bring the conversation around to the point I wanted to make, I told about a couple of young hoodlums whose mother regarded their penchant for taking the ice cubes out of the refrigerator and hiding them under the sofa pillows as an indication of their interest in things mechanical. "It is possible that she is right," explained my friend, "but if it annoys her, she has only to suggest something that will divert their minds. Jane had a terrific interest in the medicine cabinet for a while and actually swallowed a whole jar of petroleum jelly, but I interested her in the pots and pans in the kitchen cabinet and now she's perfectly satisfied."

Having a kid continually drag all the pots and pans out of the kitchen cabinet into the middle of the kitchen floor was not my idea of a problem solved, but I refrained from saying so, just as I refrained from comment in the following case: A young man of about three, whose mother is another of those moderns who "understands" her child, has for the past few months poured every drink of water offered him down the front of his suit. According to his mother, he is expressing "something." "But what?" I asked. "Oh, you can't tell so soon," she answered. "But we'll find out."

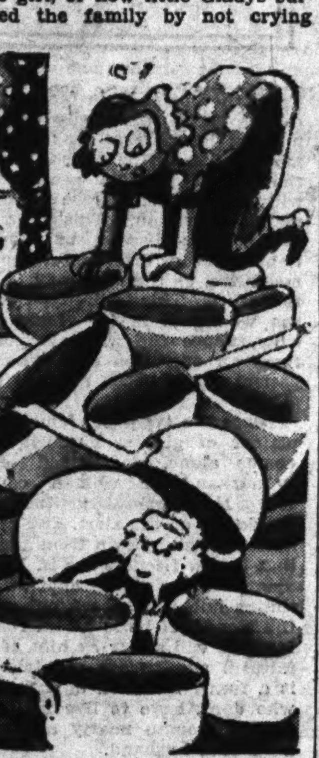
—o-o—

LIKE many of the modern mothers whom I have observed, this parent of an impossible infant injects into her conversation at suitable times the statement that she will never allow her child to grow up feeling under an obligation to her because she gave him birth. Quite noble, isn't it? And much more satisfactory to take the glory now by losing no opportunity to emphasize the fact that raising a child today is, my dear, really some job.

Personally, I think children are swell. The raised-by-the-book brats may give me a pain, but I still like them. I even like mean kids, like the little boy who tried to saw the leg off my piano, but modern mothers get on my nerves. I'd much prefer the old-fashioned kind who were honest enough to admit that they expected to be set in a place apart once the blessed bundle arrived from heaven And I've had enough of having it dinned into me via the new propaganda put out by the child psychologists and by the noble mamas themselves that raising children today is a bigger job than ever before and can be handled successfully only by unselfish women who are willing to add to the tasks of diaper laundering and nose wiping, the profound and complicated study of child psychology.

And in spite of all the modern talk by modern mothers that their duty lies only in bringing up their children to the best of their ability with no reward expected, I still hold with Ernest Boyd who once remarked that "motherhood has the advantage of being the most enduring weapon placed in women's hands for the furtherance of their egoism and remains the most ingenious of all the manifold inventions employed by female selfishness. It is when a woman adds the possession of children to her possession of a man that the fine flower of her selfishness comes to full bloom."

And since I shall probably have the Amalgamated Order of the Mothers of America making it necessary, anyway, for me to wear shin guards and a bullet-proof chemise, and since we're still on the subject of children, I would like to observe that there is nothing as dull, uninteresting and unamusing as a mom or a papa who insists on telling cute tales about how Junior socked the boy next door for saying a dirty word in front of a little girl, or how little Gladys surprised the family by not crying when she pulled a half-gallon of canned tomatoes off the pantry shelf and onto her dome. People like that bore me to death, right along with modern mothers who make such an issue out of doing what, after all, quite a fair number of other women have done before, and who are responsible for the fact that newspapers and magazines today devote too much space to the subtle campaign afoot to emphasize the glory of American motherhood.



"JANE ACTUALLY SWALLOWED A JAR OF PETROLEUM JELLY, BUT I INTERESTED HER IN THE POTS AND PANS IN THE KITCHEN AND NOW SHE'S SATISFIED."

Another $25.00 Prize

IN her article on Modern Mothers, Virginia Irwin frankly admits she expects many readers to disagree with her. If you are one of them, here is your chance to win $25, which the Post-Dispatch is offering for the best letter of 1000 words or less in answer to her article.

All letters must be postmarked not later than midnight, Monday, Oct. 17. In case of a tie, duplicate awards will be made. The decision of the judges will be final. Employes of the Post-Dispatch and members of their families are barred from competition.

Address all letters to the Editor of the Women's Sunday Magazine.

Incidentally, the judges are still busy reading the many letters received in the contest for the best answer to Sara S. Moser's article, "Women are Slaves." The winner of the $25 prize will be announced next Sunday.

Overwork Can Cause Child to Have Tantrums

Youngsters Need Rest and Time to Grow, Says Expert.

By Angelo Patri

JACK had just had a birthday and one of his gifts, the best of all to him, was an electric train. He hurried home from school and spread the tracks on the living room floor, hitched the line to the floor socket and waited for the train to start. It didn't start. He picked the engine up, shook it, set it back. Nothing happened. He took the plug out and put it back carefully. Nothing happened. In a rage he lifted the engine and smashed it against the wall with all his might. Then he lay down on the floor and cried.

"What in the world ails you? A boy 11 years old acting like a spoiled infant. You've broken the engine; you've spoiled the wall. I'm about fed up with you. Get out of here and stay in your own room until you can behave like a human being."

You couldn't blame mother much when you think of it. A boy that old, in junior high school, too.

The next day Jack's science teacher entered the office to say, "I think Jack needs some attention. His work is falling off. He's irritable and jerky. He spoiled his experiment today, lost his patience and broke the slide and then cried. Looks to me as if he had about reached the end of his rope."

"I'll have the doctor see him, of course, if you say so, but there's nothing the matter with him, that I know. He's just bad tempered."

The doctor looked at Jack and said, "Humph! How old are you? Humph! What class? Humph! In a hurry, aren't you? Most of the children older than you, aren't they? I thought they must be. What do you do all day? Well, tell me what you have done so far today."

"I got up at half past six; took my bath and dressed and practiced my violin; did my history map; ate my breakfast and went to school. I stayed in school until noon. I ate my lunch; studied my Hebrew lesson. Went back to school. Then I came here."

"And if you hadn't come here what would you have been doing?"

"After school I'd have gone to Hebrew class. Then to my music lesson. Then when I got home I'd have to read French with my tutor. Then it would be dinner time. After dinner I'd have to do my homework. I'd work until I got them done, maybe 10, maybe 11. Then I'd go to bed."

"A good day's work. I haven't any medicine for you. You don't need any. You're a good boy, and quite all right. Tell you mother I said so."

After the boy had gone the doctor called his father and this is about what he said to him: "If you want to rear that boy you'd better give him time to grow. He's about all in. You said you were going abroad on a business trip? Well, take him along. No school, no lessons, just go along. Never mind the education. You'll be lucky if he gets well. The education will take care of itself when he gets strong again. You've about wrecked a fine boy. Temper? Fiddlesticks! If it had been you in his place you'd have committed murder."

Tired children have tantrums, temper storms, nervous diseases. Give them time to rest, time to grow; and don't press them too hard in their growing time. God gave them more than 20 years. Who are you to hurry them?

Room for Admiration

If you have a fine painting or lovely picture in your living room, by all means give it plenty of space so it may be admired without some less worthy picture also being in the line of vision. A lovely painting should have an entire wall to itself.

Cook's tour

by George Rector

It is estimated that 50,000,000 people will visit the World's Fair in New York next summer. The preparation and service of food to such a stupendous crowd is particularly interesting to me, so I decided to go out to the fair grounds and find out all about it.

Famous restaurateurs from New York, Chicago and other large cities will be among the concessionaires. Every known type of eating place has been arranged for—cafeterias, lunch counters, tearooms, theater restaurants, swank supper clubs, as well as private clubs and beer pavilions. These restaurants will serve food that will appease the appetites of all. Moderate prices, I am informed, will prevail in most of the restaurants.

Now, all this chatter about eating at the fair leads up to a bit of news I have been saving for you. I am going to make my headquarters at the gas exhibit, where I will have a perfectly appointed modern kitchen to conduct cooking demonstrations several times daily. Every Rector specialty and many other foods will be prepared before you. It will please me very much to be of service to you in solving any of your cookery problems. So let me, now, in this column, extend a personal invitation to you all to come into my kitchen at the fair.

—o-o—

NOW THAT COOLER days are here, what is nicer to tempt the appetite than a savory casserole? Here is a recipe that I am sure you will use often:

Wash and dry on clean towel two oxtails that have been cut into joints. Dredge lightly with flour and brown in large iron frying pan with half butter and beef drippings. When nicely browned on all sides, season with salt, pepper and a liberal amount of paprika. Then add one pint of strong beef stock, a bouquet of celery leaves and parsley, one bay leaf, a little mace and about six whole black peppercorns. Bring up to boiling point, then transfer to covered casserole dish to finish cooking in a moderate oven.

Oxtails require long, slow cooking, so allow three or four hours in the oven. Add small white onions and carrots to casserole toward the last, allowing one hour for them to cook. It will also be necessary to add a little more stock from time to time, as it reduces during the oven cooking. Skim off surface fat, add one cupful canned tomato pulp and thicken with browned flour. Serve from casserole dish.

ROAST FRESH HAM, CIDER SAUCE

Whole fresh ham; three cups cider; two medium sized onions, sliced; three or four whole cloves; one bay leaf; salt; black pepper; one cup fine dry breadcrumbs; flour and one-fourth cup seeded raisins.

Scrub ham, place rind side up on rack in open roasting pan. Pour over cider, add onions, cloves and bay leaf. Bake in slow oven (300 degrees), allowing thirty minutes per pound. One hour before ham is done, carefully remove rind. Score fat lightly, season generously with salt and pepper and cover fat with bread crumbs. Remove excess fat from pan drippings. Continue roasting ham one hour but do not baste. Remove ham to large, hot platter. Strain liquid and thicken gravy, allowing one tablespoon of flour to each cup of liquid. Add raisins, which have been covered with boiling water and allowed to stand until cool. Season with salt if necessary.

—o-o—

HERE ARE SEVERAL dandy recipes for smaller cuts of meat.

VEAL CUTLET MARENGO

One-veal cutlet, about two pounds; three tablespoons fat; two tablespoons tomato puree; one-half cup white wine; two onions, minced; one clove garlic, minced; two tablespoons oil; one cup canned tomato pulp; one teaspoon salt; one-half teaspoon pepper and one cup sliced mushrooms.

Wine veal cutlet with damp cloth. Brown well on both sides in a large frying pan, using half melted veal fat and half butter. When browned add tomato puree and white wine. A dry California wine is inexpensive and will do nicely. In a separate pan saute the onions and garlic in oil, add tomato pulp, salt and pepper; heat thoroughly and pour over cutlet. Cover pan and simmer slowly for two hours. Just before serving add mushrooms which have been sauteed in butter for several minutes.

VEAL CHOPS A LA ZINGARA

Four loin veal chops; salt and pepper; melted veal fat; one medium-sized onion, chopped; four carrots, sliced; two tomatoes; one-third cup white wine (dry); one cup mushrooms, sliced.

Have chops cut about one inch thick. Season with salt and pepper and sear in hot fat until nicely browned. Add onion, carrots and tomatoes which have been peeled and quartered. Add wine, cover pan and simmer slowly for forty-five minutes. Add mushrooms which have been sauted in butter for several minutes, heat thoroughly and serve.

If fresh mushrooms are not available, canned mushrooms may be used in the recipe. Since canned mushrooms are already cooked they need only be sliced and added to the dish just long enough in advance to heat thoroughly. The same could apply to fresh tomatoes; if they are not in market, use canned tomatoes.

St. Louis Fashion Parade

by Sylvia Stiles

ORCHIDS, silver fox capes, elaborate jewelry and brushed-up coiffures are setting the pace for fashions. They've ushered in such an expensive and sophisticated trend that nothing less than velvets and ermines will satisfy a woman before the fall season has passed.

The horse show, always looked upon as an event of sartorial splendor, started off the autumn with a flash of handsome raiment that outshone the record of recent years. Not only on Monday night, when the boxes were filled with beautifully gowned spectators and their well-groomed escorts, but throughout the week there was evidence of a dressed-up quality that St. Louisians are adopting.

Even to Mr. and Mrs. Claude F. Goddard, those visitors from England, where horse shows are occasions for women to wear their smartest afternoon frocks and furs by day and their heirloom jewels by night, the St. Louis Arena was impressive. Mrs. Goddard was a handsome onlooker at all times, her white kid gloves, silver fox scarf and black and white frock with its heavy lace yoke being typical of the English tradition on last Sunday afternoon. Her silver-threaded blue crepe gown with its low decolletage and slight train, her diamond jewelry and her orchids expressed the height of formality on Monday evening.

—o-o—

OUTSTANDING AMONG other evening costumes at the horse show was that of Mrs. Albert Bond Lambert. It combined black crepe and velvet, the high-waisted bodice enhanced by rows of shirring and the skirt falling into a graceful train. Mrs. August A. Busch Jr. also wore black, her frock being of the dinner type with a broad shoulder line and short sleeves, the V-shaped decolletage embellished with an enormous clip of pear-shaped diamonds. Orchids were pinned to her silver fox cape.

Another interesting black dress was worn by Mrs. William L. Heckmann. It was a long-sleeved model of velvet that served as a stunning background for a shoulder bouquet of cockscomb, regarded by many as the smartest flower of the season. A vivid Spanish comb was tucked into her high coiffure and her shoulders were covered with a luxurious fox fur wrap. Mrs. Robert A. Black Jr., in a silvery blue satin frock, which had bright blue shoulder straps arranged in a striking halter neckline and a skirt stressing the vogue of front fullness, also followed the silver fox mode with her wrap.

—o-o—

INFORMALLY DRESSED spectators and participants at the horse show endorsed the popularity of interesting fall colors. The novelty cardigan over a contrasting wool dress has been the choice of several, among them being Mrs. Charles Lane. One of her becoming costumes was a wine-colored frock, fitted jacket combining brown, green and wine, and a jaunty wine-red felt hat with skyscraper lacquered quills at the side. Platform footwear of suede matching the tone of the hat completed this ensemble.

Youthful riders adopted arresting color schemes, an outstanding example of this being the cherry red outfit of Miss Mary Jane Muckerman. Her hat was worn with the brim upturned across the front. A yellow band and a yellow tie added to the attractiveness of this becoming attire. Several good-looking gray outfits also were seen, one being that of Miss Edith Ann Salomon and another that of Miss Vivienne Merz whose yellow vest and green tie were contrasting highlights. Mrs. A. C. Thompson of Chicago, a frequent competitor in the harness classifications, made a colorful appearance in her black costume brightened with red, gold and chartreuse green.

—o-o—

OUT AT Washington University where style preferences of the college crowd abound, some new modes such as hoop-skirted evening frocks, campus moccasins and hooded sports dresses are developing but there is little enthusiasm for the high hair-do. Not even for fraternity dances will the co-ed give in to the new coiffures, but brushes her hair low on her neck. Miss Betty Rasbach, at a recent dance, typified the cameo type of beauty in her strapless, heart-shaped neckline edged with soft velvet ruching, the wasp waistline and hooped skirt of sheer black velvet. Around her neck she wore a narrow band of black velvet with a bow at her throat. A large cameo brooch at the center of the front of the bodice was the only trimming on this formal frock.

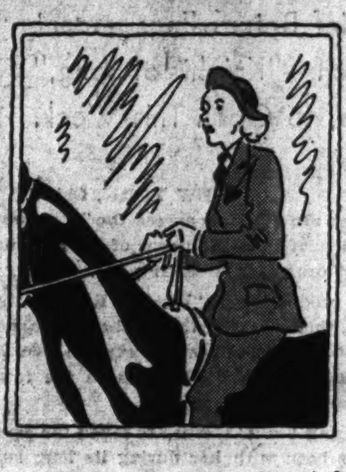
The loveliest wrap of white fur seen for a long time at a college dance was Miss Mae Dragoo's circular jacket with box shoulders, bell-shaped sleeves and the suggestion of a rounded collar. This covered a black velvet frock with swishing skirt fullness. Miss Virginia Kreutzer in patrician taste upheld the traditional pledge dance informality with a sheathlike dinner dress of black crepe. A short jacket trimmed with soutache braid was square cut at the shoulders but narrow at the waistline.

Some very sane and practical clothes are being worn for the classroom, although a short time ago only moccasined girls were hurrying across the campus. Low-slung sweaters, reaching almost to the knees, also are overbalancing skirts to such an extent that they have kiltie proportions, but occasionally one sees a tailored suit that is outstanding. Miss Alice Louise Stephens has been wearing a model that is chalk striped on a deep fog colored background. A dark wine red blouse and hat are suitable accessories. Miss Helen Steward has been wearing a lightweight wool skirtwaist dress with a loose velveteen jacket of matching dark red. A velveteen tam is an essential part of this outfit.

Miss Betty Tyzzer's wool jersey sports suit, with its girdle effect of green, tan and brown stripes running horizontally, is an example of the costume that is good for campus, football games and general daytime wear. It has a box shouldered bolero jacket. Miss Elizabeth Goetsch has chosen a combination luncheon and football game frock of soft gray wool with allround stitched tucks and a draped bodice.

—o-o—

COSTUMES WORN by several other Washington University girls have attracted much favorable comment at football games and other college events. Miss Betty Pepoon, last year's freshman popularity queen, continues her selection of unusual clothes, an example of her distinctive taste being a clever jersey frock of natural beige tone which has a hood that serves a double purpose as an attractive cowl collar or as a protective covering for loose curls when the wind whirls around the stadium. Clever little pockets placed at an angle add interest to the front of this dress.



The combination of a wine red tweed skirt, matching English corded sweater and a gay plaid jacket has sent many admiring glances toward Miss Nancy Sue McConnell. Miss Markey Parman in her spectator pumps of blue to match an all-around pleated skirt and fitted reefer coat has displayed a tailored trimness that stamps her as one of the best-dressed girls on the campus. Another suit ensemble of a more elaborate type has been adopted by Miss Mary May Mangelsdorf. This, of nubby wool with popular Persian lamb trimming, has a semi-flared peplum jacket. A vivid peacock blue sweater, gold beads and black velour felt hat with a shovel brim illustrate the sort of accents that girls like this season.

Question on Problem of Social Usage

The Mother Who Upsets Plans by Often Calling Unexpectedly.

By Emily Post

Dear Mrs. Post:

MY husband's mother, who lives in the same town, often drops in unexpectedly. Sometimes we have an engagement, and it is very upsetting to have to stay home with her when we are expected at a party, yet we don't always feel free to ask her to go along. In such a case, what can we do?

Answer: Surely she must understand that the occasions when an uninvited person can be "taken along" are very few. Therefore, when she arrives, tell her frankly how sorry you are but that you have an engagement, which, of course, you have to keep. Perhaps while one of you goes to dress, the other can stay and talk with her for a few minutes. But if your husband has to treat his mother as a stranger—a stranger moreover who is likely to interfere with whatever plans you may have—I can't see how you are free to live your own daily lives.

She on her part would surely hesitate to go to see you if she knew her visit would disrupt your plans, and on the other hand, you never could feel free to make any. Of course, if you had asked her to come to dinner on Tuesday, then you could not possibly let her come and go out and leave her. But if she comes when she is not expected, she could not possibly ask that you be rude to other people by breaking your engagement.

HOLLYWOOD'S NEW MAN OF THE HOUR

that Ben-Ami had simply mentioned the Foundation but hadn't actually recommended him. He dashed to Patri with the good news.

"But even with a scholarship you won't be able to finance yourself through the Foundation," Patri pointed out. "How much do you earn?"

"About six dollars a week," Garfield told him.

"Then let me lend you an additional $5 a week," Patri suggested. "That will see you through."

Which it did for the seven months John spent at the Foundation soaking up every bit of theater his youthful system would hold.

When he left the Foundation, Garfield had little difficulty getting a job as an apprentice with the Eva Le Gallienne Civic Repertory Theater. He remained in this capacity until his nineteenth birthday, getting no salary but lots of experience, carrying spears, doing walkons and speaking an occasional line. Then, a small producer offered him a role in a play entitled "Lost Boy," a story of life in a reformatory.

The play lasted about three weeks, but it served one good purpose. It brought John to the attention of another producer and he was shipped off to the Middle West to play in the Chicago production of "Counsellor at Law" with Otto Kruger.

From that time all has been smooth sledding for the young fellow who was born to be a mug. He has had featured and starring roles in a dozen Broadway successes, including "Johnny Johnson," "Waiting for Lefty," "Awake and Sing," "Weep for the Virgins," "Peace on Earth," "Golden Boy" and "Having Wonderful Time," in which he created the role played by Douglas Fairbanks Jr. in the screen version.

Toward the close of the year 1934 he was married to a charming young woman named Roberta Mann, a non-professional. About the time of his wedding Hollywood began clamoring for young Mr. Garfield's services. He got a dozen offers in a dozen months, but he rejected them all.

In February, 1937, Garfield went so far as to make a test for Warner Brothers at their New York studio, but he turned them down like all the rest because they wanted his exclusive services.

A year and a half later, however, Warners capitulated to his demand and a long-term contract was drawn up containing a clause which stipulated that Garfield might return to the stage at least once each year upon giving the studio 60 days' notice of his intentions. The clause further provided that he might remain on Broadway for the run of the play.

Victorian Scenes Occupy Broadway for the While

Helen Hayes Plays Brief Return Engagement in Role of Famous Queen—"Knights of Song," From Municipal Opera, to Open This Week.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.

THE ghosts of the historical past are stalking across the Broadway stage this season as playwrights turn back the pages of time to find characters that are exciting and dramatic for their plots.

Helen Hayes brought back her production of "Victoria Regina" this week for another run in New York, that marking the 841st performance the play has had in this country since she first opened it here on Dec. 26, 1935. It ran for two seasons in New York and 40 weeks on the road, playing to a $2,700,000 gross business up to the present.

Miss Hayes, as the young and aging Victoria, still has much the same cast of supporting players that has been with her during its long run. Werner Bateman is still the dignified Prince Albert, Abraham Sofaer is Disraeli and James Gibson is John Brown.

In another week a new musical show will picture the biography of two of the greatest musical show writers of all time, William Schwenck Gilbert and Arthur Seymour Sullivan. Originally a production at the Pasadena Community Playhouse in California last spring, "Knights of Song" had a professional tryout in August at St. Louis' big outdoor playhouse, Municipal Opera, and comes to Broadway in more or less the same form.

"Knights of Song," picks up the story of the lives of the two noted collaborators who commented in their own musicals upon the political situations of their time much as "Of Thee I Sing" and "Sing Out the News" comment upon the political situations of the present generation.

The musical play begins with Gilbert and Sullivan at a dress rehearsal of their "Pinafore" on the stage of the Opera Comique in London in 1878. It follows their careers down through the years that brought their collective triumphs, their bitter quarrels and their individual failures.

It tells about the romance of Sullivan with the American belle who was also sought by the late Edward VII when he was Prince of Wales; the disappointment of Gilbert when Queen Victoria ignored him as she knighted Sullivan, and the eventual knighting of Gilbert by Edward VII some years after Sullivan's death.

The show is overflowing with many other historical characters including Oscar Wilde, James McNeil Whistler, the then Crown Prince Wilhelm of Germany (now a wood-chopper in Holland) and David, grandson of Edward VII, now the Duke of Windsor and retired King.

The role of Gilbert is played by Nigel Bruce, well known stage and screen actor, and the Sullivan is John Moore, an Irish actor who is making his American debut. Moore replaces William Williams, the Sullivan of Municipal Opera; Bruce retains the role that was his in the tryout.

Natalie Hall, of the singing sisters—Natalie and Bettina Hall—is the American woman who causes the royal family just as much worry about an earlier Prince of Wales as another American woman caused in the case of a recent Prince. She was in the St. Louis cast.

Other historical figures have come and are coming apace to Broadway. Even now, Victoria finds herself in company not only of her favored Mr. Sullivan and disliked Mr. Gilbert, but also the American Jesse James, whose popularity in "Missouri Legend," a new Broadway hit, is great indeed.

—o-o—

FOLLOWING that gentle ribbing of a Southern cutie in "Kiss the Boys Goodbye," Claire Boothe's comedy hit, the Federal Theater presented a drama this week which is almost as harsh on the Florida crackers as "Tobacco Road" is on the Georgia crackers. This is Theodore Pratt's play, "Big Blow," based on his novel of the same name.

"Big Blow" doesn't pretend to be the burlesque picture that "Tobacco Road" and "Kiss the Boys Goodbye" are, staying strictly away from the artificial laughs of the latter two comedies. It is, as most Broadway critics agreed, a decidedly interesting and exciting drama for most of the evening. The author writes it with a sincerity that, at least, gives the illusion that he knows well the people of whom he writes.

He tells the story of Wade Barrett, a Nebraska college graduate, who trades his Middle Western farm for one in the Florida cracker country because he is convinced the warmer climate will cure his mother's ailing health.

Looking upon his Florida land for the first time, as he swapped sight unseen, he finds it to be acreage that could never be cultivated, that will never be worth a penny. But he goes to work and builds himself a log cabin which he makes terrifically strong, for he is accustomed to the big winds that swoop down across the prairies of his native West.

He soon falls in love with Celia, a cracker girl orphan who is taken care of by a devoted Negro servant, Clay. Carney Jelks, a tough cracker who is also pursuing Celie with not quite so honorable intentions, gossips and lies about Barrett, the "furriner," until the community is ready for a lynching.

Jelks leads them on a mob march either to lynch Barrett or drive him out of the country. But he 's thwarted by the hurricane, the big blow that occasionally hurls itself down on Florida with furious destruction.

The hurricane traps the angered mobsters and their only safety is in the strong and mighty cabin Barrett has built. There they find refuge and it is the villain Jelks whom the grateful crackers lynch.

Pratt writes in strong and picturesque dialogue. Although the play weakens a bit toward the end, it is an exciting evening for the most part.

Score Another for Little Miss Durbin

By Colvin McPherson

DEANNA DURBIN, now a veteran of four feature pictures, has never yet had to shoulder the burden of any show by herself. Her studio, which she is credited with saving from financial distress, wisely has seen to it that she has always a strong supporting cast, a substantial script and a resourceful director.

As a result, "That Certain Age," now at the Ambassador, has the keen delight that came from "Three Smart Girls," "100 Men and a Girl" and "Mad About Music." In fact, it would require no stretching of one's enthusiasm to say this is the best of the Durbin pictures.

Good, hard thinking by the author of the original story, Frederick Hugh Herbert (not the movie comedian), and by Bruce Manning, who wrote the screen play, is of first importance. Characters are well rounded, dialogue is spun with accuracy, new turns in the action are always forthcoming.

There is a musical program, to be sure, but one that does not distort the plot development and never obtrudes in otherwise logical situations. Deanna sings simple ballads for her father and mother and their guests, attempting the classical only in amateur theatricals—perfectly selected settings, it might be pointed out, for one of her vocal immaturity and, at the same time, undeniable gifts.

"That Certain Age" is set against the background of station-wagon society in Westchester County, N. Y. A newspaper publisher, John Halliday, sequesters his foreign correspondent, Melvyn Douglas, on the Halliday estate, in order that he may write a series of articles on the European situation without being disturbed.

Since Douglas has to occupy the guest house, daughter Deanna and her playmates, busily engaged in rehearsing a musical show in the guest house, have to be evicted. They decide to make Douglas' life unbearable and run him out. The opposite occurs. Deanna develops a terrific "crush" on the romantic gentleman and starts writing silly things in her diary.

Misunderstood courtesies add fuel to the flames until Douglas and the girl's parents realize the situation is serious. Each tries a solution and an accidental one is discovered with the arrival of Nancy Carroll, another foreign correspondent, on the estate. Deanna surrenders and turns back to Jackie Cooper, who has been mooning about her from the first reel on.

An outline of such a simple problem cannot describe the adroitness with which it has been handled. Director Edward Ludwig has been able to get full, professional cooperation from Miss Durbin, Douglas, young Cooper, Halliday and gracious Irene Rich, who plays Deanna's mother. Even 7-year-old Juanita Quigley performs like an old-timer.

The Dionne Quintuplets add another to their album of baby pictures in "Five of a Kind," also on the Ambassador program, and the continuity written around them fits them about as well as would Kate Smith's wardrobe. What Hollywood has pulled out of the grab bag is the one about the rivalry of the girl reporter, in this case Claire Trevor, and the boy reporter, in this case Cesar Romero.

This shaky procedure does not detract, however, from the pleasure of watching the Quintuplets bang their toy pianos, pull Jean Hersholt's glasses off, dance the minuet or get acquainted with puppies. And although the way they parley-voo is worse than Annabella or Simone Simon ever were guilty of, clean-cut English will hardly be required of them for a few years yet.

Too Hot to Handle.

FOLLOWING up the success of "Test Pilot" last spring, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has teamed its prize pair, Clark Gable and Myrna Loy in a new occupational melodrama, "Too Hot to Handle." Whereas "Test Pilot" dealt with the dangers of breaking in or breaking up a new airplane, "Too Hot to Handle" describes the tight scrapes a newsreel cameraman gets into.

"Too Hot to Handle" gets under way in devastated China, where Gable and his sound man, Leo Carrillo, are canning warfare for us folks back home. And in New York, but no farther away than a trans-oceanic telephone is Walter Connolly, Gable's constantly fizzing employer. The Connolly-Gable company has rivalry in the outfit operated by Henry Kolker and represented in the presence of danger by Walter Pidgeon.

Gable fakes a battlefield shot, which leaves Pidgeon on the end of the limb, ornithologically speaking. In revenge, Pidgeon fakes a stunt himself, a "mercy flight" by Miss Loy. Gable discovers the plot, meets Miss Loy and from then on their affairs are bound inextricably.

They go to New York, they cover the burning of a munitions ship at sea together, they are estranged when Miss Loy's "mercy flight" is exposed as a hoax. Myrna's one aim in life has been to rescue her brother, an aviator, who has disappeared in the jungles of South America. For chivalrous reasons, Gable and Pidgeon conjointly figure out a scheme to finance such an expedition for her.

The windup comes in the jungle and is as lively a melodrama as that contained in "Trader Horn." Miss Loy, Gable, Pidgeon and Leo Carrillo all come dangerously close to losing their skins and a more precious integument—that newsreel film.

"Too Hot to Handle," which refers, incidentally, to Miss Loy shortly after her "mercy flight" has been unhoaxed, has less of a central idea than "Test Pilot" and therefore less drama. Nowhere does any player suffer any great mental anguish, as did the three principals in "Test Pilot." In fact, on the basis of "Too Hot to Handle," this disturbing question may be raised: Is Miss Loy, after all, an actress?

On the other hand, there is greater variety in "Too Hot to Handle," more sheer adventure. The war in China is pretty tame after those pictures from Shanghai but the burning of the munitions ship, a pure movie stunt, is sensational and the South American sequence—jungles, fire dance and background scenes—all are authentic, filmed by an expedition dispatched to Dutch Guiana for that purpose. Tied in with Hollywood mumbo-jumbo, they top most of the excitements of 1938.

A stimulating short subject on the program is the historical mystery telling of Michel de Notredame or Nostradamus, the sixteenth century French astrologer who guessed a great many of the happenings in the world since his time.

—o-o—

Room Service.

ONE of the larger mistakes of this and last year was the hiring of the Marx Brothers to do a screen version of the successful Broadway farce, "Room Service." The largely un-rewritten picture edition of the play is at the Fox.

Not only are the natural impules of the Marxes kept tightly in check but the original script, drafted with the physical restrictions of the stage in mind, gets no amplification for the film. "Room Service" on the screen is not as amusing as it was on the stage.

A fundamental error was the assumption that the Marx Brothers, whose marvelous comedy relies on free association and entirely cockeyed behavior, could be kept to straight comedy. "Room Service" is neither good farce nor slapstick. There are laughs, a good many of them, but none very hearty and none which seem entirely spontaneous.

Direction seems to have handed the Marxes the script and then sat back and filmed a rehearsal. A property turkey which flies around the room is so obviously a property that the scene loses all hilarity. Even taking a half-dozen members of the New York cast of "Room Service" to Hollywood for the film hasn't helped. It simply wasn't the type of show for the screen, without being greatly revised, or for the Marx Brothers.

"Mysterious Mr. Moto" sends Peter Lorre to London, there to save Henry Wilcoxon from an international gang of murderers. One good brawl in a "pub" and some pistol practice in an art museum are its main delights.

—o-o—

Brought back, after a week's rest, are "Sing You Singers" and "Campus Confessions," at the Missouri. The first is a jolly musical play in which Bing Crosby and Fred MacMurray are brothers, the second a routine college affair.

"Dracula" and "Frankenstein" are still thrilling and chilling patrons of the St. Louis, or at least were at an early hour today.

Brahms Symphony On First Program

Brahms' First Symphony and the Richard Strauss tone poem, "Death and Transfiguration," are features of the program for the opening pair of St. Louis Symphony Orchestra concerts at the Auditorium Opera House on Friday afternoon, Oct. 28, and Saturday evening, Oct. 29. Also on the program are Ravel's choreographic poem, "La Valse," and the overture to Von Weber's "Oberon."

Vladimir Golschmann, conductor of the orchestra, returns to St. Louis early next week and will begin rehearsals on Oct. 24. This season will be his eighth with the orchestra.

The first soloist for the season will be Sergei Rachmaninoff, famous pianist, on Nov. 4 and 5, with Fritz Kreisler, Lotte Lehmann, Myra Hess, Jascha Heifetz, Lawrence Tibbett, Artur Rubinstein, Igor Stravinsky, Maurice Marechal, Maria Reining and Boris Golschmann, brother of the conductor, as others to follow.

The Brahms First Symphony was last played by the St. Louis Symphony in February, 1936.

'Star Wagon' Cast At Little Theater

The complete cast of "The Star Wagon," which will run from Oct. 26 to Nov. 5 at the Little Theater of St. Louis, is made up of Eugene Wood, Elmira Roessler and Vincent Vernon in the three leading roles; eight players new to the Little Theater—William Gallegher, Norman Macdonald, Thomas Harkins, James Woolwine, David Dames, Russell King, Jacqueline Wise and Jay Holmes, and several other experienced Little Theater actors—Leonard Visser, Mildred Basden, Percy Ramsay, Katherine Maze, Robert Karnes and Martha Jensen.

Understudies have been assigned to each of the parts in the play. John Weaver, Martha Jensen and Dale Douglas are the substitutes for the three main roles. "The Star Wagon," which ran all last season, is a comedy-fantasy by Maxwell Anderson, in which the three main characters get fulfillment of the old human wish to live life over again.

Pat O'Brien Airs a Few Frank Ideas

Actor Tired of Trite Film Plots—Likes His Salary But Little Else.

By the Associated Press.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 8.

PAT O'BRIEN just isn't the fault-finding type. In the second and third places, he is too well fed and too well paid to be that way. But occasionally he feels like picking the movies to little bits and the reporter happened to find him in that mood.

He told the reporter, and profanely, that pictures are nickel-minded, that he gets sick of trite plots and the same dialogue, that he often gets hungry for the realness of the stage. But almost in the same breath, he added:

"This has been manna in the desert for a lot of us boys who were poor all our lives."

His air then was one of regretting what he had said, that he shouldn't complain. When asked the name of the picture he is working in, his complacency and self-satisfaction immediately disappeared.

"It's a thing called 'Unfit to Print' and don't ask me what I think of it." He turned on a glum grimace and bit off half of his inevitable cigar. "I'm going to tell you anyway. It isn't just one of those things—it's worse. It's the most awful hodge-podge . . . Joan Blondell's hysterical over it half the time and me—well, look at me!

"You know what I'd do if I didn't have a wife and two kids I'm daffy about? I'd get drunk. I'd stay good and stiff so I couldn't work. But then there's the morals clause and I'd be suspended and there wouldn't be any salary, and how'd my kids eat?"

Other actors have spoken as candidly—off the record. And, as a rule, the pictures actors dislike the most turn out to be among their best. And vice versa. Of course, the Warners will censure Pat for speaking his mind, but he will tell them the same thing he told the reporter: "We've still got free speech here, haven't we?"

The emotion that rules this O'Brien is sentiment, in large gold capital letters. He is devoted to his friends, whom he is certain can do no wrong, to his family, and to his wife's family.

He spoke of having been poor, so was asked exactly what $100,000 a year means to him.

"To me personally, not so much," he answered thoughtfully. "I smoke 10-cent cigars instead of nickel ones, I bet 10 bucks instead of two on the horses, I own a few more books and I have a house.

"The important thing about my having money is the use I can put it to for other people. I got a big kick out of buying my parents and my wife's parents houses and giving them the deeds. Oh, there's a lot of ways to use money."

—o-o—

HE didn't mention it, but a friend says he is regarded by old-time friends who are down on their luck as a most dependable fellow. That means, he is an easy touch. Living at Pat's house now is a former room-mate who is looking for a job.

Like any actor, Pat has more or less ego, but has difficulty keeping on the subject of Pat O'Brien. He talked for a half hour about the talents and greatness of his schoolmate and friend of 30 years, Spencer Tracy. When he got through with Tracy, he wanted to tell about Jimmy Cagney.

Pat says he's made only four pictures he's really proud to talk about. He thinks "Oil For the Lamps of China" was his best, but the public didn't. He likes his first, "Front Page," "I Married a Doctor" and "Angels With Dirty Faces," soon to be released. ("Boy, is Cagney good in this!" he exclaimed.)

The majority of O'Brien's pictures the service series, have been money-makers and he thinks it's because the formula is so good.

"Different uniform, change the girl from a sweetheart to sister and you got it," says Pat. "You can't miss."

He gets sore at the Warners about every four months because they won't lend him to other studios for good roles. The studio's answer is that it is entitled to all of his drawing power.

All, or at least most, of Pat's friends are Irish, too, but none of them shout about it so much as he. He is Hollywood's only professional Irishman, with his vivid green car, his imported shamrocks, his faith in all things Irish.

Only two stories have been told about him that he resents and takes every opportunity to deny. One is that while playing football for Marquette, he ran a touchdown against Notre Dame. ("I ran to the sidelines after two minutes of play.")

The other is that a large green shamrock tattooed on his chest was removed, skin and all, so he could make a lamp shade of the "parchment." Ask Pat about that lampshade if you'd like to see the air really turn blue.

Non-Profit Group To Obtain Series Of Famous Films

FORMATION of a non-commercial organization known as the Film Group, to bring to St. Louis the film study programs assembled by the Museum of Modern Art Film Library in New York, is under way and the first program set for Thursday, Oct. 27, at the S'Renco Screening Room, 3143 Olive street.

Since the Museum of Modern Art requires the showing of the films to be purely educational and permits no tickets to be sold at the door, the Film Group is being organized on a membership basis. The limited capacity of the Screening Room will make 200 persons the maximum size of the Film Group, since only that number may be accommodated in the two performances to be given on the evening of each program. J. Lesser Goldman, bookstore proprietor at 386 North Euclid, as head of the organization, and a subscription price of $3.75 per person for the five programs has been worked out.

Established in 1935, with funds from the Rockefellers, the Museum of Modern Art Film Library has searched this country and Europe for notable examples of film production since movies left their peep-show stage in 1895. Many examples have been obtained from the archives of film companies, but some of the most valuable have been found in disused garages, hat closets and other unusual places. Six series are now available, the first of which the Film Group intends to see on five Thursday evenings—Oct. 27, Nov. 10, Nov. 24, Dec. 8 and Dec. 15.

Largely made up of silent films, the first series, "A Short Survey of the Film in America," requires piano accompaniment for its first four programs, for which the Film Library supplies authentic scores and program notes. A piano is to be installed in the Screening Room.

"The Development of Narrative," opening the series, encompasses "The Execution of Mary Queen of Scots" (1895); "Wash Day Troubles" (1896); "A Trip to the Moon" (1902); "The Great Train Robbery" (1903); "Faust" (1910), and "Queen Elizabeth," with Sarah Bernhardt (1911).

"The Rise of the American Film" includes "The New York Hat," with Mary Pickford and Lionel Barrymore (1912); "The Fugitive," by Thomas H. Ince, with William S. Hart (1914); "The Clever Dummy," Mack Sennett comedy (1917), and "A Fool There Was," with Theda Bara (1914).

The third program is devoted to D. W. Griffith, with his history-making and precedent-setting "Intolerance" of 1916 as the example of his work.

"The German Influence" of the late '20s is studied, in "Hands" (1928) and "Sunrise" (1937), to make the fourth program.

In the fifth program, devoted to "The Talkies" are two scenes from "The Jazz Singer" (1927), a Movietone newsreel with George Bernard Shaw (1927), "All Quiet on the Western Front," from (1930), and "Steam Boat Willie" (1928), the Disney cartoon which brought Mickey Mouse to fame.

Toscanini's Series to Begin Saturday Night

NBC's anxiety lest Arturo Toscanini be unable to reach New York in time to begin his concerts conducting the NBC Symphony Orchestra at 9 p. m. next Saturday night on the WJZ network has been allayed by receipt of word that he is due to arrive from Italy tomorrow. He will begin rehearsing the orchestra immediately. His opening program is announced to begin with Vaughn Williams' Fantasia for double string orchestra on a theme by Thomas Tallis and to include Brahms' Third Symphony, Martucci's "Noturno" and "Novelletta" and Tschaikowsky's "Romeo and Juliet" overture fantasy. Inquiry at KWK brought a statement that the possibility of shifting its Saturday night program schedule, with a view to carrying the Toscanini concerts, was still being considered.

Today's Radio City concert on KWK and the WJZ net and KWK at 11:30 a. m. will be the last scheduled at that time. Beginning next Sunday, it will be broadcast from 11 a. m. to noon.

Because of the world series baseball game broadcast, the Everybody's Music concert will not be carried today by the CBS net and KMOX.

At 4 p. m. today, the Metropolitan Opera Auditions will be resumed on the WJZ net and KWK with Edward Johnson, general manager of the "Met," introducing the singers, Wilfred Pelletier conducting the orchestra, and Milton Cross announcing. Today's competitors will be Margaret Carlyle, soprano, of Elgin, Ill., who has sung abroad, notably in leading roles at London's Covent Garden opera; Mack Harrell, a baritone, of Greenville, Tex., who has toured Europe and sung with the Philadelphia and Boston Symphony orchestras, and Anna Malenfant a contralto from New Brunswick, Can., who has sung in radio and opera in Montreal.

Bidu Sayao's songs in the Concert from Detroit, at 8 p. m. today on KMOX, will be the "Regnava nel Silenzio" aria from "Lucia di Lammermoor," Lehmann's "The Cuckoo," Ponce's "Estrellita," Grieg's "My Johann" and "Long, Long Ago." Orchestral pieces conducted by Jose Iturbi will include part of Rossini's "L'Italiana in Algeri," waltzes from Strauss' "Der Rosenkavalier" and the finale of Dvorak's "New World" Symphony.

Tomorrow, Richard Crooks, in his concert, with Alfred Wallenstein's orchestra, at 7:30 p. m. on KSD, will sing Grieg's "A Dream," the latest act aria from "La Eosca" and Tours' "Mother O' Mine." The orchestra will play the overture to "Il Guarany," Jarnefeldt's "Praeludium" and "Autumn" from Glazounoff's "The Seasons." Another NBC string symphony concert is set for 8 p. m. on the WJZ net (8:30 on KWK) and a WOR Symphony program at 8:30 on the Mutual net. Music of Ireland will make up the program for Marek Weber's concert at 9 p. m. on KSD. At 10:05 p. m., the WJZ net will carry part of a San Francisco Opera performance of "Don Giovanni" with Mafalda Favero, the young Italian soprano billed for a Metropolitan Opera debut, singing the role of Zerlina.

Tuesday there will be a WOR Symphony concert on the Mutual net at 8:30 p. m.

Thursday the Sinfonietta concert will be carried at 7:30 p. m. on the Metropolitan Opera Saturday Matinees Scheduled on WEAF Net—KSD Hoping to Carry Them in Full—Second Season of Great Plays to Begin at Noon Next Sunday on WJZ Chain.

THE Metropolitan Opera Saturday matinee broadcasts have been definitely scheduled on the WEAF network, starting Nov. 26. Presumably, they will begin at 12:55 noon, as in past years, and run to 3:30 or 4 o'clock. Whether KSD will be able to carry the opera broadcasts in full will depend on whether KFUO will be able to relinquish its time from 3 to 3:45 o'clock Saturday afternoons through the season in exchange for another period.

Next Sunday, at noon on the WJZ net, the NBC Great Plays series will begin its second season on a 28-week schedule. It will open with "The Trojan Woman," written by Euripides in 415 B. C. Burns Mantle will be the commentator and narrator for the series and the NBC plans, as far as possible, to cast in leading roles actors and actresses identified in the public mind with the various plays to be performed.

Ninety symphony concerts will be broadcast by the NBC from Rochester, N. Y., from Oct. 17 through April; 71 on the WJZ net and 19 on the WEAF chain. Beginning with a concert at 2 p. m., Monday, Oct. 17, by the Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra, there will be 12 other broadcasts by this orchestra with Jose Iturbi as conductor; four at 2:15 p. m., Thursdays, Nov. 10, Dec. 15, Jan. 26 and Feb. 16, and eight at 7:30 p. m. Thursdays, starting Nov. 3. The Rochester Civic Orchestra, Guy Fraser Harrison and Paul White conducting, will be heard in 43 concerts, as follows: 28 concerts at 2 p. m. Mondays, and 15 at 12:30 noon on alternate Tuesdays, beginning Oct. 18. The Eastman orchestra, Dr. Howard Hanson and Paul White conducting, will play 35 concerts, 16 at 7:30 p. m. Thursdays on a schedule beginning Oct. 20, and alternating with the Rochester Philharmonic, and 19 at 10:30 a. m. Saturdays on the WEAF net, starting Nov. 5.

NEWS broadcasts by major European stations are scheduled in St. Louis time, as follows: 6 a. m., from Paris on 15.24 megacycles; 10 a. m., from London on 11.75 and 15.14; 12 noon, from London on 17.79; 3:15 p. m., from London on 9.51 and 15.18; 4:45 p. m., from Berlin on 11.77; 6:30, from Rome on 11.81; 6:40 p. m., from London on 11.75 and 15.31; 7:15 p. m., from Berlin on 11.85; 8:30, from Prague, Czechoslovakia, on 11.84; 9:30 p. m., from London on 9.51 and 11.75; 9:30, from Berlin on 11.85; 10 p. m., from Paris on 11.72.

Pope Pius' Benediction on the Eucharistic Congress in New Orleans will be carried by the WEAF net Tuesday, Oct. 18, at 12:30 noon.

A condensed version of Verdi's opera, "La Traviata," will be broadcast in next Sunday morning's Radio City concert as the first in a series of tabloid opera productions scheduled for this period.

Activities at the National Dairy Show in Columbus, O., will be broadcast in the National Farm and Home hour on KWK Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and also at 3 p. m. the same days on the same chain.

Cary Grant will be starred in the Silver Theater next Sunday. . . . "Lorna Doone," R. D. Blackmore's famous novel, will be dramatized by Orson Welles next Sunday night.

Richard Crooks, the Metropolitan Opera tenor, who sings Monday nights in KSD's 7:30 o'clock concerts, will be the soloist in the concert from Detroit next Sunday night.

Total costs of covering the European crisis thus far for the NBC and CBS networks is estimated at approximately $195,000, including expenses for special interviews, foreign corespondents' fees, short wave transmission and reception, cablegrams, trans-Atlantic telephone calls and rebates to sponsors whose programs were cancelled or cut short.

Al Pearce's Series on KSD At 7 Monday

Album of Familiar Music Begins Eighth Year Tonight—Capt. Midnight Serial on KSD, Tomorrow.

WHEN Al Pearce opens his new weekly series on KSD at 7 o'clock tomorrow night, he will have with him the members of his old gang, including Tizzie Lish, Arlene Harris, the chatterbox, and Carl Hoff and his orchestra. Pearce himself will revive his Elmer Blurt, the low-pressure salesman. The program will come from Hollywood for some time. Pearce, a regular radio entertainer since 1929, won a large audience on the Pacific Coast Don Lee network with his Happy Go Lucky Hour and Blue Monday Jamboree. In 1935, he and his entertainers went to New York to broadcast for the NBC, and became a radio fixture. His last night-time program ran from Jan. 5, 1937, to June 28 last, when he got a release from his sponsor so that he could accept an offer for the series scheduled to start tomorrow night on KSD and the WEAF net.

FIFTEEN years as one of radio's leading tenors lie behind Frank Munn, star of KSD's Sunday night Album of Familiar Music, which today will begin its eighth consecutive year on the air, and also featured soloist on KSD's Wednesday evening Waltz Time, which is starting on its sixth year. Munn's voice first won countrywide notice when he sang as Paul Oliver and Virginia Rae sang with him as Olive Palmer. The Album of Familiar Music, which is on KSD at 8:30 Sunday evenings, also features Jean Dickenson, coloratura soprano; Elizabeth Lennox, who has had a radio career as a contralto about as long as Munn's and has sung in concerts and with the New York Philharmonic and Detroit Symphony orchestras, and Gus Haenschen's orchestra. Haenschen is a former St. Louisan, having been graduated from Washington University in 1914 with a mechanical engineering degree. He worked for a time here with Gene Rodemich booking orchestras. After the World War, he was in the record department of a phonograph manufacturer, and first broadcast in 1924.

A NEW serial, titled Captain Midnight, which will start on KSD tomorrow for a run at 5:45 p. m. Monday through Friday, will tell the story of an aviator who appears mysteriously at the scene of trouble, swooping down from the sky at the stroke of midnight. The title role will be played by Edward Prentiss, who has been featured in the Betty and Bob, the Guiding Light serial and others. Also in the cast will be Jules Getlin, George Neise, Grace Lockwood, Burr Lee and Barry Hopkins.

Madeleine Carroll is billed for Bob Hope's program at 9 p. m. Tuesday on KSD.

KSD will revive the Camera Club of the Air program at 1:45 next Sunday afternoon.

Ebe Stignani, a mezzo-soprano of note from Europe, is billed for Bob Burns' hour Thursday night. She sang under Toscanini at La Scala, Milan, and last year won a success at the Paris Grand Opera.

The apprehension of a gang of Oklahoma outlaws after they had killed a police chief and wounded a woman bystander in attempting a triple bank robbery will be dramatized in KSD's Public Hero No. 1 period at 9:30 tomorrow night.

Sam "Schlepperman" Hearn, the comedian, is billed with Fibber McGee at 8:30 p. m. Tuesday on KSD. A vaudeville veteran, Hearn has been featured as a stooge for Jack Benny and as a guest on many radio programs, including the old KSD Show Boat.

GUY LOMBARDO'S replacing of Wayne King at 9 o'clock Friday nights on KSD is scheduled for this week. Lombardo's first four weekly programs will come from Chicago, but thereafter will be heard from the NBC Radio City studios in New York. In addition to his Royal Canadians orchestra, he will feature the trio consisting of Carmen Lombardo, Fred High Higman and Larry Owen and also Carmen and Lebert Lombardo as soloists. He has added to the instruments for his orchestra a Czechoslovak device, shaped like a miniature piano and fitted with guitar strings, which will be played by Frank Vigneau, one of his pianists.

Fred Allen's Person You Didn't Expect to Meet guest in his Town Hall Tonight Wednesday on KSD will be 11-year-old Jesse Haines, who is a fellow of Franklin Institute, a student of psychology at the University of Pennsylvania and a lecturer on anthropology at scientific meetings.

Mother Barbour's shocked exclamation over a telephone call last week will be explained in the One Man's Family broadcast at 7 p. m. Icke's Address At Babler Park On Station KSD

Special Transmitter on CCC Water Tower—Notre Dame-Illinois Game on KSD Saturday.

KHE dedication of the monument to Edmund A. Babler, in Babler Park on the Wildhorse Creek road in St. Louis County, will be broadcast on KSD from 3 to 3:30 p. m. tomorrow by means of the station's ultra short wave mobile transmitter. The broadcast, which is expected to include Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes' address, will be made possible because of the relinquishing by KFUO of the half hour.

In preparation for the broadcast, KSD's ultra short wave transmitter has been installed on the CCC water tower in the park, about four miles from Pond, where a receiver, tuned to the transmitter, will be connected to a wire circuit to St. Louis and KSD's studios for broadcasting by KSD on its regular channel of 550 kilocycles.

TSD'S broadcasting of football games will be resumed at 2:25 Saturday afternoon, when Frank Eschen will go to South Bend, Ind., to cover the contest between Notre Dame and the University of Illinois.

KSD's Trailing the Highway Patrol dramatization, at 6:30 Thursday evening, will relate the story of two robbers who shot and killed a druggist, and the steps by which the patrol and police, facing an apparently unsolvable crime, brought about the conviction and execution of the bandits.

Al Pearce's Series On KSD Monday

of only a child mentioned occasionally, Joan Lacey, Claudia and Nicky's 6-year-old daughter, will have a voice in the episodes. Hank is played by Bobby Larson, a Los Angeles lad, and Joan by 6-year-old Aleanor Taylor, who already has a diploma from a California dramatic school.

Another Musical Moments transcription series will start this week on a 6:15 p. m. Friday schedule.

Freddie Bartholomew will be one of Rudy Vallee's guests Thursday night on KSD.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt Jr., former Governor-General of the Philippines, and Dick Rodgers and Lorenz Hart, the song writing team, are billed for KSD's For Men Only at 7:30 Tuesday night.

The true story of a white mare whose devotion and loyalty to her mistress were exceptional will be told by the Old Ranger in KSD's Death Valley Days dramatization at 8:30 Friday night.

TOMMYE BIRCH, the former KWK singer, who has been winning featured spots on NBC programs and recently made several nighttime broadcasts on the networks, has been signed by the NBC to a five-year contract. She is singing currently on the NBC Breakfast Club and Jamboree programs. . . . Alma Kitchell, who has sung more than 3000 times on NBC programs, now has her own informal talk Brief Case program on the WJZ chain at 5:05 Fridays.

Betty Jaynes, the 17-year-old opera and movie soprano, will be featured by Eddie Cantor Monday night, Oct. 17.

Dizzy Dean may get some radio guest appearances soon and is being considered for the star role in a proposed radio series based on "Elmer the Great."

Schools of Air This Week on Two Networks

One on Mutual Chain and WLW at 9 A. M.—CBS Net's Series to Open at 1:30 P. M. on KMOX.

TOMORROW the CBS network's American School of the Air will open on KMOX on a 1:30-2:00 p. m. Monday through Friday schedule, as follows: Monday, Frontiers of Democracy; Tuesday, Music of America; Wednesday, This Living World, dramatizations of current events; Thursday, New Horizons program from American Museum of Natural History; Friday, Lives Behind the Lines program based on American literature. At 9 a. m. the Mutual network will begin its Nation's School of the Air on a daily except Saturday and Sunday schedule on WLW and other stations. Also tomorrow, at 7 p. m., Carson Robison and his Buckaroos will start a series on the WJZ net and KWK. Wallace Beery, Noah Beery, Edmund Lowe, Leo Carrillo and Eduardo Ciannelli will be starred in a Radio Theater performance of "Viva Villa" at 8 p. m. Deanna Durbin and Bobby Breen are billed as guests of Eddie Cantor at 9:30 p. m.

Tuesday, broadcasts from the Philadelphia Navy Yard, Chicago and San Francisco will make up a Y. M. C. A. Founders' day program at 1:45 p. m. on the CBS net. Bob Burns is billed for an appearance with Al Jolson. Lilian Gish, the actress, will take part in Clifton Fadiman's Information Please program at 7 on the WJZ net and WENR. A Columbus day program, at 6:30 on the WJZ net and WLW, will include an address by Martin H. Carmody, Supreme Knight of the Knights of Columbus.

Wednesday, John Barrymore and Noah Beery will be Adolphe Menjou's guests in the Star Theater at 8:30 p. m. Famous Jury Trials will be resumed on the Mutual net and KWK at 9 p. m. KMOX at 6:30 p. m. President Roosevelt's address for the Mobilization for Human Needs campaign will be carried at 9 p. m. on the WJZ, CBS and Mutual nets. Cesar Seachinger, back from Europe, will start a second series of weekly Behind the Headlines talks on the WEAF net at 9:30 p. m.

Thursday, Rudyard Kipling's story, "The Brushwood Boy," will be dramatized in the Columbia Workshop at 9 p. m. on KMOX.

Saturday, W. C. Fields will begin his engagement in weekly sketches on the Hit Parade at 9 p. m. on the CBS net and KMOX.

MAUD MUELLER, the St. Louis and Wood River contralto, who was a soloist for months on the Words and Music program and at one time sang as the Lullaby Lady in KSD's Monday night concerts now featuring Marek Weber, was billed last Friday with the Northerners Quartet on WGN, Chicago.

Fred Waring has engaged David Ross, the poet-announcer, for his Saturday night programs on KSD. . . . Gene and Glenn are now on WLS, Chicago. . . . New York's radio row hears that the Vic and Sade serial is to be concluded on the CBS net Nov. 4 and be replaced by another series starting Nov. 7. Whether it will remain off the air, or be shifted to another network, has not been announced.

Penny Wise (Doris Fisher), the song writer and arranger, has been signed by Eddie Duchin as a singer on his radio programs. . . . Stations carrying programs dealing with inmates or activities at Alcatraz Penitentiary will incur the hostility of the Department of Justice and possibly of the Federal Communications Commission, "Variety" reports. This despite the fact that Warner Brothers were permitted to make and release a movie bearing the prison's name.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK OBSERVANCE OPENS TODAY

Elimination of Hazards in Every St. Louis Home Is Being Urged.

Elimination of fire hazards in every St. Louis home is being urged as part of the observance of Fire Prevention Week, which opens today by proclamation of Mayor Dickmann.

Posters, leaflets and educational material on fire prevention are being supplied to schools, churches, industrial and commercial plants, theaters and fire engine houses. Following the usual practice, uniformed firemen will speak in schools.

In his proclamation Mayor Dickmann characterized the annual loss of life and property from fires in St. Louis as a "shameful waste," whose continuance "will further retard our efforts toward economic recovery."

The program for the week is under direction of the Fire Prevention Division of the St. Louis Safety Council of which C. L. Webster is chairman. Fire Chief Michael Lyons of University City is in charge of county activities.

SEA SCOUTS TO RACE AT CREVE COEUR TODAY

75 Boys From 15 Units to Take Part—Six Contests Scheduled.

About 75 boys from 15 Sea Scout units will compete in six races this afternoon at Creve Coeur Lake. The program will begin at 2 o'clock.

There will be two moth and two X-boat sailing races in addition to single and double gig rowing races. The program will conclude the fall point races.

Winners will receive awards at the fall regatta of the St. Louis Boy Scout Council, Sunday, Oct. 23, at Creve Coeur Lake, the Sea Scout base.

Details of production and promotion of the fifteenth St. Louis Boy Scout Circus at the Arena Dec. 2 and 3 will be discussed at two meetings tomorrow.

The ticket promotion committee, with William E. Port as chairman, will meet at 6:15 at the Coca-Cola Bottling Co., 2930 North Market street, to discuss plans for a meeting of representatives of all local scout units Oct. 20, when the promotion campaign will be started.

At 7:30 p. m. the leaders of the first aid, games and pioneering, and tunaphone displays at the circus will meet at Cabanne Methodist Episcopal Church, 5760 Bartmer avenue, to develop plans for the presentation of the acts.

More than 300 St. Louis Negro scouts will participate in the circus. They will present a program of illuminated wand drills and tumbling acts under the direction of Otis E. Finley, physical director at Vashon (Negro) High School.

Boy Scouts of the Daniel Boone District, which comprises St. Charles County, will be the guests of Arrowhead District scouts at the circus Friday night, Dec. 2. Each Daniel Boone scout will stay overnight Friday at the home of an Arrowhead member and leave St. Louis Saturday night.

Phil Ziegenfuss was re-elected chairman of the South District at its annual meeting Tuesday night at St. Paul's Evangelical Church. E. F. Richards and Fred J. Hofmeister were named vice-chairmen.

Girl Scouts.

A training program for volunteer Girl Scout leaders will be offered from Oct. 17 to Dec. 7 by the training committee of the St. Louis Girl Scout Council.

The program includes a course in an introduction to girl scouting, classes in Brownie leadership, and courses in intermediate and senior Girl Scout leadership. In addition, there will be round table meetings in various parts of the city for troop and pack committee members. Further information may be obtained at the Girl Scout Little House, 4253 Magnolia avenue.

W P A ORCHESTRA TO GIVE SCHOOL DEMONSTRATIONS

Third Year of Concerts Designed to Acquaint Children With Instruments.

For the third year, demonstration concerts, to interest children in orchestral music and acquaint them with musical instruments, will be given in the public schools this autumn and winter by the St. Louis Federal Orchestra, a WPA group, it was announced yesterday by Superintendent of Instruction Henry J. Gerling. The concerts will start this week in elementary and high schools, with programs of length and character suitable for the various audiences.

Elmore Condon, narrator, will explain the selections played. Frank Panus is director of the orchestra of about 40 professional musicians. The instruments will be exhibited and played singly and in groups as well as in the whole. This type of concert, originated here, has been copied in many other cities. Last season there were 409 such concerts before about 108,000 children.

Other instruction in music appreciation is given by the schools through concerts for older children by the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, piano concerts in the schools and use of the radio and phonograph.

HARD OF HEARING LEAGUE TO HOLD OPEN HOUSE TODAY

Two Addresses and Musical Entertainment on Program Starting at 3 P. M.

The St. Louis League for the Hard of Hearing will hold open house at its headquarters at 4527 Westminster place at 3 o'clock this afternoon, with two addresses and musical entertainment.

Miss Harriette F. Ryan, director of the International Institute will speak on "A Changed Concept of Americanization."

As a part of the Health Department's anti-diptheria campaign Dr. H. G. Farris will speak on "Diphtheria, How to Prevent It."

B. F. PICKARD, VICE-PRESIDENT LACLEDE GAS LIGHT, RESIGNS

To Remain as Director but Will Give Time to Presidency of Central States Corp.

B. F. Pickard, vice-president in charge of operations of the Laclede Gas Light Co., announced last night he had resigned, effective Nov. 1. He will remain as a director of the Laclede company, but will give most of his time to the Central States Power & Light Corporation, of which he is president.

Administrative headquarters of the Central States company, now at Tulsa, will be transferred to the Laclede Gas Building in St. Louis, Pickard said. The company operates in seven states and two Canadian provinces, supplying electricity, gas or water service to 175 communities.

GOING TO BUY STOKER COAL?

Check the 4-way value of PEABODY'S SUPERIOR PROCESSED COAL

CONCENTRATED QUALITY
Moderately Priced

1. Stepped up heating strength
2. Correct clinkering action
3. Clinkers reduced one third
4. High fuel bed efficiency

Superior Processed coal comes from these high grade southern Illinois mines . . .

MAJESTIC
BLACK ARROW

When you buy anything as important as coal—compare values—be sure you get fuel that gives you full convenience as well as low cost.

Peabody's Superior Processed stoker coal makes this possible. It delivers top efficiency on every known basis of comparison. Light, slow fires are held in mild weather without dying out. Quick pickup and rich heating strength are available for the coldest days. Ash is reduced a full third—and it clinkers correctly.

These facts about S-P coal have been determined by its performance in thousands of stokers. The most modern method of precise hydro-washing and cleaning insures no variation in its stepped up quality.

So, when you buy stoker coal, remember how important S-P coal can be to your comfort, your convenience and your pocketbook.

Peabody's southern Illinois coal refineries are the result of years of engineering research and the investment of over a million dollars in processing plants and equipment.

SUPERIOR PROCESSED COAL sold by dealers throughout St. Louis and surrounding area.

How Failure of Charity Drives In Recent Years Has Curtailed Agencies in City and County

Head of Fund Campaign Cites Cases in Which Lean Budgets Have Forced Units to Refuse or Limit Aid.

Instances of how United Charities agencies have curtailed their service because fund-raising campaigns of recent years have not met their needs are detailed in a statement made public yesterday by Oliver F. Richards, president of the organization.

Richards' report deals with the activities of 28 of the 87 welfare agencies in the city and county which share in United Charities funds.

Similar economies must be practiced next year, Richards said, unless the $2,495,170 to be sought in a campaign opening Nov 1 is obtained.

Describes State of Some.

Richards' description of how some United Charities agencies have operated on reduced funds, follows:

Ozanam Shelter for Homeless Men, clothing department discontinued; drastic limitations on quantity, quality and variety of food served; need for overhauling heating system necessitated closing of upper floors during winter months, resulting in over-crowding on the two floors kept in use; staff, already inadequate, reduced by one member.

The Children's Aid Society was able, during 1933 and 1934, to accept 360 and 328 children respectively. Successive budget reductions brought the number of children under care down to 124 in 1935; 173 in 1936 and 112 for 1937.

The Visiting Nurse Association has fewer nurses to meet demands for nursing care; it is necessary constantly to review the roll of patients with the purpose of eliminating those requiring nursing over a long period.

Sommer's Children's Bureau has closed its doors to many children who, under normal circumstances, would be received for care. Last summer, the agency was unable to extend its program of placing boys on farms.

The Catholic Women's League has restricted attendance of children at the day nursery far below demands. The purchase of additional or new equipment for athletics, library and other activities is precluded.

The Jewish Orphans' Home is prevented from improving or adding to a staff which is so seriously under-manned that acceptance of additional children has been reduced.

Physicians Handicapped.

The St. Louis University Hospitals' Social Service Department has been forced to reduce proportionately its service to patients, thus handicapping both hospitals and physicians in their care of patients for whom responsibility has been accepted.

The Jewish Orthodox Old Folks' Home buildings and equipment are badly in need of repairs and paint. Serious need exists at present for a new furnace.

At Barnes Hospital, the budget cuts have reduced the number of free patients to 397 for the first four months of this year, as compared with 531 for the corresponding period of 1937.

At St. Mary's Girls' Home, extensive repairs, long delayed, are at present seriously needed. Floors in the playroom, as well as the auditorium, are worn through in many places and could easily be the cause of accidents.

The Big Brother Organization has been forced to curtail home and school visits to boys referred for attention.

The Epworth School for Girls: Food and medical appropriations have been reduced even below what is considered the basic requirement, while the clothing budget is only a fraction of that actually required. Acceptance of new cases for care was closed last spring, resulting in the turning away of many needy cases.

School Borrows Money.

St. Philomena's Technical School is looking with grave uncertainty to its program of child care for the remainder of this year. In 1937 it was compelled to borrow $2500 to meet current expenses. In addition, $3100 was borrowed to replace a hot water system.

At St. Louis Children's Hospital, it is estimated that a deficit of at least $27,000 will be incurred if the hospital carries on its present work through the current year.

The Miriam Convalescent Home has been forced to close all but one building with a capacity for about 25 patients per day. There has been a long waiting list despite the discharge of patients before they were physically fit to return to their homes.

Holy Cross House is not able to "follow up and do an effective job" because of an inadequate clinic staff and equipment.

The Department of Children, Catholic Charities, has relinquished responsibility for more than 25 boys and girls whose continued institutional care was considered advisable. The budget does not permit the department to receive any additional cases for boarding care.

The Neighborhood Association avoided closing of the day nursery was only by the contributions of board members of the association. Failure of the campaign is reflected in the need for repairing and equipment.

Alexian Brothers Hospital has found it necessary to refuse medicine to a majority of the patients who are unable to pay for it.

The St. Louis Society for the Blind reports requests for eye care, glasses, etc., during the first four months of 1938 double what they were during the same period of 1937. Budget reductions, however, have prevented the society from caring for more than 40 per cent of these cases.

Others Borrow Money.

St. Mary's Hosital had to borrow $10,000 to meet obligations. While this solved its immediate problem, it adds to a burden of financial responsibility already considered excessive.

St. Louis Maternity Hospital has closed one division, thus depriving a section of the community in need of care on a free of part-pay basis.

St. Domenico Italian Orphan Home arranged a loan upon its endowment fund, in order to pay necessary current, pressing obligations.

At Hessoun Orphanage, failure of the United Charities campaign brought the announcement, "no playground equipment this year — perhaps next year if we're lucky."

Social Service Department, Washing University Clinics and Allied Hospitals, finds funds for medical relief reduced to $1500, a cut of $1000 as compared with 1937. The minimum need estimated on the basis of experience in other cities is approximately $5000.

People's Hospital is confronted with the probability of discontinuing its labatory. This not only would further lower its efficiency but would jeopardize its standing with the American College of Surgeons.

St. Frances Orphans' Home deferred payments on obligations to maintain proportion of 50 per cent of charity cases during 1938.

At Girls' Home, two valued workers were dropped and salaries were cut 10 per cent.

CHURCH LEADER TO SPEAK

The Rev. J. H. Overbeck at Salem Reformed Church Tonight.

The Rev. John H. Overbeck, president of the Missouri district of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, will speak tonight at Salem Reformed Church, Fourteenth street and Sullivan avenue, at a meeting concluding a week's observance of the church's fiftieth anniversary.

Communion service will be held this morning and a musical will follow the Rev. Mr. Overbeck's address. Prof. H. Wernecke is supply pastor.

NEW LADY OF THE LAKE FOR E. ST. LOUIS BALL

Imperial Club to Meet This Week for Selection of Queen and Ladies-in-Waiting.

Preparations for the third annual ball of the Imperial Club, which is held as part of the Lady of the Lake pageant and festival in East St. Louis, will be made this week when a committee will meet to select a new Lady of the Lake. The ball will be held at Ainad Temple the night of Nov. 3.

Only the daughters of an Imperial Club patron is eligible for selection as Lady of the Lake. She must be 18 years old or older and not attending school.

The names of 40 Imperial Club members will be drawn from a file by the committee. Ten ballots and 30 blanks will be placed in envelopes, which will be shuffled before being mailed to the 40 patrons in order that the identity of the voters may remain a secret even to the committee conducting the election. Six ladies-in-waiting will be chosen in this manner.

The Lady of the Lake pageant and festival was inaugurated in 1936 to succeed the Pageant of Progress, an annual social event for years. It is sponsored by the East St. Louis Civic Federation, an organization of women's clubs. General chairman of the festival is Mrs. W. E. Mitchell.

When the Imperial Ball opens Miss Gail Spannagel, crowned Lady of the Lake last autumn, will reign with King Neptune, State Senator Louis J. Menges, and the identity of her successor will remain a secret until the coronation of the new queen of love and beauty.

About 6000 persons viewed the last Lady of the Lake pageant August at Lake Park when outdoor water tableau depicted early historical scenes of the settlement of Southern Illinois.

PART SIX ST. LOUIS, SUNDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 9, 1938. PAGES 1—10H

Final Touches For the Veiled Prophet Ball

Sequence of Events at Sixtieth Annual Society Event — Official List From Which Queen Will Be Chosen.

A VENERABLE Veiled Prophet, ruler of the make-believe kingdom of Khorassan, is marshaling his forces—krewe and royal retainers—and gathering together his jeweled trappings these days, for his sixtieth annual visit to the city of his choice. He will arrive, no one knows how or when, in time to ride on the leading float in the parade in his honor Tuesday night, and Wednesday night will accept the homage of 12,000 subjects in a Louis XIV setting in the Convention Hall of the Municipal Auditorium at the annual Veiled Prophet ball.

When auditorium doors close and guests enter the ballroom, they will be transported for the evening into a replica of a hall in the Palace of Versailles, in the time of one of France's greatest kings. Candles will flicker before tall mirrors. Two Gold throne stairs will await the arrival of their majesties, the Prophet and his Queen of Love and Beauty. The court, as usual, will wear ermine-trimmed trains, sewn with rhinestones and sequins and borne by costumed pages.

The climax of the ball will come with the announcement by the Herald of the new Queen, and her coronation. One hundred Ladies of Honor and 40 maids of honor will await her at the throne and applaud with other guests her selection to reign over younger St. Louis society until his coming again.

For more than half a century, St. Louis has celebrated the visit of the Veiled Prophet with a ball. Originally called a "Grand Ball," it was held in the old Merchants' Exchange building at Fourth and Pine streets. Until 1894 there was no crowned queen. The young woman chosen to dance the first quadrille with the prophet was just the belle of the ball. As the years have rolled around the building housing the pageant has changed twice, to the Coliseum, and three years ago to the Auditorium. The belle of the ball has become a queen, and queens are now attended by special maids of honor instead of "ladies in waiting." The late Mrs. James Lucas Turner, formerly Miss Lucille Chouteau, the first queen to have her own immediate court, was surrounded by Mrs. Thomas L. Anderson, then Miss Gertrude Ballard; Mrs. Lee Pettit Warren of Washington, the former Miss Stella Wade, and Miss Lucille Hopkins, who is now married and living in the East.

Out of respect to thousands of St. Louisans who had returned from the World War, a guard of honor was added in 1923.

A concert of symphonic music will precede the coronation ceremony Wednesday night. Next will come the parade of Ladies and Maids of Honor to the throne platform, with the names of each maid announced as she proceeds past the box of former queens. Among others, this box will contain Mrs. Gustave H. Boehmer Jr., Mrs. John Young Brown Jr., Mrs. Leo DeSmet Carton, Mrs. O. P. J. Falk, Mrs. William E. Glogau, Mrs. Alice Busch Hager, Mrs. Harrison Hoblitzelle, Mrs. Edward G. Hotchkiss, Mrs. Royal D. Kercheval, Mrs. Clifton H. McMillan Jr., Mrs. Philip Wahmann Ness, Mrs. Gilbert Robinson Pirrung, Mrs. Edward C. Simmons II, Mrs. J. Clark Streett, Miss Martha Love and Mrs. Howard Williams.

The order of the rest of the court is as follows: Entrance of Miss Nancy Lee Morrill, the retiring queen, arrival of the Krewe, drill of the Guard of Honor, arrival of the Veiled Prophet and court dignitaries, entrance of the four special maids of honor, arrival of the new queen, and the promenade of the prophet and court as they pay homage to the retiring queen and former queens. Dancing is then led by members of the Court of Love and Beauty and the Krewe.

The Ladies of Honor are of special interest this year, because of the large number who have participated in other Veiled Prophet balls as both maids of honor and special maids of honor to other queens. Among the special maids returning as matrons this year are Mrs. Leicester Busch Faust, Mrs. Richard Baldwin, who was Miss Almira Steedman, Mrs. Kenneth Bitting, Mrs. Ingram F. Boyd Jr., Mrs. Samuel D. Capen Jr., Mrs. B. B. Culver Jr., Mrs. Henry Hitchcock, Mrs. Chapin S. Newhard and Mrs. Boyle O. Rodes. Those who were maids of honor include Mrs. August A. Busch Jr., Mrs. John D. Franciscus, Mrs. Dozier L. Gardner, Mrs. E. Lansing Ray Jr., Mrs. D. D. Walker II, Mrs. Garneau Weld and Mrs. Joseph L. Werner.

The official list of maids of honor for the 1938 Veiled Prophet Ball follows. From this list will be chosen the new queen and her four special maids of honor: Miss Margaret McPheeters Adreon, Miss Mary Jane Allen, Miss Sallie Avery,

Ada Jane Blumeyer Is Wed in Church

THE Church of St. Louis of France (Old Cathedral) was the scene of the wedding of Miss Ada Jane Blumeyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur A. Blumeyer, 41 Washington terrace, and Sidney George Holthaus yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. The Rev. John S. Kane officiated.

The altar and sacristy, banked in palms and ferns, was decorated with white pompons and chrysanthemums in standards and vases. Candles burned in brass candelabra for illumination during the service. Mr. Blumeyer gave his daughter in marriage.

The wedding party proceeded down the center aisle, marked at alternate pews by tapers in tall holders, to the communion rail, which had been wrapped in smilax. Three sisters, Miss Mary Ann, maid of honor, and Miss Estelle and Miss Susan, bridesmaids, and Miss Mary Elizabeth Blumeyer, a cousin and also a bridesmaid, attended the bride. They wore gowns of white slipper satin made with shirred bodices, v-neck lines and short puffed sleeves. The very full skirts were floor length. On their heads were wide brims of stiffened pleated net. Replacing crowns were bands of cerise velvet ribbon, which extended in back into long streamers. Bouquets of carnations in the same shade of red completed the costumes.

Aube Espenschied, young niece of the bridegroom and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Espenschied, served as flower girl in a similar dress, with a wreath of real flowers in her hair. She carried a tiny old-fashioned nosegay. Arthur A. Blumeyer Jr. escorted her down the aisle.

Eugene Holthaus of Chicago was best man for his brother. Another brother, William; William Byrne Dimond, James Foristel, Laurence Kriegshauser, Frank Carter Blumeyer, brother of the bride, Edgar Meier and John Switzer were groomsmen.

The bride's gown was of white silk jersey, designed with a shirred bodice and heart-shaped neck. The long sleeves were made full at the shoulder line. The skirt, ending in a several yard train which was banded in heirloom duchesse lace, fell full from the waistline. Her flowers were lilies of the valley. A veil of illusion was secured by a coronet of orange blossoms.

Mrs. Blumeyer wore a costume suit of French blue wool trimmed in black Persian lamb. Her corsage was of gardenias. Mrs. Clyde Espenschied, sister of the bridegroom, with whom he made his home, wore a black dress trimmed

L. C. Kingsland Jr. Weds Miss Margaret Fitz

THE marriage of Miss Margaret Fitz, daughter of Mrs. Eustace Carey Fitz of Wakefield, Mass., and Lawrence Chappell Kingsland Jr., son of Col. and Mrs. Lawrence Chappell Kingsland, 6034 West Cabanne place, took place at 8:30 o'clock last night at Emmanuel Episcopal Church at Wakefield. The Rev. Stewart Clark Harkinson performed the ceremony. A reception was given afterward at the Fitz home, 20 Park avenue.

Mrs. Kingsland left Sept. 30 to attend the pre-wedding festivities, and Col. Kingsland departed Tuesday. Both are guests at the Fitz home.

The bride was gowned in ivory satin, fashioned in a princess style. The neckline was a modified V, and the bodice laced up the front

Elinor Curran First Debutante To Make Bow

Parents Introduce Daughter at Afternoon Reception at Home Followed by Supper Dance for Contemporaries.

THE first young woman to make her bow to society this season is Miss Phoebe Elinor Curran. Soon after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Donovan Curran introduced their daughter to friends at a reception at the Curran home, a large stone structure, Norman-French in architecture, at 301 Berry road, Webster Groves.

Smilax decorated the iron grill stairway in the tiled hallway, from which guests stepped down into the drawing room. Opposite the balcony inclosed by grill work, is the carved stone fireplace where the hostess and host received with their daughter. The grate was concealed by greenery, and white chrysanthemums cascaded from the mantel. At either end of the mantel, stood an antique brass candelabra urn in which burned nine tapers.

The debutante wore American Beauty taffeta, designed along simple lines with large puffed sleeves, square neckline and full skirt. She carried a sheaf of roses in harmonizing shade. Mrs. Curran's gown was of delphinium blue lace complemented by a corsage of red begonias.

Two tea tables were arranged for serving. In the dining room the centerpiece of white chrysanthemums, pompons and snapdragon was illuminated by white tapers in silver candelabra. The second board, arranged in the garden, had decorations of snapdragon, chrysanthemums and roses in fall shades with lighted tapers in corresponding shades.

The following friends of the host and hostess assisted: Mrs. Robert E. Adreon, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. R. Walston Chubb, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Berryman, Mr. and Mrs. Berthoud Clifford, Mrs. George Gellhorn, Dr. and Mrs. Evarts A. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Philo Rockwell King, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Latzer, Mr. and Mrs. Stratford Lee Morton, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Neuhoff, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Van Dyke, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Wagner, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Ross McCarthy, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. William D. Love.

At 9 o'clock a few of this year's debutantes, second year girls and their escorts were invited for dancing and supper. The Currans received these younger guests at the stairs leading from the hall into the drawing room, which had been cleared for dancing. An orchestra played from the balcony. Assisting were four young women, Miss Nancy Morrill, the Veiled Prophet Queen; Miss Elizabeth Hoerr, Miss Dorothy-Lee Culver and Miss Virginia Holland, all debutantes of last year.

For this later party Miss Phoebe Elinor wore a white gown of soft taffeta studded with rhinestones. The low decolletage had narrow straps of brilliants and the high bodice was marked by a rhinestone belt. She wore orchids in a corsage.

Supper was served at midnight. Among the guests were Miss Bertha Schulte of Toledo, O., sister of the hostess, who will remain until after the Veiled Prophet ball, and Miss Ann McMillen of Decatur, Ill., who is visiting Miss Margaret McPheeters Adreon, a debutante of the winter.

Miss Curran was graduated from the John Burroughs School two years ago. Last winter she spent in Florence, Italy, attending Graduate House. With her parents she was at Annisquam, Mass., last summer. Miss Curran will be a maid of honor at the Veiled Prophet ball Wednesday night.

Several parties are being planned in honor of the debutante, to take place later this fall.

Two Sunday Parties Honor Debutantes

TWO parties today will honor the season's debutantes. A breakfast at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon will be given by Mr. and Mrs. Alanson C. Brown Jr., 4906 Argyle place, at the home of Mrs. Brown's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Freeman, 38 Brentmoor park. Guests of honor will be Miss Martha Bixby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Bixby; Miss Agnes Galt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Galt, and Miss Becky Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erastus Wells.

The second party will be an out-of-door affair, given by Mr. and Mrs. C. Douglas Smiley Jr., 2 Wydown terrace, at their country place, "Dougout," near Ware, Mo. Guests have been invited for 3 o'clock and will play baseball, badminton and other games until time for a picnic supper. Three debutantes will be the honorees.

Nancy Gayler To Be Married To J. H. Sanders

THE engagement of Miss Nancy Gayler and John Houston Sanders was announced yesterday afternoon at a bridge luncheon given at the home of Miss Gayler's mother, Mrs. Wenzel Carl Gayler, 7025 Northmoor drive. The wedding will take place in the spring.

The prospective bride's father was the late Dr. Gayler. Miss Nancy is a graduate of Hosmer Hall, and attended Washington University, where she was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Mr. Sanders is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Sanders, 7550 Carleton avenue, University City. He attended the University of Missouri, and is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

Guests were seated at bridge tables in the living room, their places marked by double cards tied with tiny silver bells. Inside the cards, the names of Miss Gayler and her fiance were written. Each guest also found at her place an old-fashioned bouquet, the lace ruffle inclosing rose buds and white mums. Pink snapdragon and white daisies in crystal crown-shaped containers were the centerpieces for each table. Guests included: Mrs. Sanders, Miss Nancy Williams, Miss Betty Jane Reinert, Miss Betty Belle Baker, Miss Nancy Streiff, Miss Ruth Reuss, Miss Marjorie Jackman, Mrs. Fred Varney, Mrs. Harry Hurd, Miss Marcia Grocock, Miss Dorothy Marshall and Miss Margot Parman. The bride-elect was gowned in gray crepe. Mrs. Gayler wore black crepe, and Mrs. Sanders plum colored crepe.

MARRIED AT CHRIST CHURCH CATHEDRAL

MRS. ISAAC ADELBERT LONG, whose marriage was an interestiing social event of Oct. 1, and the first large wedding of the fall season. She is the former Miss Lydia Ann Kimbrough Allen, and is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claxton Edmonds Allen, 4626 Maryland avenue. The ceremony took place at Christ Church Cathedral, with a reception afterward at the St. Louis Woman's Club.

Jewell Faulkner Wed To John A. Othman

AT 6:30 o'clock Friday night at Maple Avenue Methodist Church, Miss Jewell Faulkner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira W. Faulkner, 5622 Vernon avenue, became the bride of John A. Othman. A large electrically-lighted cross in the chancel formed a background for the wedding ceremony at which the Rev. Dr. Fred M. Bailey officiated. Palms and ferns provided decoration.

Mr. Faulkner gave his daughter in marriage. Her teal blue costume suit, trimmed in kolinsky fur, was complemented by a corsage of orchids. Miss Edna Faulkner, sister of the bride, wore a wine-red costume suit with a corsage of talisman roses. Dr. Donald L. Twedell was best man.

Mrs. Faulkner was dressed in a light wool suit of black and Mrs. Othman was in black velvet. Each wore a corsage of sweetheart roses.

The families went to the Chase Hotel afterward for a dinner. The bridal pair, after a brief honeymoon, will live at 5862 Cates avenue.

Mr. Othman was graduated from Washington University School of Law. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Clare Jane Marshall To Wed J. W. Turner

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made of the engagement of Miss Clare Jane Marshall, daughter of Mrs. Jessie W. Marshall, to Joseph Warren Turner, 3745 Lindell boulevard, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Turner of Thomasville, Ga. The wedding will take place next month.

Miss Marshall has studied dramatics in St. Louis for the last few years and her finance is a graduate of Georgia Institute of Technology. His fraternity is Sigma Alpha Epsilon. She is a niece of Edward H. Wilson, 744 Interdrive, University City.

Fox-Jones Wedding Party Announced

THE attendants' list has been completed for the wedding of Miss Geraldine Dolores Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Gray Jones Jr., 4 Rio Vista drive, and John J. Fox, which is to take place Monday, Oct. 17. As previously announced, Miss Jones will have her sister, Miss Marian, as maid of honor and Miss Margaret Bates, Miss Margaret Scherrer and Miss Mary Catherine Lamb as bridesmaids.

James Hudson Jones, brother of the bride-elect, is to be best man, and ushers are to be Theodore Guhmen, William Carroll Connett IV, and Newell Ferry. Breakfast for the families and wedding party will be served at the Jones home afterward.

Several parties have been given in honor of Miss Jones. Saturday, Oct. 1, Miss Bates was hostess at a luncheon and shower at Le Chateau. On Thursday, Sept. 29, Miss Catherine Lamb and her aunt, Mrs. Joseph Muckerman, gave a magazine subscription shower at the home of the former, 875 Leland avenue. Miss Evelyn Dwyer, 4 Prado drive, was hostess at a kitchen shower and Mrs. Pierce Reilly, Riovista drive, had a cocktail party.

Miss Elizabeth Jones will entertain this week at her home, 7100 Washington avenue, in honor of Miss Geraldine, and Miss Margaret Phelps, who is to become the bride of Edward Bradley Burrage on Saturday.

Yesterday, Miss Sherrer entertain friends of the bride-elect at a luncheon at the Park Plaza. Thursday, Mrs. Jones will have a trousseau tea at her home, and Sunday evening, following rehearsal, the wedding party will be entertained at buffet supper at the Jones home.

The ceremony is to be performed at 9 o'clock in the morning at the Church of the Annunciata, with the Rev. C. B. Faris officiating. A breakfast will be held afterward at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jones.

Isabel Fulton and John M. Acee Wed In Home Service

MISS ISABEL CECILE FULTON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy B. Fulton, 4122 Flora boulevard, became the bride of John M. Acee in a ceremony at the Fulton home Thursday noon. The Rev. Floyd Sullivan officiated. The living room was decorated with white chrysanthemums and fern.

The bride wore a gown of white velvet, simply made, with a tulle veil and a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. Her three attendants were also in velvet, designed on classic lines with floor-length skirts. Miss Theresa Shea, maid of honor, was in green with a bouquet of talisman roses. Mrs. Eugene J. Schneider, cousin of the bride, in brown, and Miss Janet Milligan, in rust, were bridesmaids. Bouquets were of pompons and chrysanthemums in shades of yellow and brown. For headdresses each young woman wore cut-velvet flowers matching her gown.

Elizabeth Ann Schneider, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Schneider, as flower girl, wore a yellow velvet dress and carried a nosegay of roses. Dr. John B. O'Neill, brother-in-law of Mrs. Schneider, was best man.

The 75 guests, relatives and close friends remained for a breakfast. It was served buffet-style from the flower-laden table in the dining room.

After a honeymoon in the South the bride and bridegroom will make their home with Mr. and Mrs. Fulton. Mr. Acee formerly resided at the Missouri Athletic Association.

No formal announcement had been made of the engagement.

gray hair tells tales But Canute Water Keeps Your Secret!
If you have gray hair, simply wet it with Canute Water and allow to dry. In from 1 to 3 applications (depending on shade), it will be completely recolored . . . similar to its former natural shade. All in one day, if you wish. After that, a single treatment, only once a month, will keep it that way.
You may then curl, wave or set your hair — or get a permanent — if you like. The color is also proof against sun, air, salt-water and shampooing.
Canute Water is pure, colorless and crystal-clear, and will leave your hair clean and natural to the touch. Even you, yourself, will be unable to distinguish the re-colored hair from your natural. You will be delighted to see how completely Canute Water solves your problem.
No Skin Test Needed
CANUTE WATER is so safe and pure that it has never injured a single user in 24 years.
To the best of our knowledge it is the ONLY hair coloring preparation proven perfectly harmless by a noted Scientist in one of America's greatest universities.
Buy a bottle now and you'll soon understand why CANUTE WATER IS OUR BEST SELLER.

De Paul Dramatic Group To Give Benefit Play

THE De Paul Dramatic Association will present a play, "Soup to Nuts," at St. Mark's School hall, Academy and Minerva avenues, Sunday night, Oct. 16, for the benefit of the sick poor at De Paul Hospital. Joseph P. Kelly Jr. is directing the play. The benefit performance will be sponsored by the De Paul Guard, a woman's auxiliary of the hospital.

Members of the cast include: Miss Adriana Mercurio, Miss Mary Mahoney, Miss Janet Cummings, Miss Lavina O'Shaughnessy, Miss Dorothy Caver, John Murphy, Joseph Mullen, Emmet Dustin, Joseph Maher, Joseph Greifzu, Jerrie Russell and Francis Lane. During intermission a musical program will be given by Miss Clara Schlief, soprano; Frank Lamb, dancer; Miss Katherine Ganley, contralto. Miss Mary Ganley will be the accompanist.

Fontbonne College Day Celebration Wednesday

STUDENTS of Fontbonne College will celebrate their annual College day Wednesday, Oct. 12. Ceremonies will begin at an 8:30 o'clock mass, to be celebrated by the Rev. John J. Taugher, C. M., chaplain, at St. Joseph's Chapel. The Rev. James R. O'Neill, S. J., pastor of St. Francis Xavier's Church, will preach the sermon.

Officers of the student association will be in charge of the formal investiture of freshmen held after mass.

After breakfast, students will decorate their cars in purple and gold, college colors, for a parade to St. Joseph's Mother House, 6400 Minnesota avenue. Luncheon will then be served. Skits will be presented by the four classes.

At 2 o'clock that afternoon students will parade to Carondelet to spend the afternoon. Tea will be served, and afterward the Rev. Leo Ohleyer will pronounce the benediction.

Auto News and Notes

APPROXIMATELY 1400 DEALers and salesmen attended a luncheon at Hotel Jefferson Thursday, at which features of the new 1939 Chevrolet cars were shown on a screen and explained by eight speakers, and then saw the new models in a display in the Municipal Auditorium. The meeting, at which E. A. Nimnicht, regional manager, and W. V. Shell, zone manager, were the principal speakers, was one of 42, scheduled by Chevrolet all over the country between Oct. 6 and 14, which the factory expected to be attended by more than 80,000 members of its retail organization. Sales and advertising plans for the coming year were explained as a preliminary to the public announcement of the 1939 Chevrolet, which is set for Oct. 22.

E. A. Nimnicht

W. V. Shell

Decentralization through meetings in all the 42 Chevrolet zones of the process of acquainting the retail organization with the new cars and their servicing features was decided on to accomplish in a few days what required three weeks last year when 12,000 men were called to the factory, and then went home to acquaint their organizations with the new model features.

MORE THAN 175 CHRYSLER dealers and salesmen attended a meeting and luncheon Wednesday at the Coronado Hotel at which details of the 1939 Chrysler cars were discussed and advertising and merchandising plans were explained by R. N. Harger, regional manager, and L. M. Stewart, president of L. M. Stewart, Inc., the local distributer.

MISS MARIE BARNETT OF Bisbee, Arizona, who represented her State at the Atlantic City beauty pageant and was placed first in the amateur competition, was a guest of St. Louis Metropolitan Plymouth dealers the past week. She was driving a 1939 Plymouth car, which she got at the factory in Detroit where she was formally received by the Mayor and Plymouth executives.

CHARLES H. GRAY HAS joined the Grebe Motor Co., 3600 South Kingshighway, as service manager.

RESTYLED CHRYSLER ROYal, Imperial and Custom Imperial 1939 cars, now being shown here, come in four body styles. In addition to the standard Royal, there is now a Windsor Royal on the Royal 119-inch, 100-horsepower chassis, with two-tone upholstery and other refinements, as well as a seven-passenger sedan and sedan-limousine on a 136-inch Royal chassis. In the Imperial line, in addition to the standard models, there are the New Yorker, improved from the 1938 New York Special, and the Saratoga, a car designed especially for men. There are no convertibles listed in the 1939 Chrysler lines.

The front ends of the new Chryslers are wholly new and of modern design, with headlights built into the massive fenders, V-type windshields four inches wider, narrower running boards and sweeping streamlining. Trunks have been abolished from all models in favor of concealed luggage compartments. Bodies are four inches wider at the "A" post, so the front seats are among the widest ever built into a motor car. There are numerous interior refinements, from rotary door locks to new instrument panel, hardware and upholstery styling.

Horsepower of the Royal engine has been increased to 100, while the Imperial and Custom Imperial engine is of 130 horsepower. Both engines have been improved for performance.

An improved overdrive on the Chryslers, called "Cruise and Climb," cuts in at speeds from 23 to 28 miles per hour instead of above 40, giving economy for much of city driving as well as on the highway. Merely pressing the accelerator to the floor when in overdrive now gives instantaneous down shift to a more powerful gear for sudden acceleration. A new type safety speedometer, standard on all models, constantly reminds a driver of his speed, showing green for standstill to 30 m. p. h., amber for 30 to 50 m. p. h. and red for speeds above 50.

The gear-shift lever is on the steering wheel column, and the emergency brake lever is at the driver's left, under the dash. Constant speed windshield wipers are a new feature. A new synthetic enamel is used on the car exteriors for longer life of the finish.

Longer engine life is said to be assured by use of an exclusive superfinishing process by which all Chrysler car moving parts are given a surface finish so nearly perfect that variation from absolute smoothness is less than two one-millionths of an inch.

FACTORY DELIVERED PRICES of the 1939 Studebaker State Commander models have been reduced to the prices of the 1938 regular Commander and those of the new State President have been cut $95 from the 1938 level. The State Commander prices run from $875 to $965 at the factory and those of the State President from $1035 to $1460.

OLE MAY, FORMERLY DIStrict manager in San Francisco for TWA, the "Lindbergh Line," has returned here to resume his old post as district traffic manager for the St. Louis area, which he held from 1934 until Jan. 1 last.

Ole May.

May, who has been with the TWA in various positions for the past nine years, plans to make his permanent home here.

The territory covered by his traffic district extends from Peoria, Ill., on the North to New Orleans on the South, and includes part of Missouri and Indiana.

REDUCTIONS IN PRICES OF Buick cars just announced range from $51 to $102. In the Series 40 and 60 lines, the reduction is $51 on standard sedan and coupe models. In the Series 80 and 90 cars, the cuts are $102 on the six-passenger standard sedans. Price cuts also have been made on major accessories.

THE McMAHON MOTOR CO., Inc., 3504 South Grand boulevard, just appointed a direct Dodge and Plymouth dealer, is headed by Frank Enrstman, for 20 years in the automobile business, as president and general manager. John Feldwisch is vice-president in charge of new car sales, and Charles Harwood, secretary and treasurer, in charge of used car sales. H. G. Bradley is service manager. The firm will handle new cars and service at 3504 South Grand and used cars at 3507 Gravois. It also is a Dodge commercial car and truck dealer. A new service department is being built.

FOUR LINES OF NEW 1939 Buick cars, all with straight eight engines, are being shown in this area—a Series 40 Special on 120-inch wheelbase with 107 h. p.; a Series 60 Century with 126-inch wheelbase and 141 h. p.; a Series 80 Roadmaster with 133-inch wheelbase and 141 h. p., and a Series 90 Limited with 140-inch wheelbase and 141 h. p. Wholly new radiator grilles are set low, in rakish contour, in the cat-walk section between hood and fenders and the hood has been narrowed, and the body lines have been newly streamlined. All 1939 models have a new "handi-shift" gear lever on the steering wheel column; engine and carburetor improvements for swifter acceleration and more and quieter power; more rubber in the insulation of the body against noise; new instrument panels with controls of the safety type; new hardware; arm rests at the outer edges of seats; a clutch of new design; and fatigue-free accelerator.

Driving vision has been materially increased, due partly to narrowing of the hood. Also, in the Series 40 and 60 models, the area of the windshield has been increased 26 per cent and that of the windows from 11 to 52 per cent.

A direction signal is an added feature. With a flick of his finger a Buick driver can throw a switch on the "handi-shift" gear lever and illuminate a modified arrow in the lamp mounted in the center of the luggage compartment door. This arrow indicates to a following car in which direction the driver plans to turn, and, being of the flashing on-and-off type, should always attract attention.

The Series 40 and 60 cars have new frames, which lower the rear two inches for stability. To emphasize the streamlining of these cars, one may have narrow stream boards instead of running boards. An option on the four-door touring sedan in the 40 and 60 series, and on the Series 40 two-door touring sedan, is a sunshine roof of the type so popular in Europe. Optional gear ratios may be had on the 40 and 60 models to give extreme performance or economy.

The Series 40 and 60 bodies are roomier in every way, the front seat of the "40" being two inches wider. All front seats, except in the 140-inch limousine are fully adjustable four inches backward and forward and also rise as much as three quarters of an inch when moved forward. Rumble seats have been replaced by interior opera seats in the standard and convertible coupes, giving inside seating space for all passengers and more luggage room.

MORE THAN 600 DEALERS AND salesmen met Wednesday with executives from the factory to view the 1939 Dodge cars, larger and entirely different in appearance, and incorporating numerous mechanical improvements including the safety light speedometer with color signals to indicate the rate of speed.

J. W. Hutchins.

J. W. Hutchins, assistant general sales manager of Detroit, said that introduction of the new models was coinciding with improvement in general business conditions that affect the buying of autos. Allison Miller, regional manager, was in charge of the meeting, and among executives from Detroit were E. F. Lowry, merchandising expert, J. J. Dunn, in charge of truck distribution, and W. R. Keogh and L. J. Hooner, of the service department.

Allison Miller.

A feature was a silver anniversary celebration in recognition of the 25 years of Dodge activity. Engraved silver placques were presented to five Dodge dealers in the St. Louis area who have been in continuous business association with Dodge for 25 years. These firms were John N. Taylor, Inc., Columbia, Mo.; Hatcher-Joseph, Inc., Springfield, Ill.; W. W. Evans, Whitehall, Ill.; C. A. Krumsick, Washington, Mo., and Oliver C. Joseph, Belleville, Ill.

SEVERAL HUNDRED DEALers, salesmen and parts and service men viewed the 1939 DeSoto cars Friday at a meeting at the Coronado Hotel, at which R. M. Rowland, DeSoto assistant general sales manager, was the principal speaker. Features on the new models, which have been completely restyled, Rowland said, include a new, improved steering column gear shift, a safety speedometer, which warns a driver as his car speed rises or falls, a perfected overdrive which goes into action at 25 miles per hour and can be stepped down to a more powerful gear by merely pushing down the accelerator, superfinished moving parts smoothed to three to ten millionths of an inch, and a new type, more durable enamel exterior finish. Advertising plans for the year were outlined by Ward Barnett.

R. M. Rowland.

A BRAND NEW, LOWER priced six, called the "Sixty," has been added to the Oldsmobile line for 1939, which also includes a larger six and an eight. With an increasing number of Oldsmobiles rolling off the assembly line, employment in the Oldsmobile and Lansing Fisher Body plants has risen to about 5000, an increase of 1350 workers over a week ago.

A BRAND NEW CAR CALLED the Mercury Eight will be added to the Ford and Lincoln lines shortly before the New York Auto Show in November, Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Co., announces, confirming reports. It will have a V-eight engine more powerful than any heretofore built by the Ford company, a 116-inch wheelbase, hydraulic brakes and streamlined styling based on the Lincoln-Zephyr design pioneered three years ago. It will be unusually wide and roomy, and will be priced between the de luxe Ford V-Eight and the V-12 Lincoln-Zephyr.

CADILLAC-LA SALLE DEALers, including members of the Oliver Cadillac Co. of St. Louis, will view the new 1939 cars at the factory in Detroit Tuesday and meet with Nicholas Dreystadt, general manager; D. E. Ahrens, general sales manager, and other executives. A banquet with General Motors executives will be held Tuesday night, and Wednesday there will be a drive-away of a million dollars worth of the new cars.

PONTIAC HAS ANNOUNCED factory delivered prices of its 1939 models as follows: the new Quality Six, $758 to $866, or $70 less than those of its lowest priced 1938 model, or $80 less when it is considered that the safety shift is now standard equipment; De Luxe Six, $814 to $922, or $20 to $25 less than for the 1938 cars; De Luxe Eight, $862 to $970, or $10 to $40, but actually $32.25 to $62.25 because certain accessories are now included in the factory prices.

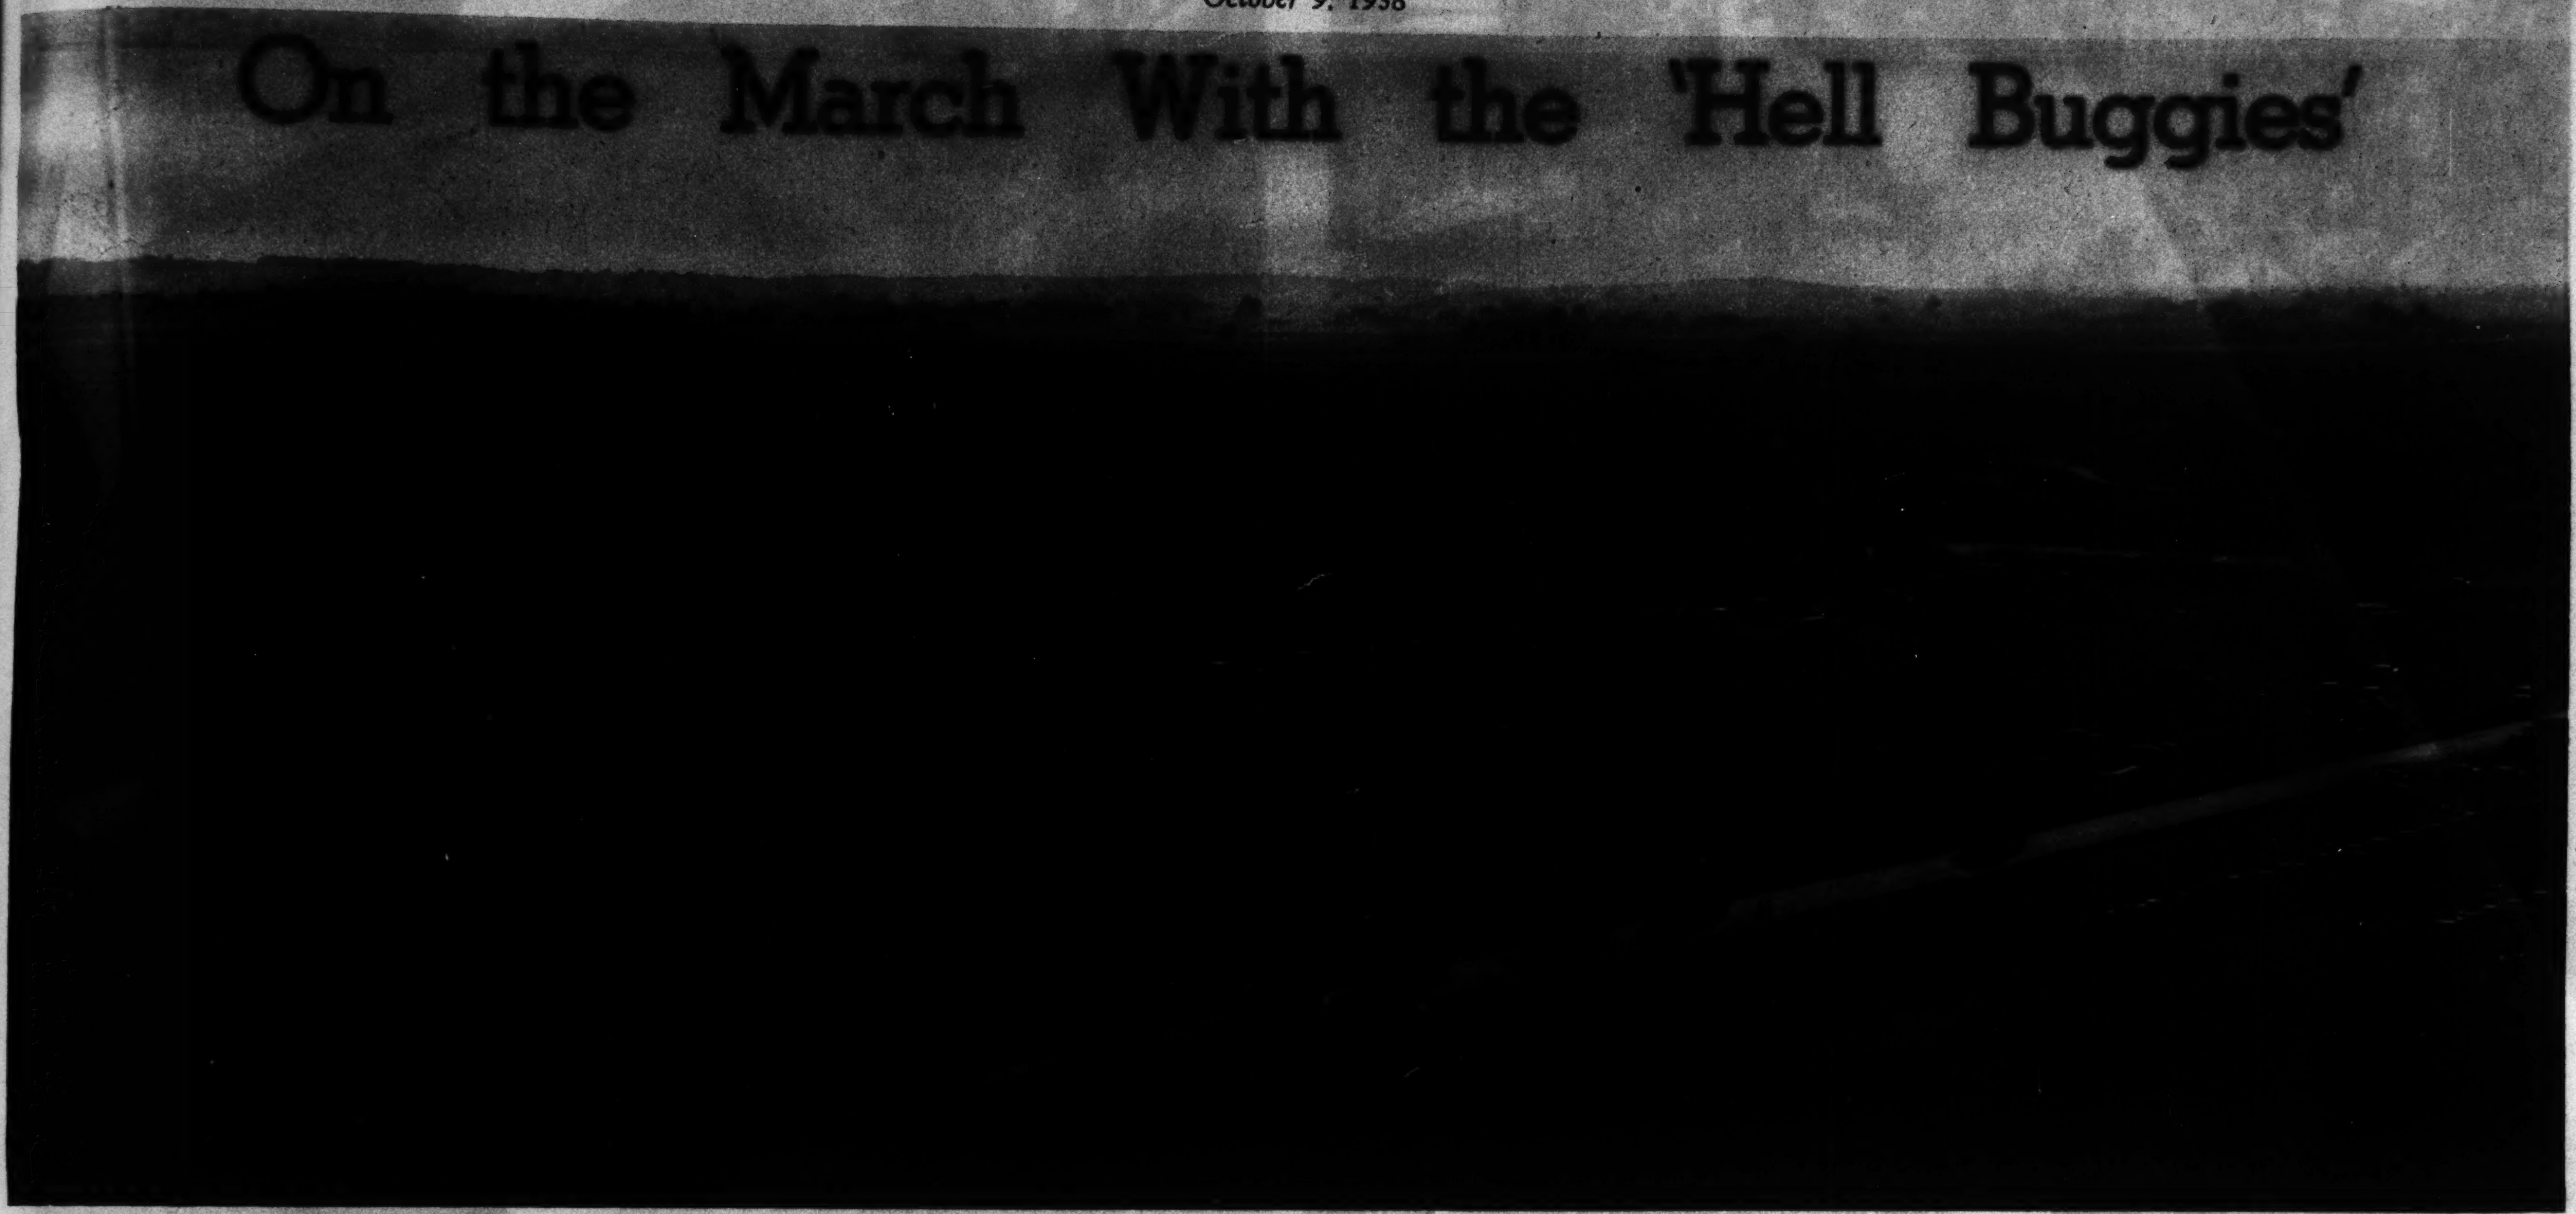
On the March With the 'Hell Buggies'



The mechanized Seventh Cavalry Brigade at Scott Field, Belleville, Tuesday, on its 731-mile march from Fort Knox, Kentucky, to Fort Riley, Kansas. The 637 vehicles and 2000 men occupy 35 acres. The last supply trucks are rolling in an hour after the head of the column arrived.

This 10-ton tank, known officially as a combat car and unofficially as a "hell buggy," does 35 miles an hour on the highway while a member of the crew comes up for air. It can go at least 20 miles an hour faster.

On the March With the 'Hell Buggies'

As in the old horse days, care of the "mount" and equipment was the first duty on making camp. Here troopers clean the tanks' machine guns before supper.

A NEW age in warfare was revealed to St. Louisans who got up at dawn last Thursday to see the Seventh Cavalry Brigade pass through St. Louis, on a 731-mile five-day march from Fort Knox, Kentucky, to Fort Riley, Kansas, the largest mechanized military movement ever executed in this country.

For this was stream-lined cavalry—cavalry without the horse. The clank and roar of motors and the pungency of gasoline replaced the whinnying, the clumping of hoofs, the rattle of sabres. The measured bobbing of horses heads, the straight, alert backs of troopers astride, weren't there. Instead, in the early morning light there appeared light tanks—the "hell buggies"—armored cars, trucks, motorcycles, motor drawn howitzers—637 vehicles in all, a grim line of steel armor, speed and machine guns. But a Post-Dispatch reporter who accompanied the 2065 officers and men of the brigade on the march from Evansville, Indiana, to Scott Field, found the troopers much the same as old. Outside of the mechanics, most of them are converted horsemen, bow-legged, leather-faced and tough, their reminiscences, both officers and men, mostly of the old horse days, their metaphors drawn chiefly from the horse world. Officers still wear spurs on their boots.

The brigade will take part in maneuvers at Fort Riley to demonstrate co-operation between horse and mechanized cavalry. For, these former horsemen point out, there will always be use for horse cavalry. The mechanized cavalry has far greater speed—it averages 20 miles an hour on the march and all its units can do 55—and has tremendous fire power, but horses can ford rivers, climb mountains, cross deserts, and often live on the country.

He Outstripped His Illustrious Father and Brother

Little Neville in the arms of his mother, Florence Kenrick, Joseph Chamberlain's second wife, a cousin of his first wife.

CHAMBERLAINS have had an authoritative finger in the British political pie for more than 60 years.

Neville Chamberlain, least heralded of the prominent "ruling class" family until he neared his seventieth birthday, has achieved a goal that escaped his celebrated father and brilliant half-brother—the Prime Ministry of Great Britain. Lineal descendant of maltsters and shoemakers, endowed with great fortune founded on his grandfather's investment in a Birmingham metal screw foundry, he has become the "business-man" ruler of England. Once a member of the Liberal party, he now is a thorough-going Conservative. As a result of his recent four-power maneuvers for the Munich pact, the ranks of the peerage appear open to him, for King George VI acclaimed his conduct of the negotiations with Hitler. Soon, it is said, the sword of knighthood may be placed gratefully on the thin Chamberlain shoulder.

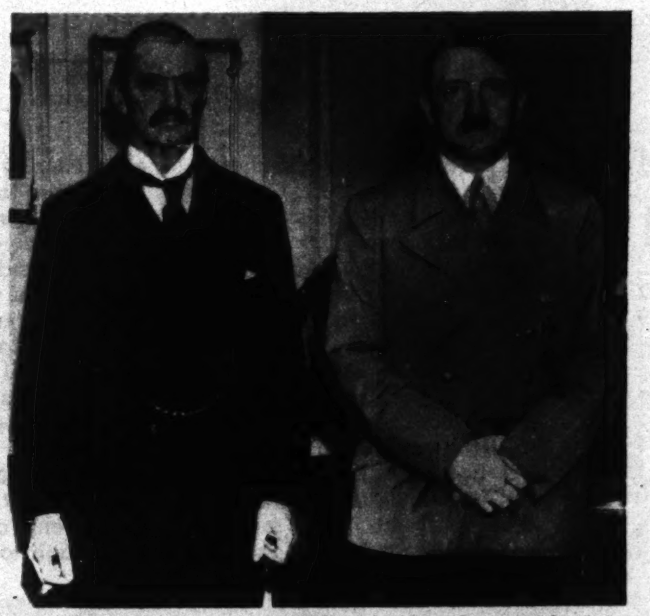
His father, Joseph Chamberlain, for nearly 38 years stirred the Empire, first as a "radical" exponent of governmental and tariff reform, then as a Tory cabinet minister whose imperialistic policies in Africa invoked the Boer War. The elder Chamberlain, frustrated in his consuming ambition to become Prime Minister, died in 1914. His battle-torn mantle slipped naturally to the shoulders of a son by his first marriage, Austen, who carried the Chamberlain shield to glory as Foreign Minister. Austen was knighted after he negotiated the Treaty of Locarno, but died last year, his hopes for the Prime Ministry unfulfilled. At that time, Neville, child of Joseph Chamberlain's second marriage, was Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Neville Chamberlain's mother died in childbirth when he was six years old. His father in 1888, at a ceremony in the United States, married Mary Crowinshield Endicott, member of an old Massachusetts family. Neville has spoken publicly of the absence of maternal influences in his life. Conservative to the core, mild, self-effacing, almost diffident, Neville's political shadow throughout most of his life was nearly obliterated by the glow of his dynamic father, and his scintillating half-brother. In Associated Press dispatches at the death of Joseph Chamberlain, Neville's name was not mentioned although it was noted a consolation in the statesman's long illness was "the growing political prominence of his son, Austen."

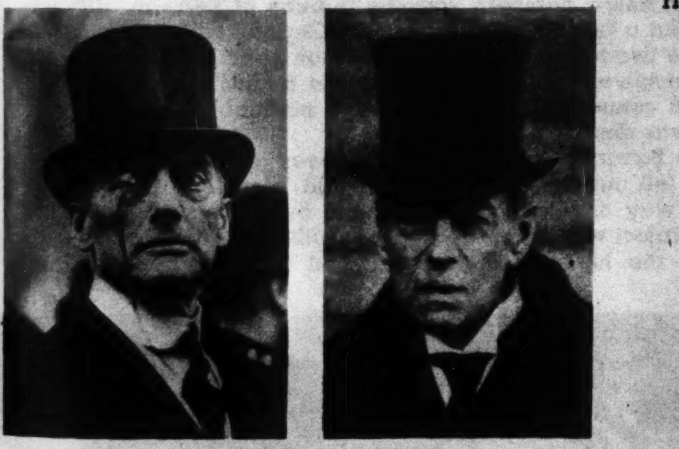
Neville Chamberlain's political career began in 1916 when he took his seat in commons for the Ladywood division of Birmingham, traditionally a Chamberlain stronghold. His caution won for him the title of "The safest man in England." He took over the Treasury two months after Britain went off the gold standard. In the Baldwin cabinet of conservatives, he was the most conservative member. His accession to the Prime Ministry, an office with power greater than the King's, was almost eclipsed, like steps of his earlier career, by the brilliance of associated events. When he took over, the world's eyes were still on Baldwin who shortly before had forced a King to choose between love and throne.

Other nations knew before long, however, that in Neville Chamberlain England had a leader stoutly representing the views of the so-called ruling class. It became evident when Foreign Minister Anthony Eden, conservative Baldwin hold-over, publicly denounced Chamberlain's willingness to deal with Fascist Dictators, and left the cabinet.

Father of Joseph Chamberlain, the statesman. Joseph Chamberlain Sr. invested proceeds of a shoe firm in a lucrative screw venture.



His deal with Hitler on Czechoslovakia resulted in the Munich pact averting an immediate war.



Striking resemblance between Austen and his father, Joseph (right). Each vainly sought Prime Ministry. Only Neville achieved it.

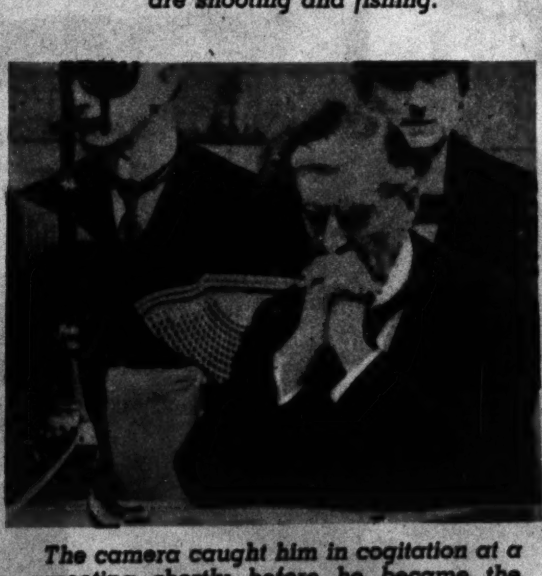
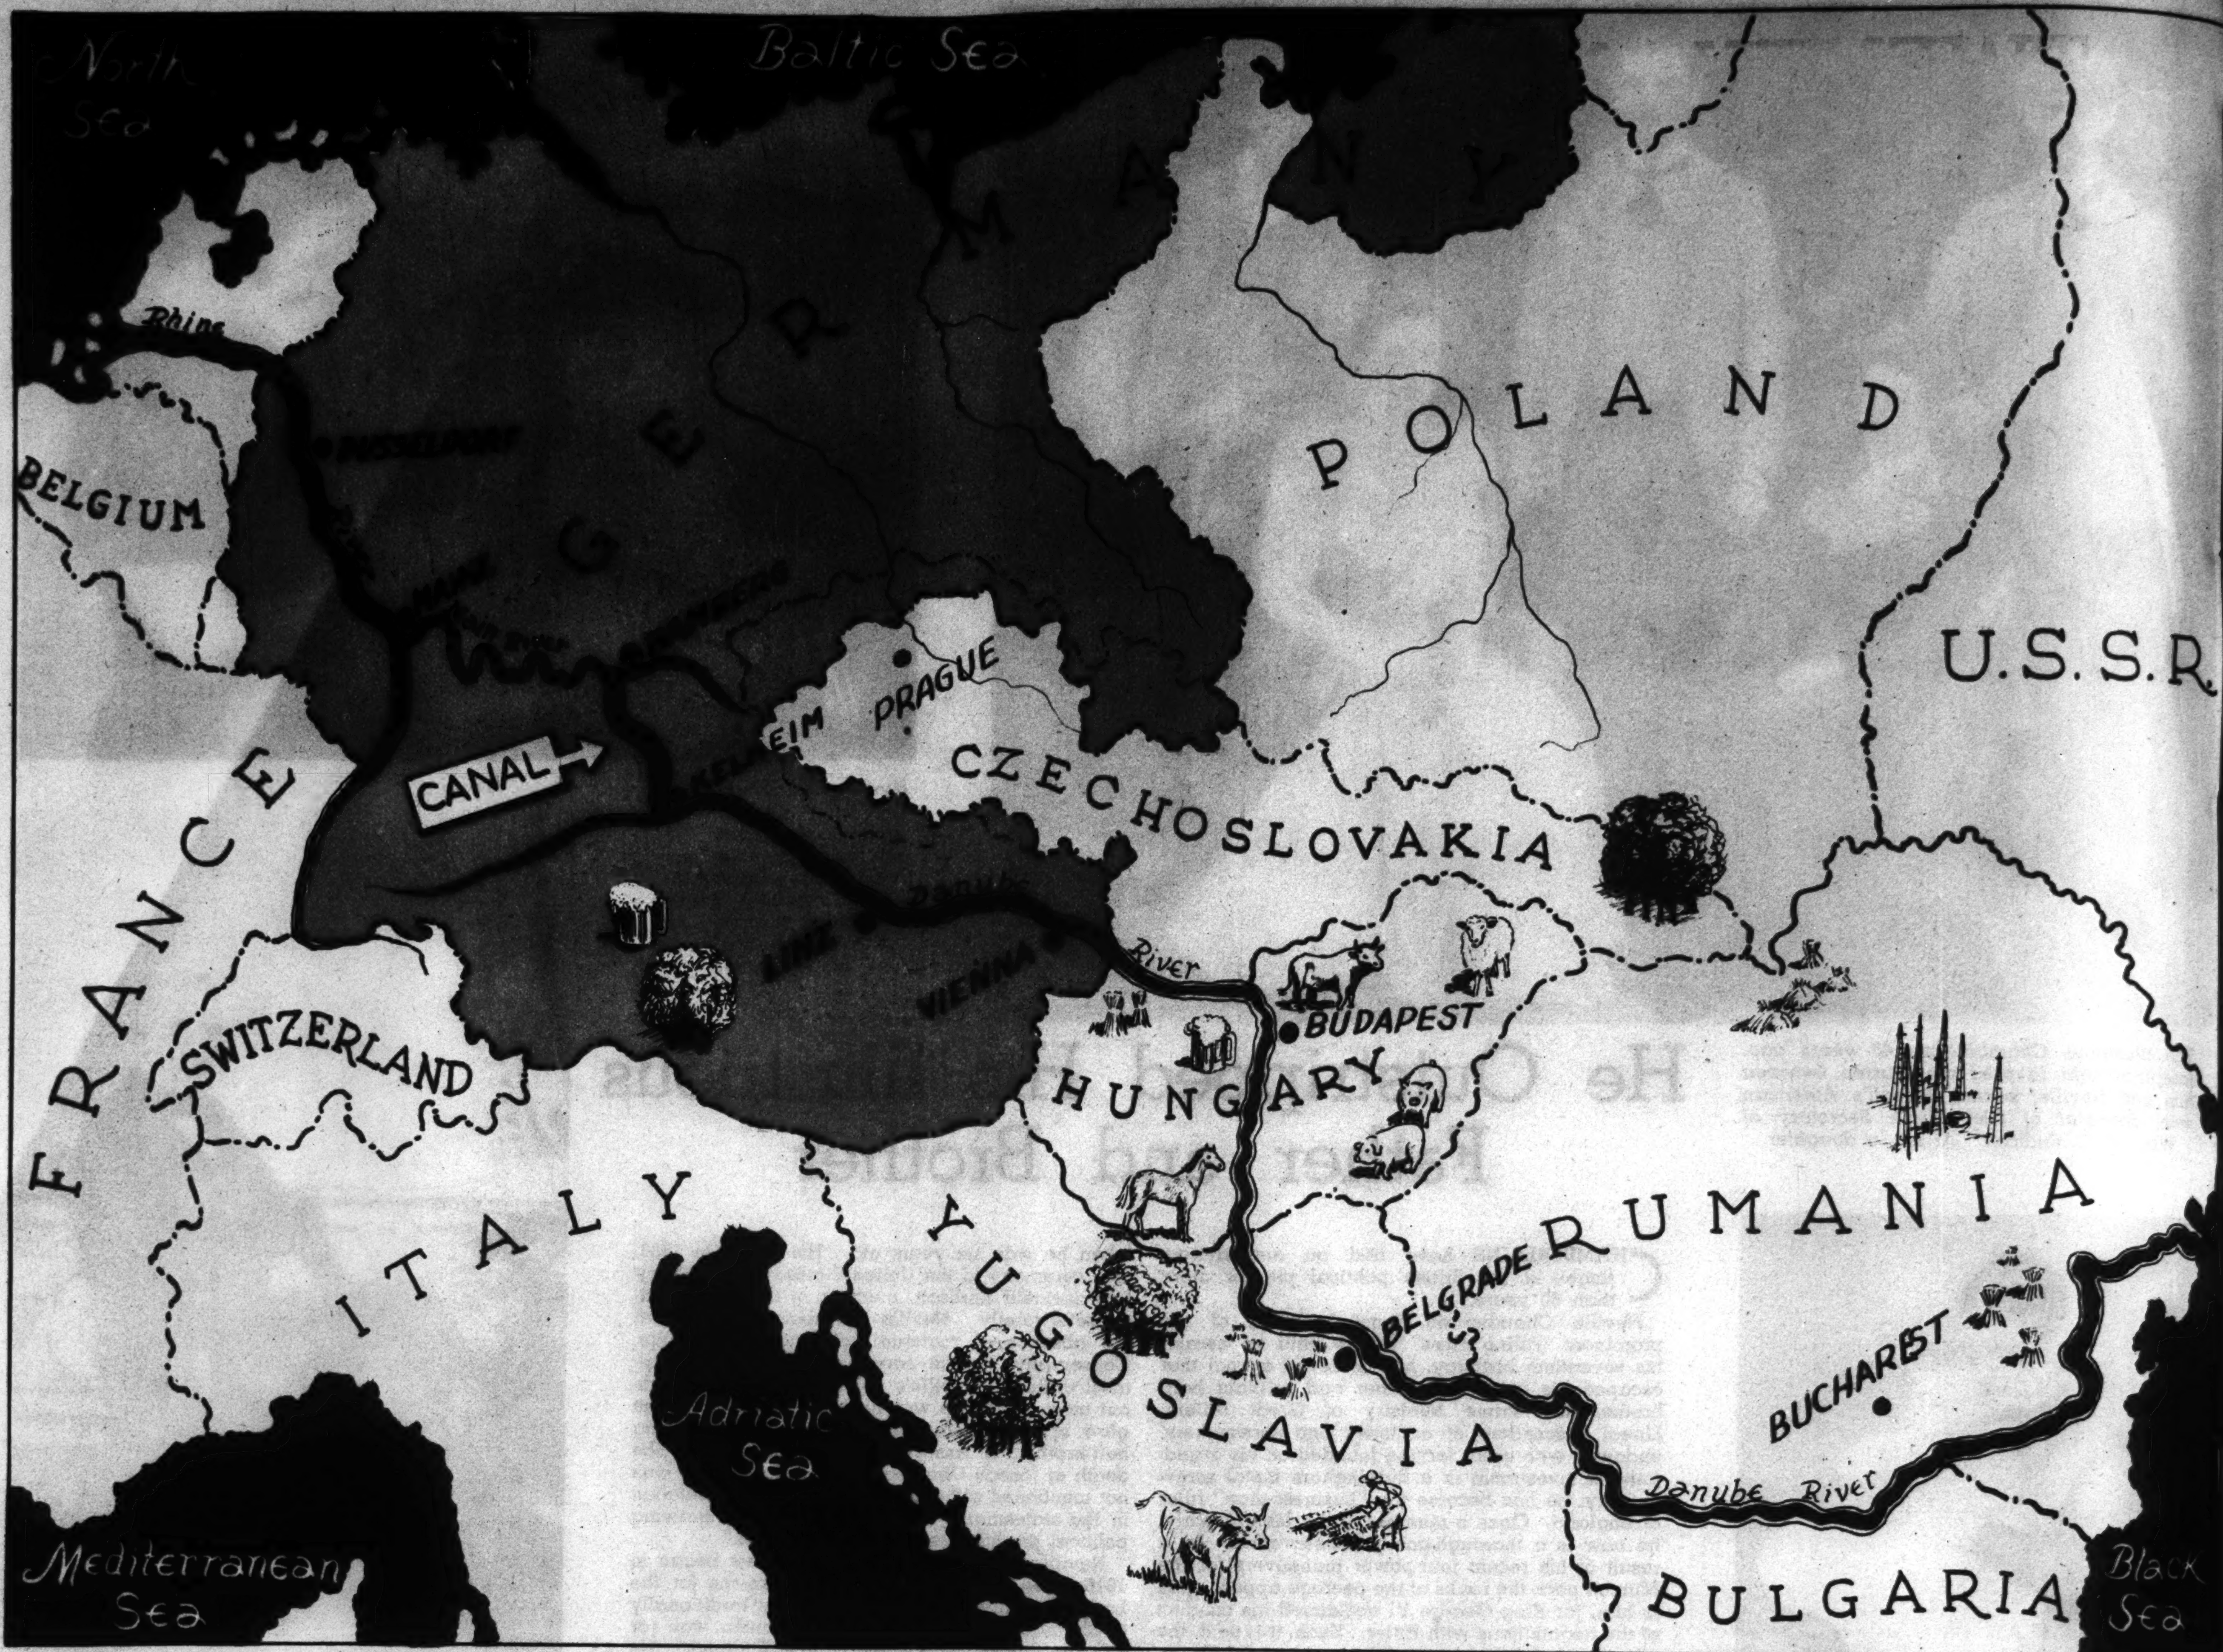
Neville broke Chamberlain and British tradition as a Prime Minister who did not attend Cambridge or Oxford. His schools: Rugby, Mason College.



The camera caught him in cogitation at a meeting shortly before he became the central figure in the European crisis.

Warning word from Sir Austen's widow. Neville's sister-in-law is of England's "Cliveden set," an admirer and friend of Mussolini.



Map showing the great waterway which will connect industrial Germany with the rich Danube Valley if the Nazi canal between the Rivers Rhine and Danube, now under way, is completed. The canal will utilize the deepened channel of the Main River, the old and abandoned Ludwig Canal between Bamberg on the Main and Kelheim on the Danube. The enlarged canal will enable ships of 1200 tons to go from the North Sea to the Black Sea.

Nazi Canal to Link North Sea With Black Sea

HAVING made Czechoslovakia practically impotent in a military sense Nazi Germany is now going forward with a project that may continue the wreckage by destroying the little nation's economy. This project is the great trans-European waterway linking the Rhine, Main and Danube rivers and thus connecting the North Sea with the Black Sea. This, Hitler can well believe, will enable Germany to garner most of the export trade that Czechoslovakia enjoys with Rumania and Yugoslavia, to cut into Great Britain's trade with Balkan countries, to get oil direct to Germany's northern ports from the vast Rumanian fields, to insure that any naval blockade, such as that which brought Germany to her knees in 1918, would be partially ineffective.

Recently, the Nazi cabinet decreed this undertaking be finished by 1945 instead of 1950. Since the project calls for 100 miles of canal, with locks to climb and descend a range of 1200-foot mountains, and for a channel large enough to accommodate 1200-ton ships, it will be a gigantic engineering feat if accomplished.

Hitler's Munich victory that gave him Czechs' Sudetenland has greatly enhanced the waterway scheme. Now he holds the bastion of Bohemia with its mountains that constitute natural fortresses flanking a section of the Danube River. No longer does he have to fear that his drang nach Osten will be imperiled by strong foreign territory close to the waterway.

This dream of a channel slicing through Central and Southeastern Europe did not originate with Hitler. Way back in the eighth century, Charlemagne the Great first tried to link tributaries of the Main and Danube so that he might have an unbroken waterway between his seat at Aix and the Diet of Regensburg. In 793 his men began to cut a canal linking the Altmuhl and the Rezat but gave it up after gouging out a mile of the four-mile stretch. It still exists as the Fossa Carolina near Weisenburg, with ducks floating placidly on its surface. The idea was revived repeatedly through the ages. Napoleon had his engineers complete plans for the North Sea-Black Sea link in 1800. Twenty-seven years later Goethe proposed the passage, writing, "Would I could live to see these . . . great works!" A few years later the Frankfort Rothschilds formed a company and in 10 years built the Ludwig Canal, connecting the Main below Bamberg with the Danube at Kelheim, 107 miles distant. But a few years later the first German railroad was laid between the two towns and the little 120-ton boats and the 100 locks found themselves unable to compete. In addition, the rivers which the canal connected were not always navigable. By 1860 the waterway was deserted.

In 1892, the Bavarian Canal Association was formed to revive the project but fell through. During the World War the idea was proposed as a way of beating the blockade but man-power was lacking. The project was taken up again in 1921 but little was accomplished by the hemmed-in, impoverished German Republic.

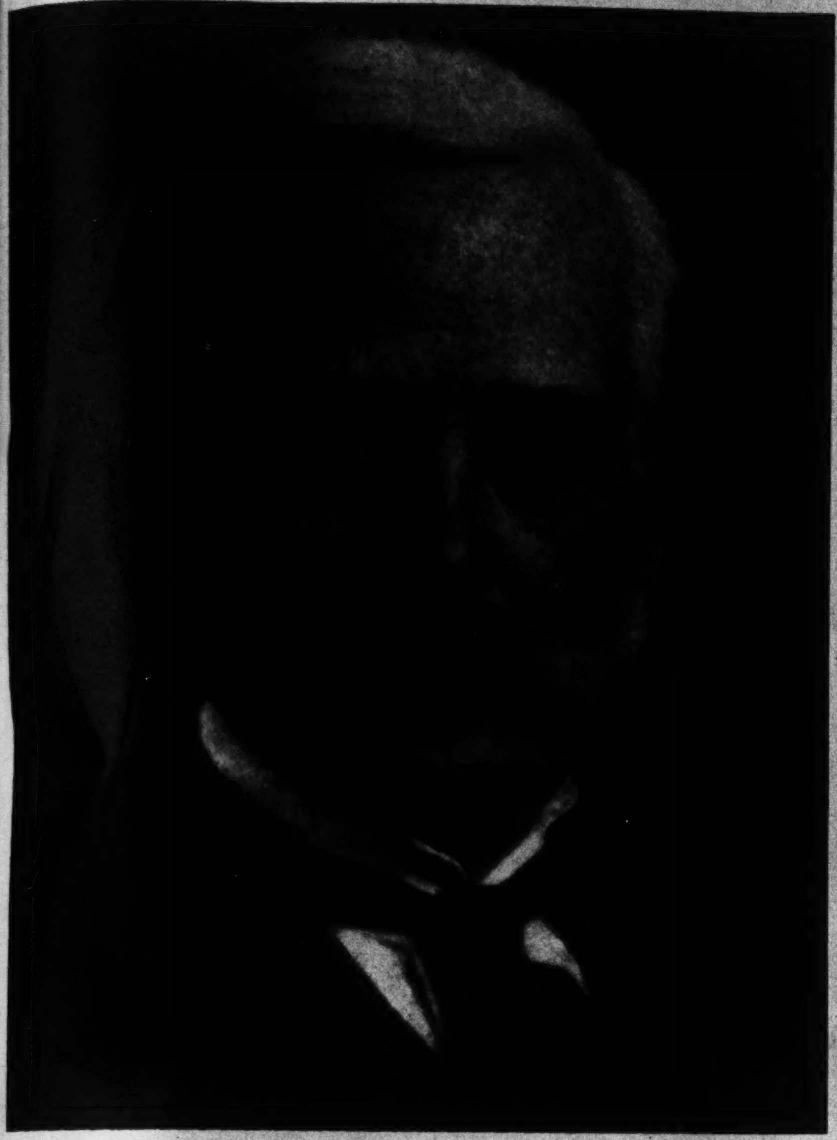
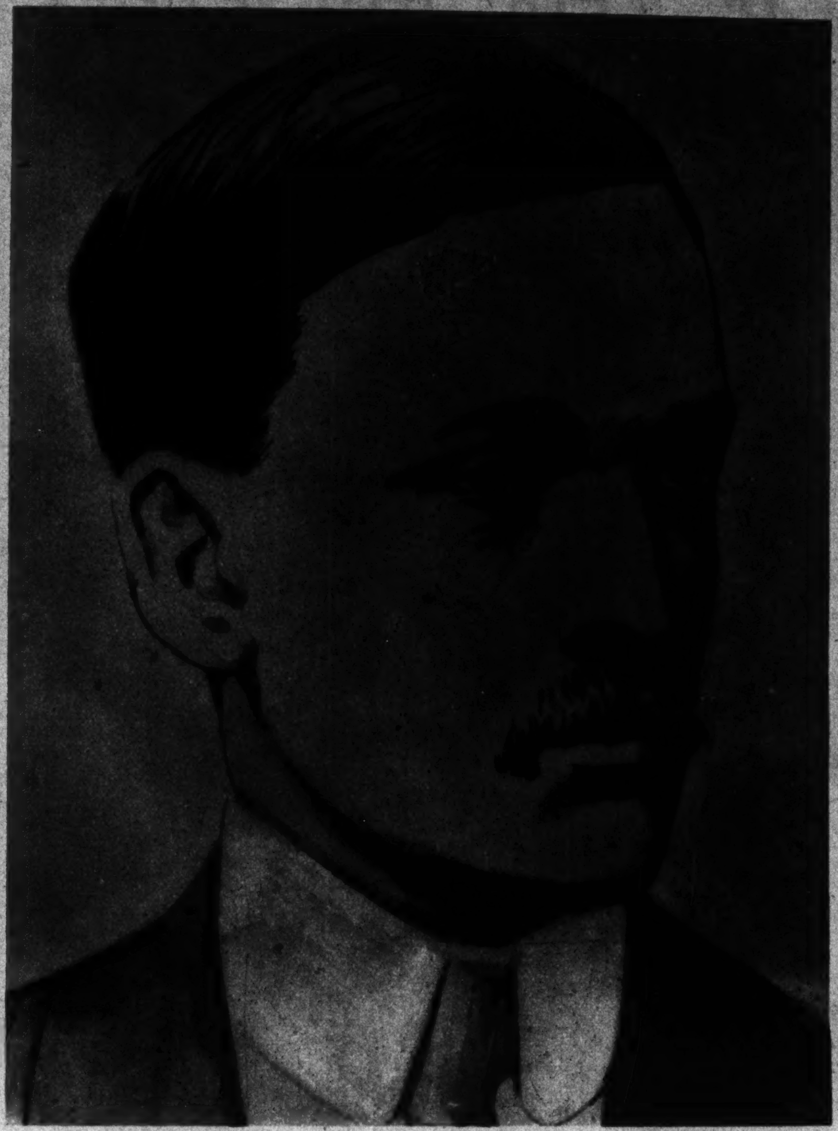
TWENTY MILLION A YEAR

A Mammoth Fortune and the Man Who Gets It



Marshall Field I. In 1856, at 22, went to Chicago as a clerk, in eight years headed great department store, died in 1906 after playing golf in the snow, leaving $125,000,000 to $150,000,000.



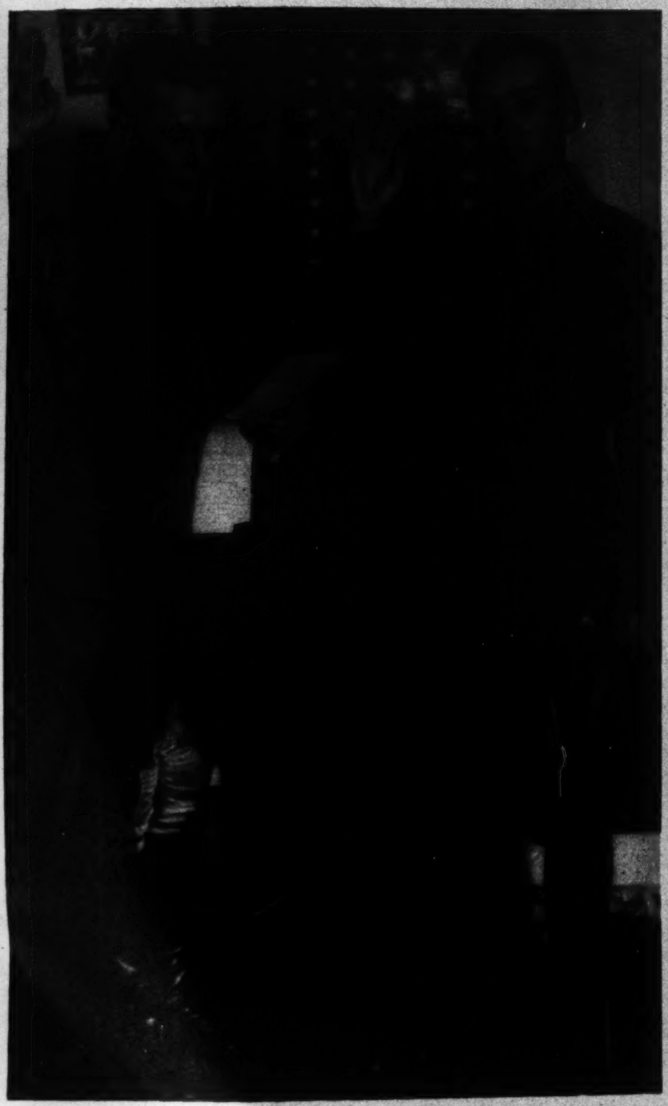
Marshall Field II. Shot and killed himself with a pistol in 1905 at the age of 37. Circumstances considered mysterious, but Coroner's verdict was accident. Did not care for business.

Marshall Field III. He got $100,000,000 of the estate interest the other day, will get the half billion dollar principal in five years, at the age of 50. Thrice married, he studies economics.

ON SEPTEMBER 28, by the process of having reached his forty-fifth birthday, Marshall Field III became one of the richest men in the world. On that date he received $100,000,000 in accumulated income from the estate of his grandfather, Marshall Field, Chicago merchant prince, and began receiving the entire income from the estate, $20,000,000 a year, instead of the $1,800,000 he had been getting. When he becomes 50 years old, the entire estate, estimated at $500,000,000 and a personal fortune surpassed in this country only by that of Henry Ford, goes to him outright.

This fabulous fortune has grown by its huge momentum from the residuary estate of $100,000,000 to $120,000,000 left by Marshall Field at his death in 1906, after Field had made $25,000,000 in specific bequests in his will. Field left only $100,000 to charity, $300,000 to 275 old employes, but worse, he paralyzed the principal for 37 years, so that instead of being used for possible public good during that time, it has remained a money-gobbling Gargantua that has swelled to four times its original size.

Educated at Eton and Cambridge in England, a friend of the Prince of Wales and English nobility, a leader in international society, owner of a racing stable, thrice-married and twice-divorced with enormous settlements, owner of numerous mansions, including a $1,500,000 estate on Long Island, Marshall III did not have a background calculated to instill any sense of social obligation in him. But the expressed hope that he will use the fortune for public good has been fostered by the fact that he has for many years been tutored in economics by Professor Harold G. Moulton, now president of the Brookings Institution, that he wholeheartedly endorsed the objectives of Roosevelt and the New Deal in 1936, and Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago and Professor William F. Ogburn, distinguished sociologist and liberal, are now believed to influence him greatly.



In 1917, after Carl Sandburg, the poet, dared him to enlist in the army, Marshall Field III accepted the challenge, entered as a private, fought in France, emerged as a captain.

Peggy Marsh, English chorus girl, failed to obtain a share in 1920, after the death of Henry Field, brother of Marshall III, for her 3-year-old son, who she claimed was Henry's. Henry's share went to Marshall.

THE ENTOURAGE OF THE PROPHET

By a Post-Dispatch PICTURES Staff Photographer

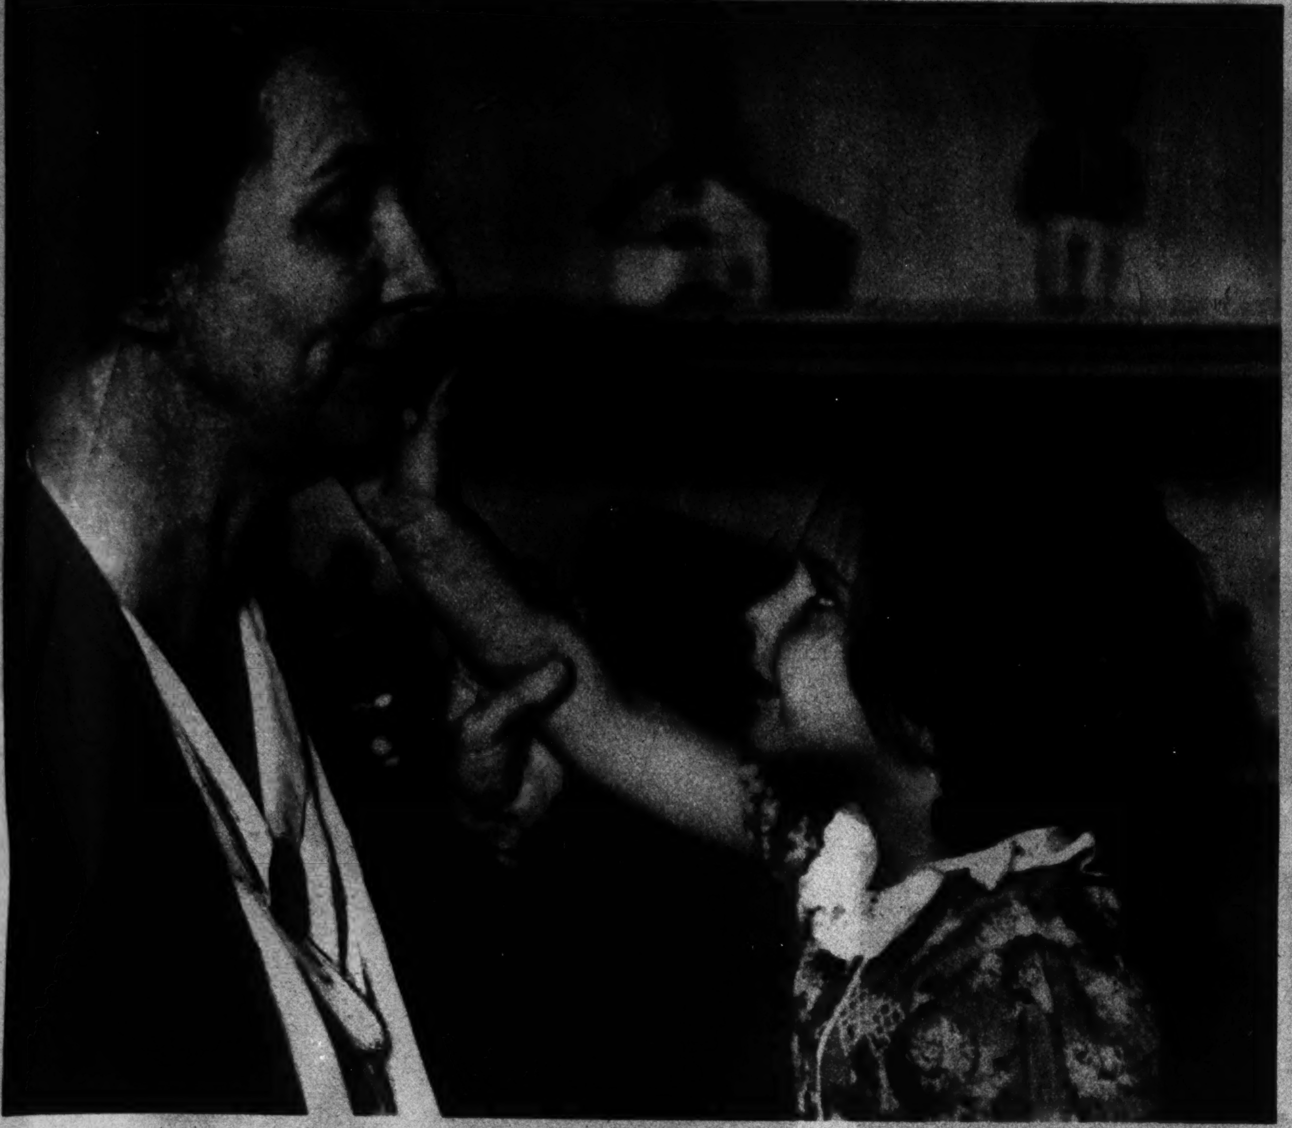
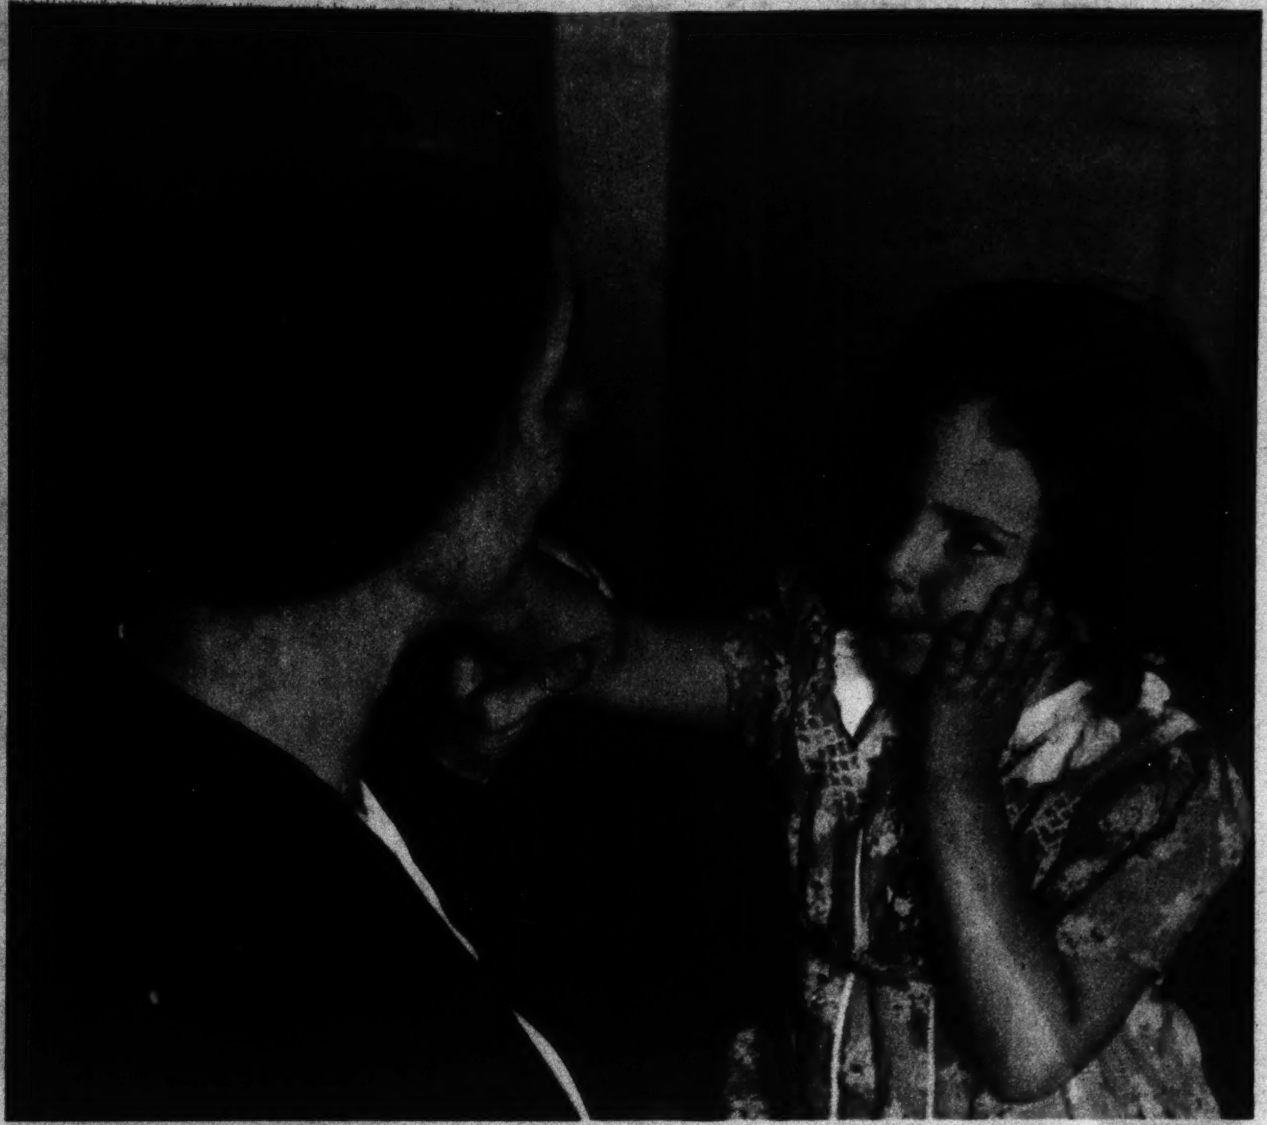
The maids have been making ready for the ball for several weeks. Here Miss Morrison demonstrates some of the necessary preparations. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Morrison, 5296 Westminster place. Her father is a building contractor. Miss Morrison is 18 years old, a graduate of Mary Institute, and will make her debut at an afternoon reception December 26.





First of all, the teacher begins with the primary sound of "m." The pupil, a 3-year-old in this case, puts a hand on the teacher's face so that she can feel how the sound is made. Then the child's other hand is placed on her own face so that she can try to imitate the vibration that she feels.

TEACHING THE DEAF TO SPEAK

CENTRAL INSTITUTE FOR THE DEAF, on Kingshighway, just across from Forest Park, began its twenty-fourth year a few days ago with an enrollment of 125 full-time pupils. Dr. Max A. Goldstein, the founder and director, is a physician of international renown. The work he has been carrying on for the deaf during the last 43 years has become his religion—one concerned with immediate practical benefit to humanity. A few of the school's accomplishments under his guidance: Creation of the acoustic method of instruction whereby the hearing mechanism is stimulated to its greatest usefulness; establishment of the first training school for teachers of the deaf with nearly 800 graduates; analysis of the speech of deaf children through the sense of touch by simple apparatus; kindergarten which accepts deaf children as young as two years, the first of its kind; personal research in translation and substitution of sense organs.

Not so many years ago when a child was born deaf, or became deaf before it learned to speak, there was nothing much that could be done save term the child a "deaf mute" and teach it the sign language. Today, in this and similar schools, deaf children can be taught to speak and keep pace with children not so unfortunate as long as the vocal equipment is unimpaired.

The first step with children who have never heard sounds is to teach them to imitate the mechanics—go through the motions—of speech. They feel the vibrations in the teacher's larynx and see the movements of the teacher's lips. There are slow and patient vowel drills; slowly the sounds are built into words. Through the sense of touch, the child is taught to secure differentiations of pitch. Few children have such deficient hearing equipment that they can't get the approximate tone of a sound through amplifying devices. After about eight years of patient work at the institute, the average child can enter public school and hold his own with the more fortunate.

By a Post-Dispatch PICTURES Staff Photographer

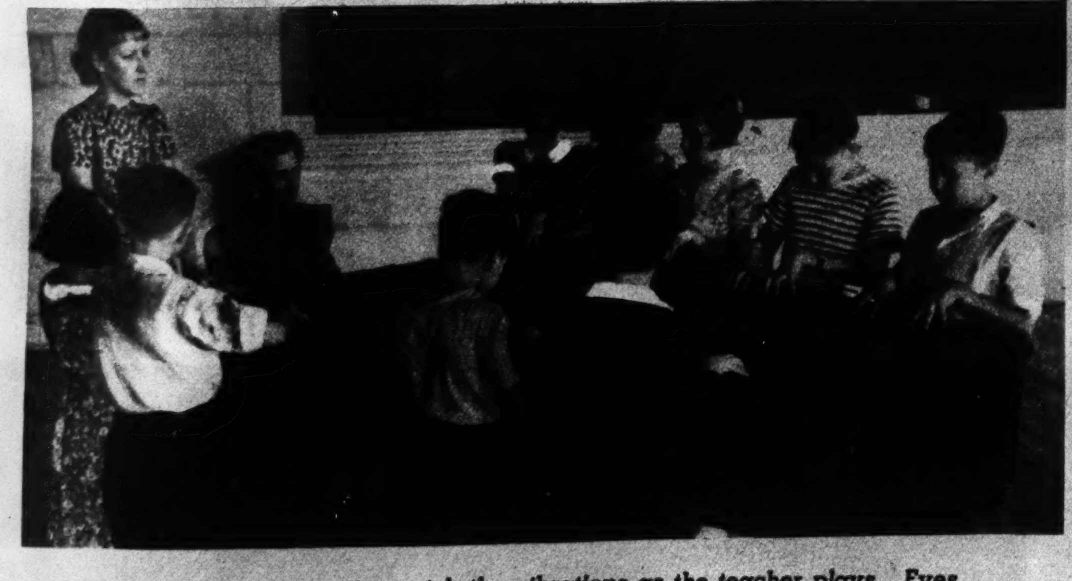
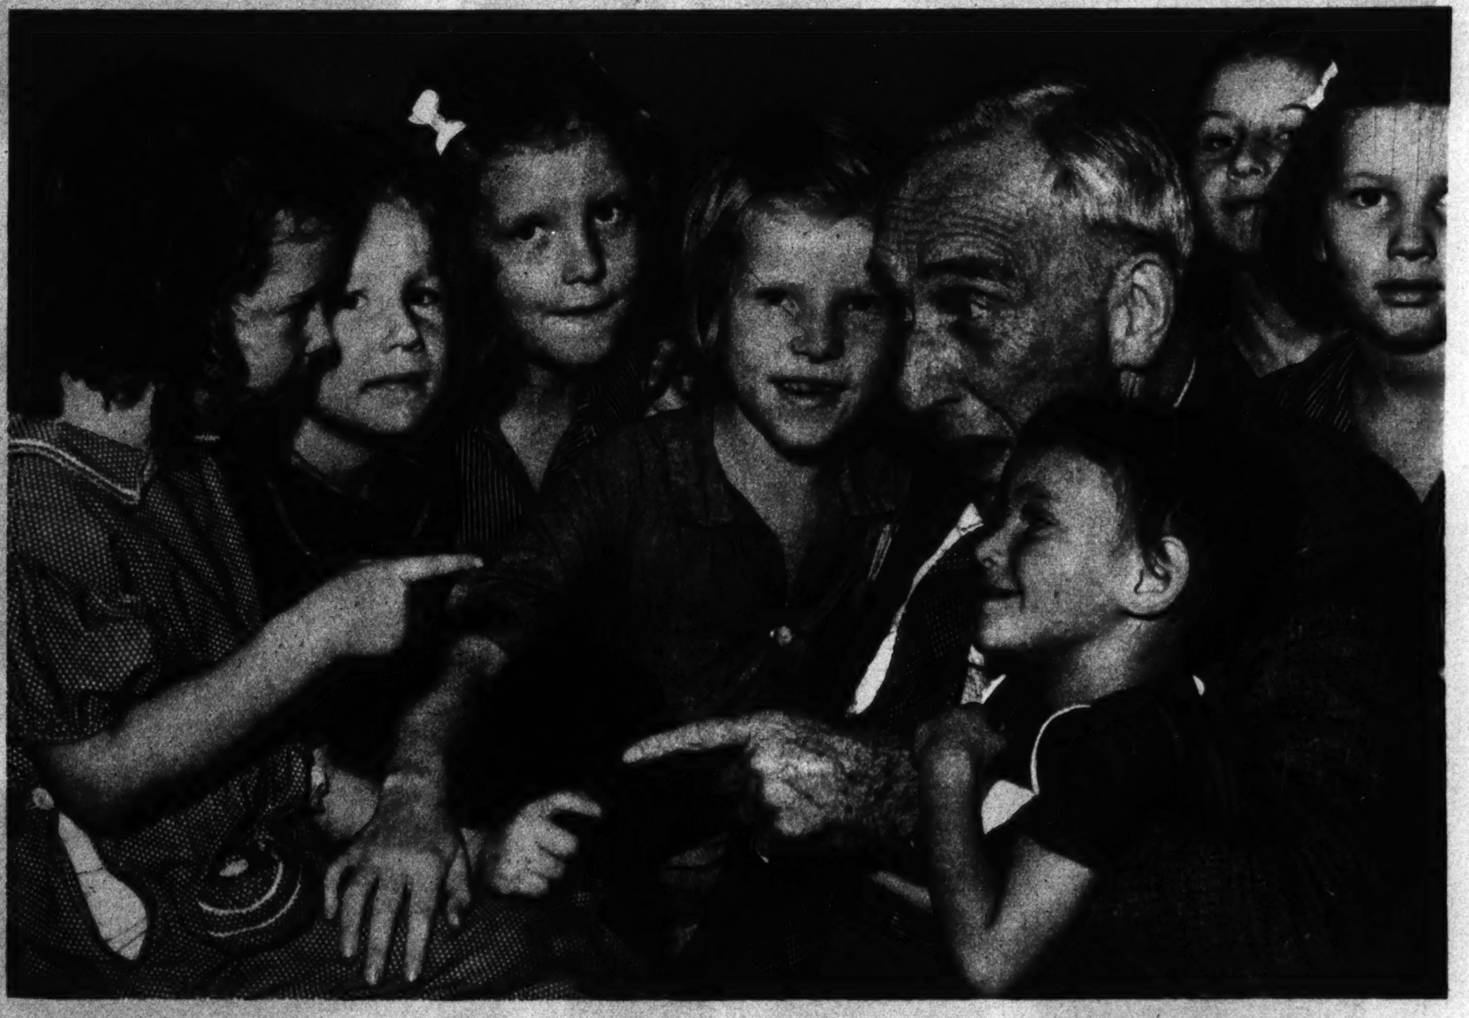
A hand mirror is useful in following action of tongue and lips and in acquiring dexterity. Even advanced pupils practice fundamentals, just as skilled pianists run the scales.

Acquiring a knowledge of pitch. The teacher guides the pupil through the ups and downs of the "ah" sound. Through the hearing tubes, he gets an inkling of the sound he is making. Voices must acquire pitch, resonance, tone quality so they will avoid the flat and monotonous.



Eyes closed, their finger tips catch the vibrations as the teacher plays. Eyes open, they mark the beat in unison—"pum-pum-pum—" and then count the beat, "1-2-3—1-2-3," and, taking their hands from the piano, they march around it, marking time without direct aid from the vibrations. Finally they sing.



Busy as he is, Dr. Max A. Goldstein, shown in the above picture, the founder and director, always has time to give personal instruction. Through entreaty, command and praise, he makes his point.

A group of advanced pupils, all totally deaf, follow a baseball broadcast by reading the lips of Dr. Richard Silverman as he repeats the announcer's words.

—The Year Begins at Central Institute

The junior orchestra is made up of children from 3 to 7 years of age. Each child has a simple instrument of some sort, whistle, drum or cymbals. They get an idea of the time pattern and learn to respond to commands.

While over here a little girl does a Highland fling.

Just a playful moment. One girl taps the drum while the other, ear pressed against the drumhead, listens and picks up the vibrations of the beat.

Out on the playground, the deaf children have as much fun as others more fortunate.

Sixteen workmen are kept hustling to supply Swinford as he lays between seven and eight thousand bricks an hour.

As Swi[illegible] the bricks into place his arms [illegible]ds show their strength.

A WORLD'S record, thus far undisputed, is claimed by Roy Swinford, 44-year-old W P A worker, who lays about 45,000 bricks daily on street projects in Springfield, Illinois. So fast does he work that 16 men are kept busy clearing the roadbed and placing bricks within Swinford's reach. Under this system, he has laid as many as 7659 bricks in an hour. Precise and unhurried in his movements, he stands on the margin of the laid brick, picks up a brick in each hand, and, without turning his body, slaps them into place. He stoops from the hips without any bend in the knees. After each four bricks are placed he steps a pace to the left.

THE DRAG HUNT—A huntsman rides with the pack as they foll made by wolf or fox

"PINK-COATED" riders on sleek, bob-tailed horses, leaping fences and ditches, desperately following the hounds in a frantic rush to be in at the death. That is the fox hunt of screen, story and the Eastern states but not the Ozark country. Take the Missouri State Fox Hunters' annual three-day meet at Fulton a few days ago. People of farm and town, many from the Ozarks, rode in automobiles with their houn' dawgs to the Callaway County seat. A few came by horse. The men were garbed in corduroy and canvas, the color of the dead leaves. In the daytime dogs followed the scent of a drag; at night they chased the fox. Instead of following the hounds in the sunlight, the owners sat on a hillside at night, their backs to a bed of red coals, smoked, told stories, and waited for the long, deep, blood-stirring cry signifying that the pack had a fox on the run. Each hunter knew his dog's voice and, in most cases, the voices of his friends' dogs . . . "That's Jap's blue tick dog." ". . . There's my Sallie up in front—hear that calking mouth." "Git out! That's Ben in the lead. Sallie couldn't run a lame duck in! . . ." "Listen to that Woodrow! Sounds like someone beatin' a gong. . . ."

The Ozark fox hunters have a slang of their own. It's not bark or bay to them—it's always the "mouth." A quick, sharp bark is chop mouth; a prolonged bark, sometimes so long that the hound "has to back up to get it all out," is long mouth; a screaming, shivery cry is squawl mouth; a "calk-calk" bark is calk mouth; a fine keen tone is horn mouth; quick barking in tenor key is short chop mouth.

And so it went until the fox got enough, shook off the hounds and crawled into his den. The Missouri fox is seldom caught and it's an unwritten law that he must be spared if possible.

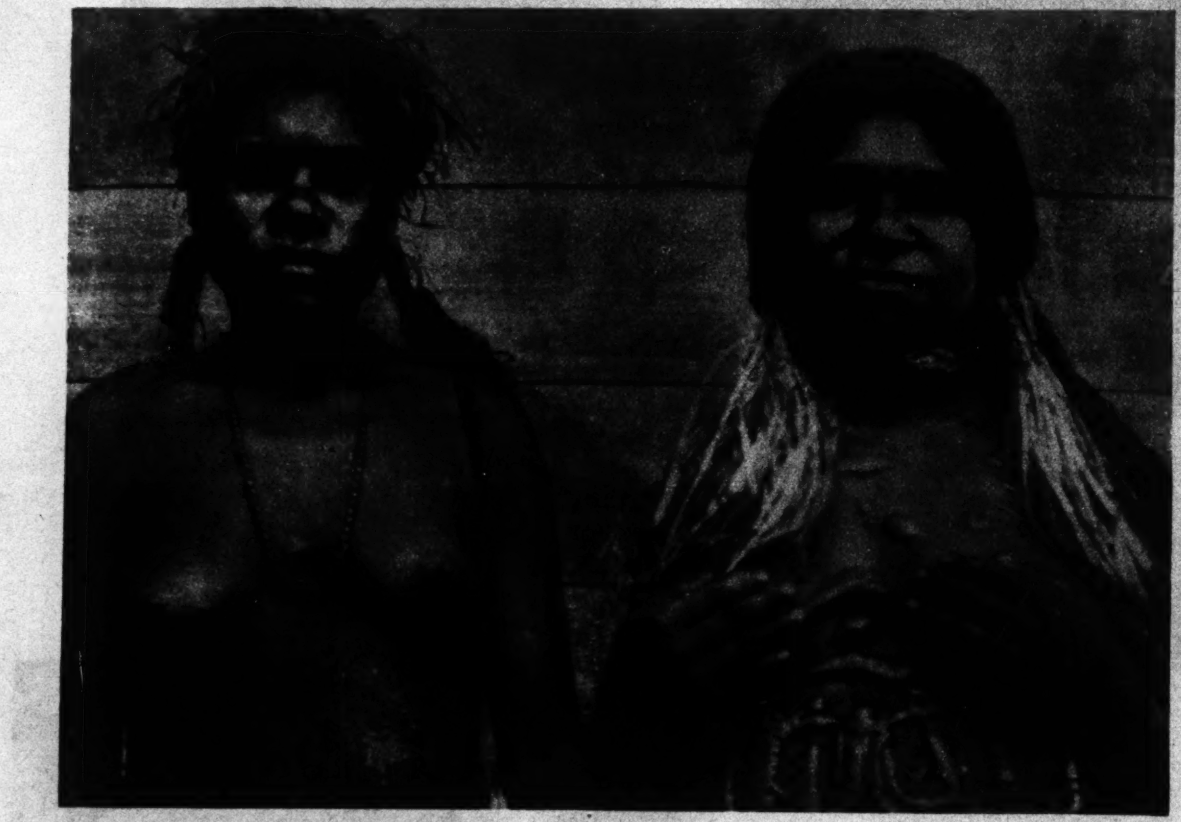
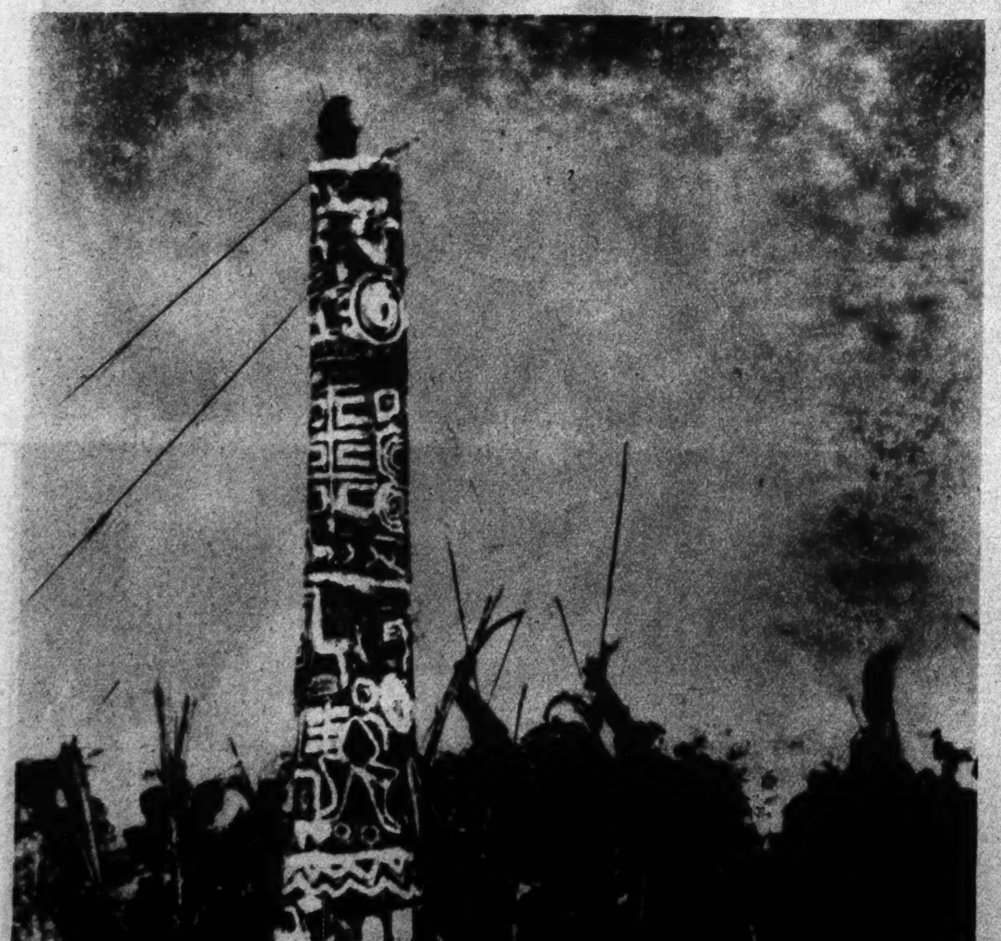
Where Head-Hunting Is Still Practiced

New Photographs of the Fierce Marind-anim Tribesmen of Dutch New Guinea

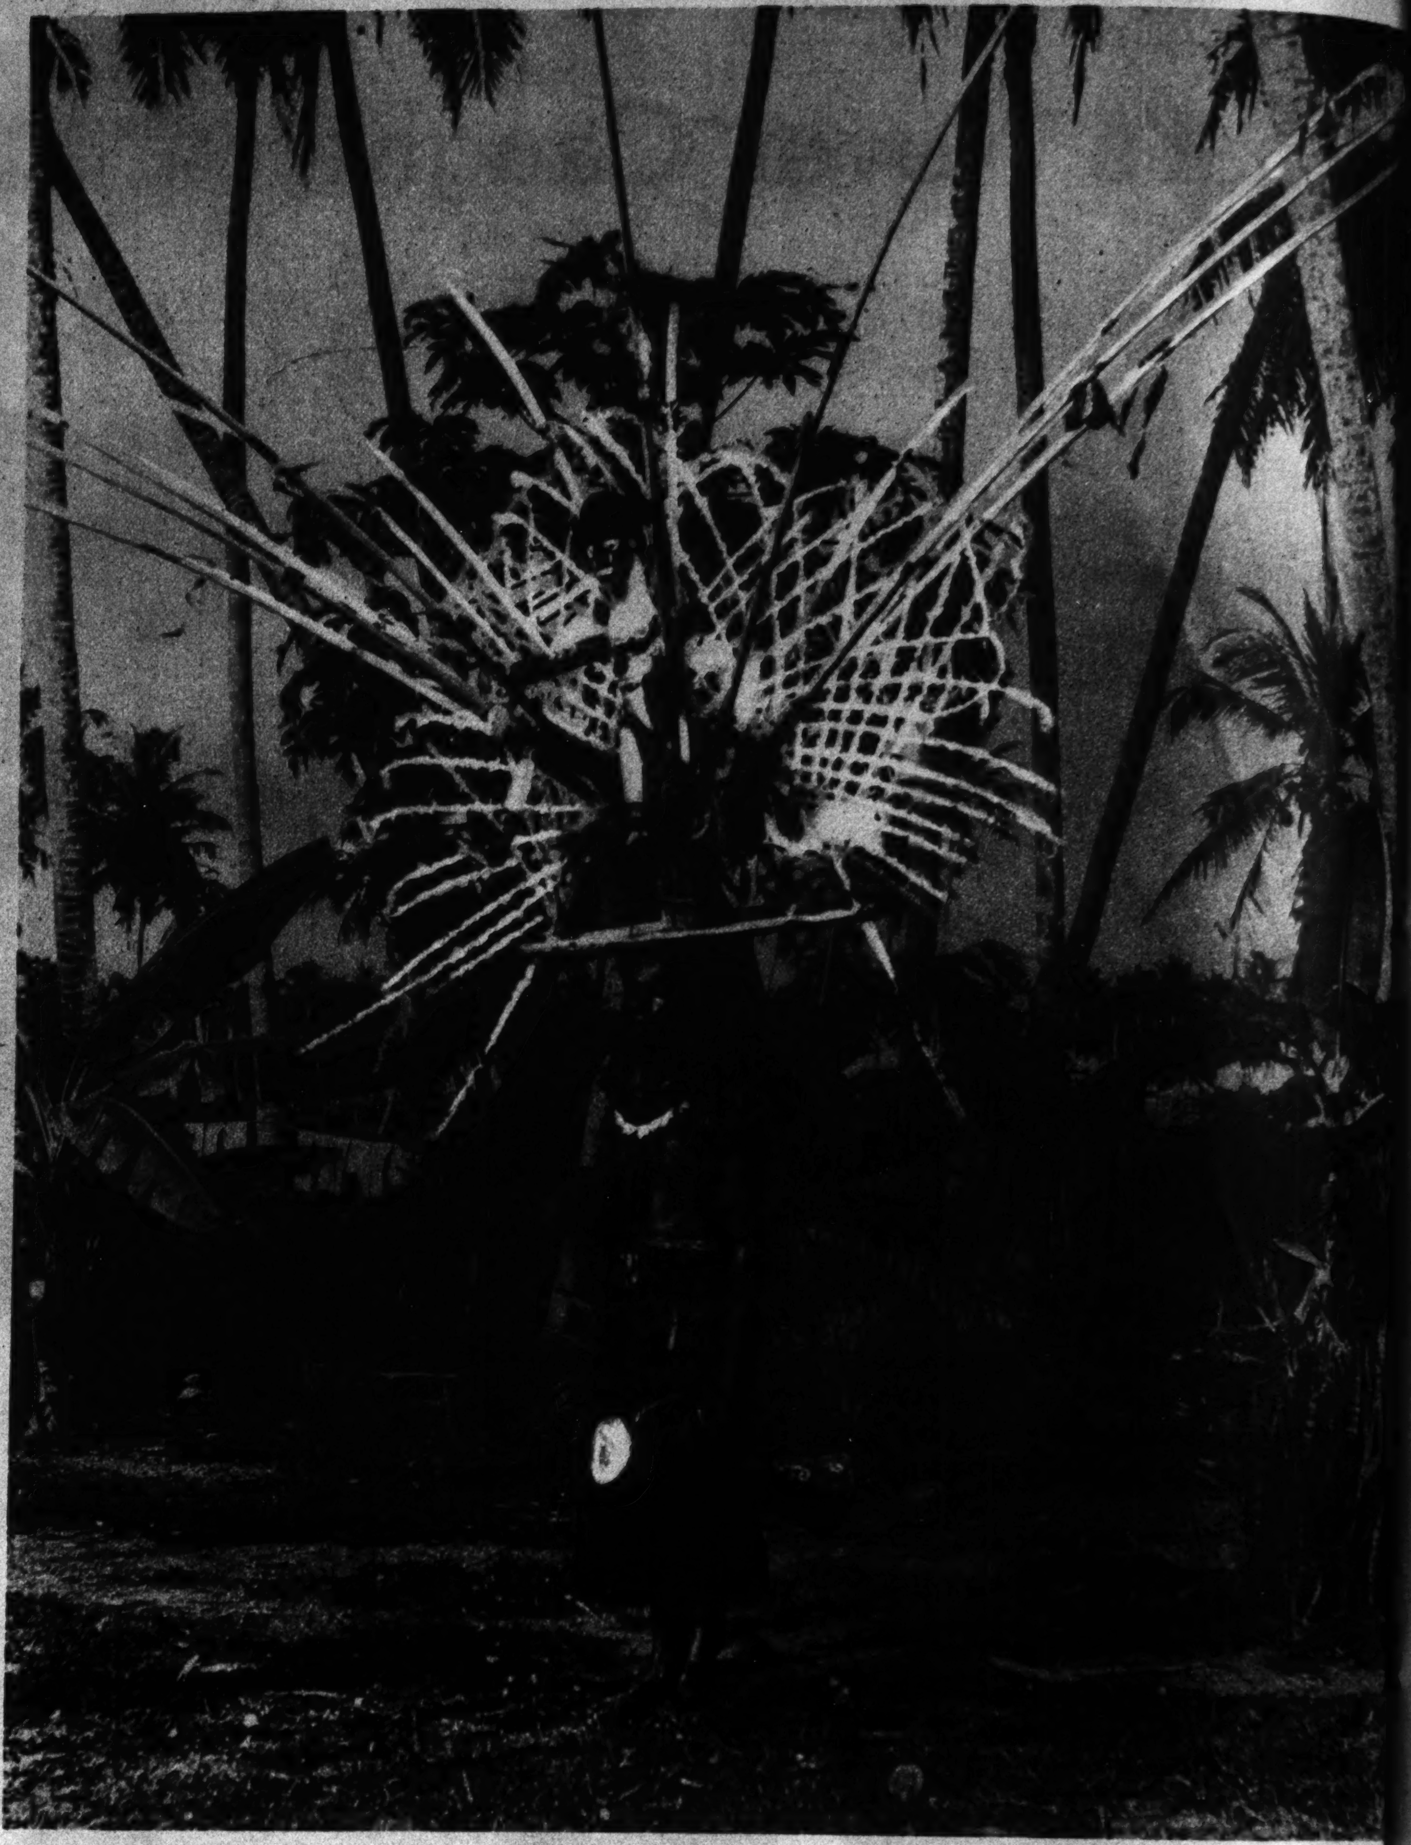
THESE pictures of the head-hunting Marind-anim tribesmen of Dutch New Guinea are published here for the first time in the United States. The natives of this island lying north of Australia practice head-hunting even now just as they have for hundreds of years. The Marind-anim, inhabiting the Digoel River district, are the most savage and successful of the head-hunting tribes on the island. They regard all other tribes as implacable enemies and raid them continually for their ghastly human trophies. So intense is their hatred of the white man that few whites ever venture near them. The Dutch Government makes persistent but fruitless efforts to stamp out the habit of head-hunting. Charles C. Miller, who took the pictures, was the first white child born on the island and enjoys the friendship of most of the tribes. The Marind-anim made him an honorary member of their tribe and now he and his wife, the former Leona Jay of New York, are permitted to travel in safety among these aborigines. They spent two years in the wilds of the island on the expedition during which they took these pictures, and made a motion picture which they sold to British interests.



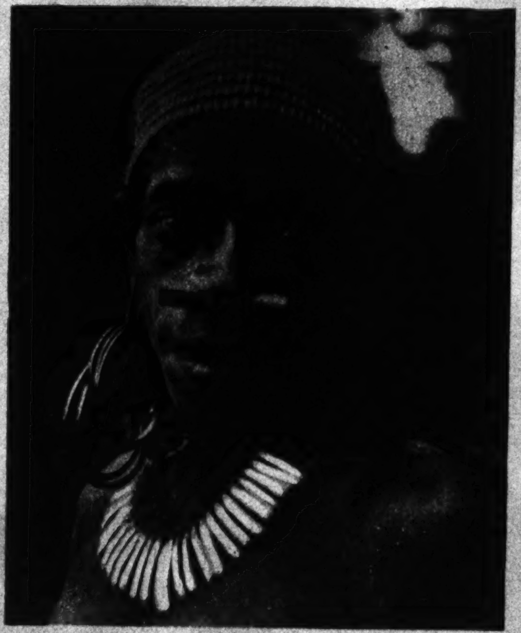
Both women are members of Marind-anim tribe. One, a coast dweller, has followed the custom of tatooing by slashing skin and inserting clay. The native on the left lives in the interior where tattooing is not the style.



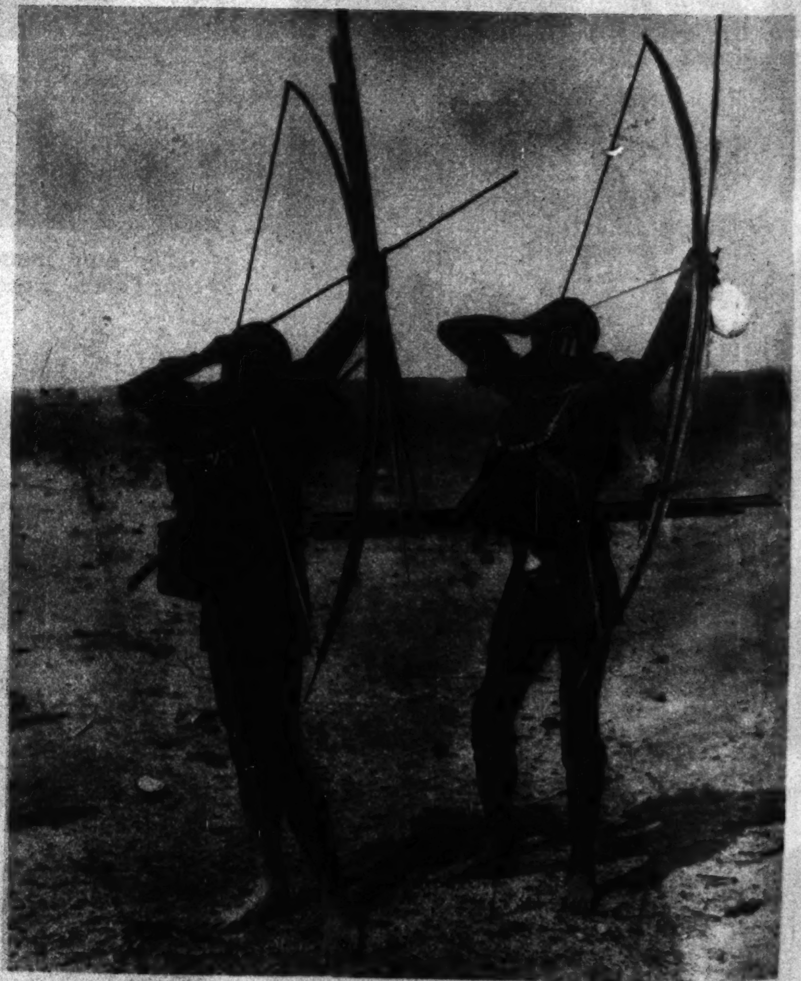
Returning from a successful raid, head-hunters loose arrows at a human trophy atop the ceremonial pole. One advances toward the photographer, who says he fled for his life.



Despite the size of this headdress, each head-hunter wears one in the dancing that precedes a raid.



A bone thrust through the nose, heavy earrings, bone and metal necklaces, beaded headdress are splendor in Digoel River district.

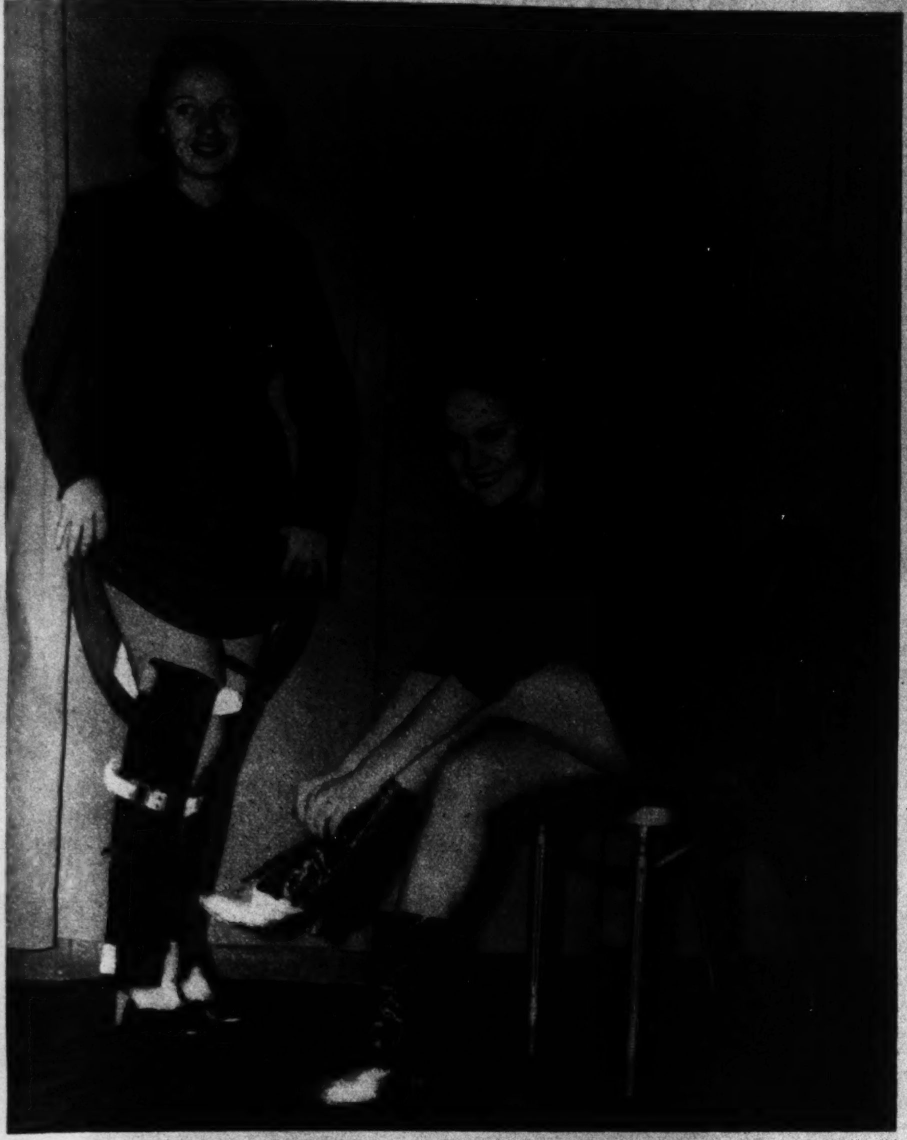


Two warriors practicing just before they leave to hunt either human heads or wild game.

A family group. The parents regard the pig more valuable than a child. A pig in a mother's arms is a more frequent sight than a baby.

Heads hanging in front of a native's hut. "Civilized at the white man's school," he resumed head-hunting a week after return to the village. He said he had to please his neighbors.

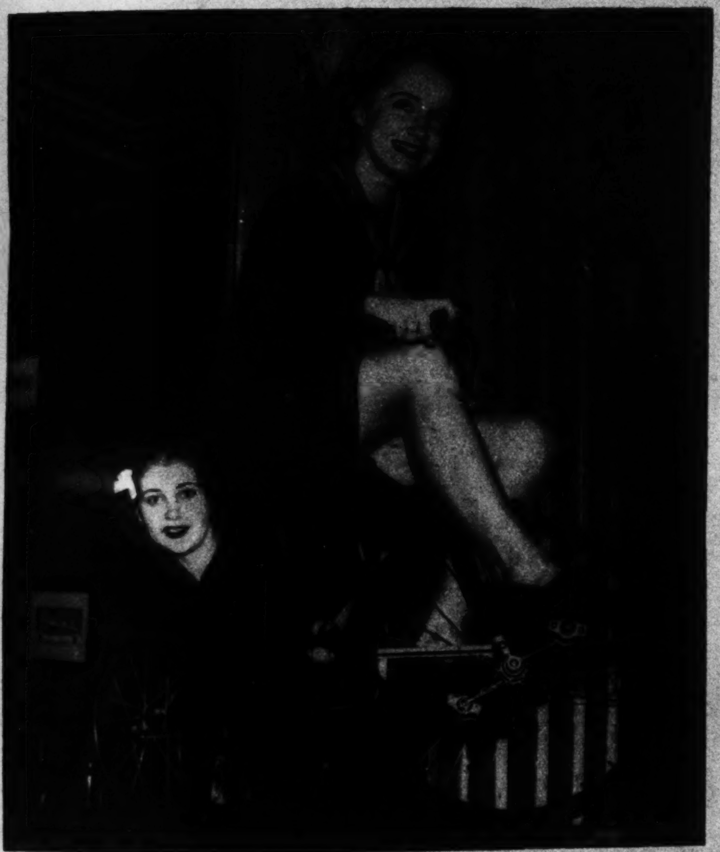
The Inventors Are at It Again



Guards to be attached to the legs of a cow are "modeled" by Alice Anthony. This, the inventor avers, will prevent Bossy from kicking the milker. The other girl, Eleanor Parr, is wearing spats made of cellophane so as not to hide the beauty of one's shoes.

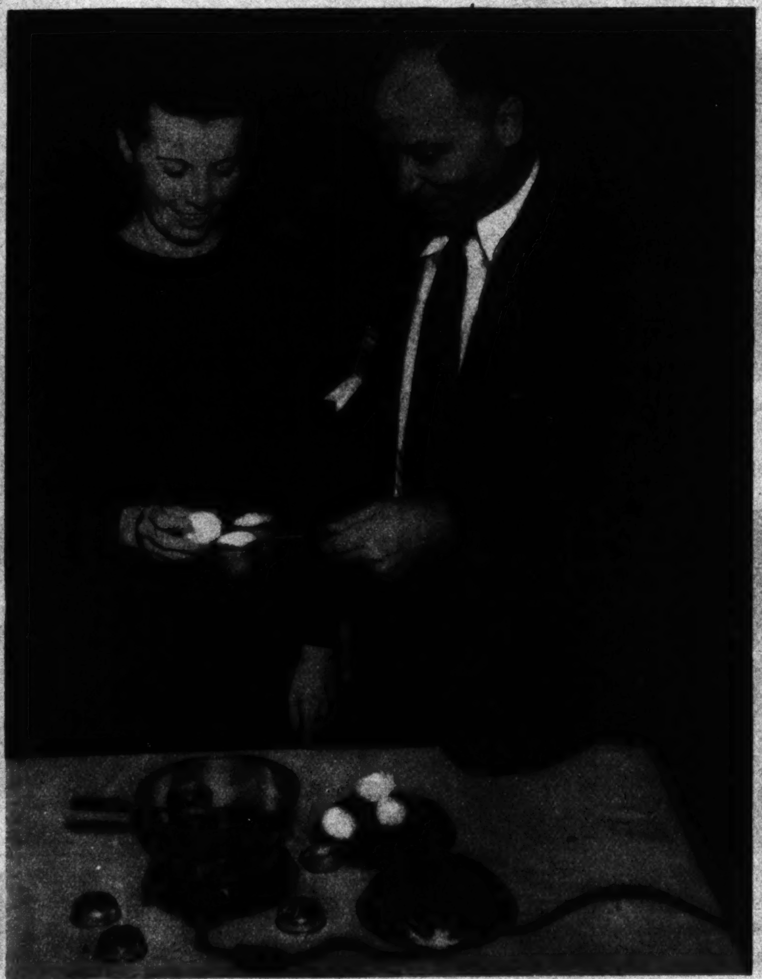
This is a simple headrest to keep hair dry while bathing. It is being demonstrated by Miss Johnnie Reif, the inventor.

EVERY year the nation's minor inventors hold an exhibition of their latest works and this year's locale was the Hotel Edison in New York City. As usual, the ingenious minds of the inventors played on a dozen bizarre subjects. On this page are some of the more plausible ideas.



A four-wheel bicycle designed to teach the young to ride a two-wheeler without falling. The two small wheels on each side can be raised slightly off the ground, making it actually a two-wheeler. But should the rider tip, the side wheels prevent the vehicle from capsizing.

A versatile beach umbrella was the entry of Esther Brown, Virginia inventor, shown standing on right. By a series of simple manipulations the umbrella becomes a hat, cape or skirt or a walking stick with vanity case.



This gadget cooks eggs hard-boiled without the shells. The eggs are broken into the containers, a cap is affixed and, voila, hard-boiled eggs. Frank Robertson, on the right, is the inventor.

Here is a caddy cart to wheel a golf bag around the course. A mechanical caddy, so to speak.

Use POWDER

All Cleansing Properties

No Acid, No Grit or Pumice

Cannot possibly injure or scratch

Costs Less to Use

Do As Your Dentist Does—

when he cleans your teeth

NOTHING else cleans and polishes teeth more quickly and leaves them more naturally white—than POWDER.

That is why your dentist, when cleaning your teeth, as you know—almost always uses powder.

As it is only the powder part of most dentifrices that cleans, a dentifrice that is all powder just naturally cleans effectively. Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder is ALL POWDER—all cleansing properties.

For over seventy years many dentists everywhere have prescribed Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder because normal teeth simply cannot remain dull and dingy looking when it is used.

Dr. Lyon's cleans and polishes the teeth in a harmless and practical way that leaves them sparkling with natural brightness. It leaves your teeth feeling so much cleaner, your mouth so refreshed and your breath so sweet and pure.

Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder is a special dental powder developed for HOME USE by a distinguished practicing dentist. Free from all acids, grit or pumice, it cannot possibly injure or scratch the tooth enamel as years of constant use have shown. Even as a neutralizer in acid mouth conditions, Dr. Lyon's is an effective antacid.

Brush your teeth with Dr. Lyon's Tooth Powder regularly—consult your dentist periodically—eat a diet rich in minerals and vitamins, and you will be doing all that you can possibly do to protect your teeth.

Dr. Lyon's is more economical to use. In the same size and price class it outlasts tooth pastes two to one. Even a small package will last you for months.

MOVIE REALISM—AND NO DOUBLES ALLOWED

Annabella in a Sandstorm

Annabella, blond hair whipped by the wind, clings to Tyrone Power in a sandstorm.

Real sand, blown by gusts from a huge fan, forces her to duck as she clings to the helpless hero.

The artificially created simoon (Suez for desert typhoon) actually forces her to her feet; but she clings sturdily to Power's shirt.

ALL Hollywood star dust that glitters is not gold. The credo of realism in uncomfortable, even hazardous scenes, demands exacting tribute occasionally from leading players. Because many such shots are photographed so close to the characters that the camera cannot be made to lie by use of "doubles," the stars themselves are required to sacrifice safety and dignity to art. One such scene has been prepared for the public in "Suez," (Twentieth Century-Fox), and another in "The Lady and the Cowboy" (Samuel Goldwyn). Both are scheduled for release soon in St. Louis.

It's tough going even if it's only acting. Doubles could not take the job because the principals had to perform expertly.

Finding a hold on Tyrone's hair more secure than by his shirt, Annabella shifts her grip, survives the storm.

The Water Cure for Merle Oberon

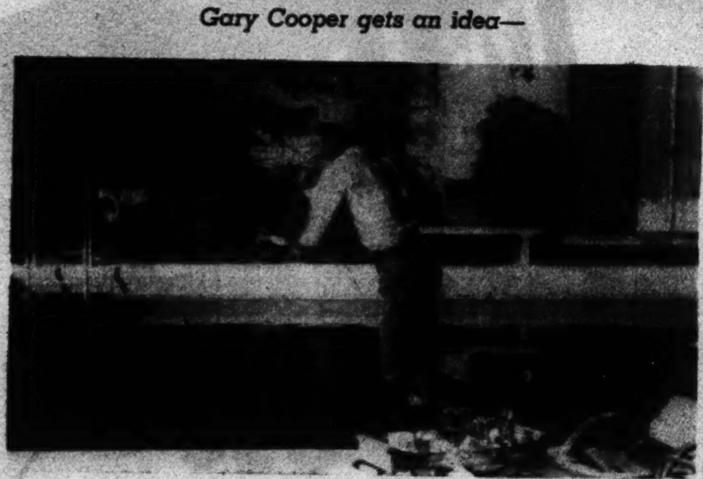
But will be down shortly.



And puts it in action.

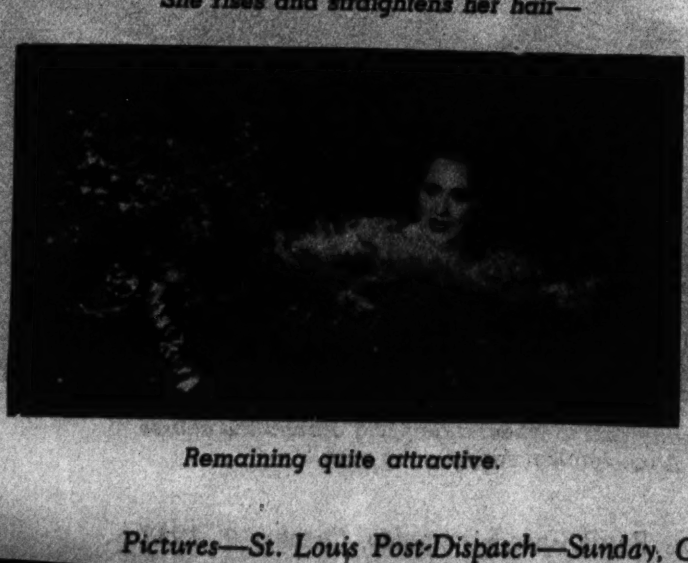
She rises and straightens her hair—



Remaining quite attractive.

Tent Show to WPA to Hollywood

GLORIA DICKSON

A blond type of Spanish beauty in "Secrets of an Actress."

A COMPARATIVELY few months ago Thais Dickerson was a WPA worker. Now she is a featured player with Warner Brothers Studio, well on her way to individual stardom. Unable to get suitable engagements after a modest professional debut in a tent show, she turned to the Federal Theater. Beauty and talent won her leads in "Seventh Heaven," "Holiday," "Smilin' Through," "The Devil Passes," as played by the project at Los Angeles. When the card of a Warner talent scout was sent to her dressing room after one evening's curtain, she threw it in the waste basket, fearing it was a cruel jest. Finally, he gained admittance and she was on the lot for a test next day. Director Mervyn LeRoy saw it and ended his search for a new face for "They Won't Forget." She clicked, and after "Secrets of An Actress," she was signed to co-star with John Garfield in "They Made Me a Criminal," soon to be released. Fans know her as Gloria Dickson.

Toy Loan Shops in Los Angeles and How They Work

BRANCH
Nº 15

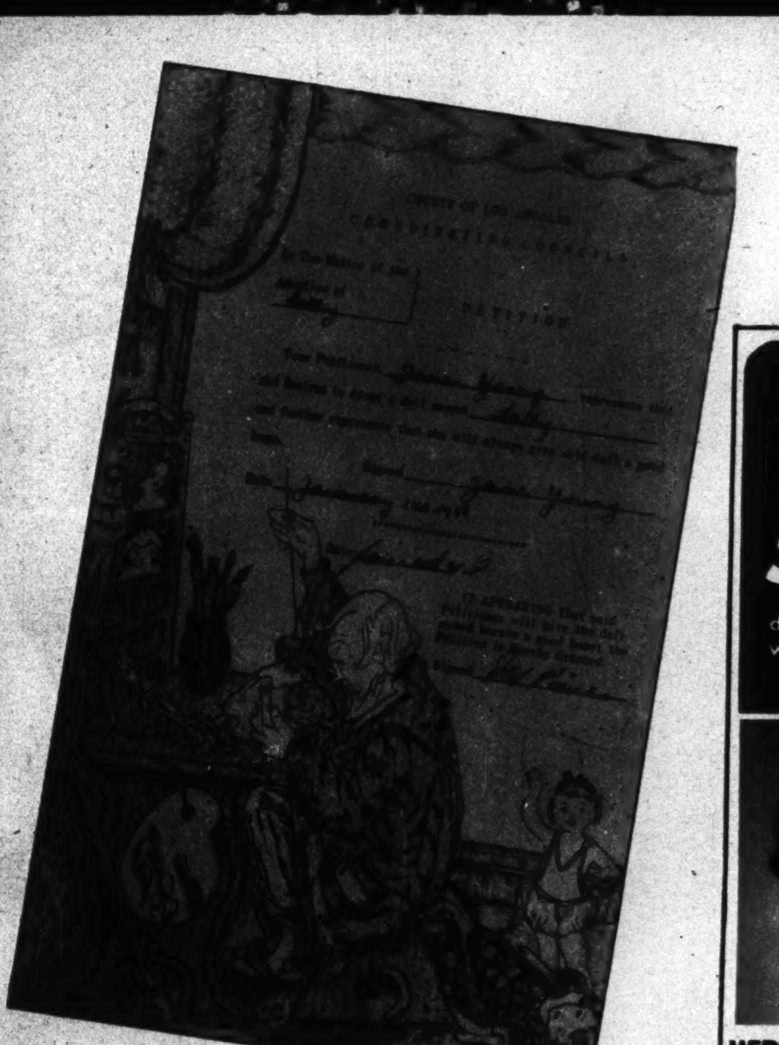
Sign over a "toy loan" station in Hollywood.

There is a regular card system for toy loans. Here a "toy-rarian" marks the return of toys on the children's cards.

Going home with borrowed toys.

Jane Young, having become an "honor borrower" may now "adopt" her favorite doll for keeps.

TOY loan shops, where children can borrow toys for regular intervals, have been established and are being maintained by the Los Angeles County Council for the purpose of providing diversion for children who otherwise might be forced to seek the streets for amusement. If a child borrows and returns 18 toys on time and in good condition, he or she becomes an "honor borrower" and can have one toy for keeps. Thus children may have a varied supply of toys and the danger of their wasting the toys by growing tired of the playthings and discarding or breaking them is eliminated. The toys, most of them secondhand, are donated to the shops and there put into good condition. In Atlanta, Georgia, the public libraries lend toys in a similar manner without the permanent ownership provision, and in several other cities, including St. Louis, toys are gathered by various agencies at Christmas time, repaired and distributed to poor children.

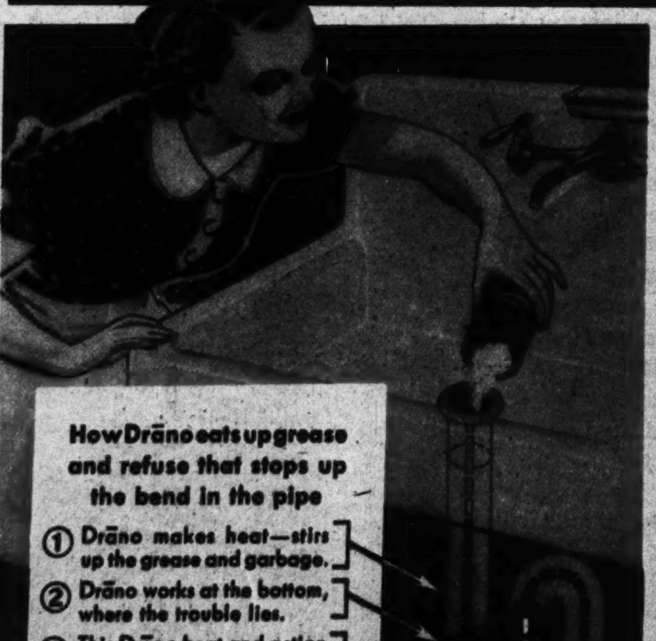


The adoption papers.

All toys are sterilized in this manner each time they are returned.

Another girl leaves with a newly adopted "baby."

HOW TO KEEP GREASE FROM CLOGGING KITCHEN DRAINS



How Drāno eats up grease and refuse that stops up the bend in the pipe

① Drāno makes heat—stirs up the grease and garbage.
② Drāno works at the bottom, where the trouble lies.
③ This Drāno heat and action melts the greasy muck so that water easily flushes it away.

USE IN ALL DRAINS ONCE A WEEK

New and improved Drāno keeps drains free of choking grease, garbage and lint—Prevents slow and stopped-up drains—Saves plumbing bills for 2¢ a drain a week

Lose your patience waiting on a slow drain? End this nuisance with Drāno. Once a week you simply pour in a cup of cold water and add Drāno.

Drāno's triple action melts, stirs and removes the greasy, clogging muck that clings to the inside of sink drains. Coffee grounds, soapy scum and other refuse that makes drains sluggish are completely cleared away.

Don't wait for pipes to get so stopped-up that you have to send for the plumber. Get Drāno today. Use it regularly in sinks, washbowls, toilets—all household drains. At grocery, drug and hardware stores everywhere, no matter where you live.

How to Relieve
due to driving, light-glare, wind, reading, close work, movies, late hours, etc

HERE'S AMAZING, QUICK WAY to cleanse and refresh tired, dull eyes. A drop or two of Murine night and morning is the modern method to soothe and comfort eyes—to relieve irritation caused by dust, light-glare, movies, driving, common colds, late hours, etc.

"THE STRAIN of everyday modern living," scientists say, "calls for more eye work than nature ever prepared for." That's why thousands are turning to Murine daily for the blessed relief it gives to tired, uncomfortable eyes. Already every fourth family in America has benefited by Murine. Murine makes eyes feel clear, fresh, alive!

SO EASY TO USE MURINE! Just drop Murine on inner corners of eyelids. No messy eyecups or washes to bother with.

Murine, a famous eye specialist's proved prescription, is the perfectly balanced formula resulting from over 40 years' experience. Murine's 7 scientifically blended ingredients cleanse your eyes many times more effectively than the one ingredient of boric acid solutions. Murine is alkaline—so gentle and soothing it is widely used in the tender eyes of babies. The large economy size costs only ½¢ a day to use for a drop in each eye night and morning. Your druggist recommends Murine.

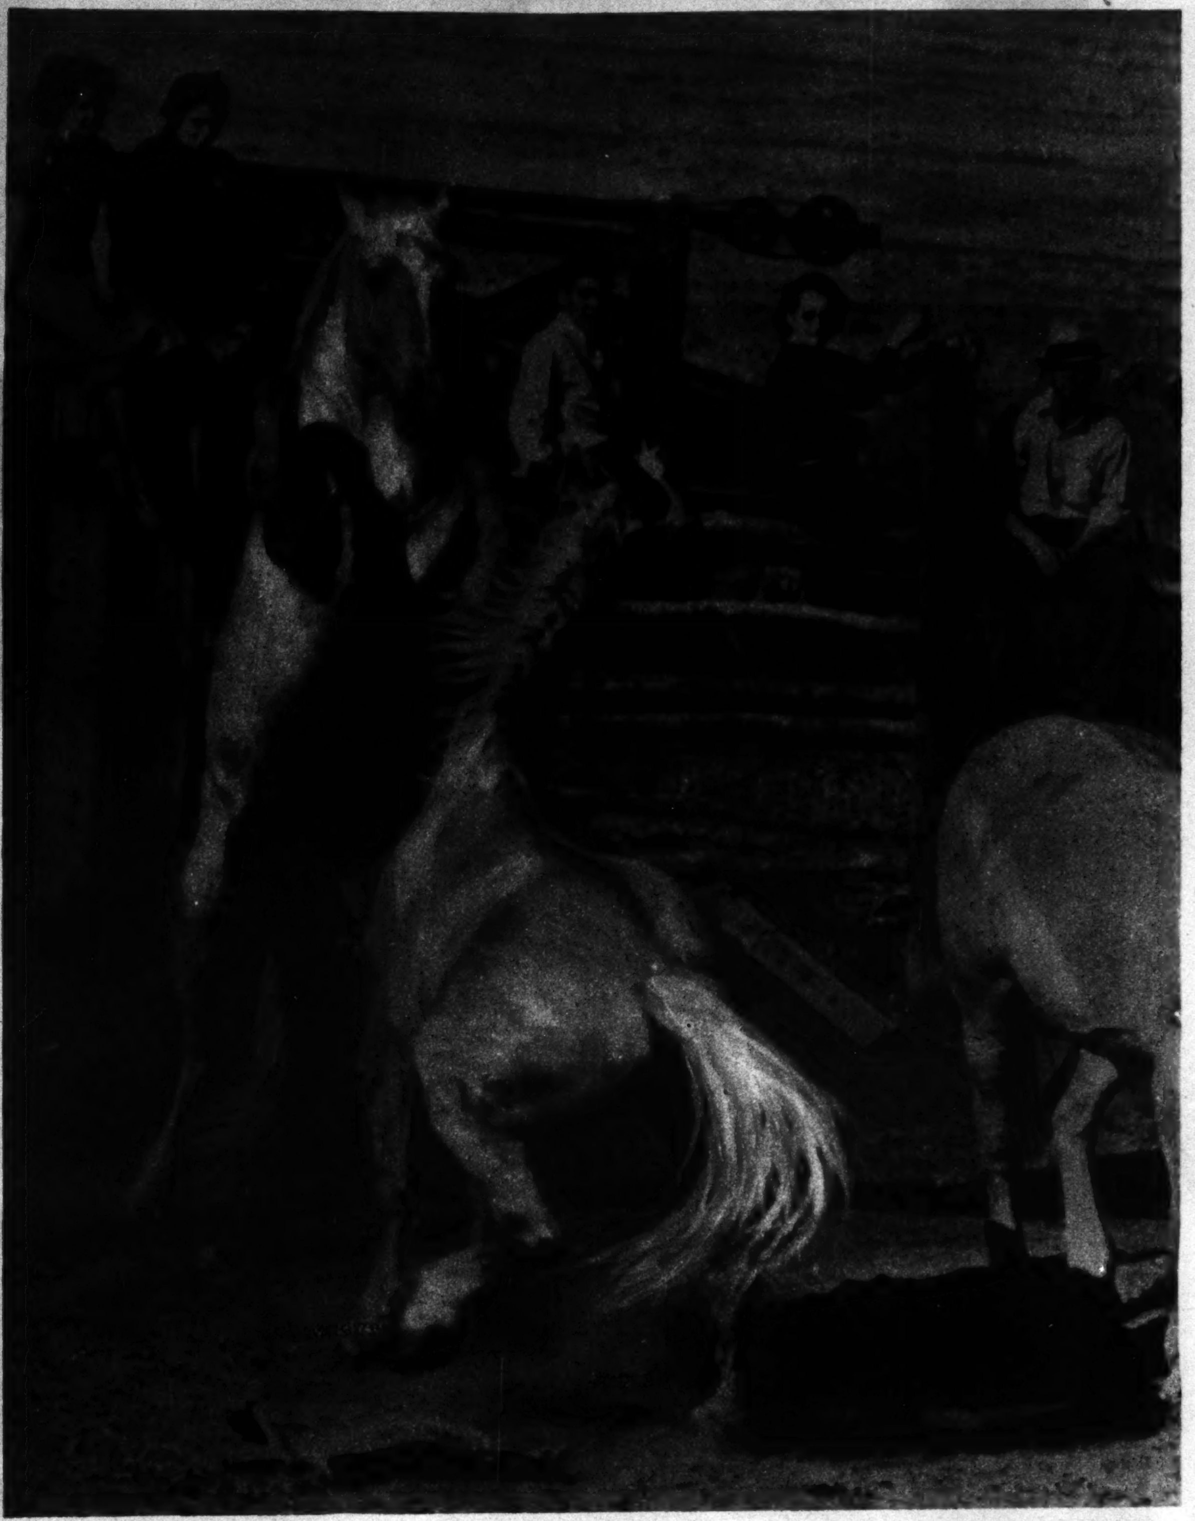
BATTLE OF THE STALLIONS

The two stallions fight savagely in the corral as men and women watch.

MOST exciting bit of action at the annual roundup on the John Adams ranch in Box Elder County, Utah, was the fight between two stallions, Pal and Ranger. Nearly 300 visitors saw them battle to exhaustion. During the year, the two rivals lead bands of mares over the 12,000-acre range, sometimes meeting in combat.



Like a prize fighter, one horse dodges to the right in an effort to escape the lunging hoofs of his opponent. The fight ended in a draw.

PERMANENT FOR THE FACE

One of Dr. Block's patients before the treatment.

First of all, he uses a yardstick to determine the amount of space to be rouged.

Then, with lipstick, he outlines the area to be rouged.

After rouging the cheek, an electrical heater makes the skin permeable to the rouge salve.

Absorption is intensified with an electric pencil.

And now the cheeks are permanently red.

Again the electric pencil is used for the absorption process.

LATEST development in beauty treatment is the indelible make-up, one application of which is said to last a lifetime. The so-called permanent wave is permanent until new hair grows out but the permanent facial rouge, according to its inventor, Dr. H. Block, head of the Health and Youth Center of New York City, eliminates all concern over make-up. Time and money are saved. Rouge is eliminated. The person with the permanently rouged face can be sure that her appearance will continue to be as good as or better than it would be after frequent long minutes before the mirror.

Now, cheeks and lips are rouged forever.

Treatment ends with soap and water —neither affecting her new make-up.

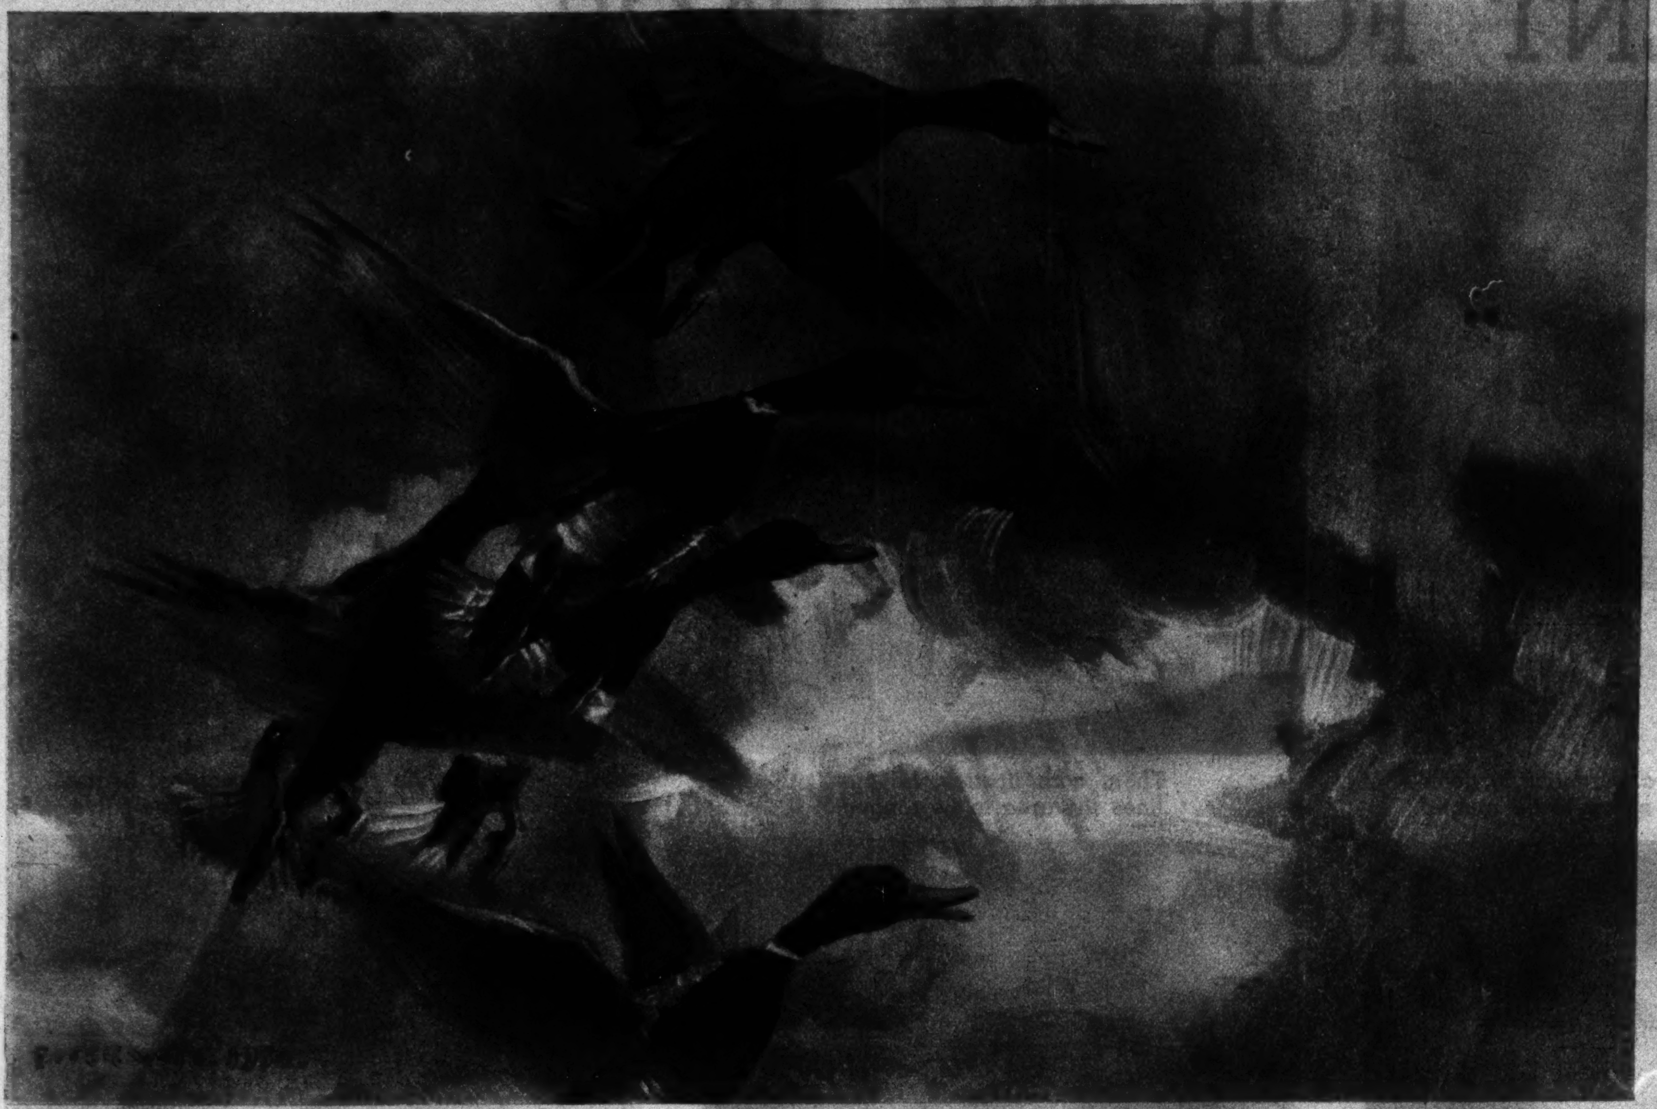
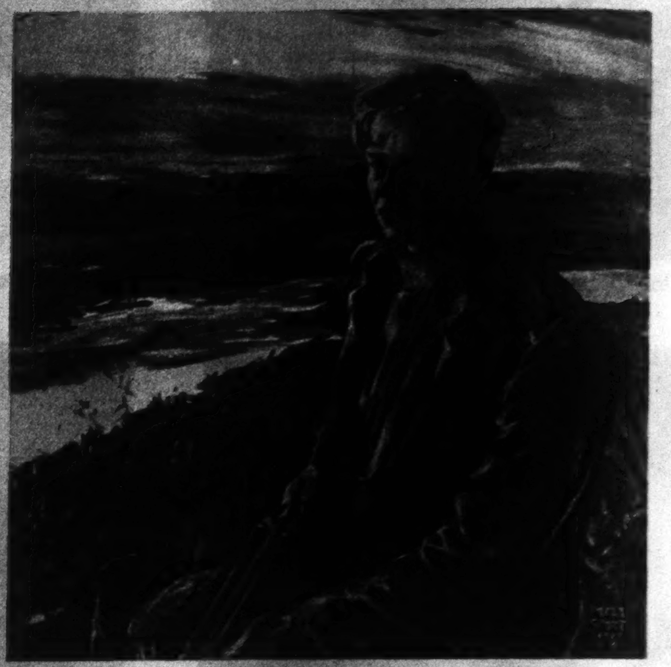
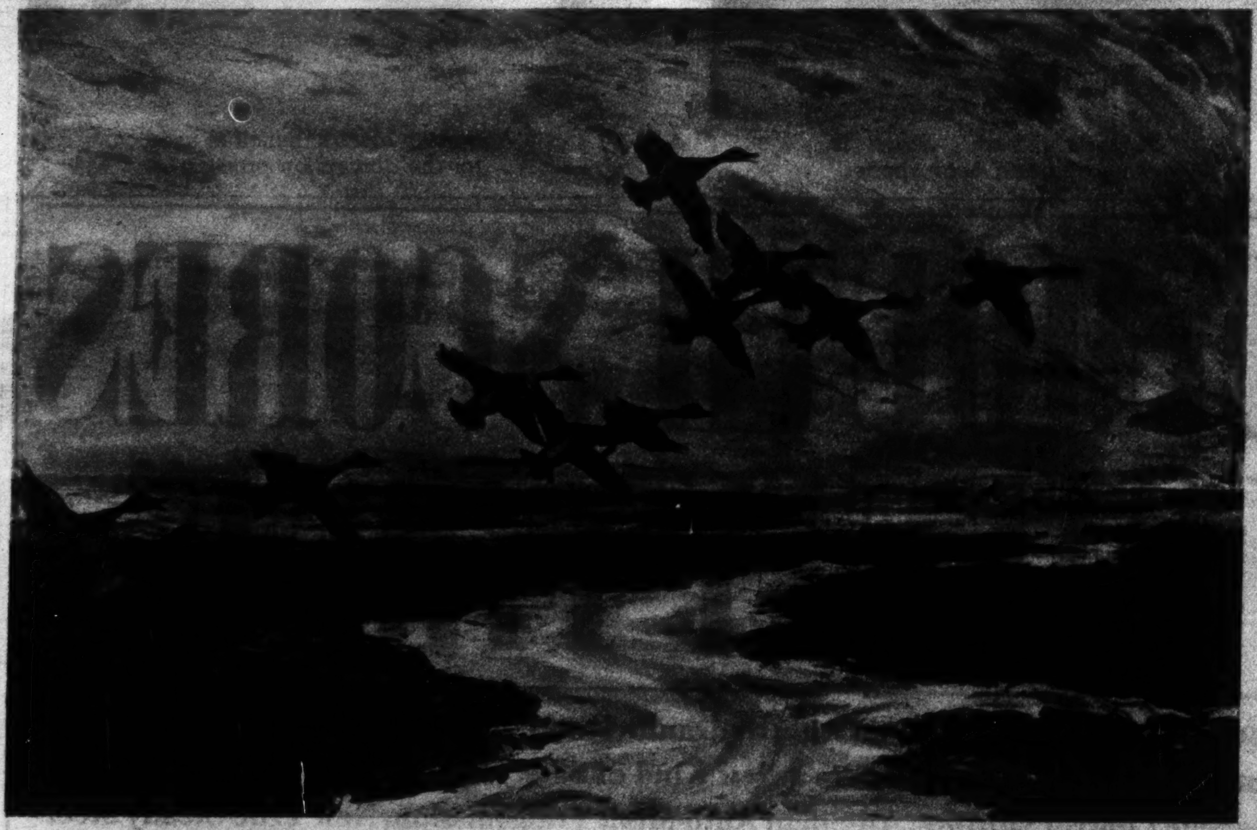
When the Mallards Fly



Mallards rising in a squall.



Peter Scott, self-portrait.



"At daybreak . . . often mallards . . . rise from the salting where the tide has left them a few hours earlier."

"With a rush of wings and a flash in the orange track of the rising moon, four mallards settle in the pool."

WITH the duckhunting season opening next Saturday, PICTURES presents these reproductions of paintings of mallards by Peter Scott, well-known English artist, son of the great Antarctic explorer, Captain Robert Falcon Scott. The originals appear in a limited edition of his book, "Morning Flight," published by Charles Scribner's Sons. In it he speaks of wild geese and ducks as "the most wonderful birds that fly."

INSPECTOR BONES
The Leader's Lair
THE OTHER DAY THE TERRIBLE TERROR AND HER PACK OF FEROCIOUS WOLVES RAIDED TURTLE CREEK AND CAPTURED WILLIE WEBFOOT AND ALL OF HIS FAMILY AND TOOK THEM TO THEIR HIDE-OUT NEAR VARMINTVILLE—
HM-M-M—A VERY NICE NIGHTS WORK—IF I DO SAY SO MYSELF—EH-EH-EH—AND WHY WASN'T INSPECTOR BONES THERE TO STOP US? HAW-HAW-HAW—
BUT THE TERROR ISN'T SATISFIED—SHE WOULD MUCH RATHER HAVE INSPECTOR BONES IN HER CAGE INSTEAD OF THE DUCKS—AND SHE DECIDES TO MAKE WILLIE WEBFOOT HELP HER GET HIM THERE—SO SHE UNCHAINS WILLIE AND BLIND-FOLDS HIM—
NOW—LISTEN CLOSELY TO WHAT I TELL YOU—YOU ARE TO GO TO INSPECTOR BONES' OFFICE AND TELL HIM THAT I AM LIVING IN KENNELBURG—HEAVILY DISGUISED—AND THAT YOU THINK THAT I'M UP TO SOME MISCHIEF !!
I WALKED IN CIRCLES WHEN I CARRIED YOU HERE BLIND-FOLDED—SO DON'T BE A FOOL AND TRY TO LEAD THE POLICE TO MY HIDE-OUT AND IF YOU TRY ANY FUNNY STUFF—THE PACK AND I SHALL DINE ON YOUR FAMILY—NOW GET GOING !!!
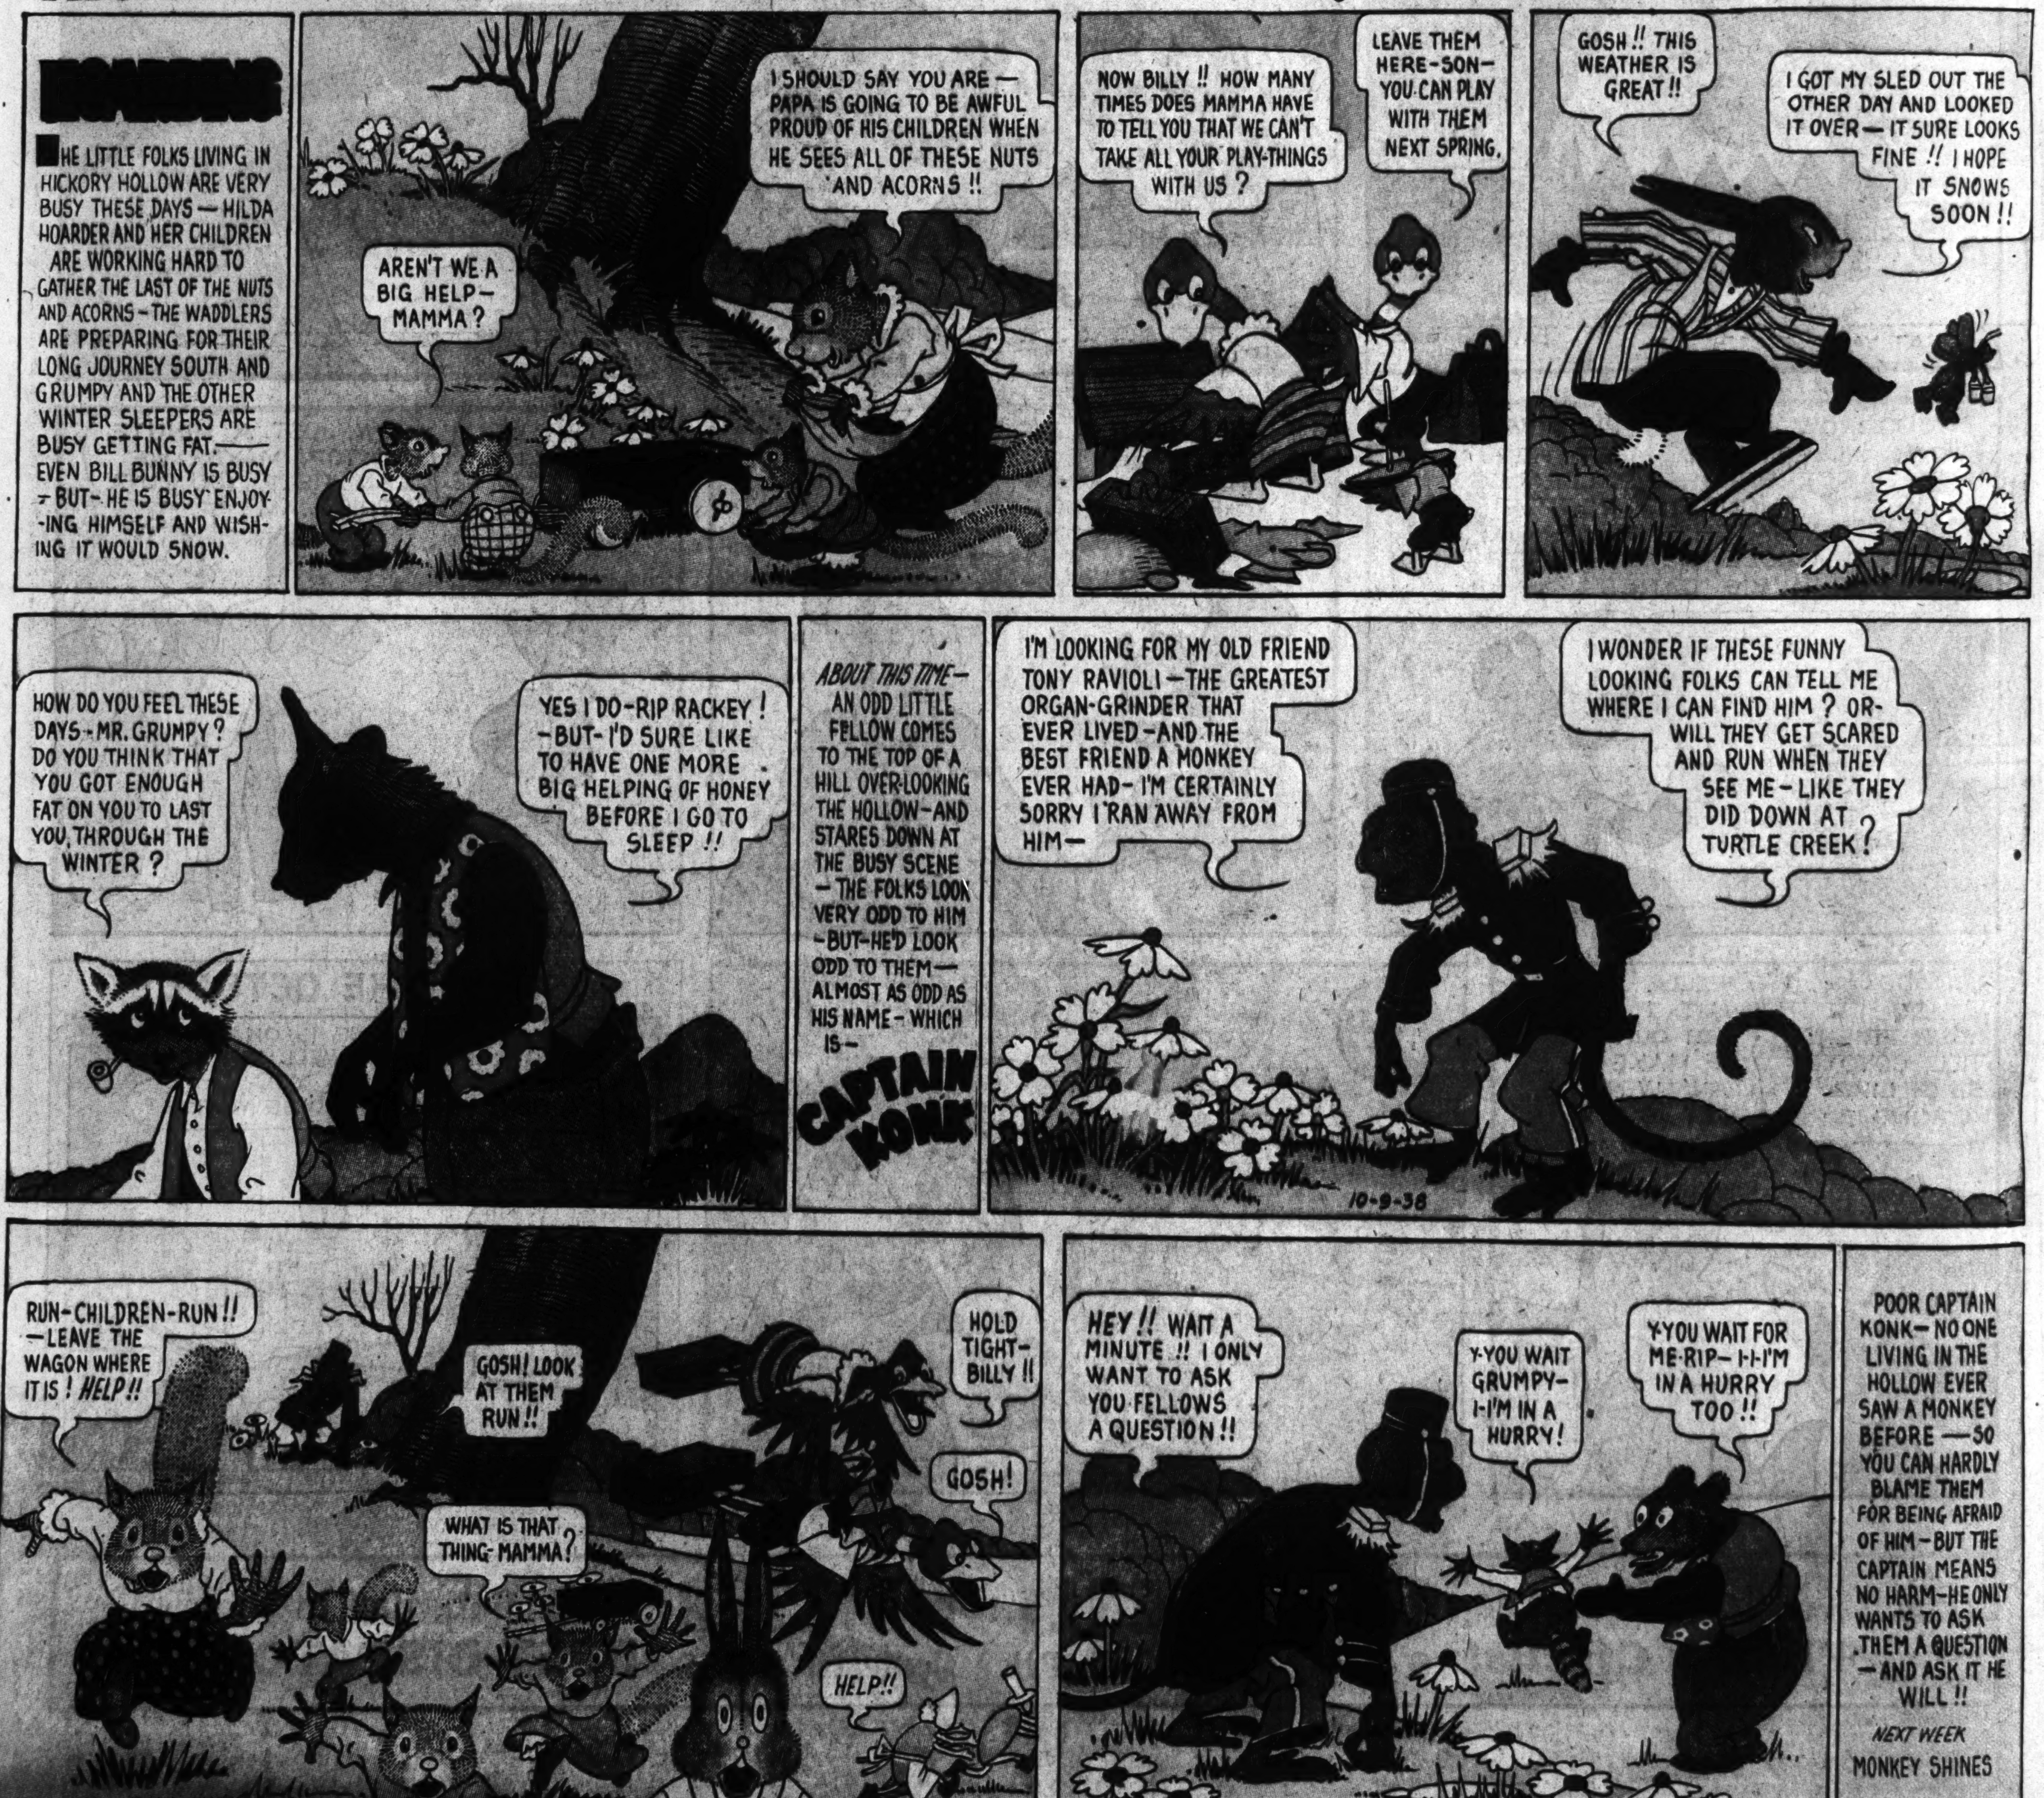
OH-H-H THIS IS AWFUL—IF THE TERROR CATCHES INSPECTOR BONES NO DUCK WILL EVER BE SAFE—OH DEAR !! OH DEAR !! OH DEAR !!—I'M GOING TO TELL BONES THE TRUE STORY—HE'S SMARTER THAN SHE—MAY BE HE CAN CATCH HER !!
—AND THAT IS THE TRUTH—INSPECTOR—THE TERROR WANTS YOU TO GO TO KENNELBURG WHERE SHE AND HER PACK INTEND TO SURPRISE YOU—SHE THREATENED TO EAT MY FAMILY IF I TOLD YOU THIS—I DIDN'T KNOW WHAT TO DO—
HM-M-M-M—YOU ACTED VERY WISELY—
YOU POOR FELLOW!
POOR WILLIE HE MUST BE TERRIBLY WORRIED—WILL THE INSPECTOR CATCH THE TERROR OR WILL SHE AND HER PACK DINE ON ROAST DUCK?
TO BE CONTINUED—

HICKORY HOLLOW FOLKS

By WALTER QUERMANN



HOARDING
THE LITTLE FOLKS LIVING IN HICKORY HOLLOW ARE VERY BUSY THESE DAYS—HILDA HOARDER AND HER CHILDREN ARE WORKING HARD TO GATHER THE LAST OF THE NUTS AND ACORNS—THE WADDLERS ARE PREPARING FOR THEIR LONG JOURNEY SOUTH AND GRUMPY AND THE OTHER WINTER SLEEPERS ARE BUSY GETTING FAT.—EVEN BILL BUNNY IS BUSY—BUT—HE IS BUSY ENJOYING HIMSELF AND WISHING IT WOULD SNOW.
I SHOULD SAY YOU ARE—PAPA IS GOING TO BE AWFUL PROUD OF HIS CHILDREN WHEN HE SEES ALL OF THESE NUTS AND ACORNS !!
AREN'T WE A BIG HELP—MAMMA?
NOW BILLY !! HOW MANY TIMES DOES MAMMA HAVE TO TELL YOU THAT WE CAN'T TAKE ALL YOUR PLAY-THINGS WITH US?
LEAVE THEM HERE—SON—YOU CAN PLAY WITH THEM NEXT SPRING.
GOSH !! THIS WEATHER IS GREAT !!
I GOT MY SLED OUT THE OTHER DAY AND LOOKED IT OVER—IT SURE LOOKS FINE !! I HOPE IT SNOWS SOON !!
HOW DO YOU FEEL THESE DAYS—MR. GRUMPY? DO YOU THINK THAT YOU GOT ENOUGH FAT ON YOU TO LAST YOU THROUGH THE WINTER?
YES I DO—RIP RACKEY!—BUT—I'D SURE LIKE TO HAVE ONE MORE BIG HELPING OF HONEY BEFORE I GO TO SLEEP !!
ABOUT THIS TIME—AN ODD LITTLE FELLOW COMES TO THE TOP OF A HILL OVER-LOOKING THE HOLLOW—AND STARES DOWN AT THE BUSY SCENE—THE FOLKS LOOK VERY ODD TO HIM—BUT—HE'D LOOK ODD TO THEM—ALMOST AS ODD AS HIS NAME—WHICH IS—
CAPTAIN KONK
I'M LOOKING FOR MY OLD FRIEND TONY RAVIOLI—THE GREATEST ORGAN-GRINDER THAT EVER LIVED—AND THE BEST FRIEND A MONKEY EVER HAD—I'M CERTAINLY SORRY I RAN AWAY FROM HIM—
I WONDER IF THESE FUNNY LOOKING FOLKS CAN TELL ME WHERE I CAN FIND HIM? OR—WILL THEY GET SCARED AND RUN WHEN THEY SEE ME—LIKE THEY DID DOWN AT TURTLE CREEK?
10-9-38
RUN—CHILDREN—RUN !!—LEAVE THE WAGON WHERE IT IS! HELP !!
GOSH! LOOK AT THEM RUN !!
HOLD TIGHT—BILLY !!
GOSH!
WHAT IS THAT THING—MAMMA?
HELP !!
HEY !! WAIT A MINUTE !! I ONLY WANT TO ASK YOU FELLOWS A QUESTION !!
Y-YOU WAIT GRUMPY—I-I'M IN A HURRY!
Y-YOU WAIT FOR ME—RIP—I-I-I'M IN A HURRY TOO !!
POOR CAPTAIN KONK—NO ONE LIVING IN THE HOLLOW EVER SAW A MONKEY BEFORE—SO YOU CAN HARDLY BLAME THEM FOR BEING AFRAID OF HIM—BUT THE CAPTAIN MEANS NO HARM—HE ONLY WANTS TO ASK THEM A QUESTION—AND ASK IT HE WILL !!

IS YOUR WIFE AT HOME? I'M SELLING VANILLA
I'M SORRY, BUT WE DON'T NEED ANY VANILLA
I DIDN'T ASK YOU··· I DEMAND TO SPEAK TO YOUR WIFE!
SHE'S NOT AT HOME···GET YOUR FOOT OUT OF THE DOOR
GIVE ME MY SHOE, ROBBER. ·GIVE IT TO ME OR I'LL CALL THE POLICE
GOLLY, HOW CAN I GET HIS SHOE OUT TO HIM WITHOUT LETTING HIM IN AGAIN?
YAH, YAH··· WISE GUY--YOU FORGOT YOUR BACK DOOR WAS OPEN
IT COMES IN TWO SIZES, FIFTEEN AND TWENTY-FIVE CENTS
I DON'T WANT ANY VANILLA··· NOW CUT OUT THE MONKEY BUSINESS AND BEAT IT
WE DON'T WANT ANY
WELL, GIVE ME MY SHOE
I WON'T LET YOU IN UNTIL YOU PROMISE TO BUY A BOTTLE OF VANILLA
LET ME IN MY OWN HOUSE··· LET ME IN OR I'LL CALL THE POLICE
YAH, YAH, YAH, SMART ALEC, YOU FORGOT I CARRY THE FRONT DOOR KEY
I DEMAND MY SHOE
MY GOODNESS, WHAT'S ALL THAT COMMOTION IN THERE?
I REFUSE TO TALK UNTIL HE GETS OUT OF HERE
LEAVE THE ROOM, DAGWOOD, UNTIL I SEE WHAT THE MAN WANTS
HE'S SELLING VANILLA, DEAR···WE NEED SOME···GIVE ME TWENTY-FIVE CENTS

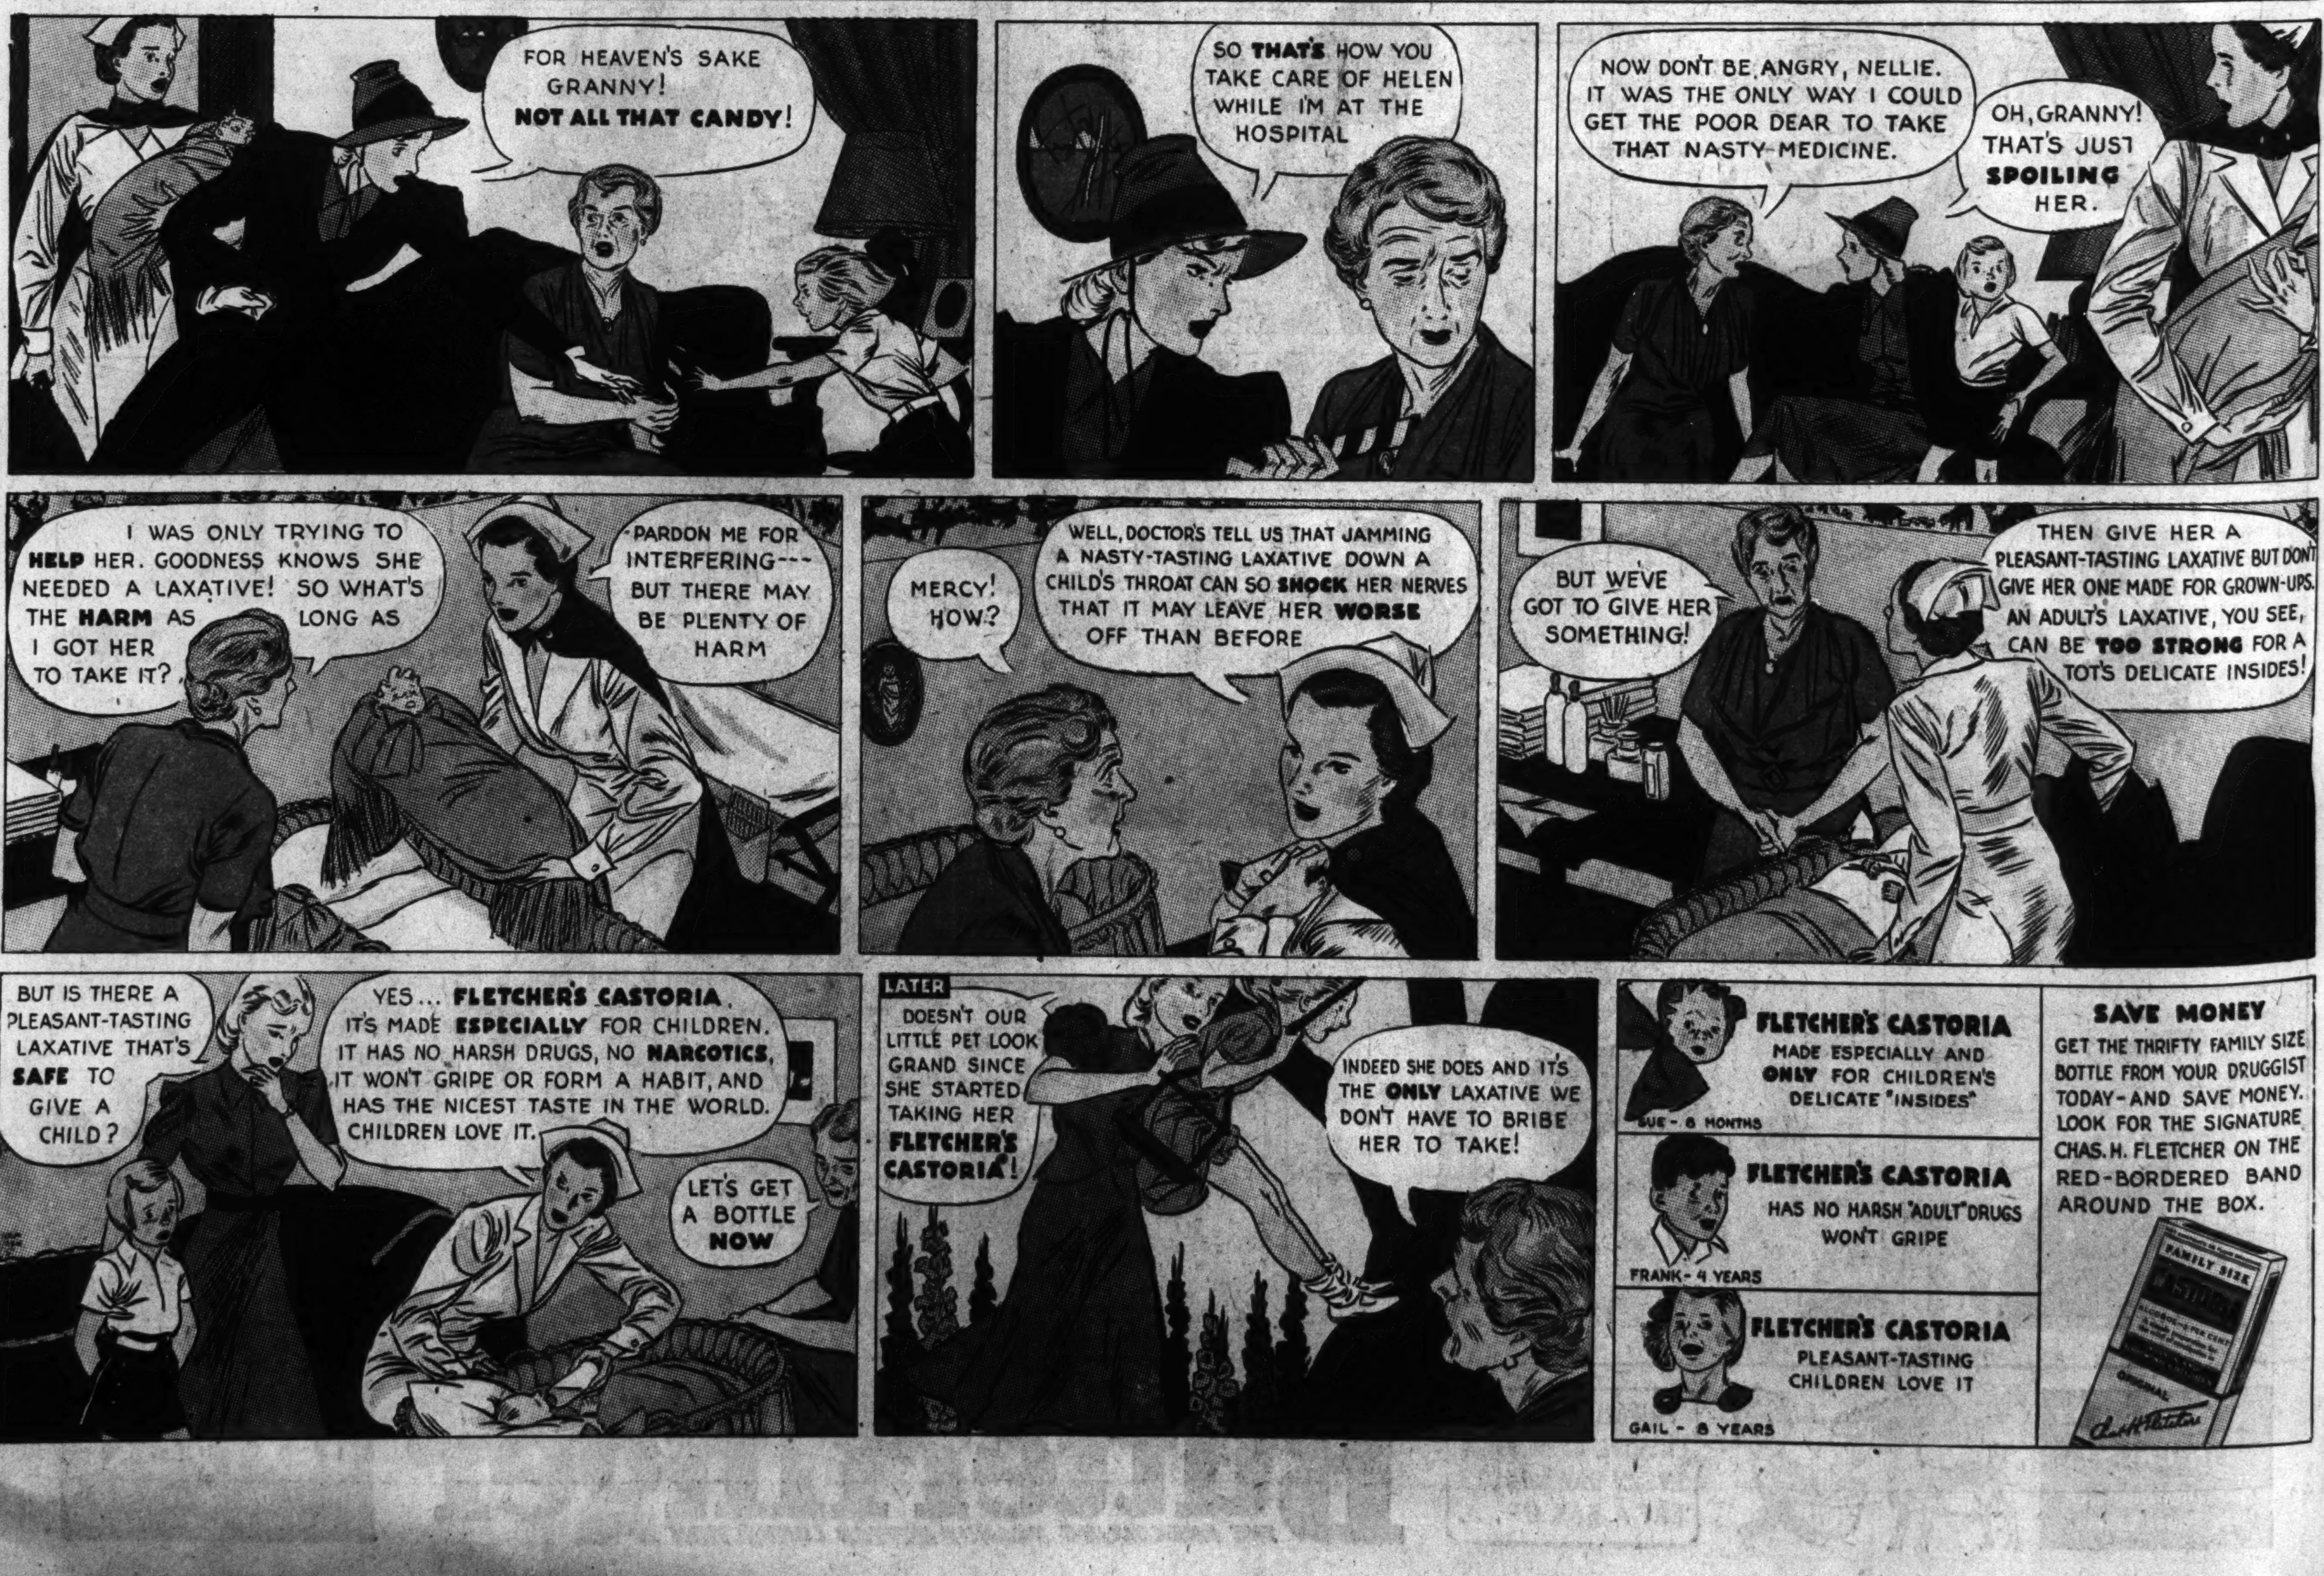
"GRANNY WAS SPOILING OUR CHILD"



FOR HEAVEN'S SAKE GRANNY! NOT ALL THAT CANDY!
SO THAT'S HOW YOU TAKE CARE OF HELEN WHILE I'M AT THE HOSPITAL
NOW DON'T BE ANGRY, NELLIE. IT WAS THE ONLY WAY I COULD GET THE POOR DEAR TO TAKE THAT NASTY MEDICINE.
OH, GRANNY! THAT'S JUST SPOILING HER.
I WAS ONLY TRYING TO HELP HER. GOODNESS KNOWS SHE NEEDED A LAXATIVE! SO WHAT'S THE HARM AS LONG AS I GOT HER TO TAKE IT?
PARDON ME FOR INTERFERING--- BUT THERE MAY BE PLENTY OF HARM MERCY! HOW?
WELL, DOCTORS TELL US THAT JAMMING A NASTY-TASTING LAXATIVE DOWN A CHILD'S THROAT CAN SO SHOCK HER NERVES THAT IT MAY LEAVE HER WORSE OFF THAN BEFORE BUT WE'VE GOT TO GIVE HER SOMETHING!
THEN GIVE HER A PLEASANT-TASTING LAXATIVE BUT DON'T GIVE HER ONE MADE FOR GROWN-UPS. AN ADULT'S LAXATIVE, YOU SEE, CAN BE TOO STRONG FOR A TOT'S DELICATE INSIDES!
BUT IS THERE A PLEASANT-TASTING LAXATIVE THAT'S SAFE TO GIVE A CHILD?
YES... FLETCHER'S CASTORIA. IT'S MADE ESPECIALLY FOR CHILDREN. IT HAS NO HARSH DRUGS, NO NARCOTICS, IT WON'T GRIPE OR FORM A HABIT, AND HAS THE NICEST TASTE IN THE WORLD. CHILDREN LOVE IT.
LET'S GET A BOTTLE NOW
LATER
DOESN'T OUR LITTLE PET LOOK GRAND SINCE SHE STARTED TAKING HER FLETCHER'S CASTORIA!
INDEED SHE DOES AND IT'S THE ONLY LAXATIVE WE DON'T HAVE TO BRIBE HER TO TAKE!

WHILE ON A LEOPARD HUNT, JIM IS SHOT FROM AMBUSH BY MAJOR BREESE'S BODY-SERVANT.
KOLU GRAPPLES WITH HIM, BUT IS FELLED BY HIS RIFLE BUTT.
WHAT LUCK! THE BULLET FURROWED HIS SCALP--DOESN'T APPEAR TO BE SERIOUS. HE'LL COME AROUND IN A MINUTE.
THANK HEAVEN! MAJOR BREESE, WHEN YOU SHOT THAT LEOPARD, I HEARD ANOTHER SHOT FROM THE JUNGLE--ALMOST SIMULTANEOUS WITH YOURS!

NOW—A Revolutionary Advance in "No-Scrub" Laundry Soap . . .

NEW HIGH-TEST OXYDOL

DOES THESE 3 AMAZING THINGS:-

GIVES WHITEST WASHES EVER

WHEN THE OLD OXYDOL was first introduced, women believed that the last word in laundry soaps had been found. But now comes an amazing new ingredient that makes the new High-Test Oxydol as much as 15% whiter washing than old-style bar and package soaps. Yet you'll find High-Test OXYDOL safe as ever for washable colors—safe for fabrics and hands.

1—WASHES UP TO 15% WHITER
in tub or washing machine

2—GIVES UP TO TWICE THE SUDS
(suds stand up 2 to 3 times longer)

3—COLORS STAY TRULY BRIGHT in hard or soft water, wash after wash

SOAP'S GREATEST ADVANCE
in whiter washing with safety

NOW comes a remarkable new ingredient to make America's most improved laundry soap far whiter washing than ever before. An ingredient that makes new High-Test OXYDOL wash white clothes up to 15% whiter than old-fashioned soaps, in tub or washing machines. Yet keeps it safety itself for washable colors—safe for fabrics and hands.

When first you try new High-Test Oxydol we believe it will change all the previous ideas you ever had about washdays. About whiter-washing soaps, more sparkling clothes. For, when scientifically tested against old-style bar and package soaps, it does these amazing things:

(1) Washes white clothes as much as 15% whiter. (2) Gives up to TWICE as much rich, active suds—suds that stand up two to three times longer. (3) Colors stay TRULY fresh and bright—wash after wash and in hard water, even. High-Test Oxydol has passed every test for safety to washable colors.

For example, tests show that sheer cotton prints washed as much as 175 times in new High-Test Oxydol showed no perceptible sign of fading—stayed sparkling, brilliant, fresh!

In tub-washing—new High-Test Oxydol soaks dirt loose in as little as 10 minutes, without scrubbing or boiling. Thus putting an end to the washday drudgery and washboard wear and tear chargeable to less modern soaps. Clothes last 2 to 3 times as long compared to old-fashioned ways.

In washing machines—new High-Test Oxydol soaks dirt loose while the washer is running—gives you DOUBLE-ACTION wash. Saves time—saves clothes.

COLORS STAY FRESH AND BRIGHT

NO PERCEPTIBLE COLOR FADING after 175 High-Test OXYDOL washings—tests prove it! Equivalent to more than 3 years' normal washing—yet colors stayed fresh and bright, in hard water, too.

CLOTHES LAST LONGER, TOO

NEW HIGH-TEST OXYDOL is far easier on clothes—for it soaks dirt loose in as little as 10 minutes, without ruinous hard rubbing or scrubbing. Thus clothes last 2 to 3 times as long from the standpoint of washday wear and tear, compared to old-fashioned washing methods.

In addition, new High-Test Oxydol is wonderfully economical. For, besides giving more suds, a single cup of it goes as much as one-fourth again as far—does up to 25% more work than the same amount of old-style package soaps.

So, no matter what laundry soap you've used in the past—get acquainted with this amazing new soap creation today! See your white clothes wash far whiter and sweeter than you ever dreamed of getting them with less modern soaps.

New High-Test OXYDOL is now on sale at all dealers in the same familiar orange and blue bull's-eye package. Ask for it today. Procter & Gamble.

MORE SUDS MEANS BETTER DISHWASHING, TOO!
